Journeymen, New Events Highlight Winter Carnival

Girls' Hairdo Contest Offsets Men's Beards

This year a new aspect of the Winter Carnival has been organized to offset the beard contest in which only male organizations can win points. This new aspect is the hairdo contest which is open only to women's organizations.

The contest will be held at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 19 in the Union Lounge. A total of 50 points will be given and participation must be in all categories. The hairdos will be judged on originality and statement of reason presented by the participants.

The categories or hairdos are as follows: 1. Hairdo you would wear to a New Year's Eve party in Antarctica and why; 2. hairdo you would choose for a midnight swim in Rock Hudson's pool and why; 3. hairdos you would choose, if only one was possible, for a day including horseback riding, speedboating, dinner and dancing, a beach party, and a Hollywood premier and why; and 4. an example of a hairdo you would like to see universally adopted by all girls and why.

Each hairdo will only be accepted in one category.

Poster Contest Open To Women Organizations

The poster contest is worth 55 points this year and is open to all organizations consisting entirely of women. This contest is one of two this year designed to offset the men's beard contest.

The posters will be separated into three divisions, and all must be entered in a division to be counted as a participant.

The first two divisions are the humorous and the serious divisions in which 10 points will be given to the winner and 5 points to the runner up.

The last category and one which is new this year is the picture poster. All that is allowed on the poster is a single picture, and it will be judged on the basis of the one most symbolizing the theme of this year's Winter Carnival entitled Frosted Fantasy. Since this is a new division, additional points will be given to give it a boost. First place will be worth 15 points and second worth 10 points.

All posters must be turned in to the Union Board office by Feb. 12 with the organizational name on the back along with the category it is intended for in competition. The entries will be judged on Feb. 14 and will be displayed from Feb. 17-23. Recognition to the winners will be given while they are on display.

THE JOURNEYMEN, pop artists on the musical scene today, will climax the 1964 Winter Carnival events at 8 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 23 in the college fieldhouse.

The Journeymen Songs Climax Carnival Events

Three young men with a sound that has sent them to the top of pop song charts across the nation will be a college fieldhouse at 8 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 23.

The Journeymen, noted for their recording of "500 Miles" and their album "Introducing the Journeymen," will climax Winter Carnival, 1964. The three man group, led by John Phillips, includes Richard Weissman and Scott McKenzie, and specializes in folk music, although the group is equally adept at pop ballads, blues and modern jazz. All three sing as well as play.

Phillips, an all-state basketball and track star at the University of Virginia and George Washington University, received a presidential appointment to Annapolis, but injuries sustained in an intramural game forced him to drop out in his second year. Giving himself up to the study of music, particularly folk tunes he'd heard as a child, Phillips' own songs and arrangements comprise much of the Journeymen's repertoire.

Like Phillips, Scott McKenzie is a native of Virginia. He has made appearances on the nightclub circuit, as well as radio and television shows, including the Dick Clark Bandstand show. The wondere and comic of the group, McKenzie, an accomplished tenor, once collected prep schools, colleges and universities as other people collect LP's.

Richard Weissman has won extensive recognition as a musician with his extensive compilations of pre-Civil War folk tunes. He conducts banjo and guitar seminars at the New York School of Folk Music, and is a published authority on blues and guitar styles. A native of Philadelphia, Weissman studied at the city's Conservatory of Music, Ver-mont's Goddard College and Columbia University.

Recreating the image of an age long gone, singing of a Civil War battlefield or a Wild West showdown, the Journeymen are sure to please both folk music buffs and casual listeners alike.

Tickets for the evening performance are $1.25.

Carnival Theme Leaves Wide Choice In Art

The theme for this year's ice sculpturing contest is entitled, "Frosted Fantasies." The theme is purposely vague in order to permit individuality and originality in the sculpturing.

The judging of the works will be on the basis of 25 possible points from each of three judges. The points will be distributed as follows: 1.5 points for originality; 1.5 points for neatness and artistry, and 1.5 points for the theme. Therefore, a total of 75 points can be given to any single project.

Each group that registered for this event will receive a ton of ice free of charge. Extra ice may be ordered at the time of registration.

Although wood and wire may be used for support, this wood and wire must be covered with ice or snow. Groups participating are not allowed to use color on the ice. Another restriction is that no blow torches or acetylene torches be used; instead, a hot cloth or hot water should be used in melting ice. The sculpture may be as large or as small as each group desires, since no restriction has been placed on size.

The judging of the projects will begin at 11 a.m., Saturday, Feb. 22. However, the area immediately around the works must be evacuated by 10:30 a.m. on that day and the sculpturing finished. Any organization having anyone working on this entry or standing near it after 10:30 a.m. will be disqualified without exception or appeal.

Groups using supports of any kind which require digging holes in the lawn must take complete responsibility for restoring that portion of the lawn in the spring.

King, Queen Campaigning Rules Rigid

Campaigns will soon begin on campus at WSC for contestants in the 1964 Winter Carnival King and Queen Contest.

Campaign managers have been selected by the various organizations, and they will be responsible for all the campaigning for their contestants. The managers' duties have been complicated, Balance ...

Welcome back! On behalf of the staff, I'll take these lines to welcome back the hard-working fortunate students of the academic grind from a no doubt tense but enjoyable semester break. We also wish to welcome any new students to our campus and hope they are eager to face a busy second semester with the rest of us.

If anyone has had time to look at the activities calendar, they will note that a myriad of events are scheduled to take place between now and graduation.

As we get farther up the academic stairway, we perhaps feel the burden of life's problems more fully or maybe we realized that this is a college — an institution of learning and we say, let the other guy do the work, I've got studying, or "I've only one chapter to read in history and it's not due until Tuesday so I'll have some fun tonight."

It's fine to be a dedicated student — this is generally what an instructor longs for but never quite finds in the majority of instances — and a procrastinator usually finds himself the life of the party until his grade point slips so low he never will find time to drag it up.

Maybe finding a happy medium is impossible, but we should remember that it is just as important to give our time to making this institution better instead of always taking.

Someone once remarked that at the extremes of either end things are simple because you have less to look out for, but man is always striving for balance in this world and as such, needs to be a part of others and needs to participate.

A college is only as good as those in attendance make it, and this takes BALANCE!

United Council President Announces Council Meet

Dear Students,

I would like to inform you of the forthcoming meeting of the United Council of Wisconsin State College Student Governments to be held at Wisconsin State College and Institute of Technology Feb. 7-8. You may possibly be wondering just what this organization is and what it plans on doing at this meeting.

First, may I suggest that you question your Student Government if you have not heard of it since they are your link to the organization. Many of the State Colleges, all of which are members, have played an active role in the United Council at the meetings held three times a year on one of the State College campuses each time. But the organization would be ineffective if your Student Government did not "finish each meeting" on its own campus by explaining to the student what has taken place. If your government does this, give them praise and help them with their role in the United Council, but if they have not done this, then it is time for you, as the electors of your government, to they are doing with the United Council so that your campus may do something about it. Ask them what has gone on; ask them what prosper from the organization. Three of the basic purposes of the United Council are listed in the Constitution which states:

To promote and foster the exchange of ideas among the student government of member colleges;

To reflect opinion of campus life, interests, and problems, and To serve as a liaison group between state student government and college presidents and Board of Regents.

Make it a point to go to your Student Government meetings for either the sake of curiosity or to find out and help do something constructively for you and your campus. One other thing: Find out who is attending the next United Council meeting? It may prove interesting.

Placement Office Lists Vacancies

Bulletins, in and around the Placement Office are teeming with visitors as the office posts lists of vacancies in both schools and industries.

As an aid to seniors who will be graduated in June, the Placement Office has sent out to over 200 businesses and industries for brochures and pamphlets concerning their function and what they have to offer. Raymond E. Gotham, Director of Extended Services, said that this will be greatly expanded, but that they need the students help in finding out what particular interest and position the student is looking for.

Dates for interviews have already been posted and students are already signing up. Following the interviews the students will go to the communities to make their decision and he said that within the next six to eight weeks most will be signed up.

In a last statement, Gotham said the "opportunities are unusually fine!"

In addition to the pictures, 12 posters with no pictures and being no larger than 14x22 inches are permitted. Next week, the Art and Lecture Series will sponsor two cultural programs at Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point.

The first program features Dr. Norris W. Rakeslaw, a scientist and Danforth visiting lecturer, who will speak on "The Challenge of the Oceans" at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 10, in the college auditorium. There will be no charge, and the public is invited.

Pancake Eaters Register Feb. 15

Registration for the annual Winter Carnival pancake eating contest will be held Feb. 15 in the Union Board office. The contest is scheduled for Feb. 19 from 7-8 p.m. in the Union Cafeteria.

Individuals as well as organizations may enter into the competition. Each organization will have a team of four members. The total number of pancakes eaten by each four-member team will determine the first and second place positions. In the event of a tie, each person will be given an extra ten minutes to win. Organizations are restricted to entering only one team. A total of 20 points will be given to the first place team in the men's division and the women's divisions, while 10 points will be awarded for second place in each division. Although only organizations can win points, anyone may win one of the trophies which will be presented to the man and woman consuming the largest number of pancakes.

A traveling trophy will also be presented this year to the organization eating the most pancakes at Stevens Point, River Falls, and Superior State Colleges.

The pancakes which are to be used will be of a regulation size and will be made of the same pancake mix. To insure this, a representative from General Mills Inc. will make the pancakes that are used.

Faculty Members Attend Meetings After First Of Year

Three Wisconsin State College faculty members have been attending meetings of professional organizations at various places in the nation.

Dr. Monica E. Bainter, chairman of the WSC physics department, went to New York City to attend a combined meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics. Thousands of physics teachers from throughout the U.S. participated in the conclave which was held in the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Attending another science party was Dr. Richard A. Trytten, chairman of the chemistry department, who recently returned from a meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Denver. As a field trip, the group visited the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Carl Yoder, assistant professor of music at WSC, recently went to Madison to take part in the annual Mid-Winter Music Clinic at the University of Wisconsin. The theme was development of greater perfection of performance for bands, choirs and orchestras.

Clinicians were Evan Whallon, conductor of the Columbus, Ohio, Symphony; William D. Revelli, conductor of bands, University of Michigan, and Harold Decker, chairman of choral activities at the University of Illinois.

WSC Defeats Oshkosh Before Capacity Crowd

The WSC varsity cagers defeated Oshkosh, 99-33, Saturday night before a capacity crowd at the Fieldhouse here.

After trailing by a wide margin in the third quarter, the Pointers regained an impressive lead in the final quarter which they managed to protect for the remainder of the game. Five men netted in the double figures in Point's balanced attack. Jerry Lawetzki led the Pointers with 18 points. Grant White, Mike Fortune and Bill Borchardt racked up 17 apiece, while Wes Zeuge netted 14.

The high scorer for both teams was Jim Jaeger, an Oshkosh guard, who tallied 28 points. Other leading scorers for Oshkosh were Doug Carrievau with 24 points and Mike Dieter with 23 points.

The WSC Pointers put Oshkosh behind quickly in the first quarter of play, but the lead shifted from one team to the other in the second period as Oshkosh rallied from its slow start. At half time, the Pointers were on top of the scoring with 44 points compared to Oshkosh's 42.

Coming back in the third quarter, a fired-up Oshkosh team took a formidable lead over WSC behind the almost flawless shooting of Oshkosh guards, Jaeger and Carrievau. Stevens Point narrowed the margin to trail by only two points, 65-67, at the end of the third period.

Fouls and errors by Oshkosh in the final quarter aided the Pointers in their bid to regain the lead. With 4:07 minutes left in the game, WSC led Oshkosh, 85-77.

Accurate shooting by Fortune, Borchardt and Zeuge was instrumental in putting Oshkosh too far behind to make a successful rally, and the game ended with a 99-33 victory for the Pointers.

Funds Approved For Practice Athletic Field

Development of a practice athletic field at Wisconsin State College here cleared a major hurdle Friday when it was announced in Madison that the State Building Commission had approved funds of $83,000 for the project.

Gene Brodhagen, head of the college physical education department, welcomed news of the long-awaited appropriation and revealed plans for the development of the area.

The practice facility will be located directly north and west of the fieldhouse between Isadore and Reserve Streets, encompassing a substantial amount of land in that area which formerly was the location of Moses Creek. The creek area was filled in last year.

"The only thing holding up the project now is determination of whether bids are to be made locally or handled through the state," Brodhagen said. The matter is expected to be resolved in the near future, he added.

WSC plans for the area include the installation of eight tennis courts, four of which will be multi-purpose in nature. The four will be laid out in such a way that they can also be used for basketball or volleyball.

A board partition will separate the two sections of four courts with the reverse sides used for handball activity.

The area also will include a 10-lane straightway track with an the track will be a large practice eight-lane curve or oval. Inside football area as well as a baseball field.

Other plans call for at least five fields to be used for softball, touch football, ice skating and other activities. It is also hoped that enough room will be available to install bleachers on both sides of the track.

The facility will serve the athletic and intramural programs at WSC. Varsity tennis matches and baseball games will be held in the area.

Brodhagen said the field will take a big load, off the physical education department's shoulders and enable the student program to be improved considerably.

"At present, all of our fall and spring programs are conducted indoors, and because of space limitations, we've had to modify our physical activities."

Brodhagen, who has been active in work on plans for developing the area, reported that the college will no longer have to borrow space from other schools and departments in the city.

"We are extremely grateful for the contributions and cooperation received from the high school, parks department and others who have graciously made available their facilities to us in the past," he commented.

WSC officials hope that the project will move along speedily enough to make one field available next fall for football practice. Seeding of the area will then begin so that at least part of the intramural program can be moved outdoors in the fall.

Frosh Give Good Fight Loose To Rapids, 85-82

A strong Wisconsin Rapids Chet's Bar club, one of the top independent amateur teams in the area, had their hands full last Saturday before emerging with an 85-82 victory over the Pointer freshmen.

The game at the fieldhouse was a preliminary to the WSC-Oshkosh conference contest.

Chet's built up a 10-point advantage at the end of the first half, 54-44, but the Pointer frosh came back strong early in the second half and at one stage took a four-point lead.

Chet's experience and height advantage paid off down the stretch, however, and the Rapids team was able to hold on for the win.

The Pointers were paced by a tremendous shooting display on the part of guard Jim Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald poured in 33 points to lead both teams in scoring.

Terry Hanson chipped in with 12, Jim Vance with 11 and Jack Wohlt with nine to give good balance to Coach Hale Quandt's team. The Pointers outscored Chet's by a 38-31 margin in the second half.

Your Opinion May Be Worth A $500 Scholarship In Reed & Barton's "SILVER OPINION COMPETITION"

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarships totalling $2,050 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

In the 1963 Competition Miss Judy Spychalla of Wisconsin State College class of 1966 was one of the major prize winners of a starter set in sterling silver, china and crystal for her entry form matching Reed & Barton sterling patterns with leading china and crystal patterns.

Wisconsin State College has been selected to enter this Competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 cash scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $300 scholarship; Third Grand Award is a $250 scholarship; Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Awards are $200 scholarships; and Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth are $100 scholarships. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $50.00.

In the 1964 "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrant simply lists the three best combinations of sterling, china, and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Scholarships and awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Miss Sharon Henschel and Miss Judy Kraus are the Student Representatives who are conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at Wisconsin State College. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact Miss Henschel or Miss Kraus at Wisconsin State College for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the Competition rules. They also have samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American taste.
