Detective Story Begins Tonight

The big town beat (New york beat, not jazz, not cools, but, police beat...) is the scene. In rapid sequence, 20 cast members make the scene as justice is jaggedly and et cetera in the inevitable conflict over right/wrong in this type of problem stream situation: abortion, unfaithfulness, petty theft, shoplifting, and delinquency are a few of the crimes perused.

Under the direction of William Dawson the College Theatre will present its first play of the season, The Detective Story by Sidney Kingsley on Oct. 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Tickets are still available at the box office, room 113 main.

In the story, detectives McCleod and Brody work together, although Brody has greater common sense of the pair. McCleod follows only his own decisions, considers other viewpoints wrong. The over-seeing Littman, however, invites all ideas, considers human failure, and uses force only as a last means.

Bits of humor are inevitably interspersed into the play. Also, for instance, though obviously prepared for any histrionable situation, insists that he is always willing to be, "home eatingI, he is now up to the ceiling with a kitchen.

The building program is financed by the college. The school borrows from the federal government and repays the loans with student fees. The dormitory debts are paid with room fees; the food service debt is financed by student food fees and the student center is supported by the union fees.

Bloodmobile Needs The Support of WSU

The Red Cross Bloodmobile makes its last stop of the school year to Stevens Point Thursday and Friday, Oct. 6 and 9 at 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hours for the Bloodmobile will be from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday.

Support from students at Wisconsin State University continues to be a key factor in the success of the blood program. Everyone realizes that the blood body has an obligation to make this program successful. So long as we continue to be the life, every single person in Portage County is guaranteed all the blood he needs, free of charge, whenever and wherever he needs it.

"We need new donors," said Kirk Dendy, and with him, co-chairmen of the Portage Blood program. "We have not the quota every time for the last two years. This summer we have had lots. To the shopper, Cindy Parkovich, displays indescribable spiritful humor. Paul Bertelsen as Charlie, one of the notorious burglars arrested, feels the urge to go to the bathroom with the regularity of a four year old, "I don't want to bed. I can't help it. I'm nausious! I gotta go!" Mrs. Farragut complains to the police of the atomic goings-on of her neighbors, Jeff Rodman, as Detective Brody, leads the "ensemble playing" of "Detective Story, Calendars many to see "Detective Story," tonight, Thursday and Friday.

Union Addition Will Be Done Next September

There is a long range planning of the future at Stevens Point State university which deals with the physical facilities of the college, however, each building planned and prepared has a separate committee which handles that particular building. The goal of these committees is to tie the two campuses together.

This year Roach hall for women and Smits hall for men are both on the drawing board. Allen residence center were completed on time for the fall session. A heating plant is now being constructed near Smith and Roach hall as well as be completed in January. Also under construction are two dormitories situated west of the physical education building, expected to be ready next September.

September, 1965 will also be the completion date of the union addition. The ground floor will feature a university book store, a United States post office and a game room. The present snack area will be converted into a cafeteria forDetzel. Nelson and Steiner halls. The first floor addition will include a large lobby, main lounge (featuring an art gallery), a new snack bar area with terrace and various office rooms. Tentative plans are to change the present cafeteria to an a la carte cafeteria to be used by all three not using the dormitory cafeteria who are students or faculty and staff members.

The area also might be used as a cafeteria for those students living in the two new dormitories which will be open in the fall of 1965. The second floor addition will include a multi-purpose room with a capacity of 400 to 450 persons and featuring a portable stage, four large meeting rooms, five student offices with work rooms and the office of the Student Director of Activities. The lounge will remain essentially the same, to be used for banquets, teas and other party functions.

Malta TV Seminar

The seminar will deal with the dangers of late hours for foreign students. Dean Radke spoke mainly on academic work, especially the experience to freshmen. He pointed out to the foreign students that if any of them were interested they could audit the course. This seminar will be open to the course and learn and take the test. What they will lose, but they will still benefit from the course.

Dean Pfiffner told the students to not give speeches about their country, the University, and various clubs. In order to do this, they should first check with Dean Pfiffner to make sure transportation, check the speech, and get a pass, before going along in case something unexpected might occur.

A typical example of student involvement and growth was that of a Lebanese student. He thought of speaking to people that he was friendly, and did their best to make the students feel welcome and at home.

The seminar will deal with the specifics of practical broadcasting and will feature panel speakers from the state and national industry and from the academic world.

The five panel subjects scheduled for the seminar are: Broadcasting the arts, Broadcasting Program Planning; Broadcasting the News; Broadcasting the College Promotion; and Broadcasting and Public Relations.

Limited space facilities for this first radio-television seminar will restrict student registration to two hundred. Invitations have been sent to every Wisconsin college. The seminar will begin at 9 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 24 and conclude at 5 p.m. with a buffet supper provided by the broadcasters. Total cost for the day-long seminar will be $3.

H. Loomis, Washington; and E. Boeck, Milwaukee, for the Voice of America, will be the luncheon speakers.

Members of the special Wisconsin Broadcasters Association composition working with Wisconsin students on the seminar are Glen Hopkins, WITI; Richard G. Roach, Roger La Grand, WITI-TV, Milwaukee; Andy Sibberns, WEMP; and Joseph Severson, WYGB, Manitowoc; and Alphonse St. Cilla, Milwaukee, for the Voice of America, will be the luncheon speakers.

President Albertson Goes to Philippines

The President of Wisconsin State University at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, Mr. James H. Albertson, Ed. D., left Stevens Point, Monday, Sept. 29, on a journey unprecedented in the history of the school. He is participating in an administrative internship in conjunction with the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education through the authority of the Agency of International Development, a branch of the State Department. President Albertson is traveling to the Republic of the Philippines.

Travels of this type are promoted by the A.I.D. to enable educational administrators to actively participate in the functions of school administration in a foreign country to assimilate culture. During his 22-day stay in the Philippines, President Albertson will be given the opportunity of informing the administration of the State University. In turn, President Albertson will learn administrative procedure practiced in his host-country, examine its applicability to this university and then return with that knowledge to possibly incorporate it at Stevens Point.

While there, President Albertson will meet with a Philippine administrator who will at a later date come to Stevens University for from 6 to 9 months to actively participate in administrative affairs. He will be given a position of responsibility to the W.S.U. with procedure and also will become acquainted with the foreign students, attending the University and with the people in the community of Stevens Point.

After attending the American Council on Education at San Francisco, President Albertson will fly to Honolulu, Hawaii, and there remain for 36 hours while he visits with old students of his. He will then leave Honolulu at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 4, and fly non-stop to Manila, arriving there at 7:40 a.m. Oct. 5. President Albertson will remain in the Philippines until Oct. 26.

When asked what he hoped to accomplish during the trip, Mr. Albertson summed up his expectation by saying, "I hope we will not be the same (after this experience)." President Albertson hopes that an "international awareness" will result among the faculty, the students, and the administration; in his judgement, the times demand it. It is also hoped that after the visit Mr. Albertson has become acquainted with the foreign students now attending the University, he will be able to offer suggestions for developing a specific plan for working with these students and thus benefit more fully from their stay in America. He will also add the administration and faculty in incorporating not only facilities of his own Asian culture, but suggest means of facilitating assimilation of aspects of the Latin American and the African cultures.

President Albertson is hopeful that the State University at Stevens Point will affiliate with the school in the Philippines and thus create a most valuable and permanent "pipeline" of cultural exchange between the two schools. This cultural pipeline will facilitate inter-cultural understanding through the exchange of literature, catalogues, brochures and student newspapers. As familiarizing and understanding goes, it is hoped that student and faculty exchanges could be affected.

Delighted chuckles, gasps of disbelief and an air of excitement follow the Keystone Cops, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Laurel and Hardy and many other legendary silent film heroes as they flicker across the silver screen, weaving the strange web of an enchantment of a bygone era.

The University auditorium is the scene of this flashback to the 1920's which is entitled "The Nickelodeon Series." Under the auspices of the WSU Art and Lecture Committee, this series is solely the work of John Schellkoff, a WSU sophomore majoring in music.

Beginning as a hobby over four years ago, John's collection of 16mm silent films grew as friends in New York and California sent films and contacts in the film industry were able to obtain additional reels for him. He then prepared each of the old 35mm films, and sent them to Chicago where they were transferred to the 16mm film. This process will preserve the films.

Growing up with a background in piano and organ music, John became interested in the musical end of the film production and now writes and plays his own scores to accompany his collection of films. His main goal when composing a score is to capture the flavor of the original silent films so that the films, their subtitles, and the music all merge into the mind of the viewer. To achieve this unity of music with film action, John carefully watches a particular film many times. Then he works out scores where are suggested to him by the action of the plot, the characters or the setting of the film. Attempting to recapture the idea and mood of the original film he sometimes incorporates bits and pieces from various original cue sheets into one score.

John seldom writes his scores down. Instead, he anticipates the actions of the characters and the plot situations and coordinates the music with the action. In such cases where his films travel around the country to universities and film study groups, he includes a tape recording of his musical score to accompany the film.

In showing these films John attempts to recreate the original mood of the golden era of the Nickelodeon - all the way from the five cent admission fee to the original hand-tinted song slides which include the latest hits of the 1920's. Notices such as "Ladies will please remove their hats," "Baby left in lobby is crying," and "Feet hurt? Check shoes with usher." add color and amusement to an evening at the Nickelodeon.

John Schellkoff invites everyone to see the second in the series in which Douglas Fairbanks will be starring in "The Mark of Zorro," 8 p.m., Oct. 20 in the University auditorium. And now, if the ladies will please remove their hats, the show will begin...

A Letter For Freshmen

This year more than ever before, there is extreme emphasis on choosing qualified and competent leadership.

The system of government that allows the people to decide who should be leaders grants a great deal of responsibility on each voter.

This responsibility demands that the voters be informed as to the qualifications of the candidates and be able to make a wise choice as they vote for the candidates that they feel can best serve the school.

The candidates who have filed petitions and campaigned for offices have expressed their interest in student government by their nominations. It is appropriate to use the representatives who are best qualified for positions.

If there are responsible and interested people filling the offices of student government each student in our University shall benefit.

Thus, I urge each student to express your interest in your school and welfare by voting for the best qualified candidate in the elections, Tuesday, Oct.

JUDY CHRISTENSEN
S. C. President

BARTER FOXE

My name is Barbara Foxe, and as you probably can guess I’m a first semester Freshman.

I’ve served students for years in high school in the capacity of a Student Council Freshman representative. I intend to utilize the experience I’ve had to help put into effect the following ideas:

1. A better health service for the whole Student body.
2. To install Fruit-o-matic vending machines in the Allen Center and the residence halls to quiet the 3 o’clock rumbling you feel in your stomach every night.

One of the most important things I’ve learned as a representative is the importance of communication between the represented and the representative. If you feel you can do anything about a problem or idea you may have, feel free to talk to me anytime.

JAMES KELLERMAN

Over the past week, I have been approached by many students who have asked the same question, “What will you do for me if you are elected?”

The answer must be that I can only do what the Freshman Class as a whole wants me to.

My high school days have given me a sound background in student affairs. I was President of the Watertown Catholic Youth League, Vice President of the Dramatics Club, a member of the National Thespian Society, Chairman of the Homecoming float committee for four years, and on the student council and Steering Committee. As a Captain in Civil Air Patrol I was an exchange student and went to Portugal as a junior.
Candidate for Student Council

By now many of you have seen me running about the campus. Perhaps you have wondered what my views are concerning the role of the student representative. It is clearly obvious that a Council Representative must represent the Student Body. However, I feel that the personal ideals and beliefs of the individual representative will be reflected in the programs initiated by the Student Council. Therefore, I feel that I must express myself concerning the problems I have noticed on campus before you can accurately judge me as a candidate for the Student Council.

I have been made aware of my attention that many students are having trouble getting to Phy Ed building to Old Main in the allotted 15 minutes, especially if the instructor keeps them in class close to the end of the period. I think that with a little push from the Student Council, these instructors could be persuaded to shorten the actual class period a few minutes, signifying support for my student-student relationship and work load, and in turn, reduce the happenings caused by students entering classes late.

Another thing that I feel is lacking is a planned program of recreational activities. Any one who attended the inter-ball football games could help but realize the void on the part of the people in the University. There are facilities for many types of recreational activity and the student council should try to carry out a program of this type.

A third problem I would like to tackle is the Deli. I think we have a lot. The slightest rain storm has transformed this parking lot into a giant mud hole. I believe that if the Student Council should use its influence to have the lot paved before winter sets in. To my knowledge you can ask any upperclassman about this situation.

In conclusion, I would like to say that if I am elected I will not be someone else worrying about the problems facing our campus, but be myself and fight for YOU.

BILL NEHRING

in the best way possible, I shall listen to any suggestions, ideas or complaints, consider the consensus of opinion and if the opinion is positive bring the matter to the attention of class officers and Student Council. I believe that in is in the duty of each student to be responsible, to represent the views of his class and also to have, to some extent initiative of his own.

MARY ANN LAUER
Hi there,

My name is Mary Ann Lauver and I’m running for Secretary of our freshman class. My hometown is Menominee Falls which is near Milwaukee. My major here at “Point” is Home Economics. I came from a high school of 1,700 students. To earn the right to hold an office in one of the clubs a person must work very hard campaigning for the position he wishes to hold. In high school I campaigned and held offices in the following clubs: French Club—Secretary; treasurer, G.A.A. — Treasurer, Dolphinette Swim Club, Secretary. Future Teachers of America—Secretary, and others. I was also very active all four years of high school and represented my student body to the best of my ability. In the C.Y.O. at our Church I held the position of Vice-President.

During my senior year in high school I worked after classes as a Dental Secretary and Assistant for one of the best dentists. I sincerely enjoyed doing secretarial work and I believe that I have the ability to do a fine job.

If elected Secretary of our Freshman class I promise to represent our class to the best of my ability. To our classmates, ever some leis will be brought to the attention of the campus just call on me and I’ll see the problem through to a solution. I promise to assist and cooperate with our new President and assist with any problems that may arise. I have hopes of proving that the Freshman class is the best class on campus. If you wish to see our class on top then vote for me.

Mary Ann Lauver

KATHY ROWEN
I’m interested in you, not as a number but as an individual. In the last few weeks I've discovered that it’s almost impossible to meet everyone on campus, not only the members of our class but also the upperclassmen and graduate students. My belief is that a college is only a place of learning until you are learning about people. I believe the Student Council is yours and my best way to unit the members of our class and the other students on campus. As your freshman representative, I will work towards the completion of a three point program: (1) an increase in the social activities on campus during the weekend, (2) a rate lunch ticket in the cafeteria for off-campus students and (3) an increase in the information available to the student body on both an international and local level.

Within the past five years there has been a war wages war on most state university camdern’s termed the “war against tuition increases.” The only way to defeat these aggressors is give these students a reason for staying on campus. Good films, dances, speeches, interest meets and conversation coffee kitches would be the beginnings of established weekend programs. As your representative, I will support and attend these activities in order to make more social activities. If we can keep more people on campus, it means more opportunities for new friends.

I know that I am an off-campus student, but I think it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain a well balanced but inexpensive lunch. During the next year I will be working towards establishing a rate cafeteria lunch for off-campus students. I believe this would solve not only the problem of a well balanced and inexpensive meal but this program will also supply more opportunities for the dorm and off-campus students to meet one another and exchange ideas.

The availability of more local and international information is also a necessity for our group. A cooperative effort by the Pointer circulation staff and the Student Council, I could also provide a system of current books, newspaper articles, or any information whatsoever. These publications are available. I believe by making this available learning from the experiences of others we are better able to understand our own problems.

My reason for running is to bring unity to our class and to our campus, Won’t you help by voting for me? Thank you.

CAROL STORY
Hi, my name is Carol Story and I am running for the office of Freshman class, I come from Milwaukee, where I attended Solomon Juneau High School. While in high school I participated in many service activities as well as in our student council.

I am running because I truly desire the job of Freshman representative to the student council. I believe that I am of the right stuff and have a vital part of any part of the body. I believe that I can make various problems and interests of the student council.

During my service in the student council of Juneau, I found out what a failure an interested and passive council can be. Our council was weak because we lacked adequate leadership and concerned members. Thus, our school was weak. The council became a committee to plan dances rather than a com-

How Come?

Question: In the "Campus Newsletter — Calendar" of September 21, 1964, it was announced that reserved seats would be available to all students who wished them for the concert series and the chamber series of the Arts and Lectures Series. This is fine, but if a person reserves a seat, he is entitled only to that one seat throughout the season. How can two people arrange to sit together if they have reserved non-adjacent seats?

Answer: If you reserve a seat for the Arts and Lecture Committee, and another seat for the same concert series, the reservation will be transferred to the Arts and Lectures Department. If you prefer to reserve seats for yourself, you must reserve them individually. If you have reserved seats for yourself, you cannot transfer them to another student.

Attention Pointers Staff

There will be a short meeting each evening in the TV lounge on the first floor of the Student Center at 7:00 p.m. for Writer's, copy and proof readers, advertising and business people all should attend.

Attention Democrats

On Wed., Oct. 7 at 7 p.m. the Young Democrats will meet to elect their 1964-65 slate of officers. The meeting in Rooms 24-25 of the University Center, will also be attended by the new members to sign up.

The TV lounge seems to be used more since the boys have taken over. Basketball and football games, Sunday Night at the Movies, and all the late shows will find a group of boys watching, rather than setting up a small percentage of the men in the student bodies, that is as plastic ships, airplanes and cars models. Hall bulletin boards have been revised. Instead of the neat, planned bulletin boards of the Steve's Point Symphony Orchestra. It is composed of approximately fifty members, who give their concerts annually. Dr. Maple is the President of the Steve's Point Symphony Orchestra.

It is to be noted that Steve's Point is one of the three cities in the state of Wisconsin which is granted membership in the National Symphony League.

American Guild Of Organists

The Student Chapter of the American Guild of Organists met at the home of Mr. John Thomas, Thursday, Sept. 11, to elect an instructor on Sept. 21 in order to make plans for the future activities. The group which was formed a year ago is open to people interested in music and the church choir program. Plans for the year include local programs, but trips to other cities for concerts as well. Officers elected were: Richard Neza, President, Judith Kott, Secretary, Elaine Marshall, and Mr. Thompson, the advisor.

Compulsory Unionism: The New Slavery

By the late Donald R. Richberg, distinguished attorney, author of Railroad Labor Law

For a generation all labor unions denounced "yellow dog" contracts under which employees were forced either to join a union opposing their own wishes or to join any union. To free labor from such coercion these "yellow dog" contracts were made unlawful by national and state laws.

But today union labor leaders are demanding that a new variety of "yellow dog" contract be legalized. This is called a union shop. A union shop, the employer forces every old and new employee to be a member, pay dues, and submit to discipline for any reason, no matter what. The doctrine is that a union may be a good or bad bargain. It may be loyal to the workers and to the government; or it may be a communist-controlled union hostile to both.

The old laws prohibiting "yellow dog" contracts have been modified by national laws which permit an employer to make a union shop if he can prove that compelling membership is a valuable condition for a union. This has developed, as voluntary organizations, of self-help, to free labor from any oppression of employer power, can justify their present situation and force control of jobs to force compelling membership upon the workers. This is the only legal argument that a union can make. In the end, the majority of workers who will not voluntarily support union membership are not required to do so. A majority of employees of a craft or class must be made to contribute support to a voluntary organization which benefits them. It is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class to go outside its own ranks a considerable number of those who are not union members but who are free to do so. The right of union membership as a constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class. It is the only legal argument that a union can make.

The only legal argument that a union can make is: the majority of workers who will not voluntarily support union membership are not required to do so. A majority of employees of a craft or class must be made to contribute support to a voluntary organization which benefits them. It is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class to go outside its own ranks a considerable number of those who are not union members but who are free to do so. The right of union membership as a constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class. It is the only legal argument that a union can make.

But where the workers are required to join and support a union which is a monopoly of employees of a craft or class, and which is a monopoly of employees of a craft or class, the majority of workers who will not voluntarily support union membership are not required to do so. A majority of employees of a craft or class must be made to contribute support to a voluntary organization which benefits them. It is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class to go outside its own ranks a considerable number of those who are not union members but who are free to do so. The right of union membership as a constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class is a legal and constitutional right of all employees of a craft or class. It is the only legal argument that a union can make.

The claim of democratic major rule by compulsory unionism is a mere fraud. Most of the complaints about union control arise from the fact that majority rule becomes the rule in a democracy society and which, as a matter of fact, is a product of state socialism and communism. (Continued next week.)

Twelve Tournaments Slated

The debate team of W. S. U. is hurriedly preparing for its first debate tournament to be held at Michigan State University on the last weekend of October.

The proposed resolution to be debated is that the Federal Government should establish a national public works program for the unemployed. This topic will be debated at the all the tournaments this year.

The debate team is organized on a variety-wise basis. That is, the experienced debaters will compete among themselves, and the inexperienced will compete against the inexperienced.

The schedule for the year tentatively holds twelve tournaments. This semester, the team will travel to Michigan State University, Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, the University of Chicago, Bradley University, and Wisconsin State University-Whitewater.

Stevens Point has sixteen active on their team. On the majority team are Nan Daniels, Pam Anderson, Randy Forbush, Dave Aronson, Rick Gas, and Gordon Mallick. The novice team consists of Kathy Rowan, Vicky Peizer, Dick bor, Dan Perkins, Dave Giese, and Pat Timmer.

Each day the debaters practice trying to take one major point to a national debate. Last year they went to Denver, Colorado, and the year before to Washington D.C. The school pays expenses for all trips.

People who participate in debate find it an invaluable experience, for they are in close contact with the really bright people of other campuses, as well as in their own. They learn discipline, as no teacher is forcing them to participate in the truly intellectual undertaking, and the participants have their ideas challenged in systematical arguments and have ideas judged by competent people. Therefore they learn to think for themselves, test their knowledge against others, and gain self-respect.

3 Club Plans Events

On Sept. 16 the 3 Club had its 9th annual meeting. This year there seems to be quite a bit of enthusiasm which has been lacking the last years. I would like to urge all boys who have earned letters to come to the meetings, and participate in the club.

The business taken up at this first meeting was the election of the new committee and the discussion on the point system.

The members elected to offices are as follows: Jim Steinburn, president; Great White, vice-president; Rich Summers, secretary; Tom Grafenhauser, treasurer; and Gene Cemeni should establish a national public works program for the unemployed. This topic will be debated at all the tournaments this year.

Oshkosh's Titans completely dominated the second half of the game played at Oshkosh Friday night.

The Pointers of Coach Duaine Counsell now stand 1-2 in loop play and 1-3 in all games.

The Pointers expected Jaeger to do a lot of passing but the Oshkosh signal-caller threw only five times all night—once for a touchdown.

The Pointer defense was unable to contain Oshkosh's offense in the second half. Jaeger inflicted major damage on rollouts around the Wsu ends and an end play draws to his fullback.

The Pointers had the ball for only 18 plays compared to 38 for the Titans.

The Pointers, who moved well all night defensively when they had the ball, took the kickoff on their own 16 and proceeded 81 yards for the longest march of the game.

The big gainer was a run of 33 yards off the statue of liberty play by seahawk Larry Holmes, following a 15-yard penalty.

The Pointers rolled up 145 yards rushing in the first half, Oshkosh 76.

Oshkosh wound up with an 18-11 margin in first downs and rushed for 234 yards in 34 carries—an average of 6.9. The Pointers had 184 yards on the ground in 38 tries for a 4.8 average but only 42 came in the second half while Oshkosh was rolling up 184.

Jaeger, wound up with 86 yards in 20 trips, despite losing 49 yards on passing attempts.

Buschmann added 66, Bobtlicom 41 and John Harrison 38.

Holmes, running well, made 51 yards in 13 trips.

Rivers added 55 and Kiedrowski 26 before a knee injury forced him out in the fourth quarter.

Neither team punted in the second half. The Pointers tried seven passes, completing two for 29 yards.

Point scoring: Kiedrowski (3-yard run); Rivers (1-yard pass). PAT—Rivers (1 yard by placement).

Oshkosh scoring: Jaeger (1-yard run, 13-yard run); Buschmann (6-yard run); Emerich (1-yard pass from Jaeger). PAT—Cranberg, 2 (by placement).
