Welcome Students

Student Council Needs Help

3256 Students Now At WSU

Fall enrollment at Wisconsin State University, Stevens Point, reached a record high as 3256 students began classes Sept. 14. In addition to full-time students, 674 people enrolled in extension classes, 60 people enrolled in special students and 38 college graduates returned for graduate study courses.

Incoming Freshman, totaling 1257, joined with 223 transfer students to spend their first semester on the WSU campus. Statistically, 23 second semester freshmen, 817 sophomores, 584 juniors, and 93 seniors enrolled as full-time students.

In conclusion, 496 more men and women seek the privilege of education on the WSU campus this year than last. In fact, the ratio of men to women is 5 to 3.

Student Council To Add Representatives

Last spring the Student Council, with all deliberation, voted to change its form of representation because it was felt that equal representation was not being provided for all students.

The previous form of representation provided for representatives to come from certain special interest groups such as hall committees, Women students, and the classes. Because not all special interest groups were organized, thus could not send representatives, and because of the great number of representatives which would be involved if all interest groups were represented, the Student Council decided to change their representation on class representatives to take effect this fall.

Therefore, in conjunction with Freshmen elections, a special election will be held to elect an additional representative to the Student Council (see ELECTIONS page 5).

Here’s The 1964-65 Edition Of The POINTER

We will be bringing you up to the minute (honest!) information about your campus. Our sports staff will give the latest possible coverage of sporting events. Intercollegiate and intramural athletics will be covered; there will be reports from the coaches and teams from time to time. The feature department staff will be busy this year presenting material that will interest you, inform you, and entertain you. You will recognize some of the columns from last year: plus there will be a number of new ones which will interest you very much. It will also be coming up with some fine stories and special articles. Our editors will present The Pointer’s ideology, and they will clarify The Pointer’s positions on controversial issues. Whatever the subject of the editorials, we hope that they will provoke you to objective thought.

If your paper isn’t as great as you think it should be, the staff certainly won’t be entire responsible. There will have to be an effort on the part of every student body member.

If you have an event that is of interest to someone else, let them know about it through your paper. If you think you have a statement which merits the consideration of the whole student body (or faculty), present it through your school newspaper.

If you disagree with what you read, do it through your school newspaper — through “The POINTER.” “The POINTER” is to give you an opportunity to say and ask through a publication which has the broadest circulation and can be one of the greatest forces on campus.

Detective Story Set In New York

A New York city police station is the setting for the first play of a series of four to be presented this season. Detective Story by Sidney Kingsley was described by Mr. Dawson, the director, as a “realistic drama.”

The play will be presented Oct. 7, 8, 9, and 10. Tickets may be picked up by students upon presentation of ID’s at the box office in room 113 from 9:30 to 11:45 from Mon., Sept. 28, on.

Mr. Dawson also announced the cast for the production: Joe Palsom, John Smith, Detective Dakis, Dennis Waid, Detective Gallagher, Paul Lawton, Detective Callahan, Don Larold, Detective Eddy, Jeff Rodman; Endicott Sims, Jon Wherry, Detective Mcbeed, Bruce Busch, Arthur Kindred, Jim Mueller; Patrolman Barnes, Paul Johnson, 1st bargirl (charlie), Paul (See DETECTIVE page 4).
Wanna Make Ten Bucks?

"Loose to the breeze her golden tresses flowed Wildly in a thousand many ringlets blown, And from her eyes unconquered glances shone, Those glances now so sparingly bestowed."

Pettruch (1535)

When was the last time you saw a woman with an unconquered spirit? Or for that matter, anybody, man or woman, who could say, "I am unconquered"?

Perhaps one of the reasons you have never heard it is because 99% of the people won’t say three words about themselves or what they think. Of course, you will hear the preface, "I think . . . " quite a bit; but, if you pursue a point 30 seconds longer it usually comes out to be "Well, I think because I believe it . . ."

Are all of your opinions borrowed? Or are you one of the few who still has his self-assertiveness?

Most young people are intellectually a heap of jelly. Their spirits are so broken, their drive so quenched, that if you offer one stiff argument they’ll agree with you. They agree because somebody has a point and they don’t want to be wrong. Most young people are dead scared of being wrong.

Want proof? Open your dictionary and find a word you don’t know, Study it. Then use it incorrectly in conversation. I’ll bet anybody on campus ten dollars that not one person in ten, no, make it twenty, will correct you or ask you what it means. (I’ve got a side bet that nobody collects.)

Letter To Upperclassmen:

The 1964 Homecoming Committee would like to take this advantage to welcome the returning upperclassmen and the faculty to another year at Wisconsin State University.

Since last spring the Homecoming Committee has been planning a wide and varied calendar of events. These range from faculty concerts, the W-rays Philharmonic Orchestra to pep rallies, campaigning and a parade, of floats and illumination.

This calendar is scheduled to give the students, faculty, and alumni more opportunity to participate and enjoy fully the homecoming festivities.

My committee and I are willing to hear any new ideas or suggestions concerning how to improve homecoming. We want the students to make this the best homecoming. We are open to new ideas; possibly there are some of you who think of ways that we should do things differently.

I am asking you to help out in any way possible to make it a success. There are many varied ways to do this: helping build a float, clapping on the parade, or active participation in one of the many programs that will be sponsored during the week. There are any number of ways you can help and we need help from everyone.

If you have anything that you feel will help, write it down and submit it to my committee at the Student Council Office, Room 29, on the third floor of the University Center.

James T. Shilling
Homecoming Chairman

Latin American Studies Minor Offered In ’66

For the first time this fall a minor in Latin American Studies is being offered with a major projected for the fall of 1966. This course is currently evaluation 191-125 for specific requirements.

This program reflects the growing awareness of the importance of familiarity with areas of the world that recognize the validity of a regional, inter-disciplinary program: a program useful to prospective teachers, some aspects of government service and business, and the liberally educated in general. Students interested in this new minor are advised to consult with Mr. Knowlton of the History Department (404 main).

President Albertson Comments On Paper

President Albertson, Wisconsin State University, is the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the University of Wisconsin Alumni Association. The meeting is held at the University Center at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

President Albertson’s Address:

President Albertson’s Address:

"Our school newspaper should be what it is called, a student newspaper. It should inform all people concerned with the university and include them, at least in feeling, in the activities of the faculty and students."

"If a good school newspaper is important because it can do so much to unify a campus. It keeps the students and faculty in touch with one another, and gives both groups a chance to speak freely.

"As a link between the university and the community, it is another reason for a good student newspaper. It is to expose an interested and interested side of the students to a community, a campus, a University."

President Albertson’s Address:

"The American Academy of Arts and Sciences has a program for reading books and drinking. A fine publication promotes mutual understanding among students and members of the community.

"And finally the student newspaper, whatever its exchange, it is a reflection of the students and a reflection of the temper of the university."

"So a variety of faces, new faces and old faces, walking and walking, and many smiling faces, maybe just sad and tired, hiding or revealing stories.

All of these faces, these people, are busy with library and lunch trays, books and budgets, maneuvering their ideas and attitudes in these years of education.

It may seem naive to presume that the group of three thousand and faces should brighten a weary students day, or that one could possibly know well enough a sizeable portion of them.

But it’s important to believe and understand that to us three thousand faces and interviews but a glob of impersonal human matter. That there are other people, other kinds of people, other needs, other hopes, other ways of learning. This is a valuable part of education and appreciation.

In the first four lines of a poem, "People," the Russian poet Anna Akhmatova wrote: "No people are uninteresting."

Their is like the chronicle of planets. Nothing in them is not particular, and planet is dissimilar from planet."
How Come? The 7-Day Meal Ticket

This is your column with no other purpose for existing than to answer your questions. If you have any questions concerning the University and your college or life back home, ask me. I will try to answer them as soon as possible.

Persons queried were Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffler and Mr. Orland E. Radke. Association Dean of Students. Mrs. Pfiffler and Mr. Radke viewed our discussion as an opportunity to communicate with all the students on a topic of mutual concern. Mr. Radke summed up food service policy on this campus reflects, "a basic philosophy of education." A nebulous policy? Let's see.

According to Mrs. Pfiffler and Mr. Radke, "All decisions concerning the food service of this University are made by some decentralized or central faculty member. While the final decision was made last spring, it had been considered over a long period of time and only after lengthy discussion by the department of Student Affairs with the hall directors and residents. We did the Director of Housing present the 7-day meal plan to President Radke and receive his approval. It was not one man's decision, it was the faculty decision, nor an impromptu decision.

This university must prepare the whole person for the active, social life of the professional man or woman. According to Mr. Radke, in order for the professional person to fulfill this role, he must be at ease in conversation with his equals, he must also eat with the facility that his position would prescribe for him in his community—yes, he must be able to eat at a banquet.

It is generally felt that indiscriminate eating, usually alone or in the company of "bedfellows" is not likely to elevate one's eating habits nor to encourage intelligent and enlightened conversation. Not only is the Department of Student Affairs concerned with what such a document is acquired here at the U., but we are interested in student identification with the school. A commuting student is a "five-day" student who goes home for the weekends. It is usually to feel that he "belongs" here, that this is his home. (If he doesn't feel that way, then it is you at whom the T-Day plan is directed.) If you don't feel an affinity for the U., you possibly are not participating in school activities. Meals are an important part of school activity. It is the hope of those responsible for the T-Day meal plan that, that plan will alleviate, somewhat, any incoherence within the student body.

Mr. Radke points out that two additional meals—Sunday breakfast and supper—have been added to the number of meals served each week. Last year a 5-day meal ticket cost twenty dollars less than the T-Day ticket costs this year. The student pays the additional cost of meals during the weekends of the T-Day plan to ensure that how many meals this additional cost represents. The student is guaranteed a nominal and the 5 - day meal ticket is considered as better than the T-Day ticket. In the T-Day plan the student is required to find appropriate weekend meals and usually resort to the cafeteria.

In the not too distant future, meals on Saturdays will be served in the student cafeteria. The meal will be served by hosts and house guests will be served. Already the food service on the continental breakfast which is served in the dorms on Sunday mornings and consists of coffee, sweet rolls, and juice. This and Sunday lunch are services the student should attest to his school's genuine interest in his welfare.

How come the T-Day meal ticket? I hope that that question has been answered adequately. If it has not, then I wish to inquire about concerning you and your school, send your queries to this column. Let's hear from you soon. Like may be right now. How come? Because your questions are important to the whole campus.

Homecoming Festivities

Homecoming festivities will begin on Friday evening, Oct. 14 with the Queen's Dance at the University Center at 8 p.m. The Honeyseekers, the Queen Candidates, and the band will be present. Following the dance, the Queen Candidates will be introduced to the students by President Albertson at 3:30 p.m. on Friday afternoon. On Friday evening, there will be a performance by the Faculty Jazz Group. On Thursday evening at 8 p.m., the Queen's Assembly at which the former Queen Candidates will be sponsoring fraternities, The Homecoming Parade begins on Friday with voting from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. with voting places to be designated at a later date. The Science Building will be officially dedicated by President Albertson at 3:30 p.m. Friday afternoon. On Friday evening, there will be a performance by the fabulous "Four Freshman" in the Auditorium, followed immediately by the coronation of the Homecoming Queen for 1964. Beginning Saturday morning, there will be the dedication of Lower Campus at 9 a.m. and following this will be the Homecoming Parade at 10 a.m. in downtown Stevens Point. Following the parade at noon, there will be an Alumni Luncheon at the University Center. Then comes the big event of the week, the football game against the "Bill Golds" of the University of Eau Claire which begins at 2 p.m. on Gorky Field. After the game, there will be an Alumni Tea in the University Center Lounge. Saturday's festivities will be concluded by the gala Homecoming Dance at 9 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. Homecoming festivities will also be held on "The Night of the Pointer Pageant on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. These events are designed by Homecoming committee for the benefit of the students; therefore, you should look upon these events for your own benefit and enjoyment.

Two farmers were discussing the cost of life in the big University. Inez Sara said "I don't rightly understand them degrees the boys are working for you, do you think it blows the roof off." "I reckon so," replied Cy modestly. "First one they get is the bachelor's degree you know what that means." "Being a man of the world," said Inez.

"Cy went on. "Well, sir, they play a little harder, and they get this here M. S. That means more of the same." "Ezra nodded.

"Then comes the hard part. They study night and day, put in years of readin', write all kinds of papers, and the days when they're lucky, the highest one of em all. The Ph.D." "And what does that stand for?" asked Ezra. "Piled Higher and Deeper."

Why'd the chicken cross the road? TO GET TO GRAHAM-LANE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

A friend had clucked into his head while he was practicing musical scratching. He could hardly wait.

New Spirit Shown On Campus?

Friday evening, Oct. 2 will find Alien Residence Center housing a combination dance, party, and fashion show. The introductory announcement was titled in the Student News, "The 1964 Pointer Jubilee Sponsor Fashion Show Committee of the University Center Board has been free of charge each year with the purpose of introducing freshmen and sophomores to the purpose, activities and personnel of mock campus associations." Davie Cooley, chairman of Special Events, announced recently that Bob Harrison, who was appointed chairman of the event for this year, and who had agreed to become chairman, "The New Spirit on the WSU Campus." It was further stated that this year, "a pair that organisation contacted have responded well and estimates that it will be run as thirty booths. From 8:30 to 11:30 students can investigate clubs, talk to members, play games, and when they are tired of both booths, they can find the dance floor of special interest.

Although not aimed primarily at upperclassmen, they will be attracted to the booths and games and others will be attracted by the bands as well.

In announcing plans, Harris and Secretary Crooks set their statement by urging prominent students to attend. They were longer that evening and observed students "show up or m ome for the week end will miss their only chance to acquaint the new students with campus organizations."

Most people would succeed in many ways if they tried. I have"troubled with great ambitions.

Freshmen Air Varied Opinions

When cornered by two or more upperclassmen, a freshman either speaks out, squeaks, reveals himself, or8 concealed by a sudden nervousness or states his opinion on any one of a hundred things (as they say). All freshmen can tell that they cannot keep secret their desire to enter the academic library. They may also tell their ideas of the Presidential candidates, faculty-student relationships, registrations, Stevens Point, mikes and the mud-row streets.

"I know I'm for Goldwater, because I don't care for the present administration," said John Ritchie, one of the Sophomore majors.

John feels that the teachers aren't too good; they try to get to know each student and help him as much as they can. At a bigger school you just have a number. "About Stevens Point: "I think it's a bigger school you're just a number. The students, he replied, 'I think for either one, because I think Johnson is better. I think the water is a creep, blumpy." She feels, "...they get to know your teachers, and they're really helpful. Amazingly so." Barb enjoyed registration, "because 'it rather gave you an idea of what to look for in the fall." Stevens Point? "I like it. I think it's a typical college town. I think it's a neat, tidy city, and I like that." Because of everyone's habit of calling the University Center, the Student Union, she would change the name back to the original, if she could.

Having forgotten his pet peev, "Chip" Strode-Jackson did manage to recall a few other things, such as registration, "Lines, lines, and more lines." Chip feels that "the city itself doesn't give us enough to do. As for the bars, I enjoy them all." He liked the freshman and sophomore orientation. He thought that the all-school mixer was, "a high school dance." When cornered by two or more upperclassmen, and students, he replied, "I think they're great. It's so much better than high school. Anything would be better." It seems many fellow freshmen have varied opinions of their freshmen class. He says his reason is, "I feel we won't be in touch with one another and have to go to work soon.

and willing to help individually." Kris thought that Stevens Point would be bigger, "because of the size of the University. I thought it would be more commercialized and have too many things to offer the student than it does." Registration? "I thought it was a real mess... the gentlemen who helped me made it seem run a hurry-up process." Lines... "that they don't have books at the end of the semester," how do they get the books back to the library? "I'll have to return the books to the library. It's too bad. Keep the books, they will need them for their grades." Kris agrees with all of the other freshmen interviewed when he expresses student-faculty relations.

"Our school is at this point that Stevens Point is the 'Rocket Bops' or the "60's era... ah, camping... it's been a good year... and a ragless one at that. I heard there's a "new spirit" on campus and this year's jubilee has captured it. Gosh, I wonder if they'll let me see it? Oh well, even if they don't, I'll get to watch these wild convertors and it won't cost me a cent. Rich tells me they're going to have a terrific band there... ah, the "Rocket Bops" or the "Sing- ing Bell" or something like that. (I never lie.)

Hmmm, Friday sounds like a good night to spend at Allen Center... from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Excuse me while I go and look for some more rags. Pointerchapter bores me so.

Barb Tickler

Barb Tickler, a Speech Therapy student, disagrees with John's position of Johnson. "I think for either one, because I think Johnson is better. I think the water is a creep, blumpy." She feels, "...they get to know your teachers, and they're really helpful. Amazingly so." Barb enjoyed registration, "because 'it rather gave you an idea of what to look for in the fall." Stevens Point? "I like it. I think it's a typical college town. I think it's a neat, tidy city, and I like that." Because of everyone's habit of calling the University Center, the Student Union, she would change the name back to the original, if she could.

for classes. An additional repre sentative from the Sophomore class to fill a vacancy.

Any student with a 2.25 overall grade point average is eligible to run for these offices. A petition must be circulated and signed by 25 members of the Sophomore class and returned to the Student Council office on or before October 2. The elections are available any time in the Student Council office.

Elections will be held Tuesday, October 6.

Speed Merchant

SPEED MERCHANT of the “Purple and Gold,” Larry Holmes, (No. 10), is shown here being tripped up by a Pioneer tackler. Playing hard on the gridiron all night, Holmes was a big factor in Point’s big dump of the platteville Pioneers.

Football Outlook

Defending champion Eau Claire’s rated by conference coaches as the “best team.” Eau Claire Coach Jim Rice feels his team will finish no higher than third and possibly fourth. The successful team of last year was Oshkosh and River Falls for the first division.

Eau Claire and Oshkosh have the top passing combinations in the conference with all conference quarterback Jim Van Gorden and all conference and Gerry Gendron. Oshkosh has quarterback Jim Jaeger and all conference and Dick Enchick. Whitewater has powerful ground attack with veteran Vinny Ersina, Jim Gano and Jim Klublack. Quarterback John Martinek is one of the best.

River Falls has the most lettermen at 28 and will have a solid defensive team. Only question mark is at quarterback.

Stevens Point

Stevens Point is missing a great deal from last squad, but has all conference guard Bruce Bay along with conference halfback George Rivers and able quarterback Larry Balousek.

Stevens Point is a young team loaded with good halfbacks and a fine end Roger Erickson. Quarterbacks are better than average. Will be a good team and could surprise a lot of teams.

Superior

Superior always has a tough defense and this year will be no different. Outstanding line backers Jerry Schweiger and Lance Royer lead the way. Offense is a question mark but could be more than adequate if quarterback Terry Diskin has a good year.

Platteville

Platteville is young under new Coach John Barth, school’s athletic director. Platteville have 11 lettermen, but still in a rebuilding year.

La Crosse

La Crosse finished without a victory last season, but they’ll do a lot better. Defense should hold and offensive line and scoring punch is a question mark. Norm Mallon’s wider must do the job at quarterback. Jim Rose is one of the best halfbacks in the conference.

The Royal Brushoff

The men’s halls provided the money. One hall provided the testing ground. So they built an automatic door for the university. When someone stands on the stairs, their weight starts the gears moving and the protruding brushes brushing until all the snow and mud are cleared off the bottom of their shoes.

It’s just in the experimental stage. But if it’s a success, automatic doorways probably will be installed at every residence hall. Whatever happened to the hardy breed of pioneers who used to “rough it” — who never had a machine to clean the bottoms of their shoes?

Some New Answers to Old Questions

The EGYPTIAN, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill., gathered up these student statements on examinations:

- “The three stages of life are childhood, adolescence and adulthood. Some people never reach the third stage.”
- “Hamlet,” one instructor learned. “is a revenge play with a duel and all that.”
- In Sinclair Lewis’ novel, “Babu dish,” the punch was a great of frivolous characters.”
- Poetess Elizabeth Barrett Browning was a “corpse.” Said a boy who explained later that he choose that term because “I don’t know how to spell ‘invalid.’”

Purple and Gold Get the Devil from Stout

Due to a pass interception, two fumbles, inexperience in the secondary, and two long passes, Stevens Point State University's football team suffered their second straight setback of the season. Although Point outplayed Stout State University's team most of the game, the Blue Devils took advantage of a few mistakes and bad breaks and dealt the Pointers the death blow, 19-6.

Weakness on pass defense, which was also pertinent in the 19-6 defeat by Augsburg, Minnesota, a week earlier, came back again in the second game of the season. Stout took advantage of the inexperienced secondary to connect on two long scoring passes. Both were from quarterback Mike Dunford to halfback Henry Waters. The first bomb covered a total of 67 yards in the second quarter, and the second, which was 69 yards, came late in the final period.

Stout also took advantage of a Pointer fumble of a Blue Devil punt in the opening period. In the next play, fullback Joe Urick crashed across from the 3-yard line. Gary Helbst kicked the extra point.

Then just as the Pointers were starting to move, there was a fumble and Stout recovered. But the Pointers defense held ground forcing Stout to punt. This time the "Purple and Gold" got down to paydirt with Larry Holmes' blast off a 38-yard pass from Scarborough to Campbell and a 2-yard plunge by Ostrem. The Pointers' final touchdowns came on a 36-yard and a 69-yard pass from Scarborough to Campbell and a 2-yard plunge by Ostrem.

Auggies Drop Pointers 20-14

Augsburg College Of Minnesota ruined Wisconsin State University's debut in the '61 gridiron season by dropping the Pointers 20-14 in a hard-fought battle right down to the final seconds. The Auggies came from behind a 7-6 deficit to rack up a 24-6 lead in the last half-minute of play.

Auggie field general Byron Thompson, who riddled the Pointer pass defense, completed 12 tosses for a total of 183 yards. Still, several of his completions were called back by penalties, including a 47-yard TD aerial.
