The Student Council, in its meeting of Apr. 8, 1965, adopted a constitutional amendment which created a new standing committee, the Student Organization Recognition Committee (SORC). This committee has as its duty, the recognition of student organizations on the campus of WSU-SL. It has the power to call meetings, to issue official notices, to withdraw recognition according to the criteria developed by the committee and approved by the Council. The final step, approval by the Student Council, will be made by the criteria by President Albertson, took place on Apr. 22.

When the newly-elected Student Council members take their positions the first meeting in May, the SORC standing committee chairman, Pete Jushka, will begin the mechanics of putting the recognition process for organizations into effect. The following timetable has been issued by Chairman Jushka:

Friday, May 7, a meeting with members of University Center Lounge at 6:30 p.m., to answer any questions which might exist pertaining to the recognition process.

The SORC organization interested in becoming recognized, will be presented with a list of advantages "listed above, must submit their "notice of intent to organize" to the SORC. A group which submits the pre-

Minn. Symphony To Give Concert

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is to present a concert here Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m. in the University Center Lounge. It is the last program for the Arts and Lecture Series under whose auspices the band and orchestra will appear here. The concert will be under the direction of Lawrence Woitka, the Music Director, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, which is one of the finest orchestras in the world, is now in its 87th season, the fourth with Stanislaw Skrowaczewski as its director. He inherits the great tradition of Minneapolis Symphony conducting established by Eugene Ormandy, Dimitri Mitropoulos, and Antal Dorati. In its rise to prominence, the orchestra has made numerous tours of the United States, the Middle East, and India. In the past, it has toured southwestern part of the United States and this year it will spend four weeks in the East, including an eight-day stay in the New York area.

Of Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, the Minneapolis Star, said: "Minneapolis should consider itself fortunate in its music director. Mr. Woitka should welcome him and the Minneapolis Symphony and look forward to choose return."

Regarding his guest-conducting appearance last summer, the Los Angeles Times said, "After two weeks of aimsles floundering, Hollywood Bowl's Symphony has been imbued with a sense of direction, which bodes rehomized to a desirable standard of performance and programming, when Stanislav Skrowaczewski conducted the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra."

Mr. Skrowaczewski believes that art is required in building a program as much as in projecting it with an orchestra. Having conducted concerts in Europe, where the whole thing was that he must not play for himself alone, but for the people who come to hear him. In Minneapolis, he must create mood ranging from intimate to swelling. Most of the orchestra is new to Charles Albertine. This band offers something new, yet it (Continued on page 8)

DAVE COOLEY, General Chairman of the Spring Formal, hands a complimentary ticket (ticket to President Albertson for the dance as Bob Wolfgram, Publicity Chairman, looks on. Tickets will take the form of bids and after admitting a couple to the dance, will be used by the young lady to list dances she promises to men other than her escort.

"Non Dimentican," Italian for "never forget me," is the theme of the 1965 Spring Formal.

What to wear, you ask? Girls, you'll be glad to find out that that short form of yours or that floor-length gown will be in good taste. Fellows, your Sunday-suit and tie will be appropriate. Flowers are not a must, but may be given to your partner.

Immutability Exposed

Recently an editorial appeared in the Stevens Point Journal, reprimanding the participants in the campus swimming meet and expressing the attitude of the editorial board. As such, the editorial pointed out the personal injury and property damage that resulted from this melee. These were unfortunate occurrences even by local standards. Let the University, in its condemnation of these facts, but, in my opinion, this editorial did more. It exposed a fault shared by the sports sections of many newspapers and the sports section of the campus Daily.

This editorial inadvertently exposed a type of immutability possessed by some of the residents of Stevens Point. Some residents evidently do not anticipate snowball fights,ainterpretive drinking, rowdiness, and criminal acts from some of the students of a campus. They have not "come of age" and have been intellectually dwarved by their provincialism. The concept of the inherent catharsis of a university escapes them, i.e., a university attracts all aspects of life and the world, both "good" and "bad." An university does not pick a world to grow in, but adjusts to the world as it is ... and so must Stevens Point. Manifesting such flagrant chagrin upon being exposed to "the facts of life," as did the editorial in question, betrays the magnitude of the community's provincial naivete.

Students are part of a university that is part of a world that is comprised of a humanity prone to making mistakes. Having a university in a community is an invitation to that community to participate in the activity of the university. This is an educational experience, no one would be foolish enough to promise that it will be painless ... life just isn't that way. It is not involved in the way that a university should be.

With an honest attempt at understanding one another, the community and the school can mature together and not antagonize the other. Such a community would be encouraged to face the world more realistically because of its location and let Stevens Point be more vital because it embraces the University.

Rebuttal

Dear Editor:

Mr. Chirwa's opinions and views are just as prejudiced as those of the people he attempts to criticize. He tries to present a false picture of existing conditions and situations, and his arguments on what he considers hypocrisy are only adding that which people haven't wanted heard. Maybe Mr. Chirwa, himself, isn't wanted here. If he doesn't like the way he is treated, then, what about the other social events, why doesn't he refrain from attending them. That way, he wouldn't be bothering anyone. It is high time that Mr. Chirwa realizes that, being only a guest of the United States Government, he is only to have the guest rights and privileges. His observations of conditions and structures either are very exaggerated, or he is very unlikely to use his leisure time as Hughes, etc., to create such a false image of the community and the university.

I think the conditions which he so vividly described don't exist at all. Americans can get rowdyism, rowdiness, etc. But that is something which they are not familiar with. This kind of an educational experience, no one would be foolish enough to promise that it will be painless ... life just isn't that way. It is not involved in the way that a university should be.

Where Are The Sports?

Dear Editor:

I wish to call your attention to the non-news in your sports section. As one of the editorial writers for NO sports editor listed in your most recent edition.

I find the editorial section again failed, as during my regin, to say anything of consequence in the sports page? Has the sports editor decided to simply to go with the staff? Surely, during the premier stagers of the baseball season, there should be something to say. We would have something of notice had the sports section been included.

Certainly one of the most colorful sections of the press, containing our lives, our story, and the lives of our community, is a far-cry better than the sports section. Were we allowed to print.

It is in the best interest that I inform you as to this inapraproach. I would like to congratulate Sue Stanke for a job well done. I always enjoy her articles.

Opposition To Conservation Bill

Dear Editor:

I write in opposition to Bill AB-493, concerning a bill to provide the Wisconsin Conservation Department authority to charge an annual license fee of $15 for a Wisconsin resident or $40 for an out-of-state fisherman, for stream use. I do not agree and can see no reason why we should pay to fish in terms of penalties that even local communities are burdened with. It seems that this bill would tax those who cannot afford the tax it purports to charge, and those who live and who work in Wisconsin as a whole, and I don't think this is necessarily the best way to provide for advice.

Dr. Crow, for giving the students individualism again by calling this bill AB-493, I don't know why there are too many people interested in getting the best education possible has, and a student with a different, more alert, outlook has been developing.

It is my hope that the evolution of the student will finally turn to a more liberal student as a fellow student, as well as myself. I'm certain that this evening, and this year has had more of a spurt than in the three other years I have been there.

A student with the responsibility of being Student Council president — for even one day. The view of our University that you get from that position is a highly unfulfilling one. I think that these viewpoints are always more than the other. We used to look at them, the view that we get from it.

My sincere thanks are extended to the students who elected me to this position, and my best wishes to the incoming Student Council for a successful year in the future.

Some classrooms have become centers of great learning and communication via the "sympathetic vibrations" of the institutional environment. Dr. Crow expresses this in his book, "Wisconsin" and emphasizes the "true" education, which imparts in a direct manner — and unencumbered by notes — his knowledge of history. Students, whether they have been present or not, will remember this in the future. Dr. Crow was perfectly fine. They often go to him for advice; or, at this time, I was forced to ask for his advice.

The students that Dr. Crow is not only a professor, but also a man who really cares about motivating their interest in all facets of human endeavor.

Let us forget that such professors do exist on our campus. Men like Dr. Crow give us the republication that it needs. Let us take a positive approach to our human relations by giving credit where it is due. If you receive a job offer, enjoy your classes, one way to prove it by being a punctual student. Dr. Crow had the privilege of being one of his crowded classes. The podium is removed, but in its stead is an optimal learning atmosphere and a presentation of "living" history. This past year, as president of your Student Council, has certainly been the one that I shall never forget.

Now is the hour when everyone begins checking into summer job opportunities. Summer jobs, like students, fall into various categories. There is the traditional summer resort job, which may or may not be lucrative, but it always guarantees one a suntan that lasts till the end of September. And there are overnights of swimming, canoeing and water-skiing. Whether one does waitresses work, bartending or cabin chores, if you have to work, resort work can sometimes be a three-month vacation.

The Big City beckons each summer also, and many coeds migrate to the megalopolis only to discover that the other fellows are to be "Mother's Helpers," a thing akin to playing Russian roulette with one's heart. If, by any chance, you select such a job, it doesn't take long to figure out why many in the cities advertise in small, out-of-town papers when a girl accepts such a job, and finds she has five children, while toasting to a golden tan is outweighed only by the advantage of the tremendous vantage point one has in girl-watching. It's all in the line of duty. Also, laboring under the hot summer sun are the fellows who work on construction crews. While one of the boys may be the son of one of the most lucrative, and many a fellow who hoofered it or hitchhiked to Joe's this year will come back with a car in the fall, as a result of his summer earnings.

Car-hopping at root beer and custard stands is yet another summer occupation. Ten or more hours of toting back and forth with heavy trays, dealing with impatient, horn-honking custard men who just deigned to eat their chocolate ice cream cone as you stand there with a vanilla one, the tips and the men who parade by "going over" the students' heads on specific points related to their credits. The biggest complaint seems to be about the teacher is to "come down" to the student level; most teachers do accomplish this in some manner. A major problem is that the student never has enough knowledge at this lower student level. Some teachers jot down on the board or back of the classroom, the last bit of information so out of place with their level. Others may have to refer to the board, but in some manner, they haven't or can't do it.

One of the softest summer jobs a fellow can have is that of beach lifeguard. The strain of sitting on a lifeguard's chair, there may be a housework and baby-sit in the evenings besides, all for twenty such a job, and that lasts till the end of September, many evenings of swimming, canoeing and water-skiing. Whether one does waitresses work, bartending or cabin chores, if you have to work, resort work can sometimes be a three-month vacation.

No Junior Hours

THC: University of Wisconsin Student Life and Interests Committee (SLIC) passed a resolution giving junior women no hours beginning next September. After the plan is filed with the faculty, junior women will then join senior women in being able to come and go at any hour. Previously, junior women had no hours on Friday and Saturday nights and a 1 a.m. curfew on other nights.

Other action taken by the committee involved a postponement on a measure to allow sophomore women no hours on weekends and 1 a.m. hours on weekdays. Also, the committee approved a realignment of SLIC to increase student representation. Presently, the committee is composed of members selected by the student council, five faculty members and four students. They plan to increase the student members to six while removing two administrators. This realignment is expected to go into effect next year. The measure was met with FULL APPROVAL by all committee members and will go before the faculty for approval as part of an entire realignment of the University committee system being prepared by Prof. David Fellenman, political science.

The realignment plan was drawn up by a special SLIC committee headed by Joan Wilson and consisting of Joan, Wisconsin Student Association (WSA) President Paul Ginzburg, Residence Halls Social Education Coordinator Paul Ginsburg, and Associate Dean David Tarr, political science.

Mr. Tinkham had originally presented a full student representation on the committee, but came under fire of strong opposition including evidence that such a composition would endanger SLIC's position as a faculty committee and undermine its strength.

The following new committee will include the president of WSA, Associated Women Students (AWS), and the Union, these being the prerequisites for membership in the three new members that will be interviewed and screened by a special committee. The Student Senate will act as advisors to the chancellor having the final authority in the matter.

SLIC was informed that the new composition of the committee has the approval of Dean Students Joseph Knauff, who will be an ex-officio member of the committee when he assumes his duties next fall.

Student Health Center
Is It All Bad?

By GERALD FLENNITZ

Upon questioning students about the Student Health Center, the questioner receives a barrage of gripes, rash statements and honest opinions. People find it hard to say anything complimentary about the Health Center either because of their personal experiences or the way friends have been treated.

After obtaining the opinion of many students, the overall comment is that the Health Center is grossly inadequate to handle all the people that require the services of the Center. A person fills out a slip and looks for a chair and prepares for the long wait. The students who are really sick are not handled quickly enough. They have to sit through an uncomfortable wait and their gums. The sick student is never sure that all will be taken care of when it should be. Also a person that does not look like “death warmed-over” may have their integrity questioned because the attitude of certain people is that no one is ever sick as he thinks he is.

The little waiting room is normally overcrowded and many students have to leave because they have a class or just get fed up. The student who may have some problem other than sickness, such as a muscle injury, often finds the wait too long and comes back at some other time.

The doctor often has not been on time and arrives much later than he is supposed to. Since the doctor is there for such a short time and often has many more students than he can handle, his being late does not help the matter and makes his diagnosis much shorter and less accurate.

There is not a great amount of privacy at the Center. The student walks to a little room and listens to the problems of the student next to him and then when he is treated, the students in the other room listen to his case. On good days all the people waiting out in front may have the chance to hear your case and form their own ideas as to what you should do. One cannot call this group therapy. A student feels uncomfortable when he walks out and all eyes watch him and know what is wrong with him.

The discussion over the absence list is somewhat comical. Apparently they often get lost and have to be checked on many times by the student to make sure that it has been taken care of properly. It is imperative that a student who may have to miss several days of classes has his case handled properly.

Students may have to face up to the fact that to have a really improved Health Center they will have to pay for it, but, then what is more important? Is it the security of knowing that they have been treated properly?

SLOW,” says the person and the student is on the run.

Miss Rhinlander

Last semester she achieved honors on the Dean’s list. She was also a cheerleader for the football and basketball teams. She is an officer in Delta Zeta Sorority. Her hobbies include reading, sewing, knitting, dancing, water-skiing, snow-skiing, swimming and tennis.

As part of Sue’s reward for being chosen Miss Rhineland­er, she will receive a $50 scholarship from the Rhineland­er Jaycees who were the sponsors of the event. She will also be outfitted by Delly’s, Inc., of Rhinelander, with a wardrobe that she will need for competition in the Miss Wisconsin Pageant at Oshkosh in June.

Not only will Sue represent Rhinelander at the pageant, but she will also be called upon to make many personal appear­ances throughout the year as the personal representative of Rhinelander. She was sponsored by the Three Lakes Lions Club. She did an inter­pretative dance to fulfill the talent portion of the show. For her swim suit competition, she wore a black suit and the formal part, a floor-length white gown.

BLOODMOBILE TO MAKE LAST VISIT
BY JERRY HANOSKI
The Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its last visit to Stevens Point, this semester, on Tuesday, April 11. The hours of operation will be from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, and 4 a.m. to 6 a.m. on Wednesday.

Privately funded, the blood is guaranteed by USA Fund, a non-profit corporation. The Bloodmobile is equipped with a large van, providing guarantees to students on 750 campuses, with the participation of more than 1,000 banks throughout the United States.

The blood is expected to enable more third-year college students to go on to the Peace Corps. The funds are also to support the Peace Corps Educational Program, a two-phase plan that provides the Peace Corps trainees with the necessary monetary support during the instructional period at the Peace Corps training center, and continues to support the student after he leaves the Peace Corps.

All WSU students are urged to contribute for the last time, while the funds are available. The Peace Corps Volunteer Program is a unique one, and the money for the last time is needed to maximize a very successful year for the bloodmobile.

STEINER HALL NEWS
BY MIKE TROY
Permission slips for those under 21 years of age can be picked up at the Kennel, as well as at the main desk in the dormitory.

A large audience was on hand Wednesday to view "The Hustler," the movie put on by Steiner Hall. The receipts taken in are enough to pay for the rental of the film with Steiner Hall residents admitted free. The crowd was estimated at 300.

Steiner Hall Council okayed the purchase of softball and baseball equipment for residents this spring. Other sports equipment is slated to be purchased this fall, and a living allowance while training. Selection for the Advanced Training Program is the same as that used for all Peace Corps applicants regardless of residence and age.

Funding for the Peace Corps is allotted on the basis of the candidate's ability, as determined by the Peace Corps, in cooperation with the Peace Corps training center. Look for notices on the dorm bulletin boards concerning the time the rides will leave for the bloodmobile.

SC Student Budget Hearings
Each semester every student pays $12.40 for an Activity Fee which goes to pay for everything from football games to the POINTER. You students may or may not know that your fellow students are deciding just how much entertainment you will be seeing next year.

Three years ago, President Albertson turned over the responsibility of the distribution of the Activity fee to the Student Council. Since that time, the Allocation Committee of the Student Council has met every spring with the heads of the departments, organizations, publications to decide with them how much it would cost to run their organizations for the next year.

This past year, your $12.40 activity fee which amounted to approximately $22,300, was distributed as follows for each area:

These figures are arrived at after Council. Since the Committee has heard all of the budget requests and studies the needs of all those who have requested an allocation. The Committee recommends the breakdown to the Student Council who discusses it and, if they find no objections, sends it to President Albertson for final approval.

You can see that your $12.40 is well spent and affords you many opportunities for extra-curricular activities. The Student Council feels that this responsibility is one of its greatest and strives to offer you the best possible leadership in this area.

The students on the Allocation Committee are: Karen Jensen and Norbert Gould, co-chairman; Gary Williams; Bruce Gonzkowski; Judy Christiansen; Marsha Neison; and Dan Sieber.

(Continued from page 1) The oldest fraternity, the second highest rank. Sixty-four were promoted from instructor to assistant professor and six received promotions from assistant professor to associate professor.

On the State University campuses, as in most colleges and universities, the rank of full professor is more prestigious than the title doctor. Nearly all full professors are doctors, but many doctors are not full professors. At the State Universities the associate professors are held by about 90 per cent of the full professors, 50 per cent of the associate professors and 25 per cent of the assistant professors. There are more than one-third of the faculty.

The nine State Universities now have approximately 1,800 faculty members. With the promotions just approved there will be about 335 full professors, 420 associate professors, 510 assistant professors, 390 instructors and 65 faculty assistants.

To take care of the expected enrollment of some 37,000 next September, the State Universities plan to hire an additional 375 faculty members, most of them at the instructor and assistant professor level.

That is, the 10-day interim will be waived and the organization will be considered to be provisionally accepted.

Any group desiring to receive recognition after that date will proceed exactly as stated under "Procedure for Recognition."

The reason for the commencement of the recognition procedure now, before summer vacation, is to offer the organization now on campus the opportunity to begin their day interims before school starts out. Thus they will not be burdened by this when returning to the campus in the fall.

For example, a group submitting their notice on May 14 will not be required to fulfill "Step three" until approximately twenty school days into the school session in the fall. A notable exception: the "school days" referred to do not include Saturday sessions.

"Notice of intent to organize" forms may be obtained in the Student Council office at any time. The completed form must be turned into a member of SORC in the Student Council office and initiated by him at the time to be valid. There will be a member of SORC in the Student Council office from 3:45 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, May 7 and from May 10 to May 14 from 3:45 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday.

When on campus the students have someone there from 3:45 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Student Council Takes Stand On Housing
At its regular meeting on Thursday, April 22, the Student Council took the position of supporting a policy for the University which would allow students 21 years old or older to live in any house they wish.

The Council is presenting this resolution along with a petition signed by several hundred students supporting this proposal to the Student Faculty Welfare Committee. This Committee will deliberate the proposal and the change in University policy on the matter.

The students on the committee are Kathy Davis and Richard Reinke; Dr. Becker is the chairman.

Gov. Proclaims Arbor Day
Governor Warren Knowles has proclaimed Friday, April 30, as Wisconsin's official Arbor Day. Long a day that has been observed by public schools, it is gaining new significance in many other areas as America turns its attention to beautifying its cities and highways.

In signing the proclamation, Governor Knowles had this to say: "We are particularly aware of the beauty of our state — of the fields and woodlands becoming greener with every spring rain, of the building trees which line our streets and parks. In recognition of the importance of our Wisconsin's devotion to our people, I urge all of our people in schools and in towns and cities to celebrate this day with the planting of young trees, a ceremony that symbolizes Wisconsin's devotion to its future as well as its past."

Sigma Pi Has Charter At WSU
The news is out, Theta Delta Phi is a colony of Sigma Pi, national fraternity. In the near future it will become a chapter of Sigma Pi. Theta Delta Phi was formerly the Aquinas Club, founded Apr. 29, 1956, and earlier Phi Kappa Theta founded Apr. 29, 1888.

Cathedral

(Continued from page 1) and he presents the Archbishop as a man torn between acting and suffering. Most of the drama is in poetic form, with effective expression by the chorus. The story opens with the women of Canterbury at the Cathedral. Archbishop Thomas Becket has been gone for seven years and is to return.

Planetarium Presents

The planetarium show "Islands in the Sky" should certainly prove to be one of the most fascinating programs of the current series "Panorama of the Universe." The one hour program showing from Apr. 29-May 28 at the Wisconsin State University Planetarium should provide refreshing and exciting entertainment to anyone who is interested in the world in which he lives.

As the incomprehensible sons of the universe are touched upon, the audience will be prodded to think of the perplexing nature of time and space. Beautiful photographs taken from the world's largest observatories of the deep and remote depths of space reveal huge galaxies of stars presenting to the viewer the grandeur of the largest orders of creation.

Shows are given Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. Admission prices: adults $0.50, students 25c.

The priests of the Cathedral are aware of the coming struggle for power. The Archbishop has been in France to get the help of the Pope. With the arrival of Becket, the priests wonder if there will be peace or war, whether King Henry and Becket have been reconciled.

The women think the Archbishop should return to France. There, he would still be the Bishop. But he would be safe.

The priests of the difficulties he has encountered with rebellious bishops and barons who have sworn to have his head. He once barely escaped death while at Sandwich.

The four tempters come to entice Becket. The first one offers to give good times back to him but Thomas refuses.

The second tempter offers Thomas the chance to again be chancellor and have everlasting power; again he refuses. The third tempter offers to help Thomas overthrow King Henry, but it is of no avail. The fourth tempter shows how Thomas could have eternal glory if he could only continue in his present course which would lead him to martyrdom and sainthood.

The four knights come in Canterbury on urgent business stating charges against Thomas. They try to attack him but he is protected by priests and attendants. The knights falsely accuse Thomas and order him to leave England; he refuses. Then the knights kill him in the cathedral. After the murder, each of the knights gave their reasons for justifying their actions.

Tickets are available at the ticket office in Old Main.

The Poitners were good hosts to the Winona State Warriors of Minnesota, Thursday, April 22, as the track meet as the visitors won, 73-58.

The meet was a close one, decided in the last few events. One school record fell twice and another one seems in jeopardy in future meets. Dick McGinley, a sophomore from Wisconsin Rapids, placed first in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 15.4 seconds. His time was matched by Mike Cattanach, a junior from Kimberly, who placed second. Their times topped the old school record, set by Fawkner, who raced the distance in 15.6 in 1963.

The record that almost fell, but didn't, was the 220-yard record. The record of 22.5 has stood since 1960, but Dan Brown placed first in the event with a time of 22.5. The biggest gain in the meet was the high jump. White of Winona and Cattanach of Stevens Point tied in this event at 6'4", well below practice jumps made by the Pointers.

Individual results are as follows:

- Shot Put - 1. Hoswell, W; 2. Schroeder, SP; 3. Whitten, SP; (47' 5")

- Broad Jump - 1. Wade, W; 2. Schmolzer, SP; 3. Hauser, SP; (22' 0")

- 120 High Hurdles - 1. McGinley, SP; 2. Cattanach, SP; 3. Barber, W; (14.5)

Hagerman Replies

The following is the first of a two-part article in reply to Harold W. Stote's article, "College Athletes: Education or Show Business," that appeared in the Mar. 30 and Apr. 6th edition of the "WEEKLY CITIZEN" of POINTER. Mike, a young man with a vested amateur experience, served as editor of the "Buttling," a high school page in the "WEEKLY CITIZEN" of Oshkosh County. He also served as a reporter for the Cedarburg High School's "Common Sense".

When asked if he had any immediate plans for the sports page Mike said, "I want to keep the small sports covered. Bulldog era of students and represent the lettermen returning this year. Immediate plans for the sports page. Mike said he wanted to serve it or at the editor of the "Weekly Citizen of Oshkosh County." Mike said, "I believe that every player looks at himself as doing his best. Perhaps this may seem somewhat of a novel reply to the writer's comment that "Universities exist to do what they call for-students: athletes are recruited for what they can do for the universities."

However, I strongly believe that if every student looks at what he wanted (as some did) and gave nothing of himself that I certainly then our universities would simply be empty shells of brick and mortar. For without education the universitv? The buildings, books and equipment are nothing without students to possess, reason, and to interact. It is therefore, indeed impossible to feel each student, if he or she possesses some special talent, should be a student-debater, student-musician, student-actor, student-artist, or student-athlete. For certainly it is not solely in the classroom or laboratory that we find all the educational benefits of college life.

BB Team To Play Host

The Pointer baseball team will play host to two teams during the next week. Water will visit WSU-Stevens Point on Saturday, May 1, at a 3 p.m. game at Buol Park. On Tuesday, the Pointers will play host to Milton in a non-conference game.

Whilewater finished third in conference play with a .53 record and a 10-4 record overall. The Warhawks have 12 lettermen returning this year and are picked by the coaches to be strong contenders.

The Pointers, on the other hand, tied for fourth place with a .44 record last year. Coach Bob Krueger has 11 lettermen returning this year and feels that the team's strong point is hitting.

Points Trip

The Pointers dropped a triples meet, Saturday, to Oshkosh State on the Titans' field, 77-15. Stevens Point jumped off to a good start, leading 7-0 after the first 3 events, the 120 yard hurdles, the mile run, and the 440, 4x100. The Titans then moved in to erase the lead by placing first in 1 of the last 2 events and tying in the high jump.

Outstanding for the Pointers were Cattaneau and McGinley, placing one and two in the 130 yard hurdles, the mile hurdles, the mile run, and the 440, 4x100. The Titans then moved in to erase the lead by placing first in 1 of the last 2 events and tying in the high jump.

Springs sports are starting off well for the baseball team. Our baseball team has already played 2 interesting matches in the last 3 weeks. The first match was held on April 15th and the second on April 17th. Both matches resulted in a win for the Pointers.

Christianson Top Wrestler

Laurels have descended upon Bernice Christianson, the Pointer wrestler of the week, a three-time all-state, high-school wrestler. He was named to the all-district 14 wrestling team by the National Association of Interscholastic Athletes and the 1965 all-state collegiate wrestling team.

The all-district 14 teams were dominated by five superior mat-men. The Yellowjackets selected Tom Thompson, 130 lb.; Willie Falwell, 147 lb.; Herb Schutt, 157 lb.; Joe Reasbeck, 157 lb.; and Laurel Lusty, 171 lb. The rest of the honor team is as follows: Jan Godke, Oshkosh State, 113 lb.; Cecil Austin, White- water, 130; Robert Olson, Stout State, 152 lb.; LaCrosse State, 191, Semrad, Oshkosh State, 220 lb.客户;

The all-state team was selected by 20 wrestling coaches throughout the state. The University of Wisconsin dominated this team by placing five of the ten men on the first team.

Pointers Sweep Double Header
