THE PODIUM

Individual Responsibility Is Stifled Once Again

This Student Affairs Council recently presented the following proposal to the Faculty: It has already been accepted by the Student Activities Committee and the aforementioned Student Affairs Council.

The Student Affairs Council recommends the following proposal:

(1) Off-campus or consumption of alcoholic beverages on campus or in approved off-campus housing by any student or student organization is prohibited

(2) Off-campus, each student organization is expected to observe all state and local laws and regulations governing the use of alcoholic beverages. It is the responsibility of each organization to inform its members of all applicable regulations.

(3) Even though each student is responsible for the consequences of his individual conduct, incidents in connection with student organizations should be handled in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Student Affairs Council.

(4) Violation of these policies are not new. They are in existence, as a rule, in every society. As such they are not new. They are in existence, as a rule, in every society. The purpose of the proposal is to stress the importance of individual responsibility and the need for a unified approach to this problem.

Holloway’s Last Lecture Stirs Reaction

Dr. Holloway spoke of many things: the present-state-of-affairs of higher education in America, the deterioration of the faculty and the administration, and the need for radical changes in the educational system. He also spoke of the need for a more critical and questioning attitude on the part of the students.

The faculty has expressed strong disagreement with Dr. Holloway’s views. Some have called them unfounded and out of date. Others feel that his views are on target and that they should be implemented at once.

Dr. Holloway’s talk has created a great deal of excitement among students. There is a growing feeling that something must be done to improve the educational system and that the faculty and administration are not doing enough to solve the problems.

The proposal, if accepted, would prevent students from engaging in such activities. It is hoped that this proposal will result in a more responsible and disciplined campus environment.

Police Chief Kulas praises U students

Chief of Police Raymond C. Kulas praised the U students for their cooperative and law-abiding behavior during the recent May Day celebration.

"The students here at the University are a credit to the institution," said Kulas. "They have always been polite and cooperative, and I hope that they will continue to be that way in the future." He also expressed his appreciation for the support given by the University administration.

Nature-Lover Speaks Out

What are your plans for the summer?

Our summer plans are to make the most of the weather. We plan to spend a lot of time outdoors, enjoying the sun and the fresh air. We have also scheduled a few trips to interesting places to explore and learn more about the world around us.

The Podium

By Tony Magee

On Monday, May 10, Mr. Magee interviewed "Alumni Senior" about the recent student activities.

N A student of The Pointer, Mr. Magee is a member of the Alumni Senior. He was the student representative on the student activities committee.

"I do not particularly believe that your activities will die out this summer," said "Alumni Senior." "However, I do think that there may be a shift in focus. Perhaps some of the student activities will be more informal and less structured."

The major theme of his talk was the importance of involvement. "Being involved," he said, "is a way of life. It is not just something that you do for a few hours each week. It is a way of seeing and experiencing the world around you."

This trend toward more informal and less structured activities is also being seen in other areas of student life. The university's student organizations are becoming more decentralized, and students are taking more control of their own activities.

The Pointer appears to reflect this change in attitude. More students are involved in the newspaper's activities, and the newspaper is more responsive to the needs of its readers.

Evidently, the faculty threw out this third part of the proposal. Thinking individuals against such a proposition, but without the student's interest at heart? Where was our Student Senate when such a proposal was presented to the students in this present day of the "people's" university? This proposal itself, in content, is little consequence for it is a thinking body of young people, students of various organizations. But the principles, if the thought behind such an action in the future, could not result in a more vibrant and diverse campus environment. The point is that the students' interest is not the only concern of the university. The university must also be concerned with the overall well-being of its students.

The proposal has been defeated, for the present. But it has not been shot with a silver bullet, nor has it been killed. It has been shot down, but not killed. It still lives, and it may yet rise again.

Whether or not the proposal is finally defeated, the idea of more involvement and participation in the university's affairs is a step in the right direction.

The Best of the Pictor will appear May 10, 1976, in The Pointer. This issue is to be published on Saturday, May 9.

How Many Of Us...

Editor

In the last few weeks, I have encountered several people who make me feel good, whose presence on campus is a joy to be around. There are very few of events of interest have been happening on campus, but I have had a few opportunities to attend. My favorite event was the "Funkadelic" concert on campus.

How many of us consistently attend lectures or movies that are appropriate to our interest and are not "boring," "dull," or "boring to the point of "boredom."

How many of us have a record collection or a "limited" one? How many of us have a record collection or a "limited" one?

How many of us have a collection of "scarce," or "not so scarce," records? How many of us have a collection of "scarce," or "not so scarce," records?

How many of us have a collection of "scarce," or "not so scarce," records?

The only chance the ambitious student has to graduate on time is to graduate school. A man can work with the equanimity degree is, what of all.
