Students Hassle Over Homecoming Rules

In the most recent of meetings to discuss Homecoming rules, Len Marcisz, president of University Center Board, called for a "change of spirit in the cutthroat tactics that have taken place thus far" in preparation for Homecoming.

Marcisz called the meeting, Friday, as an attempt "to air violent opinions in order to reach a compromise," between the fraternities and the halls on the problems which have arisen since residence halls became eligible to run queen candidates.

Homecoming rules will be enforced by Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, under the jurisdiction of the Judicial Board of Review. Chosen by the Student Senate, members of the Board are: Bill Burke, John Hauser, Peter Kiefer, Mary Ann Lauer, and Richard Wesell.

Involved with Marcisz in the meeting were: John Keefe, homecoming chairman and member of Tau Kappa Epsilon; Liz Fish, editor of "The New Pointer"; Bob Goss, president of Residence Hall Council; John Griffith, Pray-Sims Hall; Mary Ann Lauer, representative of the Judicial Board of Review; Mary Pauline John Philipchuk, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Jerry Pauer, Baldwin Hall campaign manager; Scott Dochow, DeChambeau, Neale Hall and Alpha Sigma Hall; Dale Walters, Tau Kappa Epsilon; and John Warner, Sigma Tau Gamma.

Keefe opened the meeting with a run-down of Homecoming events. Marcisz then began a review of the "1966 Homecoming Rules" as published by the Student Senate's Homecoming Committee.

The first point of consideration was as to whether Baldwin Hall or Baldwin Hall Council was sponsoring the hall campaign.

It was decided that the center hall was sponsored by, and in turn, Powers was designated as being responsible for all of the members of the center hall in relation to rule violations.

Marcisz recommended to Mary Ann Lauer that the Judicial Board take into account, when issuing penalties, that with such a large organization as a hall, it was impossible to have the cooperation of everyone, including the Greeks, living within the hall in regard to rule violations. The Greeks, on the other hand, are usually bound by a pledge to support their candidate.

Baldwin representatives were asked by the Greeks why they were running a candidate. They replied that it gave them an opportunity to bolster the reputation of their hall and to provide social activity for their residents.

The next major point of discussion was the rule stating "Any organization sponsoring a

Vets' Committee Explains Loan Benefit Program

Following is an explanation of the loan benefits under the Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 from the American Veterans Committee:

Eligibility
Veterans who served on active duty for 181 days or more, any part of which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955, and who were discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable are eligible as service-connected disabilities. Persons whose military service after Jan. 31, 1955 consisted of "active duty for training," however, are not eligible.

Members of the U.S. armed forces who have served at least two years in active duty status, even though not discharged, are eligible while their service continues without breaks.

Duration of Veteran's Eligibility
Each post-Korean veteran will be eligible for a minimum of ten years from the date of his separation from the armed forces.

In addition, he will be eligible for an additional year for each three months (90 days) of active duty service up to a maximum of 20 years.

A veteran released because of service-connected disabilities will be eligible "for" the full 20 years from the date of his discharge and then down to a minimum of 10 years.

In no event will the eligibility of any post-Korean veteran expire before Mar. 3, 1975.

Entitlement
For a post-Korean veteran or his estate, VA may guarantee a home loan made by a private lender up to $15,000 or 60 percent of the loan, whichever is less.

For a farm real estate loan other than for the acquisition of a new farm, the guaranty may not exceed $4,000 or 50 percent of the loan; and for non-farm real estate farm loans, the guaranty may not exceed $2,000, or 50 percent of the loan.

This means that a lending institution which receives the Government's guaranty which is intended to be in lieu of a down payment or to reduce the down payment which the lender normally requires.

The maximum amounts of entitlement specified above apply to each person who qualifies under the new law. In other words, an individual who is eligible as a serviceman will not gain additional entitlement when he is released or separated from the service; further, an individual who can qualify as a post-Korean veteran and who later serves for 181 days will not receive additional entitlement for the later periods of service.

Purposes of Loans
Loans may be for the purchase of homes; to make alterations, repairs or improvements in homes already owned and occupied; to purchase farms or farm supplies or equipment; to obtain farm working capital or to refinance delinquent indebtedness on property to be used or occupied by the veteran as a home or for farming purposes.

Homecoming Spirit Reigns, Oct. 10-15

Rooftop Singers 'Walk Right In' Parade of Activities Planned For WSU

The Rooftop Singers and the announcement of Homecoming Queen will be the featured events next Friday evening, Oct. 14.

Tickets are now available at each Resident Hall and at the Information Desk, University Center. The cost is $2.00 for general admission and $2.25 for reserved seats. Reserved tickets are only available at the Information Desk.

The performance and Queen announcement will be held in the Fieldhouse starting at 8 p.m.

The Rooftop Singers are well known for such hits as "Tom Cat," "Walk Right In," and "Mamma Won't Allow No Guitar Playing Here."

The trio formed in 1962 under the direction of Eric Darling, who plays both guitar and banjo. Bill Vanoe and Mindy Stuart complete the threesome.

The Singers are appearing here after a tour of many major colleges. In return for their songs, they promise "We're Going to Have a Good Time." Be at the Fieldhouse Friday to hold them to it.

That night, there will be a torchlight parade out Reserve St. to North Campus where the Freshman class will be crowned a rally and bonfire north of Hyer Hall.

Thursday night, the Queen's Assembly will be held in the Fieldhouse, at 7 p.m., for the purpose of introducing the queen candidates to the student body. Each candidate will be asked serious and humorous questions and will then give a five-minute talk.

Elections for queen begin Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the tunnel under the main building. After that, voting will be conducted at Allen Center until 6 p.m.

The Rooftop Singers will perform in the Fieldhouse, the show begins at 8 p.m. Queen's election results will be announced and coronation will take place during the intermission.

On Saturday, the Homecoming Parade will begin at 10 a.m.

Rule concerning the bonfire: 1. No tires or logs to be used in bonfire. 2. Materials may not be used unless specified area until 5:00 a.m., Oct. 12. 3. Materials secured from merchants or townspeople will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

Carol Lind, Stevens Point, Wis., will be crowned queen. Sherry Lee Finney, Beaver, appears as three of the daughters. Bonnie Blakey, Milwaukee, plays the role of the beautiful, youngest and also the most rebellious daughter who refuses to remain a prisoner of her tyrannical mother.

Placement Opportunities

Representatives from the following schools and companies will be at the Placement Office to interview seniors who will be graduating in January or June.

Tuesday, Oct. 11 — Isle Royale National Park, National Park Service — Positions available for majors in biology, forestry, forestry recreation management, and botany. Interviews scheduled from 10:00 to 4:00.

Thursday, Oct. 13 — Continental Insurance Company — Positions available for business administration, mathematics, economics and liberal arts majors. Interviews scheduled from 10:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:00.

Thursday, Oct. 13 — Milwaukee Public Schools — Positions for candidates in all areas of preparation for grades kindergarten through twelve. Beginning salary is $3550.00+.

Monday, Oct. 17 — The A. O. Smith Corporation of Milwaukee will have a representative on the campus on this day to meet with students interested in positions with this company. The interviews set will contain the types of positions for which this company will select candidates.

If you desire to talk to these representatives, you must sign up in the Placement Office for an interview.

Seniors and seniors who are not turning in a placement information questionnaire, which is needed to initiate a placement file, are urged to do so promptly. It takes considerable time to collect the necessary references and to compile the information for placement credentials. Delays will result in inconveniences and disappointments.

Those who have not as yet picked up a form for this purpose may obtain one from the Placement Office.

Glenn H. Rogers, WSU debate coach, announced the debate leaders for the 1966 season. Dean Zimmerman will head the varsity while Gary McLaughlin will head the novice debate team.

Other members of the debating team are: Norbert Skier, Bill Haring, Gordon Meyers, Terry Westenberg, David Hopkins, Louis Buel and Sherri Ray.

Beginning with a "Flying hot" to Michigan State, East Lansing, Oct. 14-15, the debaters are planning an active season this year. Future opponents will be determined by a tournament at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, in November.

The national college debate question this year is: "Resolved: That the United States should substantially reduce its foreign policy commitments." The discussion question involves the recognition of Communist China in the United Nations.

An important feature of the debaters' program this year will be a community service program in the form of a symposium and debate, bringing information on the national question to service clubs throughout the area. Invitations for this program are now being received.

Other intercollegiate forensic activities include interpretation and dramatic readings, which are being directed by Dr. Mary Elizabeth Thompson. Mr. Ayers McGrew will direct extemporaneous speaking, oratory and individual speaking events.

Stars Fill Planetarium Sky, Sundays

The Planetarium lectures held in the Science Building should prove a great source of information for all persons interested in astronomy.

Each candidate will be asked serious and humorous questions and will then give a five-minute talk.

Bonfire To Light North Campus

This year's Homecoming activities will include a bonfire. The bonfire will act as an official and traditional way of ending the Homecoming week on Oct. 12 at 8:00 and it's to be held on the lot northeast of Hyer Hall.

The class of '70, or this year's freshman class, is responsible for obtaining all wood and light materials used for the building of the bonfire. John Wehrle, acting as consultant to the freshman class, will be assisted by the junior varsity cheerleaders. Any questions regarding the construction of the bonfire should be referred to John, Smith Hall, Room 132. The freshman class has the honor of lighting the bonfire which was last in 1960 at 39 feet.

Rule concerning the bonfire: 1. No tires or logs to be used in bonfire. 2. Materials may not be used unless specified area until 5:00 a.m., Oct. 12. 3. Materials secured from merchants or townspeople will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

THE COEDMIUM

Are You Missing The Chance?

Professor Robert Taylor of the UW History Department has commented that a threatening element in the university expansion is the development of a rigidly structured community in three levels. At the top is the "modern professor" who talks to the student, not with them, and who is pre-occupied, not with the university where he teaches, but with his profession.

Partly for this reason, Taylor states, a middle class is added — the teaching assistants. Their job is to act as intermediaries between large enrollment courses and the people who ostensibly give them. It is their job to get to know the people so when recommendations have to be written, they can be written by them and signed by the professor.

At the bottom are the students, who have only a fleeting association with the people who teach them and who don't really know each other.

What is needed to help break down this block to real teaching and the exchange of ideas is in introduction of many more occasions in which students and faculty can talk and argue in something less than a classroom situation.

It is not unusual in many schools for faculty members to invite groups of students into their homes for an evening discussion.

A coffee-house, open to everyone, has been started on our campus this fall. Only one faculty member has visited it.

How many members of the faculty and administration venture into student bars, visit the dormitories, or join students in conversation in the Gridiron?

Students, how often do you wander in to your instructor's office to talk to them, or are you afraid this would be considered "brown-nosing"?

How many of you waste time Union — sitting comfortably with your own clique, and yet never attempt to talk to strangers in your classes, or to get to know anyone other than your lab partner?

If this lack of informal intellectual exchange continues between administration, faculty and student subcultures, WSU-SP will attain the realm of "a growing university getting nowhere." Upon graduation, students will emerge from their cocoons to discover they are no longer protected and that they have missed the awakening which begins self-education.

Student Employee Information Issued

The following steps must be completed by all student employees to be placed on the active student payroll and receive payment.

1. Secure a work assignment form from the Office of Student Financial Aids, Room 226, Main Building, before the start of the semester.
2. Take this work assignment form to the Data Process Office, Room 026, Main Building, for imprint of the student number.
3. Report to the assigned employer, secure the required data from the employer on the work assignment form. This includes: A) department B) pay rate C) job description D) signature of employment supervisor.
4. Return the work assignment form to the Office of Student Financial Aids and exchange it for the "Student Help Time Sheet."
5. Keep an accurate record of hours worked by days of the month on the "Student Help Time Sheet." (Indicate time worked in quarter and half hour intervals.)
6. At the end of the calendar month, return one copy (white original) of the "Student Help Time Sheet" to the Office of Student Financial Aids and exchange it for the next monthly time record sheet.
7. Pick up your student check at the cashier's window (Room 005) on the bottom floor of Old Main approximately two weeks following the close of the month.
8. As a student employee in the University program, you are expected to:
  - a. Accommodate yourself to the demands of the position.
  - b. Keep your employer fully informed as to your schedule, change of plans, etc.
  - c. Keep an accurate daily record of time worked on the "Student Help Time Sheet." (Report in quarter and half hour multiples.)
9. Notify the Office of Student Financial Aids when you must terminate a job.
10. Accept your job as a paid position, not a student privilege.
11. Promptly complete and file all needed employee forms.
12. As a student employee, you may:
  - a. Develop a work program that fits your class schedule.
  - b. Request special scheduling when your position requires it.
  - c. Request special hours during periods of heavy academic requirements.
13. Verify your earning record against the time sheet in the Office of Financial Aids.

THE ENCOUNTER COFFEE HOUSE, open to everyone, offers conversation, music, singing and an air of mystery for students and faculty members.

Encounter Provides An Air Of Mystery

The Encounter Coffee House, sponsored by the United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF) is something new on the Stevens Point State University campus.

The Encounter provides people, conversation, music, singing, refreshments, and an air of mystery.

Rev. Richard Hill, advisor of UCCF, says there's "no idea of what's to come in the following weeks." He commented that the Encounter is an "improvisation" of the individuals participating.

Everyone, students and faculty members, are encouraged to attend the coffee house. There are no restrictions, religious or otherwise.

The coffee house lends a warm and informal atmosphere. Candles flicker on tables and window sills. Cigarette and pipe tobacco linger in the dim room. The people sit seated on chairs, or on the floor and wander in and out as they wish.

A relaxed attitude is indicated by the individuals as they participate in a thoughtful discussion, or sing to the rhythm of a guitar, or maybe laugh at a Bill Cosby recording.

The music, entertainment, and food is as diversified as the people present. Music is provided by anyone wishing to play. A juke box played for the last session held Wednesday, Sept. 28. Anyone who is interested and can play an instrument is encouraged to bring it along.

John Primm entertained the group by showing five short films. Entertainment is also brought by anyone wishing to donate their time and talent.

Refreshments can be brought by anyone and are served on a pot luck basis. The advantage to this is that there is tered on chairs, or on the floor and wander in and out as they wish.

If You Ask Me —

Compiled by BILL McMILLEN and BOB FIEHWEG

QUESTION: Are you in favor of allowing the resident halls to run candidates for Homecoming Queen? Do you approve of the way the rules have been set up for this year and/or what are some recommendations you might have concerning the rules?

'Unified Rules — A Must'

Pat McGivern, 20, Junior, 2001 Clark, from Wausau, majoring in biology (vice-pres. of Sigma Phi Epsilon).

Yes, the resident halls should definitely run candidates for Homecoming Queen. Homecoming is an event in which students should become involved and get into the spirit of the festivities. Individual and group participation makes homecoming what it is and should be.

If organizations run queen candidates in competition, a set of standard rules are required in which all said organizations have to meet and comply with.

Homecoming rules in the past and at present require a float from each organization. Since resident halls are organizations they must comply with the standard set of rules. I am referring to the halls wanting to put up hall decorations instead of floats. I feel that the halls can not put up floats they should drop from the running.

'Halls Help To Promote Unity'

Jane Koegler, 19, sophomore, 240 Neale Hall, from Shorewood, majoring in primary education (pres. of Neale Hall).

I am in favor of having resident halls run candidates for Homecoming Queen. I feel Homecoming is an event which should involve the entire school. With the halls running a candidate, closer bonds are promoted as more people are working together.

I hope that the competition that will arise will not merely be Greek versus non-Greek, but student versus student. This way including all students equally in the activities of Homecoming.

'An Equal Voice Needed'

Scott Schutte, 20, sophomore, 109 Baldwin Hall, from Appleton, majoring in history (active in Baldwin Queen campaign).

I am in favor, under the present system, of allowing the residence halls participation in all facets of homecoming. In the past, tradition has yielded the responsibility of homecoming to a minority of students on campus. By allowing more students to participate, homecoming has a chance to grow larger and greater.

It is my feeling, however, that serious consideration should be given to making the queen contest impartial. Each year there is a tremendous amount of time and money spent to elect a queen. Have there been any other part of homecoming and bitterness of a hard fought campaign.

If the queen was voted in from impartially selected candidates, more effort could be put forth to create better floats, hall decorations, and every other part of homecoming. I think that sometimes we fail to realize that homecoming is primarily for our Alumni and not for our own selfish interests.

'Competition Is Too Great'

Pat O'Neil, 21, senior, 41 Ridgewood Dr., Stevens Point, majoring in primary education (Pres. of Pan Hellenic, member of Alpha Phi).

I believe that it will be very hard for the Greeks, whose member groups consist of an average of 60 members, to compete with residence halls. The reason being that the smallest hall has 160 members while the largest has around 340 members. To me, it is no contest!

I can appreciate the halls wanting to take an active part in homecoming. If they do then the selection of candidates should be made in some other manner.

Fraternities go to a great expense of supporting a candidate and at the same time building a float. What is good for one is good for all. There should have the opportunity of building a float and supporting a candidate as is the rule for the Greeks.

'Bitterness In The Hard Fight'

Jerry Schmidt, 22, Junior, 136 Smith Hall, from Wausau, majoring in geography (resident assistant at Smith Hall and pres. of Phi Sigma Epsilon).

(Note: Although Mr. Schmidt's views are longer than most we print we feel he has touched many pertinent points and has tied together many ideas concerning the Homecoming issue.)

I would have to give a conditional "Yes" answer to the above question. These conditions would have to regard the organization of the election of the queen. Both the residents and the Greeks should be set up in future years. I feel the big point that should be brought out is the communication of these rules to the participating organizations.

Also, I am not fully aware of the representative body which could be turned over to the administration for their comment and approval. I think that both the Greeks and the halls will have to make concessions to allow Homecoming to prosper.

There has been a great deal of ruckus raised this year in competing is going to do the halls a great deal of good. I sincerely hope that the halls will not stop their organizational pursuits after Homecoming.

One fact that should be remembered by all organizations for Homecoming this year is that the ultimate objective of the Greek organizations was to produce a total school which has only been built by organized efforts of their members in total.

I sincerely feel that Homecoming at WSU-SP could not have any deeper meaning than that it presently has without the contributions of the Greeks. I look forward to seeing the halls contribute to this Homecoming program totally. I feel that if this thought is kept in mind Homecoming 1966 will be the best that Point has ever seen.

The Poem Speaks

by BONNIE BLAKEY

Tell me of happiness,
 Then show me your sorrows;
 Much to disdain
 Of my tomorrow.
 Show me no fear,
 Then screen out in fright.
 What have we now
 The dark or the night?
 Make me from dust
 To render me ashes;
 I will keep time with the
 Hound as it dashes.
 Break down the walls
 Of Man's empty structure
 But leave me a brick
 To build to the future.
 Sing to the future
 Laugh at the past.
 I have no hope for
 The last mighty blast.
 Don't pass me by
 Because I have lost;
 I give advice of The great Albatross.

Brazilian Senorita Charms W.S.U. Audience

By Dick Herlihy

Maria Godoy, soprano soloist from Brazil, who presented a concert here Monday, Oct. 4, sang her program of art songs with unending beautiful tone and good expressive sensitivity. These good qualities aided the audience in overlooking her lack of stage presence. She was compensated by her poor posture, her occasional breaking of the mood of the music, and her slightly introverted attitude.

Miss Godoy commented in an interview that she was made uneasy by the fact that she could not see anything but the lights which were focussed on her.

During the second half of the concert, some of the uneasiness was ameliorated partly because the house-lights were dimmed. Miss Godoy is accustomed to a lighted auditorium and likes to see her audience or at least some of it. This may account for her lack of stage presence. Also, she has not had a great amount of experience on American stages. She said, "I felt like she was on television."

Before she came to Stevens Point, she sang one of the solo parts in Rachmaninoff's "The Bells" in Detroit. The "Three Pines" was sung by her as "superb in the Wednesday Movement."

When Miss Godoy, whose native language is Portuguese, checked into her hotel in Stevens Point, she asked for a room which in Portuguese means literally soap. This was an indication that she wanted to bathe, but not knowing what this was, the hotel manager gave her a bar of soap. This is an example of the amusing things which happen here because of her limited knowledge of English. She does, however, communicate rather well for her lack of formal training in English.

Miss Godoy noted that she liked Stevens Point and the "warm" people and that she was very appreciative of the hospitality of Mr. Faulkner and many others. She hopes to return to Stevens Point someday to sing. She said that she did not include any operatic selections in her concert because this is not done in Brazil. She may include operatic selections in future concerts now that she knows that this is well accepted and desired in America.

From Stevens Point, Miss Godoy will be going to Ashland where she will give a concert on the 6th of October. After Ashland, she will return to New York to prepare solo parts in the Bach "Magnificat" and the Mahler "Symphony No. 2." She is singing with the Philadelphia Orchestra in New York and Philadelphia. She will also do some recording in New York.

In April, the seniorita will sing with the American Symphony under the baton of Leopold Stokowski. One of the reasons for her coming to "Brazilian Bachians No. 5" by Villa Lobos, a composer who was included on her program, is that she has heard him. In May, she plans to sing in the "Mahler" Symphony No. 2. She will also sing with the Philadelphia Orchestra in New York and Philadelphia. She will also do some recording in New York.

Blowing in The Wind

By RON PEPPER

This has been a tough year on upper-classmen. At Point, 110 were dropped out of school. 9,900 lost their 28. Now I don't know what the figures were in the past, but this seems like an awfully high fatality rate. It may be a record.

This mass mental release did come at an opportune time—for the army. Just when the draft call was increasing, college failures also increased dramatically, thereby adding the flunk-out to the draft.

The war in Viet Nam has also marked those still in school. Formerly, a failure meant staying out of school for a semester or two. Now it means a two-year vacation in sunny South-East Asia courtesy of Uncle Sam. Facing this prospect, students tend to go to the extreme. Most are over-qualified, as well as men. This is often tempered or covered up by an overt devil-may-care attitude. I've never seen the bars as crowded at night after a party as they are now. The pressure to maintain one's status has become so urgent that study is ignored. This may seem like a paradox, but I think there is a perfectly logical reason for it. The very act of trying to study becomes emotionally draining (and, finally). But, under these conditions study is very hard. Therefore it's put off, and only faced rather pessimistically. College men facing the draft have three alternatives: let things ride; have as much fun as they can in the time left; or try to dodge the draft. Choice number two seems to be the big favorite.

No High-Rise Dorms Seen Yet For Point

Students as well as enrollments are rising at the Wisconsin state universities this year. The system's 1967-68 story residence hall is now in service at WSU - Oshkosh and three more are under construction.

Similar ten-story residence halls are under construction for use in the fall of 1967 at UW - Eau Claire, UW - Stevens Point and Oshkosh. Each will have room for 1,242 students.

The new hall has two wings, one for men and one for women. It has a common lounge, office, library and other facilities on the first floor. It is occupied by 1,170 students.

University officials report that both students and their parents appear well pleased with the accommodations in Gruenewald Hall at WSU-Oshkosh.

The ten-story buildings have separate wings for men and women on nine floors above the ground floor. Each wing has two stairways, one for each sex. On each floor are 32 double rooms for students, a lounge, a common room, a supervisory lounge, rest rooms with showers, and ironing room and storage room for a lounge.

The first floor has a general office, mail room, parlor, library, music listening rooms, television room, and a lounge.

Students Receive Educational Boost

Oct. 18 - 7:15 p.m. - Wisconsin Room, University Center

A representative from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Milwaukee will be here to discuss all phases of the Educational Assistance Program for the over-serviceman and war orphans at this university.

Faculty, staff, and students are urged to attend. There will be a question and answer period.

This is the time to find out why you haven't received your check!

Thorn Awarded Conservation Scholarship

The Daniel Boone Hunters League, located near Milwaukee, has awarded a conservation scholarship of $250 to William Thorn, a WSU student.

Thorn, 20, from New London, Conn., is a member of the conservation and biology. After applying for the scholarship, he was selected by Green Bay West, Preble, and Seymour Union High Schools.

French Student Relates European Experiences

By Colleen Wrzesniewski

How would you like to spend 19 hours standing on a crowded train going from home to Paris? or to ride a Velo (a French motor bike) through the Swiss Alps? or hear only French spoken for almost two months?

Jerry Molepski did all this and more. He spent the last summer in France and Switzerland. He is now a senior at WSU and a member of the French Club. He is also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

Jerry, a senior at WSU and a member of the French Club, is also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He is now a senior at WSU and a member of the French Club. He is also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

He left the U.S. June 5th and registered for 8 credits in the summer session at the sorbonne in Paris. Advanced French, phonetics, advanced French grammar, and French civilization filled the curriculum. Jerry had to fight the 9:00 Parisian subway rush hour every day to get to class. He still takes a grip on his surroundings. He mentions these daily battles.

Paris is a fabulous city with many attractions to a Midwest college boy. Jerry said that he behaved himself. School was academically tough, harder than expected.

The purchase of a Velo made his transportation easier and widened his site seeing opportunities. He went to the Louvre, the Eiffel Tower, and the Chateau de Versailles. He also went to the French and Italian Riviera.

Jerry has a very special experience in Jerry's summer. One Sunday afternoon he went with a professor to a peasant village of Vezelay, located on a small mountain in East Central France. He was in the home of Romain Rolland, the 1914 Nobel Prize for Literature winner, before his death. His

WSU Welcomes New Math Instructors

The new semester brings four new men to the WSU Math Department. Joining the faculty are: Kenneth Brown, who is a Ph.D. in Mathematics from the University of Wisconsin. He taught in Colby, Horizon, and Adams.

Students Choose Book Rental Plan

With the choice of either renting or buying their textbooks, most students at the nine Wisconsin State Universities are renting their texts again this year, the board of regents office in Madison reports.

Some 40,000 WSU students picked up 255,000 textbooks at the nine campuses this fall. The librarians report. The value of the books, based on cost new, is about $1,500,000, or an average of $34 per student.

The textbook rental fee ranges from $8 to $10 a semester.

Some teachers also require students to buy supplementary books, depending upon the courses. The cost for additional books, the librarians say, averages $3 to $6 at most campuses.

At the State Universities, all students at each campus are charged a text rental fee. Even though the cost of the books assigned varies widely, a student may use a paperback book worth 60 cents in one class and an art or science text with a price tag of $16 or $20 in another class.

The problem of getting the large number of textbooks to the students in a timely and efficient way is solved in different ways.

At several universities the textbooks needed by freshmen are bundled or placed in shopping bags in advance, with the student's name on the bundle or bag. This is possible because freshmen pre-register during the summer and the courses and textbooks are assigned.

Other students select their assigned texts from tables or shelves and sign out for them. In some cases they register in September.

The librarians say that about one-fourth of the books distributed this fall are new. The rest are the average a year old. Textbook use is three or four years.

The report that 5 per cent to 15 per cent of the students purchase some of their textbooks at discounts ranging from 20 per cent to 50 per cent, depending upon the age of the book.

What Are WSU-SP Students Really Like?

Dr. William H. Clements, director of Institutional Research and Studies published an interesting report concerning the characteristics of the students of WSU-SP.

Requested by President Albertson to compile this report, the paper was primarily designed for orienting the 110 new faculty members.

Many of the facts are most interesting. Quoted from Dr. Clements' summary is this information: (Speaking of the students.)

"About 63 per cent are men. The great majority are in the 18-21 age range. The average family size is at least equal to the national average. A few students are married. More than a quarter of the men, and 40 per cent of the women, are married before they enter college."

Milwaukee Artist Exhibits Art Here

An exhibit of paintings and sculpture by Edward A. Boerner, well-known Milwaukee artist, will be on display in the WSU Library lobby as part of the opening exhibit in the university's annual Art Exhibition.

According to Richard Schneider, WSU Art Department and director of the exhibitions, the show will continue open to the public through Oct. 14.

"My Art Oct. 14" is the title of the display which features a dozen Boerner watercolor and about 20 small black prints.

Boerner has taught in Milwaukee high schools for many years and now heads the art department at Rufus King High School. He also taught at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, the Milwaukee School of Art and Design, the Wood Opportunity School and in private classes. He has often exhibited in local and regional shows and has been represented in private collections.

Boerner's neat, delicately drawn and expressive, and moody studies of old barns and sagging outbuildings, steeped in time and loneliness. One of the best is titled "Tired Barn," offers a square on view of a mellow old barn with a weathered roof and summer foliage. Soft, dappled sunlight plays in the visual stillness that needs only a buzz of insects to recreate the moment of drowsy nostalgia.

"Similar in feeling, but with a more dramatic and expressive quality, is 'Lonely Lonesome-Fall.' Here the artist's eye has picked an old stone outbuilding, started in the 18th century, abandoned farm. The painting is simple and straightforward, but the mood is one of more than the obvious tale told in its blind window holes and air of stern endurance.

In another drawing, titled "Snowy Owl," offers this huge eyed hunter of the northern night almost life size against a sky snapping with frosty stars. In keeping with the ghostlike spirit, it appears less a bird than a spectral goggled demon embodied in a blob of soft edged white.

Boerner's art ranges from "Figure in Elm," a female torso revealed out of a heavy tree fork, to "Old King," a headless figure in a craggy, carved from sheer steel, brass, copper and rods (for the figure's arms).

Most engaging is "Woodchuck," which combines a beguiling, Pooh Bear playfulness with the artist's favored, pondered observations of the plump

Soundproof Rooms Aid Expansion Of Speech Clinic

The WSU-Stevens Point Speech and Hearing Therapy Department under the direction of Dr. Gerald Johnson took a giant step forward with the arrival of three new recast soundproof rooms, Sept. 22.

These are simply three large, highly insulated rooms, providing an almost perfectly controlled sound atmosphere for the new recast soundproofing and testing and evaluation of hearing ability.

Dr. Johnson said that the huge unit (weight - 20,000 lbs. cost - $25,000) consists of a control room and an examination room, the latter being double walled, or virtually a room within a room.

He added that this addition makes the WSU-Stevens Point speech therapy program the most versatile and complete in the state university system.

A practical demonstration of this reduction is the fact that if one person stood inside the examination room and another person stood just outside, neither could hear the other person no matter how loudly they might scream.

Some of the more exotic audiometric controls include a device which emits a "harmless electric shock." This is used to condition the reactions of youngsters and those who are unable to respond to sounds normally.

Another device, the Bekesy Audiometer, allows the subject to administer the hearing test himself by automatically recording the range of sounds which the subject can hear on a graph.

German Club Invites New Members

The German Club will meet for an organizational meeting and election of officers on Oct. 10. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Turner Room, University Center.

German cultural slides will be shown, with English commentary. Anyone interested is cordially invited to come.

The technical director was Joel Weaver and the stage manager was Doug Wisby. The next "Tuesday Afternoon Thing" will be on Oct. 25, 1966, at 2:00 p.m. in the Turner Room, University Center.

People To People Program Brings Js Rosa Flores

"WSU-SP cultural exchange program with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was put on a people-to-people basis with the arrival of Jose Rosa Flores who will spend the next year at WSU as a library trainee.

Miss Flores, who will be a university student in her current academic year, is enrolled in library science classes and will be working in the university library learning techniques and procedures in preparation for setting up a library in Honduras.

Her visit is sponsored by the United States Department of State. She is working in cooperation with the University of Honduras, the WSU Latin American Studies Program, and the Honduras government.

Fluent in the English language, Miss Flores attended the Central School of Tegucigalpa, "twin city," to the capital of Honduras at Tegucigalpa where the university is located. She completed her work at the university's Central of General Studies in Tegucigalpa.

Miss Flores will stay in Neale Hall during her year at WSU. She will be working with her roommate in the hall's basement, she apparently enjoys the dormitory life of an American college student.

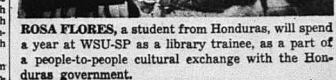

She is "praying for someone to get homesick" and vacate the hall's room. She said, "I am happy that I am here."

Although she had less than a week to make a decision about her new position before leaving her home in Honduras, she was enthusiastic about her first impression of the university and the people.

"Many of her ideas about the country, she admitted, were based on the television programs "Ben Casey" and "Peyton Place," popular in Honduras.

"When I found that my plane would land in Chicago, I was terrified. I kept thinking about what wild television program, you know, 'The Untouchables'."

Although she was met at the airport by some Missionary friends with whom she stayed overnight, Miss Flores admitted that the noise and bustle of the big city was a bit frightening. "Stevens Point is much quieter, and I am happy that I am here," she confided.

Lumber, Trade And Potatoes Developed Portage County

Portage County, one of the first to be organized in Wisconsin Territory, was named after the famous Indian passage between the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers, the lower Wisconsin River and the headwaters of the Fox River.

When the county was first set off in 1833, it consisted of 24 townships lying roughly across the Indian trail between the Fox and Wisconsin north to and including Fort Winnebago where Portage city was later founded.

The county was enlarged in the several years that followed and by 1843 extended all the way north through the central part of the territory, eight townships wide along the banks of the Wisconsin River, to the present Michigan state line in Iron and Vilas Counties.

In the late 1830's and early 1850's, new counties were set off from greater Portage County and in 1856 the county was reduced to its constitutional limit which today includes 17 townships, eight villages, and the City of Stevens Point.

While the name "Portage" originally applies to the Indian passage between the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers, the county retained this name in 1856 not only because it had been applied continuously to the county seat established at Plover in 1844, but probably because one of the most important Indian trails in the central part of the state lay between the Wolf River and the Yellow Banks east of Plover, a site later occupied by his son John Baptiste DuBay, an employee of the American Fur Company at least as early as 1839.

At this trading post, the first election of the township of Middletown (later the township of Stevens Point) was held on May 13, 1849.

But the key to the early development of Portage County lay in the great reserve of pine timber which was discovered on the upper Wisconsin in the 1820's where the white pine in some places stood, in the words of one pioneer, "thick as hair on a dog."

It became known as the "Pinery" and when Albert G. Elliot established the first weekly newspaper at Stevens Point in 1853, he appropriately called it the Wisconsin Pinery.

In order to open up these timber reserves to commerce, the government in 1836 made a treaty with the Indians to create a special area, three miles wide on either bank of the upper Wisconsin River, which extended from the present site of Neokosa north to the big Eau Claire River below Wausau, popularly referred to as the "Indian strip."

Lumbermen hurried north to establish sawmills along the strip on the best rapids of the Wisconsin and its tributaries such as the Plover River, Mill Creek, the Little Eau Pleine and the Big Eau Pleine. These same rivers were found to float rough lumber in rafts down the Mississippi to market in the prairie states.

After 1848, new treaties with the Indians opened up the land farther to the east and west of the upper Wisconsin and Yankee settlers from the New England states, "Yark states" (New Yorkers) and Canadians moved in to claim the virgin prairie for farming across the southern half of the county.

They were followed in the early 1850's by immigrants from Scandinavian settlements in southern Wisconsin and from Norway, as well as immigrants from the United Kingdom, mostly Irish, and from Germany and Poland.

The Poles, the last large ethnic group to arrive, were led in 1857 by the family of Michael Kozickowski who in 1858 settled near the Tomorrow River to found the first rural settlement of Poles in Wisconsin where the largest rural Catholic church in America was built in 1902.

Today it is estimated that more than half of the population of Portage County is of Polish Ancestry.

In 1860, four years after the county was set off in its present limits, the population was 7,507; in 1960 the population was 36,364.

Most of our townships were created in the 1850's, the last in 1899, while most of the villages were incorporated in the early 1900's.

The City of Stevens Point, with a population in 1960 of 7,837, was named after the lumberman George Stevens who used the "point" on the Wisconsin River at the foot of the present Main Street to ship supplies by dugout canoe to a sawmill he was building at Bull Falls (Wausau). Never incorporated when it was founded in the mid-1840's, the village jumped from a township organization into a city incorporation in 1858.

Y-Dems Hear Jurgella, A Lucey Backer

Last Wednesday, Richard Jurgella, past chairman of the Portage County Democratic Party and current coordinator for the Lucey Campaign, addressed the WSU Young Democrats.

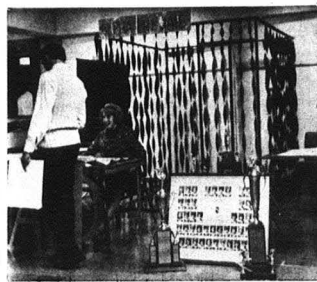

Mr. Jurgella outlined a program of positive political action for the group to work from, and presented a challenge to each individual Young Dem.

Any person signing up at least 20 members by Oct. 15 will receive a free ticket to the Candidates Dinner to be held here in Stevens Point at which Attorney-General Bronson LaFollette will be principal speaker. Furthermore, Mr. Jurgella will present to the most outstanding Young Dem a free $50 ticket to the annual fund raising dinner held in Madison or Milwaukee.

Mr. Jurgella further described the political background and outlook in the campaign. Particular stress was laid upon the influence of Young-Dems in the primary and their potential in the forthcoming general election.

This was the first general meeting of the semester for the Young-Dems with a schedule of programs and activities to follow. The next meeting of the Young-Dems will be held Oct. 12 in the Van Hise Room.

For further information please contact: Ronald Smolinski, 308 Troy Hall, Ext. 329.

THE POINTER JUBILEE (shown in the pictures above and below), sponsored by UCB Friday evening, had a record number of 31 organizations offering demonstrations, brochures, and displays to interested students.

WSU Student Composes Music For A Catholic Mass

James McNamee, sophomore at WSU-Stevens Point, has composed the music for a Roman Catholic Mass according to the new English text as approved by the National Conference of the Bishops of the United States.

The entire Mass is in the key of "C" major. "The Lord Have Mercy," "Holy, Holy, Holy," and "The Lamb of God" are in homophonic form, and "The Gloria to God" is in homophonic form. The mass has no credo.

McNamee has obtained special permission for the Mass to be used locally through the Madison Diocese with the permission of the particular pastor of the parish where it is used.

If he were ever to obtain a copyright, and present the Mass to the Liturgical Commission at Washington, D. C. for approval, the Mass could then be used nationally. Majoring in economics and minoring in foreign languages at WSU, McNamee first studied music in Necedah, Wis. Since then he has studied the accordion in Portage and has had some vocal training while attending Matello High School. At various intervals, he had private instruction at the Bridgeport Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

Wages paid to students employed by the nine Wisconsin state universities will total an estimated $2.5 million over the 1966-67 year.

Grant Received For Research In Instruction

As the result of a $50,000 federal grant, WSU-Stevens Point, in cooperation with WSU-LaCrosse, River Falls, Stout and Whitewater, will initiate a project to promote educational research aimed at improving undergraduate instruction at the five state universities.

The project coordinator, Dr. William H. Clements, WSU-Stevens Point Director of Institutional Research and Studies, said that the program is one of five state pilot studies to be undertaken this year in various parts of the United States.

The program will be a Corporation Organization for Research Development (CORD) project of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

According to Dr. Clements, the project will involve both cooperative and individual research.

In the first phase, the five state universities will work together in a project concerning a particular subject or area common among all five schools. Pooling basic faculty resources and available educational materials, the schools will attempt to improve the quality of instruction in a basic course.

In the second phase, and utilizing some of the research methods which have proved of value in the cooperative study, each school will conduct its own research program.

From these individual studies, Dr. Clements commented, the educational research methods will be passed on to faculty members to continue their own research projects.

Efforts to obtain the CORD grant for the local university began last year. Dr. Clements said, Dr. James Albertson, WSU president, commended that the state universities, though engaged primarily in teacher education, for the most part "do not have a well-developed capacity and appreciation of educational research," suggested a CORD proposal for the project.

The proposal, written by Dr. Kurt Schmeller, WSU Assistant to the President, was submitted to HEW. Dr. Albertson and Dr. Schmeller made a trip to Washington, D.C., seeking federal support for the study. The proposal was officially approved in June.

Final arrangements were com-

French Club Presents Cultural Events

The French Club, now being organized at WSU, is inviting students, faculty members and community area residents to join.

Miss Alexandra Kapinska, WSU associate professor of foreign languages and the club adviser, will accept names of persons interested in forming such an organization. She may be contacted in her office, 408 Classroom Center, or at Ext. 523 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

French Club meetings will be held monthly with programs including such things as French book reviews, French songs and games, French music and art exhibits.

Radke Announces Extended Services Enrollment Jump

Just as the number of on-campus students has increased, so has the number of extension students, with an increase this fall of nearly 135 over last spring's tally. Mr. Radke, director of Extended Services, said that most of these students were county college graduates working for a four-year degree.

There are seventeen different classes being offered at ten different sites this fall. Course offerings are in the areas of speech, history, art, education, political science, English, math, geography and business. Class sites include Antigo, Marshfield, Medford, Merrill, Portage, Rhineland, Wausau, Wautoma, and Wisconsin Rapids. Many of the classes are taught by WSU faculty members.

For the 1966-67 academic year the Wisconsin state university system is employing approximately 3,000 faculty members.

Last year there were more than 6 million mentally retarded in the United States. Things could be worse. If you just wait a few years.

Maybe you don't want to wait. Maybe you want to do something about mental retardation now—before it happens in your family.

And don't be so sure it can't. Every five minutes a child is born whose mind won't grow enough.

But you don't have to sit by and hope it won't happen to you. You can do something about it. You can help a trend.

You can start by reading a booklet that tells you what mental retardation is and what it is not. You can learn from this booklet how mental retardation can be prevented, what progress medical science has made against it and how the retarded can be helped to live useful lives.

And you can learn how you can help your community do what needs doing for the retarded.

You owe it to yourself, your family and your community to get this free booklet now. Address: The President's Committee on Mental Retardation, Washington, D.C.

Seniors Should Plan Ahead For Education Exams

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service (ETS), a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: Jan. 7, Mar. 18, July 1, and Oct. 1, 1967. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

Leaflets indicating school systems and state departments of education which use the examination results are distributed to colleges by ETS.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure the professional preparation and general cultural background of teachers, and one of 13 Teaching Area Examinations which measure mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice which will help them to take and on which dates

Enthusiasts Hold Sports Car Rally

Did you ever want to be a race driver? To know the sound of revving engines and clashing gears, the smell of burnt petrol and hot oil. Psychologists tell us that there are basically two things a motor man wants to be good at: making love and driving a car. You may never be good at making love and driving a car. You may never be a race driver but you may be a "driver." Sunday, Oct. 9th is the day for you to enjoy your skill in a rally sponsored by the Stevens Point Corvete Club. Drivers meeting at 10:30 at Highway 30 I.G.A. parking lot. Rally starts at 1 p.m. Entry fee is a buck and a half. So engage your seat starter, pick up your girl or your buddy and "motor" out.

Gene's Sport Scene

by Gene Kemmner

The Pointers' victory over La Crosse on Saturday night gave a good example of the kind of football the team can play. La Crosse was rated as one of the tougher teams in the conference and they fell easily when our offense got going. If we continue to play that, and if Whitewater suffers two defeats, we could come up with a conference championship.

Last week, prior to the La Crosse game, I made a few selections for the coming season. In the WISC I picked White Water for first because if we can't beat them, no one can. Second place should belong to the Pointers, then Stout, La Crosse, Oshkosh, River Falls, Eau Claire, Plattville, and Superior.

In the NFL the Green Bay Packers almost have to be the choice of anyone in Wisconsin. In the Western Division, they should be followed by Baltimore, Chicago, Los Angeles, Minnesota, San Francisco, and Detroit. In the Eastern Division a speedy Dallas team should meet the Packers in the championship. Next in order comes Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Washington, Pittsburgh, New York, and the infant Atlanta Falcons. Don't be surprised, however, if the whole standings are inverted the way things have been going for me.

Since it's now World Series time, I might as well go on to a limb and predict the Los Angeles Dodgers to win it all. The Baltimore Orioles have a good team, but they had the pennant rapped up about midway through the season while the Dodgers and the National League again had to wait until the last day of the season to determine who was to represent them in the World Series. However, that should give them a little bit of an advantage. It should stretch out to seven games and the gamblers should all be close.

Congratulations should go out to the cheerleaders and all the students who attended Saturday night's game against La Crosse. It looks like some school spirit is finally developing here at Point.

A little point of information for all those that are interested. On Saturday, Slippery Rock tied Edinboro 7-7.

This weekend's selections: Stevens Point 20, Eau Claire 6, Green Bay 24, San Francisco 10, Nebraska 20, Wisconsin 7.

Cheerleaders Touch Off Seasons First Rally

What's the word? — Beat La Crosse! As these yells echoed across the campus last Saturday night the first pep rally of the season was touched off. With six lovely cheerleaders and an enthusiastic group of fans the season started with a bang — or rather a ring, as Tom Ragna Epsilon rang out in force to stir excitement. Even with the clanging of the bell, the cheer from Hansen, Pray-Sims, and Smith were not to be outdone as they proudly waved their banners.

After a few snappy numbers opening this fall at the Wisconsin state universities plus an addition to a dormitory accommodate 5,852 students, bringing total residence hall capacity on the nine campuses to 21,152.

Led by the cheerleaders, the enthusiastic fans then marched to Goerke field accompanied by a police escort to cheer their team to victory.

Seventeen new residence halls opening this fall at the Wisconsin state universities plus an addition to a dormitory accommodate 5,852 students, bringing total residence hall capacity on the nine campuses to 21,152.

CHEERLEADERS led students in a snake dance to Goerke Field.

SCHOOL SPIRIT was aroused at the pre-game pep session.

Not All The Action Is On The Field

Few people realize the amount of work that goes on behind the scenes putting a football team on the field. Dave Jurgella, Bob Grothe, and Ed O'Hare are the football managers who are responsible for the logistics of fielding Stevens Point's team. The job of getting ready for practice or a game begins an hour before the team takes the field.

Jurgella, a junior with two years of managing experience is responsible for the overall needs of the team. As the head manager, he does most of the running around that comes with the job, and with 125 players and 6 coaches that is plenty of leg work. Before practice he and the other managers make sure there are enough towels for showers after practice. The first aid kits must be sufficiently stocked and things like kicking tees and footballs are brought to the field. At practice the managers catch extra point kicks and punts. After practice they hand out towels, wait until the team leaves and cleans up the locker room.

Grothe, a sophomore, besides helping Dave, is mainly responsible for repairing or replacing worn or broken equipment. A snapped face mask, a torn pair of pants or a missing cleat from a shoe, all come to Bob for fixing. Another of Bob's duties is driving the team to Goerke field for home games in "the truck."

O'Hare, another sophomore, is in charge of taping injuries. Ed took a special course in the care of minor injuries and is able to do a fine job, taking a rather burdensome job away from the coaches. The coaches can then devote their time to building the team.

Besides the extra scramble needed to pack the equipment, the managers' job before and during a game are the same. At games however they must be sure that one of the footballs doesn't become somebody's souvenir. Other than Dave just does a little more running around, making sure all the players who are not in the game stay on the bench and don't interfere with the game.

In a close contest this is a difficult thing to do. Bob has a few more broken shoe laces to replace, with Ed having more ankles and wrists to tape.

For one complete season a varsity manager receives a letter. They Earn them.

Portage County Expands With Commercial Growth

The city was the hub of logging operations in the "Pinery."

Millions of feet of lumber were sawed annually in mills located in or near the city and millions more were rafted over the Shattuck Dam (below Clark Street bridge) from mills farther north and in Marathon County.

The last of the great lumber rafts passed through the city in 1957.

From experience in the lumbering industry, wooden ware factories were established in Stevens Point in the 1870's and 1880's to utilize the hard wood.

In the 1890's and later the paper-making industry came in and vast power factories were created on the Wisconsin River to manufacture paper and related products.

Stevens Point is also the home of Wisconsin State University, founded in 1883 and which today has an enrollment of close to 6,000 students, and the home office, since 1912, of Sentry Insurance (Hardway Mutuals), among the leaders of mutual insurance companies in the United States.

Throughout the county as a whole, the main industry is dairying with feed crops such as hay, oats and corn to support the dairy industry.

It is also one of the two leading counties in the state in the raising of potatoes.

Portage County is situated near the geographical center of Wisconsin. Through the middle, north and south, run parallel ridges of hills, and spurs off the ridges, known as terminal moraine, where the last glacier stopped thousands of years ago.

As a result of the glacier, the eastern half of the county is favored by some of the prettiest lakes and some of the best trout streams in the state.

Juska, Lightfoot Attend Council Meeting At Stout

At the Sept. 29 meeting of the Student Senate an Internal Affairs Committee was established.

The main function of this committee will be:

- 1) to conduct elections, determination of time and procedure;
- 2) to plan and execute student government week;
- 3) to make constitutional revisions;
- 4) to select outstanding Student Senate members; and
- 5) to plan the meeting agenda.

Senate members of the committees are Jim Bowen, Chairman, and Tom Johnson. Selection of four additional, non-Senate members will be made this week.

At the scheduled meeting later this week, the Committee will plan the forthcoming election of freshmen officers, vacant class officers, and vacant Senate seats.

Pointers Scalp Indians

WSU-Stevens Point showed why it is considered one of the strongest football teams in the Wisconsin State University Conference by downing previously unbeaten La Crosse here last Saturday, 34-16.

The Pointer defense played an excellent game, and much of La Crosse's yardage was piled up at the expense of receivers.

La Crosse kicked off to the Pointers and Henry "Skip" Walters, transfer student from Stout, made a fine 45 yard return to the La Crosse 45. The Indians defense held. Al Guberski's punt was downed on the La Crosse 15. La Crosse moved well in its first series and picked up 3 first downs to the Pointer 28. Then the Pointer defense dug in and the Indians had to settle for a 12 yard field goal by Meiner.

The Pointers stormed right back with the kickoff. After John Harris returned the kick off to the Pointer 35, Tom Heimerl found daylight off to left tackle and ran 40 yards to the Pointer 28. Then the Pointer defense dug in and the Indians had to settle for a 12 yard field goal by Meiner.

The second quarter was all Stevens Point. The Pointers got the ball on the La Crosse 48 following an Indian punt. Rohde ran to the La Crosse 25, and an unnecessary roughness penalty pushed the ball to the 12. Two plays later, John Freeman scored from 3 yards out and Peters booted the extra point to give the Pointers a 14-0 lead, with 5:37 left in the first half.

The Pointers were not done yet, though. They held La Crosse and got the ball on a punt at the Pointer 31. The Pointers marked 69 yards in 11 plays, with Tiggs going to the final yard. Peters again converted, and Stevens Point led 21-0 with only 32 seconds left in the half.

The Pointers got a break early in the third quarter when Ken Falkinham pounced on a LaCrosse fumble at the La Crosse 45. Tiggs found Pointer end Jim Hansen open and hit him at the 4. Tiggs ran the 11 yard three yards. Jim Peters' point attempt was blocked, and the score was Pointers 27, Indians 3, with 10:39 left in the third quarter.

La Crosse finally got its offense untracked late in the third quarter and Schoenel broke loose on a 45 yard jump to the Pointer 12. Rocky Falaschi, sophomore quarterback then scampered 12 yards around left and for the touchdown. Meiner added to the La Crosse version, and Stevens Point's next game will be this Saturday at Eau Claire. Last year, the Pointers beat the Bluebirds, 17-7.

DALE ROE nears the finish line on his way to leading the Pointers to victory over La Crosse in a cross country meet on Saturday.

Dale Roe Leads Team To Victory

Dale Roe led the way and the rest of the team followed his example as WSU-Stevens Point handed La Crosse a 21-0 defeat running on the 3.2 mile home course, at the Wisconsin River Country Club.

Roe took first, with his 17:27 time, a full one and one third minute faster than it had been against Oshkosh. The rest of the team's clocking was also better than it had been in that meet four days earlier.

Paul LaMere knocked nine seconds off his previous time, and as with Oshkosh he finished second. Greg Dinasser also improved, coming in fourth, with Joe Gehin getting sixth and Dave Jacoby, placing seventh.

The team made a definite improvement over the performance with Oshkosh, but it wasn't as good as the team had done in defeating Ripon. A team's performance is dependent on many variables and it is difficult to maintain an excellent performance constantly.

With the victory over La Crosse, the team seems to be back on the right track. They travel to Whitewater on October 11 to try and continue their winning ways. If they can match or exceed their performance while hosting Ripon, there should be no problem.

Cheerleaders Chosen For '66-'67

An all out effort to revise and appeal for school spirit is in full swing. It started last spring when the varsity cheerleaders were selected. This enabled them to get things into full swing early in the fall. Now they have added time to devote to their cheers and new ideas.

The cheerleaders were selected by a board of five people. After giving two WSU cheers, the girls were chosen for appearance, poise, coordination, and general cheering ability.

The cheerleaders are as follows: Susie Schmedlin, Lori Kelly Watkins, Cady; Rachael Davies, Milwaukee; Kay Johnson, Beaver Dam; Diane Lasinski, Stevens Point; Debbie Grise, Waterville; and Charlotte Gould, Union Grove. Six of the girls will cheer regularly at each game. Debbie Grise and Charlotte Gould were the alternates. This year for the first time, they will be using colorful pom-poms in their cheers.

Six girls were selected Thursday, Sept. 22 as freshmen cheerleaders at WSU.

They were judged by Mrs. John Freeman who is the advisor to cheerleaders; Miss Gayle Paulie, a Residence Hall Director; Miss Susie Schmedlin, Captain Varsity Cheerleaders; Vic Kopang, WSU Basketball Player and Skip Waters, a WSU Football Player.

The cheerleaders are as follows: Kathy Doherty, Brown Deer, who attended Granville High; Jeff Hyland, Stevens Point, from P.J. Jacobs High; Mary Pat Laviolette, Appleton, from Xavier High; Pat Dun-can, Beloit, Beloit Memorial High; Helen Schwartz, Milwaukee, Milwaukee Senior High, and Sherry Kust, Coleman, Sherman High.

Touch Football Results Given

Intramural touch football is currently in its second week of competition, and only 16 of 65 teams remain undefeated. Residence hall teams with two wins already to their credit (and lending their respective leagues) are: Smith Procrastinators (4th North) of the Hawkeye League, Sims Warhawks (3rd Floor) of the Illini League, Pray Trojans (1st West) and Baldwin 4th West both of the Hoosier League, and the Baldwin Hustlers (2nd South) of the Hoosier League.

Independent teams with 24 records include: Ming's Merchants (Continental League), The Jacks (National League), and the Volucks (American League).

Phi Sigma Epsilon leads the fraternity league with a 2-0 mark.

Other undefeated teams with 1-0 marks include: Hansen 3rd North and Steiner 4th (Wolverine League), Baldwin Southern Flyers (2nd South) and Baldwin Beavershorts (3rd Floor) of the Badger League, and Baldwin 1st East of the Buckeye League, Blue Ribbon Boys of the Canadian League and Sigma Tau Gamma of the Fraternity League.

Dave Padfield of the Sigma Tau Gamma turned in the outstanding individual performance in scoring all of his team's 27 points in their 27-0 thumping of Smith 4th West. He scored 4 touchdowns, one extra point, and a safety. Smith 4th North won the most hands, 56-0 and 19-0. League playoffs are slated to begin Oct. 17th.

Sixty-five teams are entered in touch football this year, as compared with only 37 last year. There are 42 residence hall teams, 17 independents, and 6 fraternities. 29 teams are entered in horseshoes, which began this week. Only 11 teams competed last year.

The first Co-Ree Night was held last night. Subsequent nights in October will be Oct. 12, 19 and 26. Students are reminded that there is a one half hour limit on the rise of table tennis and handball facilities. All students and faculty are urged to participate in Co-Ree

Night when possible to assure its success.

Starting Saturday, Oct. 8, men wishing to reserve a basket in the gymnasium may do so by signing up for one in Mr. Clark's office. They may only be reserved for one hour, and only from 9-11 a.m. The gym will also be open in the afternoon, 1-3 on a first come, first serve basis.

Intramural captains are reminded that entries for the pass, punt, and kick contest and intramural soccer are due today, Oct. 6. Soccer will not count in the year-long standings, but if sufficient interest is shown, it will probably be added to year-long points next fall. New soccer equipment is available as well as physical education classes in soccer, and it is hoped this will arouse interest in the intramural soccer program at WSU.

Great Demand For Faculty Housing

The welcome sign is out at the nine Wisconsin state universities for anyone who wants to talk about building apartments or houses for faculty families.

Eugene R. McPhee, Madison, director of state universities, said a survey shows a great demand for houses and apartments for faculty and other university staff members.

Four major reasons for the shortage of houses and apartments which most exist for them in university cities, McPhee said.

1. Appointment of additional faculty members as the universities grow.
2. General economic growth in university cities.

3. Removal of existing housing to provide room for growth of the campuses and new business and industry.

4. Inability of local builders to hire construction workers to undertake housing projects.

The Board of Regents has gone on record as favoring con-

BOB ROHDE (33) signals a Pointer touchdown as an official moves in to untuple the players at the goal line. It was one of 5 Pointer touchdowns in their 34-16 romp over La Crosse.

Women Clash In Field Hockey

Women's field hockey was played last Monday at 5:15 p.m. They are in hopes of attending a match at UW-M on Oct. 22. All field hockey enthusiasts are welcome to attend these practice sessions.

On Monday from 6:30 to 7:30 gymnastics was held for the first time. It will continue if enough people show an interest and a desire to participate.

There continues to be many openings in the tennis tournament. Nancy Eggner remains unchallenged this past week. She is looking for more competitors. Women are urged to show their interest and enthusiasm by competing with Nancy and the other girls already entered in the tournament. They may sign up now in Room 128C in the Fieldhouse. Tournament schedules will be posted and the girls can contact each other for convenient times to hold the matches.

The girls should start thinking of forming their volleyball tournaments in the halls. This tournament will be coming up in November. The gym will be available Monday nights for practice.
