Students Hassle Over Homecoming Rules

In the most recent move to make things easier for students, the student body has been divided into groups that will have to go through a preliminary screening process. The groups are divided into three categories: freshmen, sophomores, and juniors and seniors. Each category will have to undergo a preliminary screening process, which will involve filling out a questionnaire and attending a group meeting. The questions will be asked to determine whether or not the student has been to a homecoming game before. Those who have not been to a homecoming game before will be asked to attend a group meeting to discuss the rules and regulations of the homecoming game. Those who have been to a homecoming game before will be allowed to participate in the game.

Homecoming rules will be enforced by Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity, under the supervision of the University Chaplain. Those students who are found to be违反 the rules will be subject to a fine of $50 and may have their names withheld from the Homecoming Board.

Barry M. Krasner, the president of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, said that the new rules will help to ensure that everyone has a fair chance to participate in the Homecoming game.

"We want to make sure that everyone has a fair chance to participate in the Homecoming game," said Krasner. "We also want to make sure that everyone is aware of the rules before they participate."
The ENCOUNTER COFFEE HOUSE, open to everyone, offers conversation, music, and an air of mystery for students and faculty members.

Encounter Provides An Air Of Mystery

The Encounter Coffee House, located on the 100 block of E. University Avenue, offers an opportunity for students and faculty members to relax and enjoy each other’s company. The Encounter provides a comfortable setting for students and faculty members to converse and have a good time.

In the center of the Encounter, there is a table where people can sit and have a cup of coffee or tea. The table is surrounded by chairs, and there is a small stage where music is sometimes played. The Encounter is open from Monday to Thursday from 4 pm to 9 pm.

Are You Missing The Chance?

Professor Robert Taylor of the UW History Department has commented that a threatening element in the university expansion is the development of a highly structured community in the same timeframes. At the top is the "modern professor" who tallies to the students what the professor is trying to understand, but not with the university where he teaches, but with his profession.

Partly for this reason, Taylor states, a middle class is added — the teaching assistant. Their job is to act as mediators between large, impersonal courses and the people who ostensibly give them. It is their job to get to know the people to whom recommendations have to be written, they can be written by them and signed by the professor.

At the bottom are the students, who have only a fleeting association with the people who teach them and who don’t really know each other.

What is needed to help break down this block to realize that they have a stake in it? How is an introduction of new matter in one of the newly created courses and the people who ostensibly give them? It is their job to get to know the people they write to the students whom recommendations have to be written, they can be written by them and signed by the professor.

The new courses in the university are often courses and the people who ostensibly give them. It is their job to get to know the people they write to the students whom recommendations have to be written, they can be written by them and signed by the professor.

The situation for this one course is offered to students who are only indirectly associated with the university and with the university where they teach, but only with the university where they teach.

Miss Codely, superb actress of the film "The Bet," an international star, has been on a tour of the Pacific Northwest. Her performance in the role of "The Bet" at the Spreckels Theater, San Francisco, was a great triumph. Her name is Codely. She is of Swedish descent.

Miss Codely in our own region, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the students of the University of Washington, and a plaque of silver in recognition of her wonderful performance. The audience was overwhelmed by her beauty, her talent, and her charming personality.

The streetcar ride was a revelation to the young audience. Miss Codely, as always, was a picture of perfection in every way. Her beauty, her grace, her talent, all combined to make her the perfect actress.

The audience was completely captivated by her performance. They were in awe of her beauty, her talent, her grace. They were completely captivated by her performance. They were in awe of her beauty, her talent, her grace.

No High-Rise Dorms Seen Yet For Point

Students as well as instructors were riveted on the Winooski River. At Point, the Winooski River was known as the "River of a Thousand Islands." The students and instructors were captivated by the beauty of the river, the sound of the water, and the wildlife that could be seen along the river.

Lumber, Trade And Potatoes
Developed Portage County
Portage County, one of the first to be organized in Wisconsin Territory, was named to honor the Indian nation known as the Potawatomi, which lived near the river on whose name it was built.

When the county was first settled in 1834, it contained 246,000 acres, including 126,000 acres of timber land. The INDIAN COUNTRY was isolated on the west and north by the Wisconsin River, on the south by the Mississippi River, and on the east by the Lake Michigan.

Early settlers included the Foxes, who were the first to arrive in the area. The Foxes were friendly to the white settlers and helped them establish farms. The Foxes were also known for their skilled craftsmanship, making them valuable in the early days of the county.

The village of Portage was the first community to be established in the county. It was named for the portage, or path, that allowed travelers to cross the Wisconsin River.

The town of Portage was later organized in 1836, and the county courthouse was built in 1839.

The county grew quickly, and by 1840, it had a population of 1,252. By 1850, the population had increased to 4,214. Today, the county has a population of 42,857.

Lumber was one of the first industries to thrive in the county, and by 1840, there were 18 sawmills in operation. The lumber industry continued to grow, and by the early 1900s, it was one of the largest industries in the county.

Trade and potatoes also became important industries in the county. The first potato was planted in the county in 1848, and by 1870, the county had become a major potato producer. Today, the county is still known for its potato industry.

The Portage River, which flows through the county, was also a valuable resource. It provided water for irrigation, and it was used for transportation.

The Fox River, which flows through the county, was also a valuable resource. It provided water for irrigation, and it was used for transportation.

The county has a rich history, and it continues to thrive today. The county is known for its beautiful natural scenery, its friendly people, and its strong sense of community. Whether you are a long-time resident or a new visitor, the county has something to offer for everyone.
Seniors Should Plan Ahead For Education Exams

The Poitiers victory over La Crosse on Saturday night gave a good preview of the kind of football the team can play. The game was a tight contest, but the Poitiers played well and emerged victorious. The game was a great example of the kind of football the team can play. La Crosse was rated as one of the tougher teams in Uw, and they fell easily when our offense got going.

La Crosse was prior to the La Crosse game. I made a few suggestions for the coming season. In the NFL, I picked White, Green Bay, and Detroit to be a strong possibility. In the college ranks, I picked Penn State, Iowa, and Notre Dame to be strong candidates.

At the scheduled meeting later this week, the Committee will plan the forthcoming elections of Student officers. Student officers were not named.
