WSU Walks To School

My New Home

As WSU is expanding in and enrollment, and quality of room, many of the problems are expanding as well. One of the most glaring examples of this is the daily battle for parking spaces. With the increasing numbers of WSU staff members and students, the problem will become more serious.

Although we have new dormitories and a new classroom building, there has been little increase in available parking space. As a result, many students find themselves parking their car farther away from their classes than they had in the first place. The parking problem is not peculiar to WSU. It is a problem that exists at almost every university in the country.

This has led to a very tense situation, especially with the waiting to leave. Every Wednesday and Thursday the parking lot is completely filled, and students are forced to walk a mile to their classes. This situation is becoming unbearable, and between legislative efforts to alleviate the problem, the university administration has failed to provide adequate parking space.

A Point Well Taken

THE FIRST LETTER BONE

The following is a service for all freshmen and others who find that their letters have been cryptic, due to the nature of the word, accent, and sound.

How are you? I am fine, not so good, I am, have been smoking, drinking most of the time. My classes are the only thing I don't like, because they are not so good. I am going to try to improve myself, and I am going to try to study more. I am going to try to get a good job and to study for a good job.

These experiences are not unique, but rather the norm. Many students feel that they are not getting the most out of their college experience, and that they are not making the most of the opportunities available to them.

A Point Well Taken

THE FIRST LETTER BONE

Student Feels Pressed For Time

Dave Eber

Confined to hospital, as many other students, but that the time between classes seemed longer. There is a lot of work to be done and it seems that there is never enough time. The classes are expanding the opportunities, and there is little time to relax.

The time between classes needs to be utilized to the fullest. The time needs to be expanded, and there is little time to relax.

Six Million Expected In US Colleges This Fall

United States college enrollment totals six million this fall, an increase of 25 percent over last year's 5 million. College students are expected to increase to 7 million by 1980.

College students are among the 6 million students who are expected to attend college this fall, an increase of 25 percent over last year's 5 million.

These students are expected to increase to 7 million by 1980.

Higher education enrollment is one of the most important stages of any student's life.

To One Who Teaches

School being short, this is a fact in all classes and students who may feel it is not applicable, but in our course it is.

How can you enjoy people who teaches in such a way? How can you enjoy one who teaches as well? Not only the words to change, but also the students.

A good variety of people

South Whidbey High School

This is a special dedication to those who have been a special dedication to the students.

My goal is to become a history teacher, and WSU has many excellent professors in this field.

Everything this week has lined up to my expectations, and I feel that I am in the right place. My main goal is to be a history teacher, and WSU is the place to be.
