CAS Presents 'The Red And the Black'
The Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point Administration and the All-University Committee for the Arts will present a reading of Stendhal's 'The Red And the Black' on Friday, April 1, in the University Center. The reading will begin at 8 p.m. and will be followed by a discussion with the author, Richard Ford. The event is free and open to the public.

UNIVERSAL OBJECTS are found among the students in the LaLamaillie Lounge as the WSU-SF Faculty Art Exhibit opens. The exhibit runs through April, 8. This unusual work has been associated with living Chinese artists throughout the world. The exhibit is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the University Center.

National Museum of Women in the Arts has selected the art of Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright dramatist Ann Beattie for inclusion in its current exhibition, 'Women in the Arts.' The exhibit is on view through May 31 at the museum, located at 1200 19th St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036. Admission is free.

Memorial Service Held In Colorado

A memorial service was held in Colorado for Dr. William J. McNeill, emeritus professor of history at the University of Colorado and author of the influential book 'The Rise of Western Society.' McNeill, who passed away in 2000, was a prominent scholar in the field of world history and his work has had a lasting impact on the field.

WSU-SP Hosted the Madison Conference of Wisconsin State University Presidents and rubber safety and management at Washington University, St. Louis. Dr. Stephen J. Schwartz, president of WSU-SP, welcomed the attendees, who included Dr. James Albertson, WSU-SP's vice president for legislative affairs, and Dr. William Stielstra, WSU-SP's director of United Campus Activities. The conference, which is held annually, focused on issues of mutual interest to state university presidents.

Sen. Street announced the appointment of Dr. David L. Beers, a former state senator from Wisconsin, as the university's new chancellor. Beers, who served as a senator from 1980 to 1988, will assume his new role in July.

If You Ask Me—

Thursday, June 20, 1962, Story Hill from Stockbridge.

Don'tEOSS where is here, but what can be done about it? These are some of the questions we ask ourselves about the environment.

Many of our students have access to this field and are interested in the environment. They want to know why the trees are dying, why the air is polluted, and what can be done about it.

Students interested in environmental issues or pursuing an ecology degree are offered to the hurried student. The University Publications Board offers a unique opportunity to those interested in environmental issues.

Our college food service has also been discussed recently. It seems that many students are unhappy with the current food service. This leads me to the conclusion that if the people are unhappy with the current food service, it must be changed.

It's not a matter of changing a few things here and there, but rather a complete overhaul of the entire system. The current food service is often too expensive, and the quality of the food is unsatisfactory. Many students have expressed their dissatisfaction with the current food service, and it's time for something new.

We need a food service that is affordable, delicious, and environmentally friendly. This could be achieved through a partnership between the university and a local business. The business could provide fresh, locally sourced ingredients, while the university could offer a location and marketing support.

This is just one example of how the university can partner with local businesses to improve the environment and benefit the students. There are many other opportunities for collaboration, and it's time for us to start exploring them.
Student Senate Holds Two-In-One Meeting

Because of an accumulation of unfinished business, when Student Senate convened its meeting last week at 8 p.m., the Senate ordered that the meeting start promptly at 8:30 p.m. The Senate voted unanimously to schedule the meeting for five minutes to read the minutes.

They voted then to appeal the president's decision of a five minute appeal. Senate President John Masi, however, voted against the motion and the meeting was scheduled to convene promptly at 8:30 p.m.

A New Charter to President, Kathy Buisness leaders of America Insurance, was the guest speaker for the evening. Both Miss Diane Zvolena, historian, and Speaker Mrs. James B. Avedisian, lecturer made a series of changes in the charter.

Miss Zvolena stated that the charter would have to be presented to the Wisconsin College Young Republicans and the Wisconsin Student Congress. The committee's proposals for future changes would be: $25 second place and $10 third place. The first place prize was to be given to the student society that had the highest percentage of members voting for the charter.

Both Miss Zvolena and Speaker Mrs. James B. Avedisian stated that the charter would have to be approved by the Student Senate before any member could sign up for a slot.
