Leads Cast For 'Dark Of The Moon' Ryan Will Direct Folklore Play

Joyce Walter, Earl Smith and Paul Bentzen have won lead roles in WSU College Theater's forthcoming folk-fantasy "Dark Of The Moon" to be produced Mar. 31. New faculty member Tom Ryan will be directing. Earl Smith has been cast as the Witch Boy who, while flying on the back of his pet eagle, sees the beautiful mountain girl Barbara Allen, played by Joyce Walter, and falls in love with her.

Paul Bentzen as the country preacher opposes the unnatural romance and tries to reunite Barbara Allen with her human boy friend, played by Mark Niedzokowski. While in high school in Milwaukee, Mr. Niedzokowski played lead roles in "South Pacific," "Flower Drum Song" and "Oklahoma!"

Urging the Witch Boy not to leave their enchanted kingdom, two two lovely witches, played by Sandra Young and Virginia Thatcher, and the Conjur Man and Woman portrayed by Doug Wisby and Alice Rayveth.

Barbara Blakey and Kirk Weber play the perplexed parents trying to understand their rebellious teen-age daughter Barbara Allen. Miss Blakey was seen recently in the title role of Barnarda Alba. Mr. Weber sang principal roles in "The Boy Friend" and "Little Mary Sunshine" while attending high school in Kaukauna. Dora Gonski, active in Wausau High productions, has been cast as the kid sister, Flora.

EARL SMITH, 'will be playing one of the lead roles in the forthcoming fantasy "Dark of the Moon." He will be cast as the Witch Boy.

College Theater stalwarts John Pomm, David Jurgelia and Bruce Parker have some comic moments in the general story as Witch Boy dazes them with a display of magic.

Sue Hassel, the talented pianist, for the recent musical "Fantasies" and James Ludwig who played key parts in "R.U.R." and "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" at Warburg College, will be making their debut on the WSU stage.

New freshmen Thespians appearing as folk-sungwing fundationalists in the memorable church revival meeting climax include Donna Nowak, John Griffith, Sandra Rayveth, Sherry Finney, Jane Lijstrand and Allan Glinski.

Season ticket holders are encouraged to exchange their coupons for tickets at the box office in the University Center.

Winona Concert Band Will Perform At WSU

The Winona State College Concert Band will present a concert at Wisconsin State University in the University Center, Mar. 1 at 8 p.m.

This concert will be the fourth on the band's Midwest winter tour of the Midwest under the direction of William Schmid. The concert will be given for the students of Wisconsin State University and the public is cordially invited to attend.

The concert will feature traditional and contemporary pieces ranging from Aaron Copland's "Variations on a Shaker Melody" to Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition." Other selections will include "Symphonie Suite" by Clifton Williams, "Canzona" by Peter Menin, "Military Symphony No. 2" by Gosses, and various marches by Sousa, Vaughn Williams, and Puccini.

William Schmid is a cum laude graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and a classical work for wind band, the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York. While attending Luther College he was the trumpet soloist on the 1961 European tour of the concert band. William Schmid has been the director of the WSC band for two years, and in addition also directs the Brass Ensemble.

Other concerts during the tour will be given at St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana; Lake Park High School, Roselle, Illinois; Ellis Junior High School, Elgin, Illinois; Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota; Mounds View High School, St. Paul, Minnesota; and Park High School, St. Paul Park, Minnesota.

Winona State College, one of five state colleges of Minnesota, is in the urban environment of Winona, a city of 26,000 on the Mississippi River. The College's full-time enrollment is 3,000. It offers B.A., B.S., and M.S. degrees in a variety of fields.

The College offers a major and minor in music. The concert band is part of this total music program. Other performing organizations include the Concert Choir, Madrigal Singers, Jazz Ensemble, Brass Ensemble and the Winona Symphony Orchestra.

The College is currently planning a multi-million dollar speech-music complex, which will soon be under construction.

'Discoveries' Featured At Planetarium

On Sunday, Feb. 26 at 3 p.m., James Leo will moderate a discussion on "Charles Messier and his Deep Space Discoveries" in the planetarium.

The discussion will concern the objects that Charles Messier found in the sky and descriptions of some of the more interesting objects he found and how these objects would appear through a moderate sized telescope or binoculars.

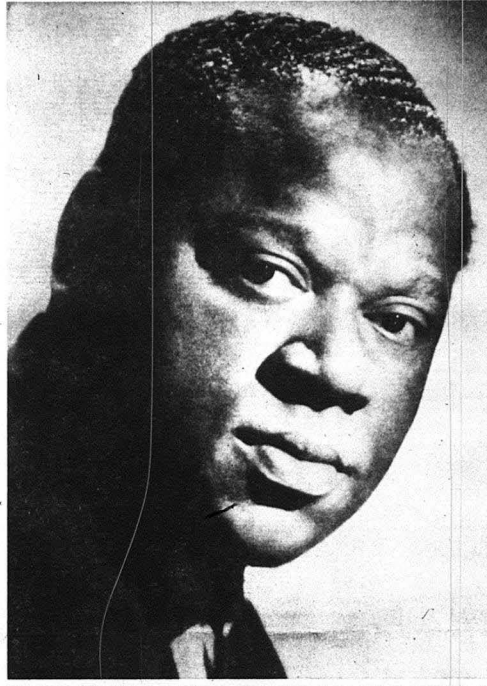

The planetarium is located on the second floor of the Science Building. This discussion is part of the Planetarium Lecture Series.

Ceesaman Gives Violin Recital

WSU-Stevens Point Music Department is presenting Virginia Ceesaman, violinist who will perform on Feb. 28 in the Wisconsin Room of the University Center, at 8 p.m.

The recital will include "Concerto in A Major" by Mozart, "Burmianische Volckes" by Bartok and Stravinsky's "Berceuse" from "Leoiseau de feu."

Mrs. Ceesaman will be accompanied by Rita Resch, pianist.

WILLIAM WARFIELD, well known bass and baritone, will be presented by the WSU Arts and Lectures Series on Sat., Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Forum Slated To Discuss Objectives In Vietnam

On Tuesday, Feb. 28, the Political Science Association will present a Forum on Vietnam in the Turner Room of the University Center.

The main theme of the forum will be a discussion of the basic American objectives and assumptions relative to our policy in Vietnam.

Jeff Barsch, Steve Madison, Pam Anderson, and Bob LaBrant will be the primary speakers.

Mr. Barsch, a senior from San Rafael, Calif., will present the view that a basic revolution of American foreign policy is needed for our present policy seems to be based on a paradox of morality.

Steve Madison, a sophomore from Green Bay, sees the need for a re-evaluation of the American position in Vietnam, but feels that the moral, political, and economic consequences of the war should be carefully considered.

Pam Anderson, a junior from Stevens Point, supports our role in Southeast Asia, as she is convinced that the National Liberation Front is a threat to all nations. She refutes the theory that Vietnam is a civil war, and instead regards the conflict would not end the conflict itself.

Bob LaBrant, a junior, from Whiting, Ind., will also support the present American position in Vietnam. Mr. LaBrant will illustrate the legitimacy of our foreign policy in Southeast Asia as it is being formulated today.

Questions and discussion from the floor will follow the formal speeches, and the speaker's stand will be available to anyone in the audience who might wish to discuss relevant issues.

It is hoped that the major questions and controversies of the war will be thoroughly discussed.

Fortune Gives Last Lecture

Dr. Michael Fortune, professor of English, will be the guest speaker in the Last Lecture Series on Monday, Feb. 27. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the University Center.

Originally from New York, Dr. Fortune has spent his first ten-hour flight training in preparation for later flights in world war II. After the war, he returned to Stevens Point to finish his education.

Dr. Fortune received his B.S. from Stevens Point, his M.A. from Minnesota, and his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Dr. Fortune's article "Camus" was recently published in the "French Review."

Marine Team Interviews WSU Students

The Marine Corps officer selection team will visit the WSU-Stevens Point campus on Feb. 28 and Mar. 1-2 to interview students interested in becoming commissioned officers.

The Minnesota selection team will be available in the University Center to provide information on opportunities in the Marine Corps, according to Captain R. M. Losse, selection officer.

At present the Marine Corps is offering programs leading to a commission to freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. Students must possess a "C" academic average, pass a one hour qualification test, be physically qualified and possess the leadership potential required of marine officer. Aviation programs are available for highly qualified students.

Women officer programs are also now open according to Captain Losse for junior and senior women.

Card Section Planned To Boost Spirit

Would you like to help boost school spirit? Here is your opportunity. A group is being organized to learn the words to the cheers and to back the cheerleaders at the ball games. This group would perform at all of the home football games and at most of the basketball games. They would also like to sponsor one trip to an away football game and one basketball game.

Anyone who is interested, call Mr. Freeman at extension 444 or go and see her in room 128B in the Fieldhouse. Approximately fifty people are needed to make this card section a success. If there are enough interested people, some work will be done yet this spring. This card section should be of tremendous value to the spirit of WSU as well as the players and students. If you are interested in boosting school spirit get in touch with Mrs. Freeman before Mar. 1.

A & L Series Presents Well-Known Baritone

Acclaimed around the world as one of the greatest vocal artists of today, William Warfield, the distinguished American bass-baritone, will sing here on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the Auditorium, under the Art and Lecture Series. Tickets are on sale at the Information Desk, University Center.

Achieving triumphs at home each season, he has toured the world extensively and has been hailed from the sophisticated capitals of Europe to the growing towns of modern Africa. Warfield is in every field open to a singer's art. He appeared in the 1961 Casals Festival and received rave reviews from critics in San Juan and New York for his role in the great Bach "St. Matthew Passion."

An experienced and gifted actor prior to his ideal concert debut in New York in 1950, Warfield enjoyed his great est success in the role of the indomitable cripple of Catfish Row in George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

On radio and television he has been featured on such popular shows as Ed Sullivan's, Johnny Carson's Tonight Show and the Bell Telephone Hour.

In the movies, too, William Warfield is a star. The most recent film version of the Jerome Kern-Edna Ferber classic, "Show Boat," boasted Warfield in the role of Joe, singing "Old Man River."

Born in West Helena, Arkansas, the eldest of five sons, his family moved to Rochester, New York, seeking better employment and educational opportunities. His father was a pastor with the Mount Vernon Baptist Church in Rochester.

From his earliest days, Warfield was a member of the church choir. During adolescence, he concentrated on playing the piano.

Siasefis, 550's Claim Beer Drinking Title

WSU Vets and Siasefis are hoping to bring national fame to this campus by challenging the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, for the title of beer drinking capital.

Last week, a dozen U of M students gained prominence and broke their previous record by downing 14,386 ounces of beer in 604 hours at a local pub.

A spokesman for the WSU organizations claims that it "wasn't a true test... it was a lot of beer, but over a long period of time."

Directing a letter to the University of Michigan, the other schools of higher learning that put claims on any... beer consuming title, the Vets and Siasefis said, "This title is unfounded in that their alleged championship was not founded in a competitive atmosphere. The very spirit of Americanism is founded on competition."

Inasmuch as Wisconsin is the beer capital of the United States, and inasmuch as this school of higher learning is the beer capital of Wisconsin, a hearty challenge is offered to all those who are in doubt.

The spokesman said competition would be under a mutually agreed set of rules.

The reason for the contest?

"It's getting kind of cold up here," said the spokesman. "We have to do something to liven things up."

They do not as yet know what amount of beer support will be forthcoming. "The Administration has not granted us their approval," a member of one of the organizations said.

One WSU student commented that he was looking forward to the excitement. Asked what he thought of their chances to set a new drinking record, he said "...with the vets it's a way of life and with the Sefis it's a religion."

Scuba Club Sponsors Florida Trip

Twenty-five people are wanted to take an Easter vacation trip to Florida for sunbathing and swimming for about nine days. Transportation and a motel on the beach will cost about $125 per person. This trip is sponsored by the Scuba Club.

Anyone interested should send their name and phone number to Mr. Echols, Geography Department, Science Building.

Debaters Participate In Illinois Tournament

WSU Debaters will head for DeKalb, Illinois Friday to participate in the Northern Illinois Husky Invitational Tournament, with two teams.

Dean Zimmerman, Gary McLaughlin, Patrick Fitzsimmons, Norbert Schickel and Bill Haring will make the trip. Fitzsimmons and Haring will enter Extemporaneous Speaking events.

Wins over Northern Illinois and Wayne State were reported by the debaters at the Oshkosh tournament held Feb. 9-10.

The Public Address team consisting of Fitzsimmons and McLaughlin presented a symposium debate to the Merrill, Wis. Rotary club Tuesday noon.

Many plaudits are being received by these teams for their public presentations of the national debate question. Mr. A.L. Sheldon of the Anti-go Rotary club has written the following to Mr. Rogers, advisor to the group: "Our Rotary club wishes to thank Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. Schickel for the excellent program our club enjoyed. Both fellows did an excellent job and it was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire group."

The speakers are scheduled to appear early in March before the student body of the Plainfield High School student body and the Wausau Rotary Club.

NORBERT SCHICKEL, senior history major, who acts as moderator, when WSU debaters present a symposium on the national debate question to community service clubs. Two public address teams are presently filling program engagements to Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs as a community service project. A team composed of Patrick Fitzsimmons and Gary McLaughlin spoke to the Rotary Club of Merrill, Wis., last Tuesday noon.

Seven Judge H.S. Debate Tournament

Seven instructors from WSU-Stevens Point took part in the judging of the annual sectional debate tournament of the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association held at WSU, Saturday, Feb. 11.

Serving as judges from WSU were: Dr. Fred Douglas, Glenn Rogers, Ayres McGrew, Speech department; Dr. Roland Trytten, Chemistry; Dr. Frederick Krempke, history and dean of learning resources; Norman Knutzen, professor emeritus in English; and Leland Burroughs, professor emeritus in English and speech. Other judges participating were from UW-Madison, Ripon College, Lakeland College (Sheboygan) and WSU-Eau Claire.

Approximately 124 debaters from 19 schools participated in the event which was held in the University Center.

THE POLYUM

Docile As Holsteins

Did you know that WSU men help support Associated Women Students? Ever wonder why you give money for the Men's Glee Club's annual trips throughout the nation? Ever gripe about the entertainment we bring in to WSU—why can't we afford a "big" name?

Though allocations are only one part of their job, Student Senate does control money you spend. Yet, only a handful of students ever visit the Senate meetings held weekly in the Center. Last fall, in the controversy over their representation—not one student, excluding the senators, came to the meeting, even though it was publicized. Few seem to care who controls the money they spend, if they are represented correctly, or if they or their group is being controlled by other students. They complain about how they, as students, are squelched by "Second Floor Main" and yet they show no interest in trying to make the Senate effective. It could be THE most important student organization on this campus. It could do more than act as an administrative—student liaison. Incredulously as it may seem, in some schools it's a student myth.

I wonder how many of you will come to their meeting this Thursday—they're going to talk about re-organizing, and the Reserve Street project. Oh well, I guess it's always easier to let them go on being ineffective while you go along complaining but never really acting, as docile as a herd of Holsteins.

A Point Well Taken

DOUBLE-TALK

Double-talk is the masterful art of not saying what you really mean. In other words it is the ability to make a statement that you really don't mean sound as if you really mean it. What I mean to say is that some people might get what you want to say but the people you are saying it to don't understand you. Well, they understand you, but they don't understand what you are actually saying.

So, now that that's all cleared up let me describe some examples of double-talk overheard over Winter Carnival. The first statement is what you hear, the second is what they really mean.

The bars will be a little crowded... Crowded! There will be a line stretching all the way back to Hyer.

Boy, those girls are rough out there in that Sadie Hawkins Race... They're going to kill those poor guys.

Wasn't all the snow and cold for Winter Carnival great?... Now that it's over maybe the temperature will get above zero.

Riding on our chariot will be fun... I would sure rather ride one than have to pull one.

That toboggan slide was fast... I never was so scared in my life.

If we don't win King and Queen I hope we win volleyball... Volleyball is worth 30 points. King and Queen 25 points.

Is there Open House Sunday?... Can I close my door if my girl comes up?

We had some hot coffee to keep us warm on the torch run... Some hot spiked coffee.

I'm certainly not going to have pancakes for breakfast tomorrow... I never want to see another 1/2:52:17 pancake in my life.

I just suppose you want to go to the Climax Program now that the Sandpipers cancelled... I sure would like my $1 back.

Could you postpone the test from Friday until next week?... If you don't postpone that test you're going to be pelted by 35 snowballs the second you step outside.

I just broke an ear off our ice sculpture... I think I broke an arm off but at this stage who can tell?

That Pointer Extra was certainly unusual... It's not too often you see an entire side of a newspaper blank.

Contestant

Nauseating

Dear Editor,

Could someone please tell me the meaning of such a non-worthy organization as the Phi Sigma Epsilon?

I don't suppose you want to go to the Climax Program now that the Sandpipers cancelled... I sure would like my $1 back.

Could you postpone the test from Friday until next week?... If you don't postpone that test you're going to be pelted by 35 snowballs the second you step outside.

I just broke an ear off our ice sculpture... I think I broke an arm off but at this stage who can tell?

That Pointer Extra was certainly unusual... It's not too often you see an entire side of a newspaper blank.

actions slightly nauseated everyone around him... Not only was the crowd observing the "games" shocked by this "gen-erally" action, but those sitting around him that were in the contest even find it hard to continue eating their pancakes after witnessing such a "noteworthy" performance of the Phi Sig.

I am sure there were many who were thinking, "gosh, I'm expecting a pleasurable evening! only to find complete disgust! Is this type of 'extra' activity to be expected in the future years, or are certain organizations and people on campus going to grow up?"

Questions Albertson's Book Request

Dear Editor,

Last week's article concerning President Albertson's trip home and your complementary editorial have disturbed us to no end.

Without questioning the basic reason of why in the world our President is in Vietnam in the first place, we would like to question why he should ask Stevens Point students to provide textbooks for Vietnamese at $10 a clip. Perhaps it is a worthy cause (we said perhaps) but we can't help feeling the entire policy would add up to much more favorable publicity than educational worth.

The eye of the public would enjoy such headlines as "Students Back President in Vietnam" and "President Organizes Book Rally." We're also sure Mel Laird's on campus publicity office could use those head lines.

We can't help thinking that if our President really wanted 300 books he could have donated his round trip plane fare for the three day trip home. We're sure that would have bought a good share of the books. Just for the heck of it let's keep track of the number of more trips home our President makes and see how many more books could have been bought.

Statistics have proven that the majority of suicides are committed within a three-month period following an emotional crisis of some sort, or within a three-month period following a previous suicide attempt. Any person who attempts or threatens suicide should be taken seriously, and should be watched carefully for at least a three-month period of time.

Trained help should be given to these people, but often trained help is unavailable, and a kind word and a few minutes of your time may be more helpful than we realize. Granted, we may have previous commitments, but is a few minutes of your time really too much to ask, especially if it could really help? We may not know the person, but we know Try it sometime.

You Want To Give Them All You've Got And More—3 D's

By Ann Kuzal and Mary Lou Kentmister

The Three D's, Dick Duane, and Denis performed Sunday night at the WSU fieldhouse marking the conclusion of the 1967 Winter Carnival.

Breathless and excited after their performance, Duane, writer and coordinator of comedy in the act talked about their own music while still in high school. "We both went to Brigham Young University, and that's where we picked up Denis. He was the best voice among the three of us." Dick is a prolific song writer, and he always calls the music for poetry.

The Three D's sang in college under a Student Program Bureau. "We all graduated too," Duane said. Dick has a degree in speech and hearing. Duane in journalism, and Denis in international relations.

Duane seemed to relish the question "why do you continue to sing when you have completed your college education?" He laughed, told his arms across his chest, and seemed to expound a philosophy. "We think we accomplish something. We have something to say so we say it and if it makes people happy then we're happy too."

The Three D's have all done missionary work. Their attitude toward this kind of work may help to explain the latter statement. "We have something to say so we say it and if it makes people happy then we're happy too."

The Three D's philosophy was expressed again in their attitude toward their audience. "As soon as you see them and obligated to you feel so indebted and want to give them all you've got and more. There's always that fear of being too square, especially when you're in front of a college audience."

"That to make an audience happy you have to really work it and it spend energy. That's why Dick loses up to five pounds during a single show," Duane said.

The Three D's have performed in Japan, Korea, and Okinawa, and in various colleges and nightclubs across the nation. They have performed 400 shows and have made two record albums for Capitol in three years.

They prefer the college audience. They agree that "an act has to be listened to. Students are sharp and discriminating and they let you know whether they agree or disagree."

They performed in Los Vegas, but "all the audience was noise. They kept saying 'play louder, louder.' I guess they wanted the music to reach the last crap table," Denis said.

Although they prefer college audiences, the Three D's enjoyed performing at the Hungry Eye. "This is a club where people don't just create the illusion of entertainment."

The Three D's performed for the first time at the "audience" where the "audiences were rougher than we were used to. Sometimes if girls were in our show guys would crawl in light up stage."

Generally the troops were respected and the Three D's enjoyed the show. The Three D's maintained that they don't pretend to be "hip" policy was to "support the men who are over there."

There are all their married men who have their homes established in Oregon, Utah, and Idaho. The Three D's are a small town north of Salt Lake City. "We do every part of family life. That's the only part about being that we don't like—we have to be away so much."

Leisure time is scarce for the Three D's, but they still find time to relax. Basketball and golfing equipment is common paraphernalia on all their tours.

All three work out a basketball court whenever they can. Dick and Dennis both golf and play tennis. Dick likes to ski. Dick owns a jeep and drives up into the mountains whenever he has money.

The Three D's have a busy schedule to look forward to in the future. Come April they will be entering Cornell University. Duane is in Brazil for one and one-half years.

After an hour of seeing bushy-faced contestants stand listlessly on stage, the concluding entertainment of the Winter Carnival was presented.

Biff Rose, the young man who was such a hit with Glenn Yarborough, opened the show. For the people who hadn't seen his previous performance, Mr. Rose did a tremendous job. The 3 D's were entered; he has a (nearly) relaxed style to his comedy. However, to many, Biff Rose was a disaster. He knew that he was playing to virtually the same audience that he had performed to just two months earlier but Mr. Rose still did relatively the same material as was heard the last time. The fact that he isn't as funny the second time you hear them. His performance lacked the spontaneity and originality that made him such a hit before.

The 3 D's were at the Fieldhouse Sunday night, too. That is one of the kindest things I can find to say about them. The Three D's were a trio of pipers and Chad Mitchell, everyone thought the 3 D's would be a great duet; for my money, they were.

Starting the show with "Sunshine, Lollipops, and Rainbows" and "Build a Mountain" the singers showed great potential. Their voices blended into an amiable harmony while the words were somewhat less than ecstatic. Asked what he does when he senses that the audience is unresponsive, he whistled a reply, "I'm a bomb."

Rose, who writes all his own material, says he doesn't care for long stints on the road, college hopping, and one-night stands. Though he has done a couple of Merv Griffin shows and a few other things, his television experience is rather limited. "Pablito," he said, "is a comedian, not a singer. Television is all candy and censors." He has no use for escapism. He is somewhat of a crusader, salting forth on the stage to say what must be said. Biff Rose does not measure his success by the size of his name on the posters or the magnitude of his tax bracket. "I'm a success," he says, "because I'm happy."

Saturday's Games Crawl Students Out Into Cold

Coming out in weather that was classified by one student as "too darn cold," student organizations challenged each other Saturday in the Games section of the Winter Carnival competition.

Under the direction of Ron Rutella, Winter Carnival Games chairman, the games went on most of the day behind the Fieldhouse.

Winners in the mens division of the "tag-of-war" were the Sigma Tau Gamma; second, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Neale Hall, third place. In the women's division, winners were: Alpha Sigma Alpha, first place; Alpha Phi, second; and Neale Hall, third place. Points awarded in this contest were 15 points, second place 10 points, and third place 5 points.

To win the "tag-of-war," an eight member team must move their competitors approximately 10 feet within a 15 minute time period.

With the men using a medicine ball and the women using a soft ball, the seven member teams played volleyball with a 15 minute game limit. In this game, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Tau Gamma, and Smith Hall placed first, second and third, respectively.

Their bits about a bullfight and the long-lost love of design musical instruments was a thoroughly uninspiring exhibition of misdirection.

The proceeded with the pep and vitality of a pregnant llama to a song called "The Ugly Tree" that lyrically was a disaster. The two pieces after this were probably the best of the show. Their version of "The Ugly Tree" was a "Fool" was quite well done. These men have no command of their instruments, but the arrangement of this song was so nice that one tended to overlook it. Then, they did "The Charge of the Light Brigade" which was undoubtedly the best of their poetic efforts.

They picked a well known tune, "Marie," to close the show which was followed by thunderous applause. Now I have seen Peter, Paul and Mary concerts, and Andres Segovia and Van Cliburn concerts, and I have seen Bob Dylan, Pete Seeger in concert. All of these people are more talented and much better performers than the 3 D's, and none of them got the ovation that the 3 D's got. This indeed was a great show.

It was lucky for all involved that the audience was in a pleasant, uncritical state of mind. They paid two dollars to see this show and they were going to like it no matter how bad it was. Granted, when the 3 D's sang together it sounded good but only about one-third of their act was singing. It seems to me that they would be much better off sticking to something they do more than to the comedy and poetry.

A trophy was awarded to JoAnne Dobson, and independent off-campus resident who finished in total of 25 pancakes. The 2nd highest in the women's division was Roach Hall's Helen Schwartz with 30. Scores for the women's relay and dance hall teams include Roach 30, Delzell 31, and Neale 79. The men's relay teams include Hyer 127, Smith 125, Baldwin 103, and Pray-Sims 85.

The Alpha Phi Sorority awarded the trophy for a high total of 55 pancakes. Alpha Phi Sorority, second with 55, Psi Delta Psi was 68 and Delta Zeta 51.

The trophy award for men's teams went to Sigma Tau Gamma with 133, 2nd was Sigma Phi Epsilon with 103, and 3rd was Sigma Phi 101.

Julie Farrar of Neale Hall pulled 61.50 min. to win 1st place in the women's division. Delzell Hall's Diana Dietzman was 2nd with 46.10 min.

The winning men's team representing Psi Sigma Epsilon was Peter Kahler with 67.30 min. and Jerry Schmidt 34 min. They totaled 101.30 min. Baldwin Hall placed 2nd with 112 min.

the men were Sigma Phi Epsilon, second with 103 points, and Neale Hall, third place. Points awarded in this contest were 15 points, second place 10 points, and third place 5 points.

The shovels race was won by AKL in the men's division and Sigma Tau Gamma in the women's. The object of the game was to use a six man team, two racing at a time, one pulling the shovel with the other sitting on the shovel, and to cover a distance as quickly as possible without having the contestant fall off the shovel. Sigma Phi took second with Sigma Tau Gamma and Delta Sigma Phi taking third place in the men's division. Neale Hall and Alpha Sigma Alpha took second and third in the women's division. Points awarded were 15, 10 and 5 depending on placement.

The shovels contest proved amusing to many of the spectators when the women's contestants were expected to carry the best of the men involved in the competition. Limited to a two-man team, the contestants aimed to cut through a log in the shortest length of time. Roach Hall and Delta Zeta placed second and third in the women's division. Delta Sigma Phi placed first in this manner for the men.

Stinner and AKL tied for third in the men's division. 15 points were awarded for first place, 10 for second and 5 for third place.

In the afternoon came the race in which an eight man relay team hoisted across a starting line down around a marker and back. Winning for the WSU Winter Carnival's pipe smoking and pancake eating contests were held last Tuesday, Feb. 14 in the Allen Center.

The winner of the mens' division in pipe smoking was Peter Kahler of Psi Sigma Epsilon. Bob Frandy won the women's division.

The Neale Hall team took 1st place in the 2nd's relay of petition. 125.40 min. was counted between Julie Farrar 61.50 min. Nancy Gustaf 30.10 min. They totaled 91.60 min. Delzell Hall was 2nd with 100.43 min.

3 D's, Rose Perform Phi's, Tau's Win

Alpha Phi and Sigma Tau Gamma walked off with the top trophies this year's Winter Carnival climax program, held Sunday night in the University Fieldhouse.

Beginning at 7 p.m. with the band, Judging, Paul Gruenwald, Winter Carnival committee, was the initial event.

The board contest had six categories. Winners for the "longest" beard were from first through third (Don Schaefer, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Gary Jackson, Sigma Tau Gamma), and Art Stornen, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Possessing the "most original" beard was Jerry Finch, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Larry Cruisers, Sigma Tau Gamma; and Pete Keefe, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The "handsomest VaDyke" were won by Kent Wilson, Delta Sigma Phi; Berland Meyer, Tau Kappa Epsilon; and Rick Manuel, Sigma Phi.

"Goatee" growers included first place, Ed Rochette, Sigma Phi Epsilon; second, Mike Schlusser, Sigma Tau Gamma, third.

Awards for the "fullest" beard went to Gary Jackson, Sigma Tau Gamma, taking first; Don Schaefer, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Ken Jaeger, Sigma Tau Gamma.

And for the "scrubbiest," the awards went to Kent De Rose, Sigma Phi Epsilon, with runners-up Dale Wahlers, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and John Griffin, Sigma Tau Gamma.

First place in the beard contest was worth 10 points, second 6, and third—3 points. A total of 50 points was possible for total participation.

Deadman was then introduced. He expressed his gratitude to all those who helped make "Snow Blast" a success. He, in turn, introduced Miss Rose to whom the year's carnival was dedicated.

"Miss Winter Carnival" was led up to the stage, sporting a broken arm. Miss Roach quipped that "a lot of people with a lot of sense" had told her not to involve herself in the rigors of the carnival.

Then the overall competition judging was announced with Sigma Tau Gamma and Alpha Phi taking first places. Larry Cruisers and Kay Post came to the stage to collect the trophy for their respective organizations. The Alpha Phi's, having won three consecutive years, are now allowed to keep their trophy.

Following Sigma Tau Gamma in men's overall was Sigma Phi Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon. Alpha Sigma Alpha and Roach Hall were runners-up to Alpha Phi.

Students crowded the warming house at Fiversburg Thursday night, wandering in and out of it, trying to keep warm during the Winter Carnival games.

Early in the evening, the students began to make use of toboggan runs. Demonstrations and rides were given on snowmobiles with the students. The students began to make use of toboggan runs. Demonstrations and rides were given on snowmobiles with the students.

At 8 p.m. the men assembled for the chariot race in a variety of vehicles ranging from the Pray-Sims chariot to the Sig Pi novelty wagon. Pulled by a four-man team and carrying a rider the chariot circled in an area designated as their "circus maximums," making occasional "pit stops" for a change of horses.

Delta Sigma Phi won the race in three minutes and eight seconds, gaining 25 points. Tau Kappa Epsilon was second with 15 points with the time of three minutes and 14 seconds. Taking third for 10 points with the time of three minutes and 18 seconds was Sigma Phi Epsilon. Five points was awarded to each group who entered the race.

down, since she was here at school, but rather, had come up. She described herself as a "young lady who refuses to grow older than 30 graciously" and boasted of being the only living person who knew every president of WSU.

Then Winter Carnival king and queen, Ken Peterson and Barb Wheeler, sponsored by Pray-Sims Hall, were introduced along with their runners-up—Dan Smith and Carol Peterson (Hyer Hall), and Bill Liberty and Sharon Nassa (Tau Kappa Epsilon).

Queen Barb's compliments to Mark and his committee of the Carnival and then she and King Ken announced the winners of various events, awarding trophies to first place winners.

Winners of the games were: men's division—1. Sigma Phi Epsilon, 2. Sigma Tau Gamma, 3. Alpha Phi; women's division—1. Alpha Sigma Alpha, 2. Alpha Phi, 3. Sigma Tau Gamma.

The winners for the ice sculpting were: men's division—Sigma Tau Gamma taking first with 40 points awarded for first place, 45 for second, 30 for third, and five for participation. Art Masshardt was chairman of the event.

In Winter Carnival competition between fraternities, Sigma Tau Gamma placed first, Sigma Phi Epsilon second, and Tau Kappa Epsilon third. Men's independent competition was won by Pray-Sims Hall, Hyer and Smith came in second and third, respectively.

Women's Greek tie went to Alpha Phi, followed by Alpha Sigma Alpha, and Sigma Tau Gamma. Roach Hall—first place, Neale Hall—second.

Rose Hates To Leave Anyone Unoffended

By Mike Dominowski

Canadian Biff Rose logged his second appearance at WSU-SP Sunday night. Rose first appeared here earlier in the school year with singer Glenn Yarborough and again at the climax program of this year's Winter Carnival. He insisted that this was the first time he had ever been asked to return anywhere and citing the aplenty Bruce. From these and other artists, he has evolved his own distinctive style ("I don't like to leave anyone unoffended," he relates to "open out" and take a sugar-coated approach to life and the business of being funny. "I like to talk about what's happening." Rose, religion, politics, ethics, sex, LSD, fraternities, and college cafeterias all are treated with the same gleeful irreverence.

Rose, who describes himself as a sort of leftist pacifist, humor is somewhat less than kill every "sacred cow" he encounters without a tinge of remorse, bitterness, or malice. "I like hate anyone," he declares.

Sometimes, he admits, audience response to his brand of humor is somewhat less than ecstatic. Asked what he does when he senses that the audience is unresponsive, he whistled a reply, "I'm a bomb."

Rose, who writes all his own material, says he doesn't care for long stints on the road, college hopping, and one-night stands. Though he has done a couple of Merv Griffin shows and a few other things, his television experience is rather limited. "Pablito," he said, "is a comedian, not a singer. Biff Rose does not measure his success by the size of his name on the posters or the magnitude of his tax bracket. "I'm a success," he says, "because I'm happy."

WSU's Accept 75% H.S. Grads

The doors of the nine Wisconsin state universities are wide open to three of every four high school graduates in Wisconsin, the Board of Regents office in Madison reports. Many of the others can get in, too, by proving that they can do college-level work.

Payment In Return

Yesterday —
I owe you nothing, memories shall not hold me
in debt.
I will not be tied down by dreams which come in the night.

Today —
I owe you only time,
do not ask me for love,
do not hold me
still.
Do not let my hands
or bind my mouth.
I will not refrain from speaking out against you.

Tomorrow —
I owe you hope.
I must give you a chance.
Like a baby
I must guide you.
Looking ahead, I must prepare.

Come Cruise

I am a charlot
I am not Hypocrits
I am not the sun
I do not swing high or low (consistently)
I carry crossbars (occasionally)
To support my head (throw-backable too)
I bounce gently from Bacchanalia
To baccalaureate
Bend to climb up

I Had A Thought

I had a thought,
that thought was black,
It went away starving,
and never came back.

I had a thought,
I believe it was red,
It was a spirited thought,
born dead.

I had a thought,
I was told was white,
It stood in rows
ready to fight.

I had a thought,
the thought was why,
In my living garden
all my flowers die.

Unguarded Moment

You entered my heart,
Like a thief in the night;
In an unguarded moment,
Silently your love warmed me,
Burning Englishly to the depths;
Of my once barren soul.
Blindly I clung to you,
Not ready to accept your love;
Yet denying to free myself of you.
My need of you was greater,
Than any I had ever known;
And quietly my heart accepted you,
In an unguarded moment.

In The Night

There are birds
which fly in the night,
in darkness — out of sight.
Then one day
when time is right into the day they'll make their flight.

In the sun
under the Asium light, they'll speak of things they saw in the night.

You'll be afraid your eyes will close their sight, from the truths which are learned in the night.

Climate, Types Of Food Puzzle Etim Ukpo

— By Diana Lamillotti —

The city of Uyo, located in the Uyo Province in eastern Nigeria is the home of one of WSU's foreign students, Etim Ukpo. Etim, 21, has been in this country three years and is a junior, majoring in Speech with a minor in Library Science.

Etim was encouraged to come to the U. S. to study by Americans he knew in Nigeria. He chose Stevens Point on the advice of other Nigerian students that had attended school here.

After arriving here, he found his most difficult problem was adjusting to the climate. He was completely unprepared for the extremes in temperature in the midwest. In Nigeria, during the dry season the average temperature is 70 degrees. He found it very difficult to get used to the very hot and humid summers and severely cold winters of Stevens Point.

His impressions of American people are very favorable. He has stayed with many families in Wisconsin and has been accepted by both the students and their parents. He also likes American food, but feels that the names attached to some, such as the "hot dog" and "black cow," can cause confusion and bewilderment to the unsuspecting newcomer in this country.

Etim enjoys travelling and has done some both in Nigeria and in the United States. In the States he has been to New York City, Boston, Chicago, and parts of Texas. While in high school in Nigeria he was chosen by the NMBK to travel throughout Nigeria in order to become acquainted with the various customs within the country.

Although English is the common language in Nigeria, Etim comments, it is a "pigeon" English. English words are used, but they do not follow what we would consider proper grammatical forms. There are also various Nigerian dialects spoken. In fact, several dialects may be used in one tribe alone.

Etim enjoys tennis, dancing and soccer. Soccer he considers his favorite and he played it a great deal in high school. He regrets that he doesn't have more chances to

After graduating from Stevens Point, he will work for his master's degree before returning to his country. He plans to secure a foreign relations position, representing Nigeria in another country or some type of administrative post, perhaps, a job with the Nigerian Senate.

Etim feels that his studying abroad will help him to gain an understanding of many different types of people and the knowledge necessary to deal with them.

SCHOLARSHIP IN REED & BARTON'S

"SILVER OPINION COMPETITION"

During the months of February and March, Reed and Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarships totaling $2500 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

W.S.U. - Stevens Point has been selected to enter this competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $300 scholarship; Third Grand Award is a $250 scholarship; Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Awards are $200 scholarships; and Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth are $100 scholarships. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $50.00.

In the 1966 "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrants simply list the three best combinations of sterling, china, and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Scholarships and awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Miss Ann Marie Kneuppel and Miss Signe Porter are the Student Representatives who are conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at W.S.U. - Stevens Point. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact Miss Ann Marie Kneuppel at 215 Roach Hall or Miss Signe Porter at 409 Roach Hall for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the Competition rules. They also have samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American taste.

STUDENTS DANCED to music provided by three bands at the Kick-Off Dance, Sunday evening, Feb. 12 in the Fieldhouse.

PETE KAHLER, chairman of Torch Running, hands the torch for Winter Carnival to Bronson LaFollette, attorney general of Wisconsin, as Mark Deadman (left), Winter Carnival chairman, looks on.

TORCH RUNNERS, led by Dave Way, (holding the torch) come down the Capitol steps in Madison ready to embark on their trip to WSU-Stevens Point.

STUDENTS WORKED until late at night sculpturing these hunks of ice into the figures which were judged Friday afternoon, Feb. 17. The sculptures were on the lawn in front of Old Main.

son's absence; and Jon LeDue.

COMPETITORS IN THE Legs Contest, held Monday, Feb. 13 in the Frank Lloyd Wright Room, entered one of two categories: hairiest legs, or least hairiest legs.

CATEGORIES IN THE HAIRDO CONTEST were displayed by hairdos such as the ones shown here. The categories were: hairdo you would choose if only one were possible for both the Prehistoric Age and the year 2000; hairdo you would choose to impersonate Little Orphan Annie; and hairdo you would wear if you were visiting from Mars.

THE TOBOGGANING PARTY was enjoyed by many, including this couple as they come down the hill. Other events held Thursday evening, Feb. 16, at Iverson Park were: Chariot Races and a snowmobile demonstration by W. Knaack of Manawa, Wis.

PETE KAHLER, chairman of the Torch Running, puffing on his pipe, had the winning time for the men's division with 67:30 min. He was representing Phi Sigma Epsilon.

IT ALMOST SEEMS as if these cooks were preparing a feast for Paul Bunyan as they make pancakes for all the eaters in the Pancake Eating Contest, held Tuesday evening, Feb. 14 at the Allen Center.

DICK, DUANE, AND DENIS, known as the 3 D's, provided entertainment when they appeared at the Climax Program, Sunday evening, Feb. 19 at the Fieldhouse.

- The state university system has 2,928 faculty members and 1,426 classified civil service employees at the 11 state universities and the branch campus at Rice Lake, said Robert A. Alesch, Madison, system personnel director.
- On a system basis, including administrators, 31 percent of the faculty members have doctoral degrees.
- Payrolls at the State Universities include the following number of faculty members and classified civil service employees: Eau Claire, 335 and 167; La Crosse, 292 and 153; Oshkosh, 508 and 204; Platteville, 280 and 116; River Falls, 255 and 97; Stevens Point, 340 and 150; Stout (at Menomonie), 250 and 183; Superior, 197 and 92; Whitewater, 471 and 202; Wisconsin State University at Stevens Point, 340 and 150.
- Stout has a larger proportion of civil service staff members because they operate their own food services. At the other universities the food is prepared and served by commercial firms on contract.

Stevens Point Named After George Stevens

It is not known whether the early French explorers, fur traders and missionaries ever visited the area within what is now Portage County during the French regime (1634-1763). At least there is no historical record of it.

Later, in the 1830's, John B. DuBay established a trading post twelve miles above Stevens Point on the Wisconsin River. This post became familiar not only to those who settled in the area but to the lumbermen up and down the Wisconsin River.

It was not until after the treaty between the United States and the Indians was signed in 1836 that permanent white settlement began.

George Stevens made his initial survey in 1838. The following year, with two ox teams loaded with supplies and accompanied by his wife, he and his Illinois lumberman (Stevens) again made the rugged trip from Fort Winnebago to Stevens Point.

WSU Grads Receive Commissions As Officers

A 1965 graduate of WSU, Miss Virginia Haas, Milladore, Wis., has been commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from Officer's Training School (OTS) at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Miss Haas earned her B.S. degree in mathematics at WSU in 1963. A graduate of Saint Mary's Academy, Prairie du Chien, the lieutenant attended Officer's College before coming to WSU.

Selected for OTS through a competitive exam, she is being assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex. for training as a management analysis officer.

Coffehouse Opens As A Hole In The Wall

Have you ever written a poem, a song, or written a play? Do you dig folk, jazz, or rock and roll? Do you enjoy frank, open, and honest discussions of what's happening? If so, the Hole-in-the-Wall is a coffee house, a meeting place, or whatever you want it to be. It is a campus oriented place to get together and discuss the issues. Located at 2224 College St. (north side of Nelson Hall), the coffee house has found a home in the basement of the Canterbury house. Opening night is Thursday, Feb. 23, the action beginning at 7 p.m. and lasting until 11 p.m. or so. And thus it will be every Thursday, Friday, and Sunday.

WSU's Offer Varied Grad Programs

The nine Wisconsin State Universities this year are offering a total of 38 graduate programs in special areas of study, 14 more than they offered last year. The Board of Regents office in Madison reports.

The universities enrolled 1,662 graduate students for the 1968-69 academic year.

State University students now can earn master's degrees in education in the following special fields:

- 1. Agriculture, art, audio-visual communications, business education, communication disorders, counseling and guidance, home economics, industrial education, junior high education, mental retardation, music, physical education, reading, school administration, school business management, school psychology, services, school supervision, specialist in education, teaching of emotionally disturbed, vocational education.

The average male American at age 45 can expect to live another 27.1 years, while the average Congolese at 45 has a life expectancy of only 18.5 years.

Chuck Brownlow Chosen Smith Man-Of-Week

Chuck Brownlow was chosen as Smith Hall's first Man-of-the-Week for this year. The joint committee of Smith Hall Council plus the Resident Hall Staff, who elected him to the position, based this recognition on general academic achievement and service to the Hall.

Chuck served last semester as Smith Hall Council vice-president and is presently serving as student assistant in second floor west. He is also on the Student-Faculty Committee for Athletics and was Smith Hall's nominee for Winter Carnival King.

Brownlow, a junior and honor student, has been a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, is from Wilda Rose, Wisconsin.

NSF Stipends Aid Students

Biology departments of the Wisconsin State Colleges are assisting in awarding of $300 National Science Foundation stipends to enable undergraduate students to study field biology at Pigeon Lake Field Station this summer.

Program details have been supplied to the departments by the Board of Regents office in Madison.

The National Science Foundation recently authorized the grant of $900 to support the six week field biology program to be conducted at Pigeon Lake from June 25 to Aug. 3. Stipends of $300 are available for 32 students who will be juniors or seniors next fall.

Most students applying for the stipends are expected to be biology majors who have good grade point averages and who plan to become high school teachers of biology. Some students not planning teaching careers may be accepted. Interested students should notify the biology department.

Director for the program will be Dr. Clyde Erashier, WSU-Superior.

Pigeon Lake Field Station is midway between Hayward and Ashland in the Chequamegon National Forest, near Drummond. The grounds border Pigeon Lake. Buildings include classroom - laboratory building, recreation hall, mess hall and single room cabins for 32 to eight students.

Smokey Bear

has saved enough trees to reforest the Midwest!

Since Smokey Bear's forest fire prevention campaign began in 1942, he's helped save over 272 million acres of prime timber.

That's a fine record, but the job's not over and never will be. Smokey still needs your help. Nine out of ten forest fires are caused by careless people who forget Smokey's ABC's: Always hold matches till cold. Be sure to drown all campfires, stir the ashes, and drown them again. Crush all smokes dead out.

Please! Only you can prevent forest fires

DR. MAURICE E. PERRET of the geography department is one of the members of the editorial board of a newly-released Swiss atlas.

Dr. Perret, Geography Professor Serves As Editor Of Atlas

Dr. Maurice E. Perret, associate professor of geography, was a member of the editorial committee for the newly-published Atlas of Switzerland, prepared by the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology, Zurich, and recently received by the Learning Resources Center.

The atlas, a new, major geographic work on Switzerland, has been in progress for the last 30 years. It will be published in nine installments, each including about ten large, multicolored map plates. The first installment, now at the library, was published in the fall of 1965. The second was published last fall.

Dr. Perret explained that the work was originally begun by the Association of Swiss Geographical Societies, but, because of lack of funds, was taken over by the Swiss government.

Dr. Perret was a member of a five-man advisory board who supervised the project.

When completed, the atlas will consist of 86 large-scale double plates containing more than 200 colored maps including for the first time, the physical and socio-economic features of Switzerland in one work. Employing the most advanced cartographic techniques, the study presents a comprehensive analysis of the natural resources, the historical development and the present-day demographic, economic and social structures of Switzerland.

In accordance with the language structure of Switzerland, the title panels are in German and French and the explanatory texts will also be given in Italian. Later, the text will also be published in English, Dr. Perret said.

For compilation of map contents, the editors were able to secure the cooperation of numerous government agencies, research and educational institutions, professional associations and individual scholars.

Dr. Perret himself prepared the data for one of the maps, not yet published. The work will depict Swiss emigration and Swiss living in foreign countries.

Dr. Perret, who joined the WSU faculty in 1962, is a native of La Chaux-de-Fonds, Switzerland. He attended the University of Neuchâtel and the University of Zurich, and lived and taught for a time in Berlin. He completed his M.A. at the University of California, Berkeley, in 1942, and during the war, worked for the International Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland. Returning to Switzerland, he completed his doctorate at the University of Lausanne.

Other Institutions

By RICH HARRIS

On many campuses across the U.S., casual student gushing or cursing about teaching is being replaced by sophisticated questionnaires. Some of these methods even utilize computers. The University of North Carolina, for one, which help to diagnose teaching ailments.

An evaluation system — which can help improve teaching — is feared by some faculty members, who see their prerogatives being abridged by the rating plans.

It is faculty attitudes and perhaps opposition which very often determine the method of evaluation.

At schools like Antioch, where student participation is encouraged, the surveys are conducted confidentially by the administration and the results are used by deans to encourage better teaching.

Schools with a more traditional orientation like Harvard, lean toward student conducted polls with the results published. These polls depend upon student pressure to bring about change. The publishers of the Harvard "Confidential Guide to Courses" claims success. Enrollment figures usually plummet when a course is planned, they say, and several opinions had reviews have made some courses so unpopular that they were discontinued.

The point remains though, that getting a professor's attention does not always assure victory. Failure to realize that further steps are necessary has been a stumbling block for some surveys. At the University of North Dakota, for instance, each professor was neatly analyzed on a small graph. The scheme seemed good, but no room for suggested improvements was provided.

An indication of student interest and pressure on this campus was provided at registration time. Instructor's names were listed with their class section number. A great rush and pressure was evident in the many students who wanted to sign up for certain courses and completely shunned others. To say that they were only looking for easy teachers misses the point for there are just not many of that type. What was working in effect was teacher evaluation in an unstructured, informal, grapevine method. The next step then is to formalize the process and make it of wider use to all students.

Lawrence Team Downs Point Tankers, 53-42

The Vikings of Lawrence University in Appleton defeated the Pointer swimming team on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 18, 53-42 at Appleton.

Leading the Pointers was Rob Simkins who set a pool record in winning the 200 yard backstroke with a time of 2:15.2.

Grapplers Bow To Plattville

By Walt Trutenko

The Stevens Point grapplers absorbed a crushing 31-3 lashing at Plattville Saturday, Feb. 18. With this defeat, Coach Wayne Gorell's inexperienced squad's record fell to 5-5 for the season.

The next outing for the Pointers will be this weekend when they host Eau Claire at 4 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 24 and 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 25 against Whitewater.

The one only Pointer able to win the Flattewich match was Kuukama sophomore, Dan Bay, 5-4.

Wrestling Summary: 125 pounds: Cullen Carey (P) won by forfeit.

130 — Howard Williams (P) pinned John Malmstadt in 3:26.

If you like electronics and people — consider becoming an IBM Customer Engineer

We need personally motivated individuals to become Customer Engineers. To make IBM's data processing systems for our customers in many fields: business, education, research, government, etc. You'll be working at IBM's service representatives to our customers.

That's a challenging job. It requires an inquiring mind and continuing education. In fact, Customer Engineers advance more than a month each in IBM education program. No chance of boredom in a fast-moving industry like that!

What do you need? A mechanical aptitude, plus a good knowledge of electronics. A minimum of two years technical education in electronics, experience in a military or civilian job, and a knack for meeting and getting along with people. If you qualify, you may find yourself in a fascinating job with lots of built-in educational benefits.

So you'll get to be President of U.S. Copper two years later.

What's your hurry? You've got a whole lifetime ahead of you.

Plenty of time to work and make money and own a house and belong to a club and buy insurance and be a big success or a small success or not and have a cardiogram once a year and cut out polyunsaturated fats while you're trying to nurse an ulcer and watch your chest sink slowly into your belly and do the rest of the kind of things that most people end up doing even if they don't plan on it.

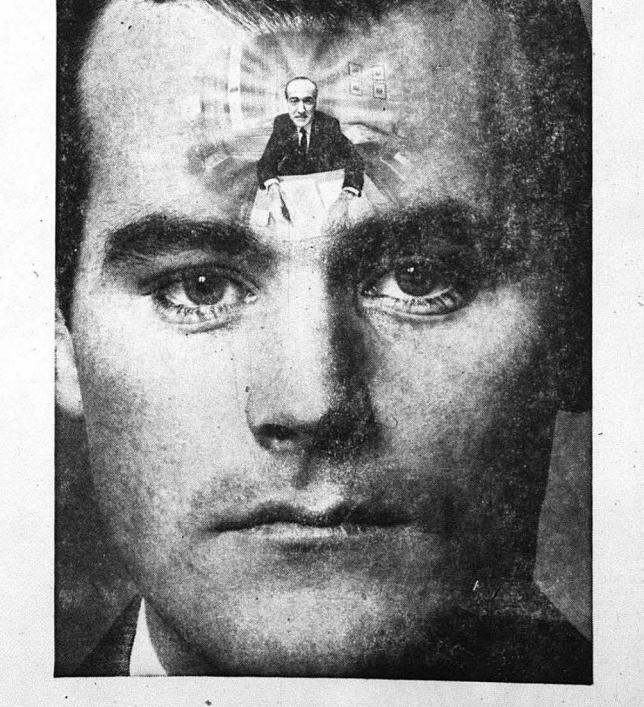

What's your hurry? You're only young once. And that once is now. And now is the time, probably the only time you'll have a chance to do something you don't have to do. Something out of the pattern.

Something far and on your own and away from the person you are and the life you've lived. Something full of doing things maybe you never would have or could have full of seeing things you never would have seen unless you stood there. Something like joining the Peace Corps.

What's your hurry? You know everything you want to do will still be here to do in a couple of years. The only thing you don't know is what a couple of years in the Peace Corps will do for you.

Maybe it'll help you get to be President of U.S. Copper faster. Maybe when you get there it'll help you be better. Or maybe it'll help you find out you don't want to be President of U.S. Copper at all.
