Glee Club honors Knutzen after 32 years of service

Norman Knutzen was honored by the WSU Men’s Glee Club recently for his 32 years of service. Knutzen, in his position as director and instructor, has been with the WSU Men’s Glee Club since 1965.

Knutzen began his involvement with the Glee Club as a student in 1953. Since then, he has directed and instructed the club, serving as a mentor and role model for many students.

The Glee Club honored Knutzen at a special banquet held in his honor. The event was attended by current and former members of the Glee Club, as well as faculty and staff from WSU.

Knutzen was presented with a plaque and a gift from the Glee Club, which expressed appreciation for his many years of service.

New publication editors introduced at banquet

The newly elected editors of the Glee Club’s publication, The World of Walt Disney, were introduced at a special banquet. The editors were selected by a special committee, and their duties will include overseeing the publication’s content and production.

The newly elected editors are: Paul Bentzen, chef editor; Steve Nelson, assistant editor; and Judi Morrison, assistant editor.

June hearing will decide fate of land situation

A public hearing on Monday, June 18, will determine the fate of the WSU-owned building on the Whitman Way.

The hearing is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. in the University Union. The University officials will present their case on the building’s future, and the public will have the opportunity to voice their opinions.

The building, which is currently used as a storage facility, has been the subject of controversy for several years. The public hearing is an important step in the decision-making process.

Honor society holds ceremonies

The University Alumni Association will hold a special ceremony on Friday, May 18, to honor new members of the Omega Pi Epsilon Honor Society. The ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. in the University Union.

The Omega Pi Epsilon Honor Society is an organization that recognizes students who have shown excellence in their studies. The ceremony will include a presentation of membership certificates to the new members.

University Center Board Officers recently chosen are: Bill Johnson, treasurer; Daryl Dewey, vice president; Mark Deadm man, president; and Carrol Tymchuk, secretary.

Bloodmobile visits campus May 25 & 26

The WSU Bloodmobile, operated by the American Red Cross, will be on campus on May 25 and 26, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the University Union. The bus will be available for blood donations.

The Bloodmobile is a critical resource for meeting the needs of local hospitals and medical centers. By donating blood, you can help save lives.

The WSU Bloodmobile is operated by the American Red Cross, and all donors are urged to call 1-800-RED CROSS for more information.

Graduation exercises will be held Sunday, June 4, on the front lawn of Old Main, at which time degrees will be conferred.

Accomplishments—only a beginning

On of the most refreshing experiences we encounter in Wisconsin is that of witnessing a student who aspires to do in the world of letters what he has done in the world of newspapers. Such a student is accepted as a privilege by The Prowler staff.

Putting out the last "Prowler" is that inevitable mixture of relief and sadness which has attended the staff all year. But instead of getting sentimental about "A Point Well Taken," we co-editors would like to take a brief moment and look back at the year which is about to end.

The 1962-63 "Prowler" also featured co-editors. According to that year's "Prowler" advisor, Miss Bertha H. Smiley, "to have the social life. college students, any more than to drink significantly. We have an obligation to the students, and for that matter, to the world, to do our best in the limited time we have to help them grow as individuals."

The Podium is dedicated to the students who have made this year's publication possible. We are happy to acknowledge their efforts and hope that their work will prove satisfactory to all.

In closing, we wish to express our thanks to all who have helped us in the past.

The New Pointer

A week ago, a group of students gathered at the corner of State and Washington Streets to celebrate the end of the year. It was the traditional farewell party, the last event of the year for the students of the University of Wisconsin. The celebration was a mixture of sadness and relief. Sadness because the year had come to an end, relief because the summer was on the way.

The party was a fitting tribute to the students who had worked so hard throughout the year to make the New Pointer a success. It was a time to reflect on the past year and look forward to the future.

The New Pointer is a student newspaper that is published weekly during the academic year. It is the official student newspaper of the University of Wisconsin. The newspaper is funded by student fees and is supported by advertising.

The New Pointer is published by The Office of Student Affairs, University of Wisconsin. The newspaper is edited by a group of student editors and is written and produced by a team of student journalists. The newspaper is distributed free of charge to all University of Wisconsin students.

The New Pointer is dedicated to providing accurate and timely news and information to the University of Wisconsin community. The newspaper is committed to upholding the highest standards of journalism and to providing a platform for the free exchange of ideas.

In conclusion, The New Pointer is a valuable resource for the University of Wisconsin community. It is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the student editors and journalists who work so hard to produce a high-quality newspaper each week.

If You Ask Me —

Compiled by BILL McILLEN and RON FRIEWE

QUESTION: If you are a graduating senior, what are some of your reflections on the last four years?

"I rather depressing experience"

Bill Melnik, 21, senior, 122 Smith Hall, from Streator, Illinois

When asked if they had any reflections on the last four years, the students' answers were varied. Some were happy to be leaving, while others were sad.

One student, who had just graduated, said: "I'm just glad it's over. I've been here for four years and I can't wait to get out of here."

Another student, who had just graduated, said: "I'm happy to be leaving. It's been a wonderful experience. I've learned a lot and made some great friends."

Still another student, who had just graduated, said: "I'm sad to be leaving. I've made a lot of memories here and I'll miss the people."

The students' reflections were a mix of sadness and happiness. Some were happy to be leaving, while others were sad to be leaving.

Volunteers for tuna drop
Dear Editor,

In this last Pointer of the school year, we wish to remind you that basins being hung are generally one foot in diameter. The containers, made of wire, can be filled, and our money is dependent on the size of the basin as we are. The process is mutual. Shouldn't we all be learned in the art of tuna junking? I am sure we could develop a market in this line if we were to put our minds to it. The money would be a welcome addition to our already depleted income. How about it?

Student senate hears iris editors' consideration on drop senior photos

The student senate heard the consideration of the drop senior picture campaign in the student senate meeting last Wednesday. Senator Joe van der Linde explained that there is a drop senior picture campaign currently going on at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

Van der Linde said that the campaign was started in response to the high cost of yearbooks. The drop senior picture campaign allows students to purchase a yearbook for a lower price by dropping out of the senior picture campaign.

Van der Linde also said that the campaign has been successful at UW-Stevens Point, with over 50% of the student body participating.

The student senate decided to support the drop senior picture campaign at UW-Stevens Point. They also discussed the possibility of establishing a similar campaign at WSU.

New singing opportunities offered next fall

Registration for the first Crackerbarrel singing contest will be held on Tuesday, May 15th from 6:30 to 9:00 pm in the Union. The Crackerbarrel singing contest is a popular event at WSU and is open to all students.

The contest will feature three categories: solo, duet, and group. Prizes will be awarded to the top three winners in each category.

The Crackerbarrel singing contest is a great opportunity for students to showcase their singing abilities and win some great prizes.

Tuna fish for Vietnam

Sens. Harry Reid and Ted Stevens have introduced legislation in Congress that would allow schools to purchase tuna fish for sale to students as a way to fundraise for the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund.

The legislation would allow schools to purchase tuna fish at a reduced price and sell it to students as a way to raise money for the memorial.

The legislation has the support of many members of Congress and is expected to pass without much opposition.

Southfield clothing goes to Wisconsin outbreak.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee has partnered with Southfield Clothing to provide clothing to victims of the Wisconsin outbreak.

Southfield Clothing is a retail chain that has donated clothing to various relief efforts in the past. The partnership with the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee will allow the victims of the Wisconsin outbreak to receive clothing.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee has also arranged for transportation to bring the clothing to the victims of the Wisconsin outbreak.

The Wisconsin outbreak has left many people in need of clothing and the partnership with Southfield Clothing will help to provide them with the necessary items.
Quaker says U.S. is threat to VN peace

By Mike Dunwoody

"We recognize the U.S. as an occupying power," said James Wetmore, a member of the Peace Committee of the Religious Society of Friends, a Quaker organization.

The Americans were the ones who broke the spirit of the people of South Vietnam," Wetmore said. "The Vietnamese people, as well as the U.S. and other people, have a right to live and be free."

Wetmore said the Vietnamese people want peace and their independence. He said that the Vietnamese people want to live in a world where they can have their own government and live in peace. The U.S. is not willing to give up its control over Vietnam.
