Eight Selected To Whoes Who

Leighanne and academic dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, was selected.

The students selected were:

1. Steven B. Haggerty, a senior majoring in economics.
2. David A. Johnson, a senior majoring in political science.
3. Linda L. Kohn, a senior majoring in biology.
4. Susan L. McDonald, a senior majoring in psychology.
5. Gary A. Nelson, a senior majoring in chemical engineering.
6. Carol A. Petersen, a senior majoring in music education.
8. John D. Smith, a senior majoring in history.

The students will be announced at a special ceremony to be held later this month.

Long Range Plan Presented To Wsu

A public hearing on a long range planning project was held at the University of Wisconsin on March 28th. The plan was presented to the Board of Regents at their March meeting.

The plan covers the period from 1967 to 1972 and is divided into three parts: institutional growth, physical plant development, and technology and research.

The plan is designed to guide the University in its efforts to expand and improve its facilities, and to meet the needs of its students, faculty, and staff.

Deans and United Council Disagree Over Code

A uniform study of action plans for the deans and vice-presidents of the University's affiliated hospitals, meeting in Whitewater last week, brought a report to the Board of Regents. The hospital code is a part of the University's code of conduct for all members of the University.

The controversial code is being reviewed by the University's board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals. The code is to be reviewed by the board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals.

The board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals have expressed concern about the code's potential for negative impact on the University's relationship with the hospitals.

The board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals have also expressed concern about the code's potential for negative impact on the University's relationship with the hospitals.

Long Range Plan Presented To Wsu

A public hearing on a long range planning project was held at the University of Wisconsin on March 28th. The plan was presented to the Board of Regents at their March meeting.

The plan covers the period from 1967 to 1972 and is divided into three parts: institutional growth, physical plant development, and technology and research.

The plan is designed to guide the University in its efforts to expand and improve its facilities, and to meet the needs of its students, faculty, and staff.

Deans and United Council Disagree Over Code

A uniform study of action plans for the deans and vice-presidents of the University's affiliated hospitals, meeting in Whitewater last week, brought a report to the Board of Regents. The hospital code is a part of the University's code of conduct for all members of the University.

The controversial code is being reviewed by the University's board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals. The code is to be reviewed by the board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals.

The board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals have expressed concern about the code's potential for negative impact on the University's relationship with the hospitals.

The board of visitors and the council of affiliated hospitals have also expressed concern about the code's potential for negative impact on the University's relationship with the hospitals.
If this is the best of all possible worlds, what then are the others? — Voltaire

THE PODIUM

Code Establishes Unfair Restrictions

Did you know it will soon be against university policy to carry "bananas, plums or other materials inside university buildings for purposes of protocol?"

This is just one of the provisions of the new uniform Student Conduct Code suggested last week in White-water by the student president of the state universities. The deaths had previously drawn up a general statement requesting individual codes instead of a uniform one. A Board of Regents motion on the uniform code and the fears were forced to come.

The Regents are obviously running scared. They are determined at any cost, be it economic, academic freedom, to stop any demonstrations on or off-campus that might look bad to the public and legislators.

For example, another provision of the Code allows a student to be disciplined by the university for his or her off-campus actions, even if attendance at the event was not the provocation. The spirit of the code is that there is an obligation to participate in the life of the university, which is not something that private individuals in the real world are expected to do.

The United Council of Student Governments now stands as the only recourse for the students. In White-water it opposed university superstructure over off-campus action. We wish they would vigorously oppose the whole concept of a uniform code.

In any case, the Regents will ignore all student reactions. They are determined to maintain their power over the students, and their only hope of doing so is to cut off the students' airwaves.

Schilling Lacks Initiative

The Student Health Service has been one of the main topics of discussion on campus this fall. It became one of the major issues in the last student Senate President; and, in the Oct. 26 issue of The Pointer, needed the student Senate President, Paul Schilling, called for the formation of a Presidential Commission to make "an in-depth investigation of the health service on campus.

However, as Mr. Schilling stated earlier in the article, an outside study group was called in to investigate this service making a list of proposals for improvements for the school with an enrollment of 10,000 students. The findings of this study group, the American Health Organization, has been made available to the University administration, and they have already acted on some of the recommendations given them. It seems, however, Mr. Schilling in his article "The Student Health Service: A Case History," published in the last week's issue of The Pointer, has said of his Commission's study, "This will be the final stage of the health service on campus."

The students, however, have the right to believe in the future of the health service on campus. They have the right to be given notice that the service is something that has already been done instead of moving forward.

It is interesting to note that the president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.

The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony. The president of the University, the president of the Board of Regents, as well as the vice president, all made speeches at the dedication ceremony.
If You Ask Me —

Compiled by Fred Gnesinick and Bob Holden

QUESTION: What role do you think students should play in determining university policy? What role do you think faculty should play?

The students should have a major role in determining university policy. They are the ones who need the policies and should have a say in what is best for them. The faculty should have a role as well, as they are the ones who implement the policies.

"increased and meaningful participation"

Dr. Seymour S. Sadas, Sociology & Anthropology, Office 404 T

Of the organizational hierarchy of policymaking, the least meaningful participation is the faculty. This is not to say that their participation is nonexistent or that it is not important. However, their participation is more of a perfunctory nature and does not really impact the decision-making process.

Thru large, increased Student voice and offer to them a smaller role in the decision-making process is not realistic. The need to do more than just pay a lip service to it is obvious. The role of the student and the faculty can only be determined through meaningful participation in the decision-making body.
Dreyfus' Emphasizes Future Development

On Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 8:00 p.m. in the Deloitte Orange Room, President Leon Dreyfus will discuss his plans for W.S.U. student media. This will be a part of the university's annual fall forum. All students interested in new ideas and developments in student media are invited to attend this forum. Through Mr. Dreyfus' presentation, we hope to bring you up-to-date on developments in student media and to encourage you to share your ideas and concerns with us.

Slavery Discussed by History Panel

On Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8:00 p.m. in Cicero Morrison, Professor James Franklin will conduct a roundtable discussion on slavery in the United States. This panel will feature prominent historians and political scientists. The panelists will explore the history of slavery, its impact on American society, and how it continues to affect us today. The discussion will provide an opportunity for students to engage with experts and gain a deeper understanding of this complex and controversial issue.
New at West's

Villa D'Este

Men's Cologne

Vivani, a new line of men's cologne with a robust, woodsy aroma. Items available in various sizes and quantities. Purchase online at www.villadeste.com or in-store.

Waiting on Rain

Lantern

Hours: 9:30 A.M. to 2:30 A.M.

Everyone needs a good lantern to have on hand for those unexpected rainy days. The Vintage Style Lantern is perfect for indoor or outdoor use, bringing a classic look to any setting.

Point Surplus Store

For the Finest in Young Men's Clothing

Wool Shirts and C.P.O.'s

$4.88

On the Square

We feel it quite unnecessary to waste space on advertising our quality merchandise to people (college kids) who are too smart enough to know.

WE SELL:

Gun - Trade & Sell

Diamonds - Diamond & Gold Jewelry

Bathing Suits, Coats, & Sportswear

Sporting Goods & Equipment

Bicycles

Bicycles - Bicycles - Bicycles

Paint

Luggage

Tools

Old Clothing

Bikes

Racing Bicycles

Boys

Instituted 70 years ago, Point Sur is renowned for its fine men's clothing. Visit our store today and discover the ultimate selection of quality merchandise.

Group of Slacks

$3.88

Contact your University Counseling Center for special appointments.

Eatin' Out

Thursday, Nov. 21 - Green Bay Polish Schools

9 to 11 p.m.

Parking with any new program of defense.

The Department of Defense announces a continuation of its current outstanding projects in education, without previous teaching experience, will be selected for the Overseas Doctorate Program. The June 1, 1968, application deadline will be extended to Sept. 1, 1969. Further information may be obtained from the Student Teaching and Employment Office, University of Wisconsin-Madison. Research opportunities are available in the fields of Education, Japanese, Philology, Egyptology, Turkey, and the Middle East.

A student must meet the student teaching requirements of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, including application of a minimum of 16 semester hours in professional education courses.

The Point Sur Store at 118 9th Street is now open. Faculty members and students are invited to purchase art work at reasonable prices. Among the students contributing are Ed Keller, Jerry Child, Junior Schaefer, and Bill Sack.

Philip Lambda Holdswnt

A formal recognition ceremony will be held on Nov. 15, in the University Center at 11:00 a.m. A reception will follow.

The Point Sur Store at 118 9th Street is now open. Faculty members and students are invited to purchase art work at reasonable prices. Among the students contributing are Ed Keller, Jerry Child, Junior Schaefer, and Bill Sack.

delphia

Hollister was established by the late George Hollister, Sr. in 1960. The store opened in a small corner of the building on Main Street. Today, the store has expanded to include a full service men's clothing department.

The store is now open on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call 341-1414.

The Pointer

November 9, 1967

The Greekwine

Delti Delta

Hollister was established by the late George Hollister, Sr. in 1960. The store opened in a small corner of the building on Main Street. Today, the store has expanded to include a full service men's clothing department.

The store is now open on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call 341-1414.