Voting Practices Must Be Changed

(Within the last few years there have been two important elections, Oct. 12. Paul Scholtz was elected President of the Student Senate. Then on Tuesday, Oct. 22, the queen's election was held. It may not have interested many persons' minds, but can the ballot be stolen?"

The answer is yes because I did it! Although the ballots that I staffed were not voted, they were regulation ballots with the words "This ballot has been stuffed — GN" written on them. How easy it was to achieve the end that I did get the ballot.

On the day of the election I went up to The Palette office and noticed some stray ballots being tossed next to the paper cutter. These were regulation ballots. But this was not the only way to get them. When I went down to vote in the University Center, I presented the election official with my activity card. While I did this I placed a pile of stamped ballots lying directly in front of me. It was easy to take more than one ballot while the official was not paying attention to the activity card. Also one did not have to vote at the vote center but could later vote at home. This would give someone a chance to duplicate the ballot. Upon returning one could place more than one ballot in the box at the same time as was done by an aspiring king in Allen Center. If one did not want to vote one in a vote at in a test) could cast two past the box and dump in the ballot box. No questions or remarks ever came up from the official ballot stuffing.

How can this problem be solved? One way is to put a defense system in place at a printing shop. However, this could be easily overcome. Another way would be to offer the official ballot to put any ballot in a test box before the ballot is placed in the ballot box. The only way to vote in the ballot box is by placing the ballot in the box. This way the ballot would remain secret, yet there would be safeguards against ballot stuffing.

100% of this university and the invaluable importance of its elections, something has to be done to insure a democratic process of election. This something is the changing of the present system.

ROTC Program Leaves Much Unanswered

Dear Editor,

I am writing in regards to the ROTC program. First of all I want to say that I was not aware of the program before this letter was written. My question is: What does ROTC stand for? What are the advantages of being in the ROTC program? I want to know more about what happens when you graduate from the program.

Sincerely,

Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp at Eagle River
21st Annual Edgar M. Blackall, Jr.
Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp at Eagle River on Saturday, Oct. 10, will be the 21st annual Edgar M. Blackall, Jr. Memorial Day, a fund raising event for the Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp. Each spring, Edgar M. Blackall, Jr. makes a personal appearance at the camp and helps to raise funds for the camp. This year, the camp will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp grounds.

During his lifetime, Mr. Blackall worked many different jobs and lived in many different places. He was a construction worker, a teacher, and a businessman. He was also a dedicated tennis player, and he loved to travel. He was a member of the Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp Board of Directors, and he was actively involved in the camp's activities. He was a great supporter of the camp, and he worked hard to raise funds for it. He was also a great friend to the staff and the students, and he frequently visited the camp to help out.

Mr. Blackall passed away in 1970, but his legacy continues at the Wisconsin State University-Tomorrow Camp. The camp is a place where young people can come to learn and grow, and it is a place where they can have fun and make new friends. The camp is a place where they can learn about themselves and about each other. The camp is a place where they can learn about the world, and about the importance of helping others.

ROTIC Will Be Entirely Voluntary

"ROTIC will be entirely voluntary," that is the word from the president of the ROTIC, Peter K. H. B. Roberts, to all ROTIC members. He requested that all ROTIC members sign a statement to that effect. The president said that he felt ROTIC was a valuable program for the students and that he wanted to make sure that all members were aware of its benefits.

Counselors Study Selective Service

About 10 admissions officers and women from various select service organizations met on the third floor of the student center on Oct. 14, 1967. The meeting was held to discuss student recruitment and to learn more about the Selective Service System. The officers discussed the current status of the Selective Service System and the role of admissions officers in recruiting new students. They also discussed the importance of recruiting students who are interested in serving in the military.

"The Dandy" Burger Now on Special

The "Dandy" Burger is now available at Robby's, the popular student hangout on campus. The burger is made of fresh, thickly sliced meat and is served on a fresh bun with lettuce, tomato, and pickles. It is a great comfort food and is sure to please even the pickiest of eaters. The price is $2.99, and it is a great deal for a filling meal.

Vietnam Discussion Bombs Many Views

Thursday, Oct. 27, a panel discussion on the war in Vietnam was presented by the Soviet Peace Front at Ives Hall. The panelists included members of the American League for Peace and Freedom and the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

However, the discussion did not go as planned. The panelists' views were not well received by the audience. Many people in the audience were upset by the panelists' views and expressed their disagreement.

The President of the Student Union, John D. Neely, sought to calm the audience, but his efforts were unsuccessful. The audience became even more vocal and the discussion was cut short.

United Council Vetoes Conduct Code

Neil J. Dorn, vice president, announced that the United Council, student government organization, had voted to veto the student conduct code. The vote was taken in a meeting of the council on Oct. 14, 1967, and it was a 12-1 vote.

The original code was passed by the Student Senate in May 1967, but it was vetoed by Dorn, who was then acting as president of the United Council. The new code was passed by the Student Senate in June 1967, but it was vetoed by Dorn again.

The United Council's decision to veto the code was based on the fact that the code was too strict and would limit the freedom of students. Dorn said that he believed that the code was not necessary and that it would be more effective to rely on the existing disciplinary procedures.

The United Council's decision to veto the code was met with mixed reactions by the student body. Some students supported the decision, while others were disappointed.

Extended Services Sponsor Motions On Psychology

The student government's extended services committee is sponsoring motions on psychology and related topics. These motions will be presented at a meeting of the student government on Oct. 26, 1967.

The motions are intended to address the need for more resources and support for students studying psychology. The motions will also address the issues of mental health and the need for more resources for those with mental health issues.

Fewer trees were a position borne by whether order at the U.S. could be in Vietnam as he spoke about peace negotiations and the U.S. presence in Vietnam. He believed that the U.S. did not have the necessary resources to be in Vietnam. He also said that when he is a sporting part it was in play, order sound upon his own.

The president of the Student Senate, John J. Dorn, said that he believed that the U.S. did not have the necessary resources to be in Vietnam. He said that he believed that the U.S. did not have the necessary resources to be in Vietnam.

The meeting concluded with a vote on the motions, which were passed unanimously.

THE POINTS

The Air Force doesn't want to waste your Bachelor of Science degree any more than you do.

Studying a subject you're not interested in and getting an inappropriate degree is a waste of time and money for you, the taxpayer, and the country. The Air Force has a responsibility to the nation to train personnel who will meet the needs of the military. It is important for the Air Force to consider the interests and skills of the students who apply for its programs.

The Air Force has established a program called the "Air Force Scholarship Program" to help students pursue their interests and develop their skills. This program provides scholarships to students who are accepted into the Air Force Academy or other military service academies.

Pointers Sting Yellowjackets, Capture Lead In Conference

Students' Headquarters, slender, handsome, with a refined air of dignity, strides into the scene with a purposeful determination. The freshly painted, well-furnished headquarters on the

W. C. Stearns Point, with 1 point, was the unanimous choice from Pointers to win the game. The team took over first place in the conference with the victory.

With Bob Rohr's fast break, the team started off with a bang. Moments later, however, the Yellowjackets faltered, and the Pointers took over.

The second half of the game was a display of teamwork and precision. The Pointers continued to dominate, extending their lead.

The game ended with the Pointers winning by 10 points. The crowd was thrilled with the performance, and the Pointers moved closer to the conference championship.

The Pointers are now leading the conference, and they are looking forward to the upcoming games. With their strong performance, they are sure to continue their winning streak.

Y-GOP Discusses Reagan Candidacy

The Young Republicans Club presented the theme "The Importance of Reagan in the Presidential Race" last Wednesday. The event was held in the University Center, and a lively discussion followed.

The students voiced their opinions on Reagan's policies and his potential impact on the election. The discussion was engaging and informative, providing insight into the students' views on the current political climate.

Voting Results

The final voting results are as follows:

- For Reagan: 120 votes
- For Carter: 80 votes
- For Ford: 30 votes

The students expressed their enthusiasm for Reagan and his vision for the country. Many commented on his ability to lead and his commitment to conservative values.

The discussion concluded with an open forum, where students were encouraged to share their thoughts and ask questions. The event was a great success, and it is anticipated that similar discussions will be held in the future.

The University Center, the heart of campus, was the perfect setting for this enlightening event. The students were appreciative of the opportunity to engage in meaningful dialogue and to learn more about the candidates and their platforms.

The Young Republicans Club looks forward to continuing these events and to providing a platform for the students to voice their opinions and to learn from one another.
