By Barbara Larson

Sigma Pi broke Sigma Tau Gamma's three-year domination of games in the men's division of Winter Carnival. While Alpha Sigma Phi won the women's division.

The awards were presented Sunday night at the intermission of the program which featured Gary Puckett and the Union Gap.

The shovel race was the first event of Saturday afternoon's games. Teams had to pull a member of their organization on a shovel in a relay race.

Sigma Pi won the men's division while Alpha Phi won the women's. Second place went to Phi Sigma Epsilon and Hyer Hall respectively.

An eight man relay team hopped across a starting line down around a marker and back in the back race. Sigma Tau Gamma took first place in the men's event while Hyer took first in the women's. Sigma Pi

The final event of the afternoon was the Saddle Hawkins race. First place in the women's division was taken by Alpha Sigma Phi. Men's statistics were not available.

The Party's Over

THE SIASEPI's had their own contestant in the pancake eating contest and this little pooch came prepared to do a little drinking while eating. After downing 13 pancakes, the little feller rolled over and went to sleep. [Bob Okrosinski Photo]

Student Senate Announces Awards, Evaluation Progress

By Jim Hofer

Progress of the newly formed Teacher Evaluation committee and the announcement of an Excellence in Teaching Award headlined the business of the Feb. 13 Student Senate meeting.

Sherry Finney, Evaluation committee chairman, has announced that the results of the first evaluation will be released immediately after Easter.

She also said that due to manpower limitations and large amounts of paperwork, all academic departments of the University will not be included in this first report.

On the attitude of the faculty studied this semester are sociology, psychology, and economics.

Students in a class of every instructor in each of these departments will be asked to complete a questionnaire. A total of 3,240 questionnaires will be distributed this semester.

On the attitude of the faculty concerning the evaluation, Miss Finney said, "We've found the instructors to be cooperative and we thank them all."

The Senate has appointed students who will nominate instructors who will then be eligible for the Excellence in Teaching Award.

The students will then elect along with the faculty a teacher to receive the award.

The Johnson Foundation of Racine has provided $500 to each of the nine State universities as an award to its outstanding teacher.

Included on the list of persons who do the final voting to select the finalist include:

former recipients of the award, nominees for the award this year, and members of the Senate.

At its latest meeting the Senate passed three resolutions and referred five other resolutions to various committees.

The first resolution offered by the Senate provides for placement of campus telephone in the classroom center, science building, fieldhouse, and one in the university center.

A second resolution makes the University health service be included in the Student directory. Among suggested additions to the directory are:

the hall and was standing near a vending machine when one of the girls in the basement watching television in the TV room went to the machine.

Then she had difficulty with the machine, the man put some of his own money in it to help her pass out.

Moments later, he asked the girl what some pipes overhead were for and when she turned to look at them he grabbed her around the waist and put his hands over her mouth.

Then she dragged her into a restroom where she struck her head struggling to get away and passed out.

When she regained consciousness a short time later, she saw the man going back up the stairs. She reported that she ran back into the TV room and told the other girls of the incident. The girl was very sexually molested.

Police also said that the incident in the Hyer Hall basement was totally unrelated to an incident which occurred Monday evening, Feb. 10, in the 400 block of Prentice Street.

In that incident police reported that another girl was walking along the sidewalk when a 14 or 15-year-old boy grabbed her and knocked her down into a snowbank and then ran off when the girl screamed for help.

Delta Zeta, Sigma Tau Gamma Finish Second As Week Ends

Sigma Pi fraternity ended Sigma Tau Gamma's three-year domination of Winter Carnival Sunday night by winning the men's division title while Alpha Sigma Phi captured the women's title.

The awards were made Sunday night at the intermission of the climax program which featured Gary Puckett and the Union Gap.

Last year's victory in the Carnival enabled the Sig Taus to keep the traveling trophy permanently. Last year's women's division winner was Hyer Hall.

The victory by Sigma Pi was its first Carnival competition since it became established on campus three years ago. The group finished second last year, as did Alpha Sigma Phi.

Also announced were the winners of the ice sculpture and beard contests. Stories on winners of other events are on Pages one and three.

In the women's division for ice sculpture, Hyer Hall took first with Roach Hall second and Delta Zeta third.

Sigma Pi captured first place in the men's division followed by Sigma Tau Gamma and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

The beard contest was judged on Tuesday night in the Wisconsin Room with Mrs. Judy Freiman, residence hall director, William Johnson, assistant to the dean, and Dave Katzmik, a local barber, serving as judges.

For the third year in a row, Ed Rochette of Sigma Phi Epsilon won the goatee competition. Second place went to Tau Kappa Epsilon and Dean Gary of Delta Sigma Phi was third.

Tom Seethof of Sigma Pi repeated for the second year as winner of the longest competition sporting a single growth. Mike Skalski of Tau Kappa Epsilon and John Schmidt of Sigma Phi Epsilon were second and third.

In the Van Dyke contest, Dan Bay of Smith Hall was first, followed by Jim Tipple of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sheldon Mayer of Pray-Sims.

Tom Schumacker of Sigma Phi Epsilon wore the most original beard. In second place was Mike Hofberger of Sigma Phi and third was Lou Torgeson of Sigma Tau Gamma.

In the fullest competition Jim Campbell of Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Sigma Phi's points came mostly from Saturday's games in which the Alpha Sig's placed first.

representatives of Sigma Tau Gamma won the first two places in the scrabbest category. Dave Magin was first and Mike Sherman was second. Bob McClelland of Phi Sigma Epsilon, last year's winner, was third.

Sigma Pi's victory in the over all championship was on the strength of first place finishes in pipe smoking, longest beard competition, the chariot race, the log throw, the tug of war, the shovel race and ice sculpture.

Alpha Sigma Phi's points came mostly from Saturday's games in which the Alpha Sig's placed first.

Suspect Arrested In Assault Case

Stevens Point City Police have arrested a suspect in connection with the Feb. 12 assault of a university code in the basement of Hyer Hall.

Police have identified Ralph Edgar Le Barron of Plover and charged him with two counts of forgery, theft and aggravated battery.

On Monday, Feb. 17, Le Barron pleaded guilty to theft but sentencing has been postponed until the hearing on the battery and forgery counts for which the court will have to appoint an attorney to represent him.

Le Barron is charged with stealing a blank book of checks from a purse in the lobby of Hyer Hall on the night of the assault and cashing them two days later at a local business establishment.

The cashing of the checks, led to the arrest of the 32-year-old single man.

The assault charge stems from the incident at Hyer Hall in which a man, described as being about 30-years-old, about five foot nine or ten, and weighing approximately 150 pounds, entered the hall and identified himself as a student.

He was wearing a green jacket according to witnesses and had brown hair and a several days' growth of whiskers.

He entered the basement of the hall and was standing near a vending machine when one of the girls in the basement watching television in the TV room went to the machine.

Then she had difficulty with the machine, the man put some of his own money in it to help her pass out.

Moments later, he asked the girl what some pipes overhead were for and when she turned to look at them he grabbed her around the waist and put his hands over her mouth.

Then she dragged her into a restroom where she struck her head struggling to get away and passed out.

When she regained consciousness a short time later, she saw the man going back up the stairs. She reported that she ran back into the TV room and told the other girls of the incident. The girl was very sexually molested.

Police also said that the incident in the Hyer Hall basement was totally unrelated to an incident which occurred Monday evening, Feb. 10, in the 400 block of Prentice Street.

In that incident police reported that another girl was walking along the sidewalk when a 14 or 15-year-old boy grabbed her and knocked her down into a snowbank and then ran off when the girl screamed for help.

Ace Foods Confiscates Fake ID's

By Larry Wolden

Ace Foods has engaged itself in an expensive battle that will have to be rectified in the near future - the altering of student ID cards to allow students to eat meals they have not paid for.

Because of the simple embossed knife and fork on the ID cards signifying their right to eat in the various centers, many off-campus students are simply painting these figures on their cards to gain free meals. Other methods, such as changing the picture in the ID card, using last semester's ID card, or simply using someone else's ID card, are also being employed.

There have only been five students caught so far. The first of which was a boy using a girl's altered ID card. The card checkers are now carefully checking each card's ID card to try and catch the falsified ID cards and their holders.

Dr. Gibb stated that when a student is found with a falsified ID card, it is assumed that he has been using the card for every meal of the semester up to when he is caught. He must then make restitution for these meals in addition to being placed on social probation.

The school is taking preventative measures to reduce the possibilities of this happening in the future, but in the meantime Ace Food prices will be rising from year to year to pay for the extra food consumed by these false identification card holders.

Don't Want Another Oshkosh Black Students Organize Group

If you happen to be in old Main some Thursday evening, and you encounter a sizeable group of black students, you may wonder what's going on. Well, they aren't about to take over the President's office, they aren't planning to destroy the school's records, and they aren't staging a sit-in or a student strike.

What are they doing? Chances are that they have just finished a meeting of the black students' club. This club is about four weeks old, and has a membership of 16 - all of the American Negroes at WSU-SP. The faculty leader and moderator is President Dreyfus, "the jolly white father with soup."

No official name has been chosen as yet.

This club was formed when President Dreyfus met Denise Royster, a sophomore from Chicago, at a speech contest in December. He asked her to organize the black students on campus, so he could meet with them and bring the communication gap that led to trouble at Oshkosh.

The group meets every other Thursday with President Dreyfus - to air their grievances, to make suggestions, and to debate ideas. They would like to recruit more Negro students, want more black entertainment at WSU-SP, and, naturally, they want better food. They don't want separate courses in Negro History, but would like this aspect incorporated into the current history courses.

"We aren't after all the things they wanted at Oshkosh, we only want what is within reason," said Denise. "We aren't working for any all black dorms, because this isn't within reason."

Denise said that there isn't a lot of discrimination on campus, and that most of the black students are accepted and satisfied. The discrimination is worse in boys' dormitories than it is in girls' dorms, and it consists mainly of smart derogatory remarks.

The black students' club has thought about trying to sponsor an "all soul dinner" in the residence hall. The menu would consist of things such as chitterlings, pigs' feet, and turnip greens. "This food is typical of us," Denise said. "We came to Point to give the people an education in how black people live."

Denise doesn't think that the situation at Point could reach the stage it reached at Oshkosh. "There's a definite lack of involvement at Point. When you can't get students to cheer at a basketball game, you aren't able to get them to march to Main with a petition."

Pancake Eaters Fail To Match Records

By Mary Rogers

Sigma Tau Gamma and Alpha Sigma Phi took the first place honors at the Winter Carnival pancake eating contest.

The Sig Tau team managed to swallow 118 pancakes.

Ted for seconds in the men's division were Phi Sigma Epsilon and Pray-Sims hall. Both teams boasted of eating 115 pancakes.

In the women's division the first place Alpha Sig team ate 109 and Theta Phi Alpha won second place with 96 pancakes.

Individual winners were Boris Trutenko for Phi Sigma Epsilon with 54 pancakes while Chris Flood of Alpha Sigma Phi ate 34.

None of the high scores this year came close to previous records. Individual men's high score remains at 67. Joe Howell set that record in last year's event. Overall men's high scores is 199, set by Phi Sigma Epsilon in the 1968 games.

Winners in the women's division the individual record is held by Kristine Farness who ate 60 pancakes last year. Detzell hall's 1968 team score of 186 is still unchanged.

How many pancakes were needed to supply the 23 hungry teams? Allen Center cooks began frying pancakes at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. About 2,500 pancakes were ready to offer the contestants when they began eating at 7:10 p.m.

Contrary to the belief of many of the participants Ace Food's did use pancake flour—180 pounds of it.

No estimate was available on the amount of stomach stretchers that were used.

Point Blank Call

by Ed Marks

Why do our Pointer cheerleaders continue to wear uniforms of 1940 vintage? Perhaps our girls should view the "Big Ten" games and acknowledge the mini-skirts! A Pointer Banner.

Miss Claire Cleary, physical education instructor, stated that eight new uniforms would cost about $280; that is, $20 for the skirt and $15 for the sweater. New uniforms are being considered for next year and should the purchase be made, the old uniforms would be used as football games.

Miss Cleary said the uniforms presently being used were selected before she came to WSU, three years ago. She added that the present uniforms were short enough and that the cheerleaders were not meant to be pom-pom or chorus girls. Cleary stated the purpose of the cheerleader is to lead the crowd in cheers and not put on a leg show.

Why has the Pointer pep band played so few times at home games during an excellent season of title contention? A Pointer Banner.

Donald Greene, Chairman of Music, stated that the pep band had been discontinued this basketball season to lighten the study-load of the musicians.

Some of the extra-curricular activities of the band consist of playing for musicals, concerts, alumni association engagements and marching at football games. Credit towards graduation is not given for extra-curricular activities.

Several of the band members have voluntarily played at the last two basketball games and will play for the next one.

Greene added that there would probably be a regular pep band next season to play at all the home games.

Committee Being Selected To Study Department of Peace

By Bill McMillen

A precedent setting department of peace may become a reality in the near future at WSU-SP.

A committee of faculty and students is now being formed by Miss Marion, chairman of the faculty, to study the possibilities of setting up such a department of peace.

Miss Marion is acting on the authority of the faculty which voted at the Feb. 6 faculty meeting to approve a resolution...

Dixon defended his resolution as "not a radical proposal." He no longer sees peace as an extra-curricular activity...

Dixon noted the second point under the goals which reads, "The student has a right to understand the history of man and the forces and ideas that have affected human societies..."

Dixon also pointed to the third section of the goals which reads, "The student has a right to be involved in the promotion and preservation of peace..."

Dixon admitted that he knew of no academic precedents for the department of peace. But he would expect from a college basketball squad...

"White Hankie Night" Reflects on Platteville

The picture and article printed below are from last week's edition of the student newspaper, The Exponent, from WSU-Platteville.

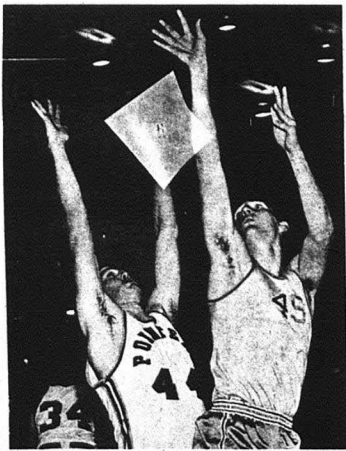

We wish to reply that the idea of a "White Hankie Night" is not the conduct that we at Stevens Point would expect from the "universities" at Platteville.

Whatever the outcome of the ball game last night, we hope that the Platteville student body showed enough intelligence not to be duped into waving "hankies."

It seems highly ironic that the "white hankies" are supposed to be in opposition to sportsmanlike conduct on the part of Hughes and "certain players on other teams."

It is pretty obvious Platteville hasn't gotten out of high school rivalry.

Penshorn, Cantwell Win Pipe Smoking

The Wisconsin Room of the University Center, more or less, was up in smoke Wednesday, Feb. 12, at 4 p.m. when approximately 70 students competed in the annual Winter Carnival pipe smoking contest. Approximately 154 grams of Mappleton tobacco were smoked in the event with each contestant receiving 2.2 grams. Paul Penshorn of Sigma Pi placed first in the men's division with a time of 55:38 followed by Greg Strong of Sigma Phi Epsilon in 48 minutes and Howie Neider of Smith in 39 minutes.

In the women's division, Marilyn Cantwell of Theta Phi Alpha took first place with a time of 32:24. Second place went to George Ann Ozak of Alpha Phi in 25:20 and Mary Burns of Delta Zeta was third in 24:40.

The record for the event is held by Mike McKill of Sigma Tau Gamma who took first place three years ago with a time of 61 minutes.

Mary Lippert, Tom Walkner Lead Chuggers

By Mary Rogers

A new event on this campus' winter carnival games roster, the "chugger" contest, has attracted a sizeable crowd to Allen Center's basement. Chugger chuggers were Tom Walkner of Phi Sigma Epsilon and Mary Lippert of Roach Hall.

These accomplished drinkers dived into the contestants in trial heats and then outbegan the winners of the other heats.

Taking second place in the men's division was Robert Adams of Delta Sigma Phi. Third place went to Mike Strosbusch of Sigma Pi fraternity.

In the women's division the contest was extremely close. As a result of two ties, two additional chug-offs were held before Kris Russell of Alpha Sigma Alpha was awarded second place and Nancy Draeger of Watson hall, third place.

Eight gallons of cider was consumed in the contest.

Employment Office Has Opportunities For Students

Do you need some extra money to pay for those extra little things? The Wisconsin State Employment Services lists part-time job opportunities for those seeking a job.

The Financial Aids Office, Man 225, is the campus site of WSES. Mrs. Jeff Persike, specializing in student situations, is available there on Mondays, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and at the downtown office, 1101 3rd Street, at the same time from Tuesday to Friday.

Work preference forms and general information make up every applicant's file. It is kept active for one month and on reserve inactive for one year.

Mrs. Persike commented, "The business community is very happy with student work. Our program seems effective for both employers and employees."

Types of work range from clerical to manual positions, with salaries ranging from $1.20 to $3.25 per hour.

Summer employment is also part of the WSES program. For jobs within the Stevens Point area and state-wide opportunities, students should apply in mid-April and May.

Gary Puckett And The Union Gap Have Added Rank Since Start

By Linda Peterson and Mary Lou Rentmeyer

The 1865 version of the Union Gap was a regiment of the Grand Army of the Potomac which fought courageously in the Civil War. The 1969 version of the Union Gap are four talented performers who, under the leadership of Gary Puckett, are winning their way to the heights of success.

When they appeared at Point's Winter Carnival climax program, they wore a modified type of Union soldiers uniform. "At first we looked like we came out of 1865," said Gary Puckett, "with the long sideburns, hair combed back, uniform stripes and the whole bit. We had two privates, two corporals and a sergeant, but we changed that because we did not have enough rank."

Their performance went out to a full capacity crowd. Dwight Benet, the group's sex symbol, said it was a great crowd, "the best we had on this tour."

something we think will sell," he says. "The members feel that to have a song sell it should have a uniqueness of sound, an easy sound, an easy melody and fine lyrics should have a message that the listener can relate to a personal experience. As Paul summed it up, "You just hope for the right combinations of lyric, music, time, place and luck!"

Gary Puckett and the Union Gap opened their concert with "Lady Will Power" and before closing it with "Young Girl" they had performed many types of pop ballads "Woman, Woman and "Over You" along with rhythm and blues, country and western, underground lullabye, barbershop quartet, swing and rock.

The group's musical talents are just as versatile as their musical interest. Gary Puckett who does most of the lead singing is also a talented guitarist. Both Dwight and Mather play organ, piano, saxophone and clarinet. Dwight also plays the bell lyre and the guitar, and on one song Mather "played" a battered cow bell.

Kerry Chater is an adept guitarist and along with Mather and Dwight does most of the group's back up singing. Gary referred to Paul Wheatbread as "the best drummer in the business."

Gary, Kerry and Mather compose most of the songs for the Union Gap. Mather enjoys writing underground music such as "Women and Girls" and "And She Walked." The songs Gary writes often stem from personal experiences—such as "Lullabye" and "The Wind Blew My Sunshine Away."

Kerry along with Mather composed "Can you Tell," "I'm Just a Man," "Reverend Posey," and "My Son," which is a favorite of the group.

Kerry likes to look upon his composing as a contribution to music. "I can't express how it

Choir Will Tour Four State Area

Members of the University Choir, busily selling gourmet chocolate bars to help finance a three-week summer European concert tour, are even more urgently applying finishing touches to musical selections which will be presented during their annual mid-winter tour of high schools and communities within Wisconsin.

This year, the choir will travel to communities in Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. In addition to the stops in Wisconsin.

Leaving Stevens Point, Tuesday, Feb. 25 by Greyhound bus, the choir will present its first assembly concert at Gillett High School at 10:10 a.m. After lunch and a 2:30 p.m. concert in Stockbridge, the choir will travel to Campbellsport where they will present an 8:00 p.m. concert for the public in the high school auditorium. They will remain in Campbellsport overnight guests in community homes. Feb. 26 will be spent in the Milwaukee area with a 10:30 concert at Wisconsin Lutheran High School in Wauwatosa, lunch and a 1:00 p.m. concert at Cudaby Senior High School. The Wednesday evening concert will be held at Pewaukee High School.

The number of students within the choir living in the Milwaukee area provided easy overnight accommodations for the choir. Choir members staying from Milwaukee have arranged for other members to stay with them in their homes. Nearly two-thirds of the choir have been housed in this manner. Other arrangements have been provided by the host school.

An assembly Thursday at 10:00 a.m. in Barrington, Illinois will provide the first opportunity for the WSU Choir to appear outside the state of Wisconsin. After a hurried lunch, the choir will depart for their evening engagement in Ames, Iowa. Friday, Feb. 28, will conclude the tour with a 10:30 a.m. concert at North LaFayette County U.S. in West Union, Iowa and a 2:30 p.m. assembly in Spring Valley, Minnesota. The choir is scheduled to return to Stevens Point around 8:30 p.m.

The tour program will include choral selections from the five great periods of music history. A final group of American folk songs and spirituals will provide additional choral variety.

Soloists on tour will include Jan Benicoff, New Berlin; Sullivan, Waunakee; Klare, Denniston, Pittsville; Lenore Olsen, Stevens Point; Lynn Williamson, Waunakee; Richard Wanless, Madison; Roger Hermanson, Stevens Point; Terry Zimmerman, Pewaukee.

The University Madrigal Singers, a select WSU choral group within the choir, will also be featured at all concerts.

As a prelude to the tour the University Choir, Madrigal Singers and Swing Choir presented a benefit scholarship concert in Medford, Wisconsin, Sunday, February 16. Sponsored by the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce the groups

Group Asks For Revision In Coed Hours

By Paul Jantzy

A meeting attended by women only had a number of male visitors protesting about the present women's hours.

Last Thursday, the meeting of Associated Women Students was presented with a proposal by freshman senator Dennis Kuske which would call for the elimination of sophomore hours. Second semester freshman also would have no hours and first semester freshman women would have the same hours presently in effect.

Senator Kuske gave as his reasons for a change in women's hours that women are mature at 18 years of age in his opinion. He said that the present hours are quite ridiculous. Kuske noted the ridiculousness of the 11 p.m. hours for freshmen.

Karen Lamert, AWS president, replied to the Kuske proposal by pointing out a survey taken last year in which freshmen women voted the present hours to be maintained.

The AWS president asked for a committee to study the Kuske proposal comprised by members of AWS and some of Kuske's supporters.

In closing, Kuske asked for a "quick and speedy" reply to his proposal.

presented a variety concert with proceeds going as scholarships to students attending the campus at Medford.

Everyone in the group preferred college audiences as Mather Withers said, "We're not knocking the teeny boppers, but we like an audience which will listen to us intelligently. Sometimes the younger audience will just wait for one of our hits and then scream." But then he mused, "Sometimes it's nice to have your audience just scream."

Mather, whom the other members regard as the motherly type, has five years of college, but each of the others has had at least one year of college so the Union Gap can feel that they can communicate with college audiences.

IM Center Offers Source Materials

By Mike Dominowski

The first thing you notice about the Instructional Materials Center (IMC) as you walk by, is that the door is always open. IMC is located in the basement of the library. To find it you simply head through the tunnel from Old Main and hang a left at the library reserve desk.

IMC is potentially one of the most useful and probably one of the most overlooked sources of material in the library. IMC houses an up-to-date selection of high school level curriculum materials, including textbooks on every subject from grades on through twelve.

At IMC the enterprising student can brush up on high school chemistry, peruse the dossier on LSD (the drug), or view a filmstrip on subjects ranging from goats to local government.

Miss Lulu Kellogg is the lady behind the desk. In her three years as the head of IMC, Miss Kellogg has transformed her department from a dusty collection of old textbooks into a useful, functioning reserve of material.

Miss Kellogg sees it that textbook listings and high school text files remain current. Ask her for an explanation of IMC and you might just get a guided tour of the whole operation. Miss Kellogg keeps a pile of old magazines on a table. Anyone who wishes to, may clip pictures or articles from the magazines, or simply take any magazines that interest him. "The magazines are all donated," Miss Kellogg said. She added that donations of any kind of magazines are welcome.

A large portion of Audio/Visual equipment has been moved into an adjoining room. Now it is possible for students to check out a tape recorder from A/V and plug in as many as eight sets of clogs to a wide selection of tape recordings.

A short trip to IMC might prove a worthwhile. "Have fun," Miss Kellogg says. "The door is always open."

MISS LULU KELLOGG displays some of materials that are available for student use in the Instructional Materials Center in the basement of the Learning Resources Center. The center is especially of service to educational majors who can adjust themselves to textbooks used in classes they hope to teach. (Mike Dominowski Photo).

Senate

"the location of the health center, the hours of the health service, and the necessary information for obtaining after hour emergency care."

A third bill proposes an increase in the salaries of Senate officers. The recommended amount of increase is 20%. The Senate officers presently receive a total of $975.00.

Should the fourth proposed bill be passed, the Senate treasurer "will be instructed to secure a timepiece for the wall in the Student Senate office."

This resolution, introduced by freshman senator Dennis Kuske, states that "There is no way to find the time in the Senate office" and recommends that a timepiece be secured.

The fifth bill is especially appropriate at this when the Senate is preparing to make its yearly allocations to various campus groups.

This bill directs the finance committee of the Senate to withhold funds from student organizations which in the past "have not always shown proper levels of student participation in policymaking and supervision."

If passed, this bill will also enable the finance committee to request the University controller to stop payment on accounts of an organization that violates the fiscal year.

Organizations who could be affected by this bill are all those who are allocated funds from the student activity fees by the Senate.

Len Sippel, Senate treasurer, has announced that applications for allocations are being taken at this time from any group wishing to receive funds from activity fees next year.

Sippel told the Pointer, "Any organization that wants financing through student activity fees should apply to the Student Activities office in the University Center" or to Sippel directly. The total allocations of Student Senate for Hearings for allocations for next year will begin in several weeks.

This latest Senate meeting was held in the Blue Room of the DeBot Center. Tonight's meeting will be held in the Van Hise room of the University Center and will begin at 6:30.

Professor Studies Earth's Weight

Mother earth has a weight problem and a professor here has volunteered to help find the underlying reason. Up to 10,000 tons of debris sit onto it each day from the solar system.

Allan Blocher of the physics department faculty and director of the school's planetarium is one of about seven persons from Wisconsin who are members of the newly-formed Network of Rapid Analysis of Fireball Trajectories.

In essence, the group is interested in finding parts of falling meteorites for use in determining origin of celestial bodies in outer space.

Blocher, one of 250 members in the country and the only person with such affiliation in central Wisconsin, needs support from area residents. Whenever anyone sees a fireball, he requests they determine the number of seconds it was visible, the direction from which it came and approximate location of its descent. He also needs to know colors and sounds associated with it. Then he requests they call either at home or at the university so a search can begin.

Of the surprisingly large amount of substance which filters onto the earth's surface, much is invisible and approximately 500 fireballs which fall to the earth annually, only one or two percent are ever recovered.

Particles found earlier have either been of iron, iron-stone or solely stoney substances. But despite these trophies, scientists haven't been able to make exact statements on the origins. They say they need more evidence.

Blocher points out that fireballs are noticeable about 50 miles above the horizon and stay aglow until they're within 10 miles of the earth. They rarely are noticeable more than 20 seconds, but project a spectacular flash and a trail of light.

He urges people to be quite certain they have spotted a fireball before they contact him and he also asks them to do their notification soon after spotting the meteorite.

The most recent fall noticed in this area was Jan. 26, but remnants of the ball have not been found.

Pointer Dog Fame Claim Jeopardized

A pointer dog for many years has been the mascot here, but something a little more physical is now jeopardizing its claim to fame.

An attractive freshman coed from Appleton is teasing the symbolic canine by her mere presence on campus. She is Miss Pamela Pointer, the first person with that last name to attend the school during its 75 year history.

One administrator at the university has told her there have been hundreds of "Miss Pointer" queens, but she is the first legitimate title holder even though she has never won a crown.

Pamela, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roylance H. Pointer of 943 E. Frances St., Appleton, said several faculty members asked her at registration time last fall if she intended to capitalize on her name. She said it had never passed her mind before.

"Why don't you go out for mascot," students asked her later.

Pamela has a sister, Sue, 18, and a brother, Jeff, 16, who are beginning to think time last fall is the only appropriate university for them to attend.

Debaters Lose WSU Summer Camp Three Matches In Eau Claire

Information about all of the Pigeon Lake summer programs may be obtained from the WSU system office, P.O. Box 912, Madison, Wis. 53701.

The summer field station of the Wisconsin State University near Drummond is blanketed with snow, but directors of summer programs have started taking applications, the system office in Madison reports.

Five programs will be conducted at Pigeon Lake Field Station in the Chequamegon National Forest. The 24 acre northwoods campus is on the north shore of Pigeon Lake. Students sleep and study in 16 rustic residence cabins, make field trips and attend classes in two laboratory-classroom cabins.

Undergraduate and graduate credits earned at the field station are accepted by all nine State Universities.

Two field biology programs will be conducted June 23 to Aug. 2. They will be directed by Profs. Richard Bernard of WSU-Superior and Mark Fay of WSU-Eau Claire. Many of the students will be high school biology teachers.

Three shorter programs will be offered Aug. 10-30. They are a mapping institute directed by Ed Siefert of Stout State University at Menomonie, an outdoor education program directed by Paul Napp of Eau Claire and an art education workshop directed by Henry Runke of WSU-Stevens Point.

WSU Summer Camp Schedules Courses

For the third meet in a row the Point debaters lost close debates which left them with more losses than wins.

The team of Cherie Choudoir and Dean Zimmerman defeated WSU-LaCrosse and Illinois Wesleyan University losing to the University of North Dakota, WSU-Eau Claire and WSU-Platteville.

The latter two debates were lost by a total of three speaker points which is considered very close in debate competition.

The debate team will be idle this week, reported Richard Rogers, but will travel to Wayne State University on Feb. 27 for a national novice tournament.

University Originates Television Program

By Ron Hoban

"Stand by in studio. Get a close up of Dan. Three shot, quickly!"

These words along with some music and a picture of Stevie the Pointer began the taping of the university sponsored "Point of View" television program. This program can be seen on cable channel 6 Wednesdays at 12:30 p.m.

Dan Houlihan, head of the News Service on campus, said "The purpose of 'Point of View' is to present to the public news and special events that happen on campus." Houlihan, John Anderson, and Sandy Young take turns handling the half hour program each week.

Anderson, the university newsmen, presents news and special events. Sandy Young discusses drama and Houlihan covers any political controversy that arises on campus. On the program, these three people ask questions of faculty members, students, or people concerned with that particular issue of Point of View which is to be discussed.

The technical work for "Point of View" is done in the Instructional Media Services above the library by faculty members and students. According to John Anderson, "This program is unique in the state university system. Other universities have regular programs on commercial television, but this is the only one produced and directed

Delta Zeta:

In Winter Carnival Competition the DZ's took first place in both categories of the hairo contest. Virginia Gertsch "a little robot" represented a 2001st Space Odyssey, and Diane Meshak, alias "old Main" depicted 1894.

In pipe smoking, Mary Burns placed third despite the competition given her by first Mel Franke who took a close fourth. The DZ's also placed third in the sack race on Saturday.

An alumna of Delta Zeta from Stevens Point, Lynn Loewen, was recently married to Doug Newby.

On Feb. 18, a movie about sorority life was shown in all the women's dorms. A panel discussion consisting of a member of each sorority followed the movie.

The Coffee Hour will be held Feb. 24 at the University Center.

Theta Phi Alpha

Winter Carnival is over and for Theta Phi Alpha it held a few pleasant surprises, Marilyn Cantwell out-puffed all opposition to win the women's pipe smoking championship. The pancake eating team of Claudia Litza, Jenny Olson, Sue Eichstaedt and Mary Ustuck took second by eating ninety-six pancakes.

Theta Phi Alpha initiated its newest active Claudia Litza this week.

Char DeBoer has been named the second semester representative of Panhellenic Council to Student Senate. She joins sisters Sherri Ray and Mary Ustuck in the Student Government.

Cindy Stellmacher is practicing teaching in Kaukauna, Kathy Friday, a January graduate of WSU is attending graduate school at Trent University in Ontario, Canada.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

The brothers of Phi Sigma Epsilon were active participants again this year in the winter carnival games. Brother Tom Borenson took second place in the least hairy legs contest. Brother Tom Walker took first place in the apple car chugging contest.

The pancake contest started off with James Fischer, Dave Greeschow, Douglas Hordyke and Boris Trutenko saying grace. The group won second place, but Boris took first place out of seventy-five contestants with fifty-four six inch pancakes in an hour and he didn't even get sick.

In intramurals the brothers won their first basketball game by beating the Vets 54-17.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

New officers were installed at the first meeting this semester. They are the following: president, Tom Schultz; vice president, Gaylon Barz; secretary, Rick Giese; treasurer, David Lorbeck; pledge trainer, Tim Siebert; historian, David Stewart; sergeant at arms, Mike Glodowsky and chaplain, Steve Cooper.

Following the Stout game, a party was held with the Alpha Phi's at Roy's. Then on Feb. 8 the TKE's and the SZ's attended the River Falls game and winter carnival afterwards.

Winter Carnival week was busy and exciting. The week began with a chapter beer supper. Games, ice sculpture and other contests added more fun to the week. The week was climaxed by an alumni beer supper.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon enjoyed Winter Carnival week because a unified mood prevailed. Long hours of companionship lasted late into the night as the sculpture was completed. Unity was the key word while meeting rugged foes in the games.

Happiness highlighted the climax party, held at Club 10. There ballets were cast and Lee Schoen was overwhelmingly elected "Sig Ep Cap" of 1969.

This weekend the Sig Eps will make winter warmer by entertaining the Oshkosh chapter at "Little Joes" for a pregame warmup starting at 1 p.m.

A bill has been introduced in the Colorado House which, if passed, would outlaw closed meetings of any faculty or student organizations on Colorado campuses, excluding meetings of the Board of Regents and the University Faculty Office. Any organization closing their meetings would lose campus recognition for one year. The bill is aimed at organizations such as S.D.S.

The preliminary results of a beer survey held by the Student Senate at WSU-Whitewater indicates that students want beer in all areas, including the city and the University Center. Gary Babler, chairman of the beer committee, said that the real push to change the beer drinking age in Whitewater will begin this week. If the committee efforts are successful, the proposal to change the drinking age could be voted on as a city-wide referendum on Apr. 1.

It occurred to me the other day that I had not written anything about ice fishing so far this winter. I'm sure that many of you went out ice fishing anyway, but just in case there are a few doubters about who haven't tried it yet, I've jotted down the results of my research into the business of catching fish through the ice.

To be sure, ice fishing hasn't got the sheer class of skiing, or the verve and dash of snowmobiling, but it is a good, slow-paced class way to freeze to death, and well worth looking into.

If you want to go ice fishing, the first thing you will need is a license. Remember that the dollar ticket you bought last June? It isn't any good now it expired Dec. 31, 1968. So if you get bitten by the ice fishing bug, be sure to pick up a '69 license, or you might get bitten by an even bigger bug with a stay out.

The second thing you'll need is some ice, preferably with fish under it. Do you have a pet spot on one of the local lakes that always seems to have a few crappies, bluegills, or pike? Go forth and fish there, and you will probably find that they are still around.

Oxygen is at a premium in ice-covered lakes, and fish need oxygen. Therefore, fish are likely to be found around such oxygen-producers as weed beds, spring holes and open creeks flowing into the lake.

Be sure that the ice is thick and strong enough to support you at all times, but be particularly careful around those spring holes and creek openings. A spot where the wind has blown the ice clear of snow can be an oxygen-producer, too.

If there are a lot of weeds growing under such a spot, the extra sunlight they get will make them produce lots of oxygen and, hopefully, attract fish. If none of this stratagem works, where all the other ice fishermen are. They must know something.

The ideal situation in which fishing involves a line with a fish on one end and a fisherman on the other. You'll find that the ice offers quite a bit of resistance to this general plan; you have to cut a hole in it. This can present problems.

If you are a beginner at ice fishing, and you don't want to invest a lot of money in it at first, (you will, but you'll just borrow a cold chisel and a hammer. The end of a

Tom Ritzenthaler Named WSUC Player of Week

Tom Ritzenthaler, sophomore forward and the leading scorer on the men's Stevens Point basketball squad, was honored by sportswriters as the Player of the Week in the WSUC for the week of Feb. 2-4. The 6'4", 205-pound Baraboo native led the Pointers to three wins, scoring 17 points in Whitewater, (all in the last half on eight of ten attempts), 25 against Superior, and 24 against River Falls. The southpaw sharpshooter has connected on over 50 per cent of his field goal attempts this season.

The Pointers sure have their work cut out for them, having to win every game and playing good ball clubs who can do little else but be a spoiler. Oshkosh has improved greatly as of late, and don't get the mistaken idea that the Pointers will have a "breather." Remember, both Stevens Point and Stout sustained both of their losses on their home floor! I don't want to be pessimistic as I'm confident the Pointers will win.

Perhaps the Pointers took Eau Claire a bit too lightly the first time they played them—I don't think that will happen again! In the way of an explanation—the game last Tuesday at La Crosse was played to avoid conflict with the District 14 N.A.I.A. state playoffs which might involve the Pointers. The playoff is scheduled for the first week in March, with the winner of the WSUC getting a crack at Lakeland, possessor of a 17-4 mark, a 6-11 center, and two players each of whom scored 55 points in a single game last week.

As good as Marquette may be, it doesn't appear they can go too far provided they get the NCAA bid. They just don't have anyone tall enough to contain a real good big man. 6-5 Ric Cobb's futile attempts against 6-11 Bob Lanier bear that out.

It's your last chance this weekend to see the Pointer winter sports squads in home action this year. Get out and back them—they will appreciate it. (See POINTERS IN ACTION)

Congratulations to Tom Ritzenthaler on being named Player of the Week in the WSUC recently. He has been one of the Pointers most consistent performers all year, and I'm sure this isn't the last time in his career he will receive the honor.

It appears that the New York Knicks are the team to beat in the NBA this year. Look for them and the L.A. Lakers to meet in the finals of the playoffs. I'll wait until that happens before making any more predictions!

Well, high school basketball is almost through for another year, and quite a year it has been. I've saved all the really big games for this week's predictions. They are:

- Stevens Point 73, Eau Claire 68
- Stevens Point 82, Oshkosh 72
- Wisconsin 74, Michigan State 70
- Badger 66, Elkhorn 62
- Bloomer 64, Chetek 61

- Colfax 74, Plum City 57
- Cale-Elrick 70, Holmen 59
- Tigerton 84, Birnamwood 49

All games are free, you may either win or lose your play money while trying your luck.

Eau Claire Whips Point Matmen, 22-10

By Dave Burton

The tough and polished WSUC Eau Claire wrestling squad proved too strong for WSUC-Stevens Point as the Bluebirds whipped the Pointers, 22-10, in a home meet held Saturday, Feb. 15.

In the meet, which Pointer head coach Wayne Gorell termed as his team's "worst showing this season", the Pointers were able to pick up but one victory, a tie, and a forfeit.

Gorell commented "Eau Claire stands as one of the strongest teams in the conference" going into the conference tournament to be held Feb. 28 through Mar. 1 at Platteville.

The only victory for Stevens Point was posted by first year man Dan Rodzwell at 130 pounds. Rodzwell came out on the top end of a 2-1 battle with Ron Steinmetz of the Bluebirds. Previous to this match Ron Campbell took five points as Eau Claire forfeited at 123.

After this the Pointers were held scoreless until Jim Sobocinski tied at 177. Sobocinski, going into the final seconds, held a 10-8 advantage but Eau Claire's Sam Spanel rallied to tie the score 10-10.

The Pointer's next action will be February 19 as they meet Platteville in WSUC action at Platteville.

Results of the Meet: 123 Ron Campbell (SP) won by forfeit. 130 Dan Rodzwell (SP) beat Steinmetz (E), 2-1. 137 Dennis Ridel (SP) pinned by Mark Rysler (E).

Pointers End Home Season This Weekend

Cagers Entertain Oshkosh In Home Finale Saturday

By Tim Lasch
The WSU-Stevens Point basketball team will conclude the home portion of their 1968-69 schedule against WSU-Oshkosh this Saturday evening at the Fieldhouse.

The Oshkosh team, the last WSUC champion, won the last two years and finished third in the NAIA meet last year, has had a poor season this year with the loss of their three stars from last year's squad.

The Titans lost their first seven games of the year and currently possess a 3-10 mark in conference play, but have improved considerably as of late, knocking off St. Norbert and Northern Michigan among others. Their overall mark is now 4-14.

Each of the Titans' resurgence as of late has been the scoring of transfer student Jeff Stang, who just became eligible and is averaging close to 25 points per game. Other starters for Oshkosh include guard Mike Malone, 6-6 guard Dale Race, and 6-7 center Bill Schwartz, all seniors, and sophomore forward Ken VertGow. VertGow is a strong rebounder and also is averaging about 15 points per game.

In the first meeting of the two teams this year at Oshkosh, the Titans were red hot in the first half and held leads by as much as 12 points before the Pointers took charge and won going away, 75-62. Schwartz had 20 points in that game.

Next Wednesday the Pointers travel to Eau Claire to take on the surprising Blugolds in the season finale. First year Coach Ken Anderson, who built Wausau into a high school basketball power, appears to be doing the same at Eau Claire. Fielding a team that usually starts their freshmen, Eau Claire has compiled a 9-4 conference mark and 12-7 overall.

Most of the Blugolds success has been due to the outstanding play of fresh guard Jim Lindsey, a first team All-State selection last year at Beloit High School.

Another fine freshman is 6-7 center Mike Ratliff, who is starting in the WSUC in rebounds, averaging 12 retrieves per game. 28 year old forward Larry Sturz had 20 points against Stevens Point in the first game of the two teams.

Other starters include guard Jerry Hutches and forward Bob Campbell.

Eau Claire upset the Pointers in their first game 73-68, after the Pointers led by as much as 11 points in the first half. The Pointers won the second half contest and it was one of only three games all year that the Pointers did not rebound St. Point.

Pointers Trounce Indians, 89-57

By Tim Lasch
WSU-Stevens Point gained a tie for the State University Conference leadership in basketball with an 89-57 thumping of WSU-La Crosse last Tuesday, Feb. 11, at La Crosse.

The win left Coach Bob Krueger's Pointers with an 11-2 conference mark, 16-4 overall, with three games remaining.

Stout, with whom the Pointers were tied, played twice over the weekend while Stevens Point was idle and beat La Crosse and Oshkosh to regain the lead on the weekend with a 132-62 mark. The Blue Devils will entertain River Falls in their final game this Saturday.

In the contest at La Crosse, the Pointers took command early and never were seriously threatened in pointing another very impressive win.

La Crosse led only once in the contest, 6-5, and after the first six minutes could not stay close to a hot-shooting Stevens Point squad.

The Pointers hit on over 50 per cent of their attempts from the floor and held a wide 41-27 edge in rebounds to control play.

The host Indians trailed by only six, 18-12, with 8:55 left in the opening half, but the Pointers suddenly caught fire and pulled away. Two baskets tucked by Co-Captains Palmer Clements and Mike Hughes and a Clements' free throw gave Stevens Point a 27-4 edge with 5:43 left and the Pointers went on to a 39-22 bulge by intermission.

Hughes paced the Point attack in the first half with 9 points, including several fine tips-ins. Quinn Vandenberg added 8 markers and Tom Ritzenhaler 7.

Guard John Selbo led the Indians with 8 points in the first half.

Picking up where they left off, the Pointers never allowed the hosts to get any closer than 14 points and after four minutes of play they pulled away again, this time for good. It was another fine team effort all the way as guards Vandenberg and Russ DeFauw set up play and Stevens Point's superior size and depth paying off handsomely.

The newly formed Hockey Club evened its record at 2-2 over the weekend by defeating St. Norbert and Eau Claire, by scores of 4-0 and 11-5 respectively.

On Saturday, the Pointers whipped a St. Norbert squad that had beaten them only a week ago, 7-5. The game was a preliminary to the Green Bay Bobcats hockey contest.

Early in the first period, scoring ace Tom Kujawski, a senior from Stevens Point, gave the Pointers a 1-0 lead with a goal assisted by Paul Sokol.

There was no more scoring in the game until midway through the third period when Jeff Littlejohn tallied on a slapshot assisted by Bill Christensen. Kujawski later tallied the final goal of the game. Jake Hafner intercepted a pass, drew the goalie to one side of the cage and passed to Kujawski who fired the puck into the open net.

The Pointers dominated the entire contest, allowing only 12
