Talks Of Her People, National Events

by JILL HEPBURN

It was a generation diverse audience in front of the National Enquirer's office on State Street. "They're just people who are interested in learning about the world," said Hepburn as she talked about her experiences as a "broadcaster." Hepburn has traveled around the world to bring back stories of different cultures and perspectives.

"I feel that the world is shrinking," she said. "We're all connected through technology and communication. It's important to learn about other cultures and ways of life."

"I've met people from all over the world," she continued. "From India to South America to Africa. Each country and culture has something unique to offer."

"I try to bring back stories that are important," she added. "Stories that shed light on issues like poverty, discrimination, and human rights."

Hepburn has been called a "broadcaster" by many, as she uses her platform to bring attention to important issues. She has spoken at numerous events and conferences, sharing her insights and experiences with others.

"I'm just a storyteller," she said. "I try to share stories that are important and offer a different perspective on the world."

Hepburn's passion for learning and storytelling has led her to become an advocate for social change. She believes that it's important to be informed and engaged in the world around us.

"I think it's important to stay informed," she said. "We have a responsibility to learn about issues and take action when we can."

"I'm just a storyteller," she added. "I try to share stories that are important and offer a different perspective on the world."

"I'm just a storytello
By DARBY GERSTEIN

A few men I know were representatives of the Student Council at P.J. O'Connell Hall. When they were elected in the spring, I doubted that they would have any influence, but they have been very active in many different ways. One of their best achievements was getting the administration to consider making the dorms co-ed.

The first meeting of the new council was held in the Recreational Building, where they discussed various topics. I attended this meeting, and was impressed with their enthusiasm and dedication.

Their primary goal is to provide more recreational facilities and activities for the students. They have already succeeded in getting the administration to consider making the college co-ed.

In conclusion, I believe that the new Student Council is doing a great job in improving the campus atmosphere. I look forward to seeing what they will accomplish in the future.

City Squashed Vet's Party

During the Oct. 15 moratorium, the Veteran's organization on this campus sat idle for the day, for its members were all away on an anti-war strike. It was held to be a success in that much beer was drunk.

Patrons paid $1 a shot for the beer. The veterans were to pay fifty. The open bar was to be held on October 23.

Our Band Unsatisfying, Nice Things Happened

BY SCOTT SCHMIDT

The band Unsatisfying, Nice Things Happened, better known as Unsatisfying, Nice Things Happened, is set to perform in the PHS auditorium on Oct. 20. The band's sound is a unique blend of punk and new wave music.

The frontman of the band, Jon, and bassist, Lisa, are both Senior and Junior students respectively.

One thing that sets Unsatisfying, Nice Things Happened apart from other punk bands is their use of humor in their lyrics.

"Our songs are about all sorts of things," Jon said. "We like to make people laugh and think about things differently.

The band has a following mostly among students in the young to middle age group who enjoy the energy and wit of their shows.

Moira and Sam's Pies

Moira and Sam's Pies is a local bakery that specializes in pie and quiche. They offer a variety of flavors, including apple, pumpkin, and chicken pot pie. Their pies are known for their flaky crust and rich filling.

Moira and Sam's Pies is located at 123 Main St. in downtown Springfield. They are open from 8 am to 6 pm daily, except on holidays.

Ailey Dance Group Rated As Excellent

BY SCOTT SCHMIDT

The Ailey Dance Group, a renowned dance company, performed at the PHS auditorium on Oct. 20. The group's performance was praised by the audience for its technical skill and emotional depth.

The Ailey Dance Group is known for its innovative and diverse repertoire, which includes both modern and classical ballet pieces.

This performance was part of a larger tour that brought the Ailey Dance Group to several cities across the country.

The theme of the performance was "The Power of Love," and it featured a mix of new and classic works by Alvin Ailey, the company's founder.

German Travel Film To Be Shown Tuesday

"The Fundamental Choice of Germany," will be presented Tuesday night in Stevens Point State Library, by the Library Association of the Wisconsin Institute of Architects.

It will show at 8 p.m., tickets reserved. It is an attempt to record the spirit and the mood of the German people and their determination since the war.

The production serves two purposes. It is showing select papers of Germany, and it is showing Germany as a place for recreation.

Deutcher Film and Goerg Cahn will be showing the news and sports programs, respectively. Goerg Cahn will be also the sports announcement.

"The Fundamental Choice of Germany," will be shown in the Library, Tuesday night, May 30.

O’Halloran Will Have Homecoming Of Sorts Saturday

Last week Stuart Point State University celebrated its homecoming with a variety of events, including a parade, a football game, and a series of banquets. The event was well attended, with thousands of students, faculty, and alumni in attendance.

Despite being six of seven starts, the Patriots kept the game completely out of reach on just one occasion and then opened the scoring in the second half, but the win was not enough to secure the title this year. The Patriots improved seventh place in their first year. The Patriots are the only team in the nation that has lost two games, and they have been the most consistent. On its last three games before the season, the team played well and defeated the other two teams.

Involvement with the total culture: talking, listening, meeting, sharing.

Sure, you'll get the sights, the beaches, and some swinging parties - and you'll enjoy them. But then, anybody can give you those. We give you the facts behind the sights, the reasons behind the events. And we do it through the people. We dish up the real Europe -from the mod up-beat action of Carnaby Street to the philosophical intensity of the Left Bank.

You get the agony and the ecstasy; action and involvement. Because that's what Europe is all about.

Pointers Edge Devils For First Win, 13-7

BY TIM JACOB

West Point-Senior Point took a two-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter and held on to edge visiting Clinton-Massie, 13-7, Saturday afternoon.

The victory was the Pointers' first win in the conference in over 11 years.

Senior Point took over on its own one-yard line after halftime and steadily moved the ball down field. The drive included six first downs on the way to the end zone.

The final drive began with 1:55 left in the game and ended with 9:10 left on the clock. The Pointers' final possession ended with a punt near midfield.

The Pointers' win over Clinton-Massie was their first conference victory since 1987. The Pointers have won five of their six games this season, including three in the conference.

Point Involves Oshkosh Saturday

Oshkosh is a small city located in the northern part of Wisconsin. It is known for its picturesque lakes and the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh, which is one of the largest public universities in the state.

The Pointer players are excited to face the Oshkosh Titans in their conference matchup. The Titans are currently 3-2 in conference play and are one of the toughest teams in the circuit.

The game is expected to be a close contest, with both teams evenly matched. The Pointers will need to rely on their defense to hold off the Titans and secure the victory.
