Editor's Note: The following guidelines will be considered by the Regents on Friday, November 13.

Regents Tighten Control

Guidelines For Student Disciplinary Procedures

Inadequate or inappropriate.

The Board of Regents may delegate in whole or in part the exercise of this reserved power to the Executive Director of the State University System.

These guidelines shall apply to all cases in which a student is charged with conduct which may subject him to substantial disciplinary action including academic misconduct such as cheating or plagiarism. As thus used, the words, “substantial disciplinary action” may include expulsion from the university, suspension from the university, denial of a degree to which the student would otherwise be entitled, and other actions which will substantially impair the student’s ability to live in a comparable hardship to the student.

University these guidelines need not apply to action on account of failures or inadequacies in academic or scholastic achievement such as stated failures in specified grades or need the academic requirements for a degree or for continuation in the university, nor non-attendance at class.

Guidelines for Disciplinary Procedure

1. Initiation of Charges

1.1 The president of each campus shall designate any person as “Investigating Officer,” who may, after investigation, initiate charges against any student for violation of University rules or regulations. The Investigating Officer will if warranted prepare and issue a notice to be served upon the student a statement of charges.

Nothing herein shall change the right of the administration, after investigation and after giving the student an opportunity to make any statement in his own behalf, to impose disciplinary punishment less severe than suspension.

1.2 Statement of Charges

A Statement of Charges shall contain:

(a) A brief summary giving dates, time, place, and events - of the facts or conduct on which the charge is based.

(b) A citation to and quotation from the rules alleged to have been violated.

(c) A copy of these rules.

1.3 Service

A copy of the statement of charges shall be served on the student charged in person or by mail to his address filed with the registrar. Where service is by mail, the date of mailing shall be the date of service.

2. Appointment

2.1 Appointment

Hearing Examiners shall be appointed by the Executive Director of the Wisconsin State Universities, when approved by the President of each campus. The position shall be filled by hearing examiners from the various state agencies. The University, in which case be the agency for the salary and expenses of the. All allegations in proportional basis but the examiner shall remain as the state of the parent agency.

The appointment of the hearing examiner from other state agencies shall be in compliance with secs. 16.280 and 20.90, Wis. Stats.

2.2 Duties

The duties of the Hearing Examiners, upon assignment to particular cases shall be as follows:

(a) Take custody of the case file and papers

(b) Schedule hearings in accordance with these rules on the statement of charges.

(c) Issue subpoenas and administer oaths.

(d) Conduct hearings, take testimony, and other evidence and take such other action as may be appropriate in accordance with these rules.

(e) Transmit a transcript or his summary of the evidence recommended findings of fact and decision, along with the file, record, exhibits, and other materials to the president.

3. Pre-Hearing Procedure

3.1 Request for Hearing

A student charged under sec. 1 has ten days from the day of service to request a hearing in accordance with this section.

This request shall be made in writing and directed to the president and shall also include an answer to the charges.

3.2 The answer shall specifically admit, deny, or explain each of the facts alleged in the statement of charges, unless the student is without knowledge or explanation of the charge, in which case he shall state that fact and the allegations in the statement of charges, if no answer is filed, or any allegation therein shall be deemed by the hearing examiner to have been specifically denied or explained in an answer filed, unless the student states in the answer that he is without knowledge, are deemed to be admitted to be true and shall be found by the Hearing Examiner unless good cause is shown.

3.3 If a student does not request a hearing within the ten day period specified above the president may accept allegations in the statement of charges as true and suspend or, impose other appropriate action upon the student.

Notice of such action shall be served upon the student and become effective upon service in accordance with sec. 1.3.

3.4 Appointment of Hearing Examiner

When a request is made for a hearing the Executive Director of the State Universities shall appoint a hearing examiner in accordance with sec. 1.1. When appointed the examiner is assigned to a particular case or cases and takes custody of the file. Notice of appointment of the examiner shall be served to the student and to the Attorney General.

3.5 Schedule of Hearings

The hearing examiner shall schedule the hearing as expeditiously as possible. The hearing shall be held on the date scheduled, except for good cause shown.

Either party may, at his own expense, have the record of the hearing or proceedings recorded.

A record of the testimony and decision in the proceeding shall be in writing or as a facsimile copy of the hearing examiner.

The right to present witnesses and cross-examine witnesses against him, the right to present witnesses and to be heard on his behalf, the right to counsel at his own expense, and the right to a transcript of the proceedings at his own expense.

3.6 Contempt Powers

Hearing examiners are empowered to maintain order in their presence and the power to eject disrupters and to impose discipline upon any student for misconduct occurring in his presence which interferes with the proceedings.

5. Decision and Appeal

5.1 Decision on Transcript

When requested by the president, the examiner shall file such the transcript of the proceedings together with his report. The examiner shall make a recommended findings of fact and decision. The president may decide the proceeding or by finding such record.

5.2 Decision on Summary Proceedings

If the summary judgment is not issued by the president to hear or read all the evidence, the final decision shall not be made until a summary of the evidence prepared by the examiner, together with his recommendation as to the findings of fact and the decision in the proceeding, has been furnished to the president.

5.3 Exceptions

Either party has ten days after hearing to review the examiner's summary and recommendations. A written objection to sec. 5.2 to file written exceptions thereto with the president. If no
Reactions To Discipline Code

Ray McMillion

When the academic and judicial uniform code of military justice (UCMJ) is currently under fire for allegedly denying due process and nonuniformly guaranteed rights, then why is the board of regents considering this nearly exact copy?

In answering the question "pending a hearing," a hearing is then added to the list of questions that under section 3.2, the commander of an institution of the armed forces can either increase or decrease your punishment, whereas your old commanding officer could only decrease it.

Read back to where it says, "The burden of proof lies with the prosecution officials."

This means the commanding officer (Univ. of Wisconsin Board of Regents, appointing officials) is conducting a hearing and investigating all the information in section 30 of the UCMJ. The hearing will be conducted as follows: If the accused in the investigation still wishes to be heard, he or she will go to the front of the board, then will be called upon to testify, and the director of the study committee of the board will conduct the hearing.

Furthermore, the Uniform Guidelines provide "due process" in cases of disciplinary actions. The student is not guaranteed the right to counsel or representation by an attorney. If the student is represented, the accused is presumed guilty. The benefit of the doubt lies with the accused. This is further violation of "due process." A student may also be temporarily suspended for "good cause," which is not defined in the proposed law, and well-being or for reasons that "may tend to tarnish" the good name of the student.

The Uniform Guidelines for Disciplinary Procedure suggest that the Attorney General are scheduled to be acted on by the WSU Board of Regents on Friday, November 11th, 1970.

Exceptions are filed to the summaries of recommendations within the prescribed time the president may exercise his discretion to accept or reject findings and decision as his own, but shall do so in writing.

4 Arguments, Briefs

If either party files exceptions under section 5.3, the president shall afford the parties an opportunity to file and present oral argument.

5 Decision

The president shall render written findings of fact and decision within 30 days of the president's decision. In a case where the Board of Regents elects to review on its own motion, any decision. Notice of such review shall be served within 30 days of the president's decision. In a case where the Board of Regents elects to review on its own motion, the decision by the president shall be final.

6 Effective Date

The proposed system is effective upon service in accordance with sec. 1.3.

9 Determination of Eligibility for High Educational Aid

In every case where the examiner recommends a finding that the student has committed acts which result in the student being found guilty of violating the discipline, the student shall also recommend findings and decision as to the student's eligibility to receive the public funds of the university. For purposes of determining eligibility under section 5.3 of the UCMJ, the student shall also recommend findings as to whether the student has had a hearing, if he has requested one. The examiner shall also recommend findings as to whether the student has engaged in their duties or responsibilities in the student's institution.

A copy of these recommendations shall be forwarded to the student along with recommendations on findings of fact and decision.

6.1 Temporary Suspension

A student may be temporarily suspended, pending a full hearing, for reasons relating to his safety or well-being or for reasons relating to the safety or well-being of members of the University community or the University property. Prior to such temporary suspension the president shall:

(a) Make an initial evaluation of the possibility of the information received and the circumstances as the circumstances permit.

(b) Determine whether the charging process is sufficient in nature as to require that the student be immediately suspended, or discharged pending determination of the charges. A student may lose credit for the semester in which the alleged misconduct occurred if he is found guilty of the conduct charged and the punishment imposed as specified.
Will Old Main Go?

If you're a carpenter looking for work in central Wisconsin, the possibility of razing Old Main on the University of Wisconsin State University campus could be a major plus.

Tearing down the nearly 80-year-old landmark means means probable construction of new structures to replace it.

To local buffs and champions for preserving the old, thought of removing a state building is hard to stomach.

The latest word from Madison is vague enough to keep preservationists on their toes. The issue, at least for awhile. will be handled by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education's finance committee, a group that can decide if a communicative arts building "out Main Main Hall due to obsolence."

The facility would house departments of communications, English and foreign language. It would cost about $3.5 million or the same as the new Albertown Learning Resource Center (super library) which opened last spring.

In addition, phasing out Old Main would require a new center for urban affairs specialists can apply the study in sociology and planning. 21

Panel: Do you think there is still room for an underground newspaper, as Counterpoint, on this campus?

Janty: A difficult question. Initially, Counterpoint started out as a viable organ of dialogue. But I think it has developed into a medium for expressing its own opinions on a wide variety of subjects. I guess the only reason a newspaper is strong in investigative reporting is because we thought of that in that paper.

Panel: Do you think that a newspaper must be completely independent of advertising in order to be completely free?

Janty: A tough question. Many newspapers today are supported by the advertising from various sources. As an editor of The Pointer, I never once did, and I don't advertise complaining about my editorial position. Similarly with the Campus Journal, I have not received any complaints.

Probably the only way a newspaper could exist if it is if the paper is subsidized, not only by advertising, but by some other means as well.

Finding such a source of income is a major task. But while we have not yet found a way to print more than once a week, we are trying and we are extremely successful.

Panel: Do you try to maintain a political stance in the Campus Journal?

Janty: As editor of the paper, I do not have a political position.

Panel: For an answer to this question, look at the New York Times, Washington Post, St. Louis Post-Dispatch and every other newspaper. The Times of London or the Manchester Guardian. If you hold to the notion that the amount of circulation a paper is critical to the process of expressing its own opinions on a wide variety of subjects.

Vetsens News

The Veterans Administration announced today it will finance mobile home loans for disabled veterans in all parts of the country.

The VA Administrator noted these specific provisions of the law: the financing of mobile homes:

"Establishes a special mobile home loan program for veterans with service connected disabilities who are determined for direct loan benefit for veterans and servicemen who have not previously purchased a $12,500 home loan guarantee eligible to purchase conventional homes."

"Provides that if a veteran or qualified veteran is in need of a home loan entitlement, he may apply for a home loan only if he has a home loan entitlement until he has repaid the mobile home loan in full."

"Provides that VA may approve loans up to a maximum of $10,000 for a mobile home, and up to $17,500 where a suitable lot to place the mobile home on is purchaseable."

"Provides that the VA may guarantee up to 30 percent of the loan for a mobile home, use of this guaranteed or direct loan benefit for veterans with service connected disabilities who are determined for direct home loans. It was emphasized this provision does not affect loans made before October 23, the date the bill became law."

Veterans News

The law which provides financing for mobile homes also rests VA Director G. J. LeMay, VA Director, recommended legislation on mobile home loans. With the committee said the legislation was necessary because housing for low and moderate income veterans."

The answer to our problem is education!" and he stated, "We need a whole new code." The colleges are not turning out teachers he feels. There are not enough teachers who are human beings and he suggested that the Board of Regents evaluate them. He condemned politicians and school boards at the high school level as being to blame for the lousy job they are doing. "Students leaving high school are not prepared for college," he said. He suggested a transition program after high school as necessary. "We must recognize our priorities," and he believes, "More attention must be given to the individual." A way must be found to get people committed because these things are not being done. The next speaker as a child living on the Menominee Indian reservation, Miss Ada Deer decided "that poverty was not for me and an education was the only answer." Today with a masters degree she is the Director of Upward Bound and PRIDE. She stated the plight of the Indian and asked, "What courses are you taking to sen- cate you in the real world?" After 20 years away from her hometown high school, Shawano, returning..."was like I'd ' Learnt'." In a poll of elementary teachers, 25 percent would prefer not to teach Indian students. Dropout rates average as high as 100 percent, 40 percent are unemployed. The average life span is 44 years. Infant mortality is twice our national average. The average income is $1500. She suggested a push in tutoring services and training projects. Dr. Garth, a Professor of Sociology here at Point, suggested three ideas in be a teacher. One should "deal with a member of a minority group who's the Golden Rule." As a matter of professional ethics, "You get a check each month. earn it!" He believed the individualistic approach of in- vestigating each student's personal progress and working from there as the best method. Since all teachers will not teach middle class whites or blacks but lower class whites and blacks preparation must be made he believes. "You must be developed," he stated. He then went on with some of the problems that are involved in the teacher based upon his personal experience. After the speakers con- cluded, a group discussion with the faculty was held.

Senate Powerless?

Student Senate has no power! The Senate is supposedly a representative body of all the students at this university. Up until the present, the Senate has discussed and passed at least 18, and the next 10 resolutions concerning such things as environmental programs, and the establishment of committees. The Senate has considered ROTC on campus, parking problems, Physical Education credits, to name a few, and has met with administrative hussles in many cases. For an example, when the administration was confronted with the proposal to replace the can vending machines with reusable, returnable bottles as to reduce the trash and unnecessary waste of non-reusable resourc- es, the administrative reply was, "No." College students are not capable of handling glass containers because of the safety hazard, and 2. The Goddess Dollar - a capital investment was involved.

It would seem that an academic-oriented institution should be involved in example setting for the surrounding communities.

Larry Dawson presented a resolution dealing with the over emphasis of the number of Physical Education credits required for graduation. The resolution suggested: 1. The reduction of required credits from four to two. 2. All P.E. courses may be taken on a pass-fail basis. 3. Any course taken for a grade cannot be averaged into any GPA. 4. The first failure in any required P.E. course may not be averaged into any GPA but it must be repeated until it is completed successfully. 5. Any course repeated out of necessity must be graded by the same system in which the student was originally enrolled. Any subsequent failure of a course must be averaged into the Students GPA.

Scott Schultz authored a resolution concerning the monetary compensation received by student officers and ROTC candidates. A motion was made to postpone the resolution in order to seek a defendant from the ROTC program.

The unemployment rate in Portage County increased 1.6 percent within the past year. Government statistics indicate that unemployment rose from 3 percent in November 1969 to 4.4 percent in the same month one year later. Although it is basically the poor, unskilled, and uneducated who are the ones that really suffer, the supposedly affluent middle class also feels the impact of this engineered recession. The employment market changed from one of demand to one where the workers now have obvious upper-hand. Management's advantage is manifested in several ways by not having to grant many concessions to workers including adequate raises. Students are also in the category of those who may suffer since they are basically part-time employees and often times unavailable. "There is never enough part-time work to accommodate university and high school students," explained Mr. Jaskowski, director of the Wisconsin State Employment Agency, "but this year is especially bad." Whereas in the past, local employers of part-time employees made a full-time job in two part-time positions since it was difficult filling the former, now need not follow this policy. As a result many potential student jobs have failed to materialize. Even the traditional employers of college people have cut back on hiring. United Parcel Service, a major employer for males, is not hiring at present, and Sentry is employing very few part-timers. The Wisconsin State Employment Agency which in the past has helped hundreds of students find employment, reported in a recent study that part-time work, there is only one position available, that of a waiter.

In addition to students, as was mentioned, a great many others are suffering, primarily those who are most ill-equipped or least able to work. The poor, the black, the unskilled, the elderly, and the weaker sex are the first to suffer when the layoffs begin. When the breadwinner suddenly finds he is unemployed, he is faced with the critical problem of meeting his financial obligations. Bitterness often follows this and hate turns inward as the worker continues to seek employment and fails. According to Mr. Jaskowski, one man explained, "I almost feel as if I have a stain on my forehead which employers can see since I cannot find work." Having this negative attitude becomes quite common among people in the ranks of the unemployed and being able to convey the necessary positive image to potential employers is virtually impossible. There is a spiral effect dragging the person down.

Another unfavorable result of an oversupply of labor, is that employers can find people who are desperate enough to work for any wages. This, in turn, works to the advantage of the poverty generating companies in Stevens Point. These industries offer such low wages that a family man working full-time cannot earn enough to pay his expenses. Lullaby Furniture of Stevens Point, for example, pays its general factory workers $1.95 per hour to start. These wages simply drive a family deeper into poverty.

What does seem apparent is that governmental help is needed. But, there is one major problem, that being the poverty in small cities and rural areas is hidden. The large city ghetto, a blatant manifestation of poverty is more obvious in urban America. Many people will not accept the fact that Point has a substantial number of poverty-stricken families so positive action cannot come forth if the problem is never recognized.

Peace Corps representatives will be on campus from November 11 to November 13 to interview prospective applicants and to explain Peace Corps Programs for Spring and Summer of 1971. The Peace Corps is presently looking for math and science majors, business majors, and students with liberal arts and general background with other skills to fill more than 1,000 job openings for 1971. From left to right are Peace Corps representatives Dick Christian, Amde Michael Habte, and Paul Willis.

Madrigal Supper Planned

Plans were announced today for Stevens Point State University's second annual "Madrigal Christmas Dinner," which mixes old English pageantry and music with a menu of Yuletide dishes.

Professor Kenyrd E. Smith, co-ordinator and director of the event, said two shows are being planned on December 3 and 6 to accommodate prospective patrons who were turned away last year because of limited space.

Tickets at $7.50 a piece have gone on sale at the information desk at the University Center. Each program, for about 300 persons, will be held in the Wisconsin Room of the Center beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Smith said traditional Christmas dinner will begin with a procession of singers dressed in authentic medieval costumes heralded by trumpet fanfare. A second fanfare will bring forth bearers of the Wassail Bowl to the high table where the lord of the manor offers a toast to the Christmas season. A third fanfare as the parade of the boar's head as the dinner guests are served their meal of English roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, and other traditional dishes.

The climax of the evening is reached as trumpets herald the bearers with flaming plum pudding.

After the meal, the University Madrigal Singers begin their concert of carols, ballads and madrigals, telling the story of Christmas from Advent to Epiphany.

Guests on the evening program will be Professor Katherine Merena Baird, harpist/nerd, and the University Choir. Costumes and scenery are being designed by Professor Frieda Bridgeham and student Barbara Wyatts of the drama department.

High School Debate

There will be a Pi Kappa Delta debate tournament for high school students on November 14. Three hundred students and seventy five faculty from 27 high schools will participate. Every area of the state will be represented.

The results of the Uggy Man Talent Show which was held Saturday at Little Joe's are as follows. First place went to Hyer Hall with 1497 votes. Second place went to the Six-Fives with 1121 votes. Third place went to Neale Hall with 863 votes. Fourth place was captured by Steiner Hall. There were no ties in the fifth place between Hansen-Schmeckle and Pray Sims Hall each collecting 440 votes.

We had one slight problem Saturday night. After the final con- test with the most votes, 1179, a dark horse candidate, or should we say dark dog can- didate was Tammy, a very cute Golden shepherd type which was a last minute entry submitted by the bartenders of Little Joe's. Due to the fact that Tammy was not a legally en- tered contestant we could not give her the win. At this time we would like to extend our thanks to Tammy and her backers for their participation in the Uggy Man Talent Show.

We would also like to thank Little Joe's Drinking Establish- ment for helping in presenting the talent show.

The Uggy Man Contest itself started Monday, November the nineteenth, and will run through Friday. The contest will be voted on by the University Center and the Allen and Delfont centers. Voting is done in person, and the winners will be announced Sunday November the Fourteenth. We hope everyone will get out and support the Uggy Man of your choice. All funds received will be donated to the United Fund, Day Activity Center of Stevens Point.

(Other oils are very poor substitutes; you'll lose a very crucial flavor if you don't use olive oil when called for in these Middle-East recipes.) Stir thoroughly with your fingers, a wooden spoon, or your hands until dough mixture is crumbly. Let sit 5 minutes.

Then dump mixture onto a counter or table, and knead for 10 minutes; longer is better, but I usually can last only 10 minutes. Kneading, in brief, means folding the dough over, pushing it down with the heels of your hands, turning it, folding it again, etc. If you've never kneaded, ask someone how to do it.

Shape dough into a ball and put it in a large, lightly-oiled bowl. Cover with a towel and put it in oven (or other warm draft-free place) for 45 minutes, or until doubled in size.

Filling
Meanwhile, put 1 C finely chopped onion into a bowl and stir in 2 t salt. Let rest at room temperature for one-half hour; then put onions into a strainer (If you don't have a medium-size wire-mesh strainer, buy one. You'll need it.) press liquid out with a wooden spoon, and add onions to the following mixture, which you've prepared while they were sitting in the salt. Heat 1 T olive oil in a small pan, add 1/4 C sliced almonds, and brown lightly; it will take only seconds. Scoop into a pmch of sugar on top of it. Let that set for a couple minutes, then stir briskly with a fork until the yeast is dissolved. Put bowl in oven (unheated) for 5 minutes, or until mixture doubles in volume.

In deep bowl, mix together 4 C flour (regular white, Not presifted) and 1 t salt. Add yeast when it is ready, along with 1 C lukewarm water and 2 T olive oil. (Other oils are very poor substitutes; you'll lose a very crucial flavor if you don't use olive oil when called for in these Middle-East recipes.) Put 4 on each cookie sheet, and bake one sheet at a time in the oven for about 30 minutes, or until the lamb is cooked and the biscuit browned. (Keep the first four warm in a covered bowl until the next four are done.)

The fun and frivolity countered by the underlying political tensions of the 1930’s in Berlin, Germany, will be recreated on the Stevens Point State University stage November 17-22 with the musical show “Cabaret.”

Thirty student dancers, singers and actors have been busy a month preparing what Director Seldon Fainstad describes as "the limited Door East Theatre and for last year’s productions. With talents in singing, dancing and acting, he recreates the role which originally starred Joel Grey. The romantic singing leads will be Elliott Keener, as Clifford; Patricia Jacobs, as Sally Bowles; Donna Nowak, as Fraulein Schneider; and Edward H. Smith, as Herr Schultz.

Supporting roles will be those of Ernst Ludwig, to be played by Robert Heitzinger, and Fraulein Kost, by Juli iris. Rounding out the male portion of the cast will be Anton A. Anday, N. Ross Safford, Chuck Lowry, Thomas Burich, William Kohl, William Borchort, Al Klimpke, David Berkery, Barry Anderson, Alan Jankowski, James Gavin and Jeffrey Kraft.

A bevy of cabaret beauties includes Helle Boilesen, Donna Nowak, as Sally Bowles; Donna Nowak, as Sally Bowles, whom he meets in his boarding house room. Meanwhile, Fraulein Schneider, owner of the boarding house, becomes romantically involved with another of her boarders, Herr Schultz, and as a result of the steady intrusion of Nazi storm-troopers into the situation, life is not easy for the four. Holding the spotlight for the better part of the evening will be Jeffrey Heger, a senior transfer student from the Goodman Theatre in Chicago. Although Heger is new to the Stevens Point stage, he has worked on construction in the 1970 Summer Theatre and for last year’s productions. With talents in singing, dancing and acting, he recreates the role which originally starred Joel Grey.

If you know a girl considering an abortion, this message might even save her life!

It is no longer necessary for unfortunate girls to be ruthlessly exploited for profit by quacks and inept butchers. Now they can have perfectly legal abortions under strict hospital care. The new California Therapeutic Abortion Act provides that all services be performed by physicians in accredited hospitals.

Last year it is estimated some 700,000 illegal abortions were performed in the United States. Almost without exception exorbitant prices were charged, hospital facilities were not available and a complete medical staff was not present to cope with emergencies.

Some of those girls died unnecessarily. Others suffered severe infections. Still others will never again be able to bear a child due to incompetent treatment.

The National Abortion Council for Therapeutic Abortions and Family Planning wants to make sure that all girls receive humane and sanitary treatment. YOU CAN HELP.

If you know of a pregnant girl who is considering sneaking off to have her abortion in a germ-infected apartment or office tell her to call us. Our counseling service is free.

We recommend only: the most reputable physicians; doctors offering fair and reasonable prices; services which will be completely within the law; services performed at accredited hospitals.

Whose Union?

Last week the Pointer put forth the question: “Do We Have A Student Union?”, the article analyzed the student's perception of the University Center that they support through student fees. As it happened, the article was more than timely. When the Pointer came out Thursday morning the “student” union was drastically overcrowded with delegates from the Wisconsin Personnel and Guidance Association (WPGA).

Throughout both Thursday and Friday the union took on the aspects of a convention hall with more delegates on the premises than students. Every room was reserved for WPGA, all three dining areas (the Pinery, the Bunyan Room, and the Grid) were overrun by the delegates, leaving little room for students, study areas were rendered useless by the accompanying noise and chaos of the convention and, ridiculous as it may seem, even the washrooms in the building were almost inaccessible.

We do not intend to lay all of the blame on WPGA for there have been other similar events. During the last weekend in October, for example, there was a conference for entertainment promoters; this event served to tie-up the entire second floor of the union.

Furthermore, students were not allowed to attend the concerts that were part of the program on the excuse that there was “ only room for delegates.” We believe the root of the problem is that those people responsible for allocating the use of the University Center facilities are not aware that this building is, before anything else, for the students, and are not performing their duties properly.

If these people are receiving undue pressure from higher administrative offices to convert the union into a convention hall then this pressure must be removed by whatever means necessary.

We suggest that, in the future, the responsibility for allocating University Center facilities be vested in a group of students, having final authority over such decisions. Moreover, we feel that any event, such as those mentioned above, that is merely for convention purposes and not for the benefit of the student community, be prohibited from this student union.

We, as students, are continually urged to go through channels to achieve our ends. Fine. Let us try the channels on this issue and, if the results are negative, then let us try other means.

Faculty Trivia

At tonight's faculty meeting two relatively important topics will be discussed. One is the Academic Council's recommendation for the establishment of a grade review board for the purpose of screening student complaints about unfair grading practices of instructors. The proposed system of grade review is designed to make the process so complex as to discourage any student from complaining about his grade. Whether any type of grade review, or any grades for that matter, should exist in a real university is perhaps a question more worthy of study by that august body.

The other topic of importance is the Student Senate resolution regarding student participation in various "academic" departments. We hope that the faculty will at least be courteous to Dale Becker, the Senator who will speak on behalf of the students, and will seriously discuss the questions involved. This will be more than they have done in the past.

'Law And Order' V S Justice

The catch-phrase of these Nixon years has been "having virtually a religious significance for every American". The argument that I am referring to is the recent decision of the Supreme Court, which has ruled that "law and order" forces cannot reconcile their paradox position with any considerations for justice. This applies to the administration and political opportunists who comprise the WSU Board of Regents, who are presently considering the Guidelines for Student Disciplinary Procedures set forth by Attorney-General Warren's office.

As they stand the guidelines are an abomination to the concepts of justice, that are, themselves, failing into the background. They are a reactionary reply to last year's demonstrations and in the hectic attempt to shore up law and order, the Attorney-General's office has blatantly trampled due process into the dirt. It is the typical reactionary procedure to "crack down" and tighten control rather than attempt to ameliorate the conditions at the root of the problem.

The guidelines provide for automatic guilt, open to door to double jeopardy, deny free counsel for the defense, and, in general, disregard the accepted standards of trial procedure. One does not need to be a law student to read the guidelines and see their glaring violations of due process.

Those who are dissatisfied with the system and advocate radical change, are both requested and warned to stay within the law, to seek those ends they desire by established methods. But what is to be done when the law is not only unresponsive but oppressive and unjust? Perhaps for radical "good Americans" an answer can be drawn from history..."that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it." Right on!

The guidelines compliment the notorious administrative policies of the WSU Regents. We believe students should unite against the proposed guidelines as such action would be in the best interests of the student community.

Furthermore, we demand that the faculty and administration of WSU-Stevens Point repudiate these guidelines, as alien to our traditional concepts of justice.

Letters

Open Letter To The Right

Last week saw issue number 9 of the "new" Pointer come out on campus and still there has been no worthwhile reply from the members of the right. As a thinking student, proof of the conservative views, I am greatly concerned that none of my fellow rightists are writing letters reproving the leftist intellectual dialectic of the Pointer...I am a WPGA staff, radicalist, I wonder that none of the conservative elements here have questioned the weekly draft/education page. I.P. Stone (whoever he is) and the overall anti-Americanism of the editorial page.

It is time for the students of the right to voice their opinion! The Pointer claims it will print any letter received. Let's put them to the test. As our president has said: "We must stand up and be counted!" Name Withheld

Comment On Election Analysis

Dear Staff and Editor:

Great job guys! Your Election analysis was a striking example of your ability to comment on events. If I were a sensitive person, I would be bothered by your attempt to communicate with me. But then, it is your word, and not mine.

Pointers Strongly Criticized

To the Editor:

Recently, in a conversation with you, I discussed some of the shortcomings of a free publication. Though I am reasonably certain that many of those ideas are reflections of a personal bias, I shall make the same suggestions available to your readers.

I feel that many of the issues of the Pointer possess the journalistic style of the Reader's Digest...while displaying the intellectual integrity of Wee Wisdom. I am not ready to refute that entire statement as yet. Although the "point of view" of your staff is not entirely clear to me, I should like to think that more student-oriented, student-originated articles would appear to replace the "WireService" approach to the news. I also stated that I thought your publication reached the "Community" but not the University.

I am aware of the frustrations of a weekly rag. I can empathize with an editor who has two jobs, i.e., student and journalist, but, I am startled and ashamed that the apathy on this campus is such a strong voice in the articles that fail to be published because they have not been submitted. Students on this campus must wake up to a very essential, very vital part of their intellectual and moral responsibility.

Stanislaw Lee has succinctly stated the dilemma of the Pointer..."the window to the world can be covered by a newspaper."

Sincerely,

William Leslie Clark

Help With Reviews

The first nine copies of the Pointer have contained reviews written by members of our staff. With one or two exceptions, the reviews have been descriptive in nature and were limited in quality because of general inexperience and a lack of time.

A good critical review, however, is a valid if not necessary part of a university newspaper; and with the help of the faculty and qualified students we hope to continue this policy.

The Pointer asks the cooperation of the faculty and students in submitting reviews. Recent books, university course, plays, films, movies, and TV specials are all worthy subjects. Reviews should be limited to between 300 and 750 words and should follow a generally acceptable format. By-lines will be broadcast live over WSUS, the campus radio station. The subject of a debate on the campus will be Robert FM, the campus radio station.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the Frank Lloyd Wright Lounge on Thursday, November 20, sponsored by the national debate. Conflicts between these proposals have been made to eliminate the army unit from the field of music. Micro-Boppers In the Union

Dear Editor:

Your article on "Do We Have a Student Union" you missed a couple of important points, plus hit a little hard on the faculty. Herzog failed to point out the little micro-boppers who pile in around noon to eat their lunch in the union while their campus teachers have a break. I'll have to admit it isn't as bad as Herzog makes it. They still take up tables in our already over-crowded union while their campus teachers have a break. I'll have to admit it isn't as bad as Herzog makes it. They still take up tables in our already over-crowded union

Secondly, the so-called bookstore should cater to the students since they are guaranteed a booming business. Only one night a week are they open passed 4:30 and a lot of part-time grad and undergraduates can't get there before 4:30. Either they should go or stay open longer. I'm sure other compañeros would be glad to be in their situation.

As for the faculty in the Union we should be glad to know that they really eat and drink and not just a fixation of our imaginations.

Sincerely

Sherri Pride

Corporate Power Control?

The control and application of corporate power for the purpose of producing desirable social conditions is emerging as the central problem of the last third of the twentieth century. Corporations control the economic, scientific and political power of the industrial world. However, only a little thought has been put into how that power can and should be used - by either corporate executives, government officials, or private commentators. If the problems of environmental deterioration, economic waste, industrial safety, and a general lowering of the quality of life are to be solved, the problems presented by the massiveness of corporate power, the weaknesses of the mechanisms designed to apply it, and the development of new ways of using it must become part of the national debate.

People interested in starting and continuing in that debate can begin by reading the following four books. The Reading List below was prepared by members of Ralph Naiders Center for Responsive Law.

The Vice President has asked us to "Consider...the influence of the drug culture in the field of music..."(Do too many of the lyrics the message of the drug culture is purveyed.) That's where making the mistake. No song with the words "kill" is as a utopia a society in which the juvenile's life is a rational option. Listening to the music, "Your mind might think it's flying...On those little pills...But you ought to know it's dying...Because...Specific kills!" That's from "Amphetamine Anne". Here's Steppenwolf singing, "I've known a lot of people walking around with tombstones in their eyes: But the pusher don't care if you die.

The real issue, Mr. Vice President, is whether you have done enough to alter the repressive, absurd and unjust forces in our society that drive people to drugs. These music people aren't really urging death through drugs; they are urging life through democracy. It's not just that corporate, governmental and other institutions have departed from our original goals. They are encouraging the drug life. Senator Moss observed, "The drug culture finds its fullest flowering in...advertising which mounts the argument that the pills turn rain to sunshine or euphoria." TV ran almost $20 million worth of ads for sleeping aids alone in 1969. The Vice President has asked us to "Set an example." Is his own party prepared to refuse contributions from those interests that feed upon the artificially created dependency for drugs, pep pills, tranquilizers, alcohol, cigarettes...?

Top Defense Contractors Campaign For GOP

Although federal law forbids corporations to devote money to presidential, vice presidential or congressional candidates, officers of 60 of the top defense, aerospace, and nuclear contractors gave more than $1.2 million to political campaigns during that presidential election year. The gifts favored the Republicans nearly 6 to 1.

Seven officers and four directors of Litton Industries, Inc., for example, donated a total of $43,000 to a Republican Committee that gave money to Barry Goldwater.

The New Deity

The board of regents of state universities will meet in executive session at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, November 17, in the State University Building, 142 E. Gilman St., Madison, to hear a report of the Selection Committee for in the presidency of Wisconsin State University - La Crosse.

Business and Education Committees of the Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the same building.

The Board will hold its regular meeting starting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 18, at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, 400 State Street, Madison, to receive reports from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, 400 State Street, Madison, to receive reports from departments and agencies, and to consider legislation that would provide for the establishment of the Wisconsin Board of Regents for Madison and the University of Wisconsin System, with the appointment of a new Board effective after selection of his successor.
Electric Power Study Group Reports

The Office of Science and Technology has released a report by an interagency study group entitled "Electric Power and the Environment" recommending a program to resolve environmental problems in meeting electric power needs.

The study leading to the report was sponsored by OSAT's Energy Policy Staff in cooperation with the Council on Environmental Quality, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of the Interior, the Federal Power Commission, the Rural Electrification Administration, and Tennessee Valley Authority.

It should surprise exactly no one that the Report's basic recommendations essentially echo what conservationists have been pleading for many years:

(1) Long-range planning of expansion by electric utilities on a regional basis at least ten years in advance of construction.

(2) Public disclosure of specific plans at least five years in advance of construction.

(3) Preconstruction review and approval of all new large power plants and transmission lines by a public agency at the state or regional level or by the Federal Government if the state fails to act.

(4) An expanded program of research and development, described in detail in the report, aimed at better pollution controls, underground high voltage power lines, improved generation techniques, and advanced siting approaches so as to minimize the environmental problems inherent in existing technology.

The report also stressed the need for adequate advance notice to the public of utility expansions, and for participation in the planning and preconstruction approval process by environmental protection agencies at all levels of government and the public.

To implement its proposed program the report recommends a coordinated system of state, regional and federal certifying agencies to assure that all substantive environmental protection requirements are met before power plants and transmission lines could be built. These institutional arrangements are designed also to assure that if environmental concerns can be satisfied, construction can proceed in a timely fashion so as to meet the nation's growing needs for electric power.

But this report, the scores before and after it will be as worthless as yesterday's campaign promises unless followed by legislation designed to implement the glowing recommendations. The Nixon Administration has promised to propose some in the next session of Congress, but on Capitol Hill at least, it's a long way from proposing to consummation.

As modest as they are, the recommendations of this latest report strike at the core of the power industry's grip on getting its needs for electric power. As a general rule refuses even to use existing, relatively inexpensive technology to minimize its pollution. The sneak-in, quick, and get-under-construction tactic to circumvent effective participation in the planning and protection agencies at all levels makes the nation's growing economy.

This kind of talk is an oxymoron to an industry that as a general rule refuses even to use existing, relatively inexpensive technology to minimize its environmental impact, let alone entertain the notion of questioning its dream of limitless expansion.

There's an interesting footnote to this final chapter: TVA representatives believe that the matter presented in this chapter requires a great deal more study and consideration than the interagency study group was able to give it and, therefore, do not necessarily agree with the contents of the chapter.

Consid­ering the electric power industry's current and potential impact on the environment, it should be required reading. But don't look for revelations; just insight.

Gov Grants For Industrial Recycling

American industries withdraw over 17 trillion gallons of water per year to remove Balloon of industrial contaminants and meet municipal pretreatment requirements for municipalities that treat industrial wastes. By 1980, it should be possible for industry to remove 96 percent of the goods from their effluents and by 1985, closed loop treatment systems or their equivalents could effectively eliminate water pollution from many industries.

Then comes the hard part: getting industry to use the new technologies. As a general rule, industries are refusing to use existing techniques to minimize their pollution. The American public has learned the hard way that merely having the technological capability is an "ultimate solution" to nothing when the polluters refuse to use it.

PWQA estimates that by the end of 1972 techniques will be available to reduce the discharge of industrial contaminants and meet municipal pretreatment requirements for industrial discharges which enter the public's waters. The 17 trillion gallons is about 50 percent of the nation's total water use.

Sixteen projects to find ways of creating closed recycling systems for industrial wastes and water reuse are currently underway via grants from the Interior Department's Federal Water Quality Administration. The projects are jointly financed by PWQA (433 million) and industry ($11 million). Interior spokesmen feel the closed system holds promise of an "ultimate solution" to abolish industrial waste discharges which are the biggest source of the Nation's continually increasing water pollution problems.

Students Clean Up

The Stevens Point chapter of Environmental Council met Saturday, November 7, at 1:00 p.m. in the University Center for a campus and community clean-up project. 75 to 100 students took part in the task of picking up gum wrappers, cigarette butts, cans, bottles, and many other assorted pieces of garbage distributed over the campus and immediate area of the city to the East of the University. August Buch of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Gary Beineke of Sigma Pi were co-chairman of the event. Both are members of Inter­Fraternity Council and Environmental Council.

The Mayor and the City of Stevens Point backed the project and lent the council a garbage disposal vehicle. Sentry Insurance also offered assistance.

Wetlands Devoured

Drainage, development, and land fill have devoured much of Hawaii's limited wetlands, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. Three endangered species of birds are totally dependent on the remaining 11,000 acres of wetland habitat; the Hawaiian stilt, the Hawaiian gallinule, and the Hawaiian green tree frog. Another, the Kolua duck, uses the marshes but also finds suitable living conditions in streams. These birds were never abundant, and their numbers have been drastically reduced as the marsh areas are destroyed.

The Environmental Council meeting convened at 7:45 p.m. on Wednesday, November 4. The first order of business was to delegate a representative to the Student Assembly from the council. Julie Cook volunteered for the job.

The financial report was given by Dale Lang. Of the $800 allotted to the council, a balance of $635.25 was reported. Out of the funds spent, $90 had been allotted for glassware in order that Dr. Becker might continue his water pollution study on the Wisconsin River. It was announced that the American Chemical Society was going to start an air pollution control study in the city of Stevens Point, and that all those interested in working on this study should contact Dr. Thermier or Dr. Rouda.

Auggie Buch, Inter­ Fraternity Council, reported that the council clean-up would be held Saturday, November 7 at 1:30 p.m., with those participating, meeting in the Gridiron at that time. Two half-barrels of brew were to be had by those participating at the Pour Haus Saturday at 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. It was suggested that members of the council should form some type of pollution reference bureau, handling complaints of local pollution by first investigating them and then referring the complaints to the proper authorities.

A member of the council volunteered to check into a company in Milwaukee that has reportedly been recycling all forms of cans. The possibilities of working with this company were to be found out.

A Polluter of the Month Award committee was formed to find such a polluter and also make a Conservationist of the Month Award to respective recipients.

The next council meeting is to be held November 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mitchell Room of the University Center.

Water Pollution Overstated?

Recent statements attributed to a reported international authority on water pollution management vividly point out the fundamental lack of ecological basis evidenced by many public health specialists occupying environmentally oriented positions, the Wildlife Management Institute reports.

Dr. Abel Wolman, a consultant for the Washington, D.C. Suburban Sanitary Commission, was quoted as saying, "Despite the fact the evidence is slim that chemicals now reaching raw water sources is a menace to health, people have been unable to resist the temptation to alarm the public. More research is warranted, but there is absolutely no threat of impending disaster. Rivers aren't dirty because of man, they were dirty long before man arrived on the scene." He also stated that "there has been a mercury uprising," with no evidence that residues of the metal in rivers or lakes are a serious health hazard.

Some conservationists commenting on Wolman's remarks said they were prime examples of how a strictly medical or public health viewpoint on environmental matters can be grossly misleading. They said that disaster has already struck on many occasions in fish and wildlife populations which is ample evidence that man is not immune. Another point which Dr. Wolman doesn't seem to realize, they said, is that rivers before man were dirty with soil and other natural debris, not with human feces, slaughterhouse blood, garbage, oil, pesticides, and excessive amounts of heavy metals. They further chopped Wolman's contention that metal mercury may not be a serious health hazard by stating that death from mercury, after release into the environment, changes to methyl mercury which is a very serious health hazard, the full extent of which is yet unknown.

Conservationists are alarmed over the short-sighted viewpoint of many medical types who believe that as long as we can drop a pill in water and make it safe to drink anything is OK. This concern intensified following the recent appointment of a medical doctor to direct environmental matters in the Defense Department and the announcement that the newly formed Environmental Protection Agency may be stuffed with public health people.

Call For Help
From Kentucky

Winter is coming in the hills of Jackson, Kentucky. The young man who was forced to quit his job and stay home with his wife and baby during her illness cannot now find work. There is no money for fuel, food for the baby, for other basic necessities.

The long cold winter is coming to the hills. Many of the people are in their fifties: unskilled, unemployed, untrained, no job. They are not eligible for Social Security.

There is no industry. The soil has been worked to death. No hospital. No nursing home. Transportation in this area is critical. Often the mentally ill must wait in jail for days before they are transported to the hospital two hundred miles away.

So? Of course everybody is aware of the shoddy section of the Great American Dream. So - what are we going to do about it? Residence Hall Council is sponsoring a Thanksgiving clothing drive (that is not limited to clothing) in response to this plea from Jackson, Kentucky: "please help my people...the needs are so many I hardly know where to start. Just send anything on this list: clothing (any season), socks, toothpaste, toothbrushes, hairbrushes, children's underwear, old hose for stuffing pillows, yarn, felt, cloth scrap, hairbows for little girls, pencils and paper, shampoo, old jewelry (for craft projects), used curtains, puzzles, children's books, baby clothes, scissors, construction paper, plastic spoons, paper cups, always, toes, safety pins and needles, vitamins."

So students, please bring articles back with you after Thanksgiving vacation. They will be collected and weighed in

Trivia Results

The Second Annual Trivia contest on WSUS was a little too successful this weekend. Eight dormitories were knocked out of phone service as 225 teams called in over 56,000 phone calls in 6 hours. This didn't stop some of contestants. The more resourceful came out on the doorstep of FM 90 and listened to a portable radio in 29 degree weather, running the answers into the office. Others moved off campus into apartments for the weekend, and one group even took over the public phone in the union for the weekend.

The idea of the contest was to have teams answer trivia questions asked by disc jockeys between records. Last year 22,500 calls were received with 90 teams participating. Things are now beginning to return to normal at WSU and the entrants are receiving their share of the $2100 worth of merchandise and records donated by by record distributors and Stevens Point merchants.
1. What's the oldest brewery in Milwaukee?
   A. Last year Pabst Brewing Company, the oldest in Milwaukee, celebrated 128 years of brewing great beer. And that's older than your father's, father's, father's, moustache. Which brings us to our point: if you believe that practice makes perfect, then you can't find a more perfect beer than a Pabst.

2. What should I serve when the boys drop over?
   A. The perfect beverage for moments of celebration and good fellowship like this is Pabst Blue Ribbon beer. Its good old-time flavor helps break the ice and get the party rolling.

3. Who are these guys?
   A. This is a group photo of our bowling team. It was taken in 1893, the year Pabst won the Blue Ribbon as America's best beer. We still brew our beer the old-time premium way. Our bowling team hasn't changed much either.

4. What are these horses trying to pull?
   A. They're pulling one day's production of Pabst beer. This often caused traffic jams outside the brewery. These tie-ups were the results of efforts to supply the increasing demand for Pabst. A demand that has remained unquenched to the present day.

5. How is Pabst brewed?
   A. 1. Choice hops are gathered and placed here. 86. Then we mix in only the best grains. 22. Then the beer is allowed to brew slowly and naturally. 64. Look closely. This is a secret process that gives Pabst its good old-time flavor.

6. What'll you have?
   A. Pabst Blue Ribbon, because it has something no other beer has... good old-time flavor. And if perchance we have not covered everything you've always wanted to know about beer but were afraid to ask... quell those fears. You'll find the answers to all your questions inside an ice-cold bottle or can of Pabst. On second thought, why not buy a 6-pack? It's our "refresher" course.
VA Finances Mobile Homes

A major piece of legislation designed to assist millions of veterans to get their own homes was signed into law October 23rd by President Nixon.

One provision eliminates an ending date for G.I. loan benefits for all veterans who served after January 31, 1955, and also restores these benefits indefinitely to 8.9 million Korean Conflict and World War II servicemen who did not use them earlier.

Joseph J. Mulone, Director of the Milwaukee Veterans Administration Regional Office, says another provision offers a program of loans for home purchases to veterans for the first time - up to $10,000 for a mobile home alone; up to $17,500 for a home and acreage.

A third provision authorizes the Veterans Administration to guarantee loans to veterans who served in the armed forces who served on active duty for a period of 180 days or more after September 30, 1945, and who were honorably discharged.

Mr. Mulone also called attention to provisions of the new law which (1) eliminates a requirement that a veteran must have 10% of the cost of a home, (2) authorizes the Veterans Administration to guarantee loans to refinance existing mortgage loans or other loans on homes owned and occupied by veterans. The guaranty may be for 60 percent of the loan, or $12,500, whichever is less. (3) Authorizes the Veterans Administration to guarantee 60 percent or up to $12,500 of loans for veterans to purchase family units in condominium projects insured by the Federal Housing Agency, and (4) Eliminates January 31, 1975, as the terminal date for Veterans Administration's direct loan program.

Veterans wishing assistance and information should contact the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 342 North Water Street, Milwaukee, or their local County Veterans Service Office. For telephone assistance in the Milwaukee area call 224-1101.

What Is McKendree Spring?

Is it McKendree Spring - coiled and ready to happen? - or McKendree Spring - a new season in a new year of music? - or maybe even McKendree Spring - a glissing strip of sound that moves you through the jolting climax of "Traitor Spock, it screams ..." or the soft sweet place of "What Will We Do With the Child"? Yet, he still retains the folk flavor that has become his trademark, and complex electric and acoustic arrangements that stir the intellectual. As the future sound of music in this country, McKendree has a young, full of promise and drive, and looking ahead to the music of the future.

McKendree Spring has the unique ability to re-create, rather than do over, every song they choose. Definitely a group to see live, the pull no tricks in the studio that would leave the audience disapponted at performances. They interpret in a style so spontaneous and free from cliches that one feels they wrote every song they perform. The change from old, deliberate "let's make this one really different" attitude is a welcome one indeed.

And how does an audience react to this treatment? With standing ovations and afterthoughts of songs that speak of their everyday lives. With curiosity and questions about an electric violin and keyboard. But most of all, with grateful acceptance.

Pointers Stomp River Falls 30-6

Playing almost flawless football, something it had not been able to do in eight previous games, Stevens Point State recorded its first win of the season Saturday.

The Pointers, under head coach Pat O’Halloran had not had any pass intercepted, did not lose any fumbles, and did not suffer any penalties at the wrong time, and did not let the ball go out of bounds with River Falls as the Pointers won, 30-6.

For the first time in the season, the Pointers showed something offensively for an entire game. In several other outings the Pointers would show only brief signs of offensive consistency.

“Our offense looked as good as it has all season,” said O’Halloran. “For once our line was blocking well.

The improved play up front made the jobs of the four Pointer blockers on the left side easy and resulted in a record breaking performance by Steve Groeschel.

Bentley from flanker carried the ball on 32 occasions to eclipse the 31 carry mark he previously held with team mate Steve Groeschel. In carrying the ball for a new record, Bentley has gained 142 yards, and one of the best performances by a Pointer back in several years.

It wasn’t until midway through the season that O’Halloran and his staff moved Bentley from flanker to fullback.

The top finisher for Pointer was again against Northern Illinois University with Pat McFaul kicking his seventh field goal of the year in league play to set a new conference mark. He had tied the record the week before with three against Oaklous. His record breaking effort came from 38 yards out in the second period to give the Pointers a 16-7 lead.

Boerner’s two-yard run in the second quarter left the Pointers with a 23-6 advantage at the half.

Saturday against Platteville will be a different situation. The Pointers will be hard pressed to win, but a respectable showing could help make the winter shorter and hope for the quick return of next football season more optimistic.

Cross Country Season Comes To Close

As was to be expected, Platteville easily captured the Wisconsin State University Conference cross country championship on the Pointers’ home course Saturday.

The Pioneers, who had triumphed as defending champion LaCross in a dual meet the week before, went into the championships as a heavy favorite. They didn’t disappoint anyone as they placed all five of their runners in the top 11.

LaCross, the point total of 37, 38 seconds later, which showed great improvement as the season grew older, was a surprising second with 51 points. La Crosse, winners the past two seasons, was third this season.

River Falls edged Stevens Point out for fourth place with 131, while the Pointers tallied 137.

As was to be expected, LaCross’ 14,000 yard run was won, 30-6.

Stout played perhaps his best game in two seasons. He rushed for 39 yards and completed six of 12 passes for 95 yards and scored two touchdowns on a four yard run in the second period and on a six yard keeper in the final period.

Bratwurst Record Falls at Milwaukee County Stadium

by Tim Sullivan and Randy Wielow

Milwaukee County Stadium has been the scene of many historic feats in sports. It was at this ballpark that the Brewer's Joe Adcock blasted four homers and a double in one single game. County Stadium was the place where the dynamic duo of Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews started giving opposing pitchers nightmares with their home run bats.

Alas, fate intervened, and the Brewers moved south, taking their glory days with them.

Then came 1970 and the Brewers. The Brewers closest claim to fame was the national uproar that sprung up when Bernie Brewer made his famous descent from atop the Milwaukee County Stadium scoreboard. It was shortly after the Bernie Brewer incident that a long-standing major league record was shattered.

The record broken was the number of bratwursts, with hot sauce, consumed by an individual during a nine inning game. The new mark was set by Bob (Ma) Pesch of Stevens Point on September 22 against the California Angels.

Pesch downed seven brats, crushing the old record of four, held by Joe Falls of the Detroit Free Press. To add variety, he used pickle relish on three of them. Immediately following the game, Bob held an impromptu press conference at the Alka-Seltzer stand.

"My teeth were great," stated Pesch. "I pulled a muscle in my throat against bratwurst.

"I bit down and Jim Fregosi hit a long drive to center. I jumped up to watch the ball, then I stood there and almost swallowed the brat. Luckily, I recovered in time." In major league bratwurst eating, swallowing leads to immediate disqualification.

As Pesch headed for the dressing room, he announced his new goal.

"I want to break the Astrodome record of 20 spare ribs eaten" during a doubleheader. But it's going to be tough, because I prefer eating on grass to eating on Astroturf.

The wrapper of the record breaking brat can be found at the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, New York. It is sandwiched between Wrigley Field's first light bulb and Moe Drabowsky's rubber chicken.

Box Office

Dates for theater box office operations at Stevens Point State University have been established.

Robert Baruch, coordinator of public relations for the drama department, said tickets for each play will be available two weeks before opening night. The office will be open Monday through Saturday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and can be reached by phone through the university switchboard.

The first play has been completed, but the six remaining shows for this 50th annual season are: "Cabaret," which opens November 17; "Holiday," December 11; "Cyrano de Bergerac," March 2; "The Magic Flute," March 21; "Evening of Dance," April 20; and "Lysistrata," May 11.

Box office policies specify that all shows begin at 8 p.m. sharp and latecomers will not be seated until a suitable intermission. Tickets are available on a first-come, first-served basis and can be exchanged no later than 24 hours prior to the performance for which they were issued. Special rates are given to groups with 20 or more members. And reservations which are unpaid are held until 7:30 p.m. the evening of the performance for which the tickets were requested.

FOOD TO SPARE

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) - New Zealand appetites are small by American standards. That's why, when American olimen flung a party for 800 people, and 150 turned up, there was still food to spare.

The olimen, driling in the South Island's Black-water Valley, decided to hold the party for residents of the nearby district of Murchison.

For the 800 people they expected to attend they reckoned 2000 pounds of food would be enough. They ordered 400 pounds of beef, five lambs, three sheep, 25 chickens, 300 pounds of stuffing, 40 pounds of sasues and 50 loaves of bread.

It was more than enough. Though 550 people came along they all had a whale of a time and there was still 20 pounds of food left over.
Lord, We thank thee. For in Thy great wisdom Thou didst see fit to choose our Pilgrim fathers to begin to bring a great civilization to thy poor, degraded, benighted heathen savages of the New World. We thank Thee for the many gifts that Thou has continued to bestow upon us, Thy chosen people.

For the more than 16,000 school-aged Indian children not in school, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the Indian level of formal education which is half the national average, we thank Thee O Lord.

For the Indian unemployment rate ten times the national average, we thank Thee O Lord.

For the average Indian income 75 percent below the national average, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the fifty thousand Indian families living in unsanitary, delapidated dwellings, in huts, shanties and abandoned automobiles, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the Indian infant mortality rate twice the national average, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the average Indian life-span of forty-four years, twenty-one years below the national average, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the tuberculosis rate five times the national average for the Indian, we thank Thee, O Lord.

For the contaminated water which more than half the American Indians drink, we thank Thee, O Lord.

Let us pray.

On this Thanksgiving Day, we humbly entreat Thee, O Lord, to continue to bestow upon us Thy great blessings of peace, progress, and prosperity.

Amen
