In This Issue

- Drug Bust – p. 3
- I.F. Stone on Mid-East – p. 10
- Dreyfus Threatened – p. 11

--- Pointer Exclusive ---

On page six of this issue James Earl Ray explains how he was forced into pleading guilty to the killing of Martin Luther King.
School of Medicine in which marijuana is discussed extensively. The discussion outlines the effects of marijuana on the animal pharmacology, effects on humans, acute adverse reactions, problems of use, human pharmacology, medical uses, adverse mental effects, psychological effects, and legal status. A book recently published by the Salk Institute of California, "Marijuana," by John Kapchan, is a reference work of large and growing areas of the United States against marijuana laws. Research on marijuana is bit as widely quoted as the second. A number of scientific papers have been written in the pharmacological and psychological literature on marijuana. However, no comprehensive survey of the scientific literature on marijuana is as yet available to the public.

Marijuana does not cause physical dependence. However, it does cause some unusual changes in behavior and thought patterns. Studies have shown that marijuana users have a greater tendency to engage in illegal activities and to use other drugs. The use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of alcoholism and drug abuse. One study found that marijuana users were more likely to use alcohol and other drugs than non-users. The use of marijuana also increases the risk of accidents and the risk of serious injury. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer or other serious health problems.

Marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of mental illness. The use of marijuana does not increase the risk of schizophrenia or other mental disorders. The use of marijuana does not cause an increase in suicide or the risk of suicide. However, the use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of suicide attempts. The use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of drug-related death. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of heart disease or stroke. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of HIV infection. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of hepatitis C or other liver diseases. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast, cervix, or colon.

Marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast, cervix, or colon. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of lung cancer. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of heart disease or stroke. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of smoking or other smoking-related diseases. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of alcoholism or drug abuse. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of suicide or the risk of suicide. However, the use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of suicide attempts. The use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of drug-related death. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of heart disease or stroke. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of HIV infection. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of hepatitis C or other liver diseases. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast, cervix, or colon.

Marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast, cervix, or colon. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of lung cancer. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of heart disease or stroke. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of smoking or other smoking-related diseases. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of alcoholism or drug abuse. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of suicide or the risk of suicide. However, the use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of suicide attempts. The use of marijuana is associated with an increased risk of drug-related death. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of heart disease or stroke. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of HIV infection. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of hepatitis C or other liver diseases. The use of marijuana is not associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast, cervix, or colon.
Lee Sherman Dreyfus
WSU President

In 1964, Lee Sherman Dreyfus has been the president of Wisconsin State University for the past three years and receives an annual salary of $23,000. The forty-four year old administrator, who received his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. The following interview was taken shortly after the shooting, in his home.

POINTER: What might be the function of the university?
DREYFUS: I think the prime function of the university ought to be to achieve those goals which the state has established for it to serve society's needs. In the case of Stevens Point in particular, we have been given a specific portion of the societal needs of this state. The prime function, however, is to develop the educated mind of the citizenry who will be in chain form continue to take over society and operate it for the preservation and for the extension of future generations.

POINTER: In what circumstances would you call the National Guard to this campus?
DREYFUS: These circumstances in which local law enforcement were not able to contain or neutralize the issue of marijuana use, I think it would be the proper role of the community for the educators in our society to determine to a point where it was not merely support for Vietnam, but was in fact the use of military forces of this country to do the entire job which is a very different thing. I think the current approach to back out of it is precisely where it has to go. The Vietnamese now do understand that this is going to continue. I fully agree with the position that the administration of the American war is a mistake. I am also growing somewhat impatient with the time element, and I would like to see us out of Asia as rapidly as possible.

POINTER: What is your general opinion concerning illegal drug usage?
DREYFUS: I have a personal philosophy that when something happens in which the farmer produces a commodity in which he cannot make personal judgments about himself, either physically or emotionally, the taking of the substance is wrong. This, of course, does include the use of alcohol to that extent.

POINTER: What did you think of the first Pointer, and do you think it should go independent?
DREYFUS: Reader response to the first Pointer was well put together. It is not yet clear how it will perform as much as I thought it was going to. I was under the impression it was going to be more of a tabloid — certainly more colorful, certainly more creative. The issue of this, I think, may be a matter of financial resources, of which we have very few. If I would like to try the experiment of the Pointer going independent, I think one of the reasons why I would be a failure is lack of money. In one way of avoiding a situation where the Regents would be held liable and responsible for something over which they do not have direct control.

POINTER: Has the United States policy in Vietnam been a mistake?
DREYFUS: I don't think so. It would be a mistake to judge the issue of the war on Vietnam through the same political barometer that we used in World War Two. The reason I have such optimism about this issue is that it is not merely the right thing to do, but it is also in the interest of the American people. If we do not get out of Vietnam, we will be in a position of having to fight on two fronts. If we get out of Vietnam, we will be able to make better decisions at home.

POINTER: Are your business connections and your ties to the military?
DREYFUS: The only real connection I have with the military business is among the 15 boards of directors and/or 15 boards of trustees. Two of them are related to business corporations. One is the National Bank of the United States, which has two radio stations including WSPN. The second is the board which serves on the Citizens National Bank, as did the President prior to me. And that reminds me, I bought the minimum stock required to be a member of the board of directors at a bank. That amounted to about $1,000 worth of stock or $50 shares. My military connections are with the United States military, and the military is the one that is responsible for the military operation. I am also member of the 9th Naval District Advisory Council, I think.

POINTER: What authors, of special interest to you, would you recommend to students?
DREYFUS: It depends on the students. I think students in my particular field ought to stay on top of Marshall McLuhan and Rosen. I think this at this point to really come up into the field they should also follow Lichy. I could go on with a longer list, if you desire. However, the mass media must be consumed and analyzed personally — not just read.

DRAFTES KILLED AT HIGHER RATES

Washington—(CPS)—Army draftees have almost twice as high a chance of being killed in Vietnam as non-draftees enlisted men, according to a U.S. Army study.

During 1969, draftees were killed at the rate of 0.7 per 1,000, and injured at the rate of 200 per 1,000, while first term enlistees were killed at the rate of 1.7 per 1,000 and injured at the rate of 125 per 1,000.

The reason draftees tend to be killed at a much higher rate is that the Army, in a procedure different from previous wars, allows men who enlist for three years to choose what job they want. Consequently, draftees who make up 56 percent of the men entering the Army, tend to make up a much higher percentage of combat units.

William K. Brehm, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve affairs, explains that "the popular jobs are the ones for which people enlist. They don't enlist for the hard-core combat skills. That is why draftees tend to populate the hard-core combat skills: 70 percent of the infantry, armor and artillery are draftees."

Defense Department manpower expert, who refused to be quoted by name, told a reporter for National Journal, a newsletter which requested the Army study, that "we've studied this problem very carefully. People don't want to enlist in the Army to fight. We recognize the inequity this causes in a shooting war, but we don't know what to do about it."

College graduates are slightly less likely to be assigned to combat duty but there are no figures separating draftees from enlistees among college graduates. 36.2 percent of the graduates who entered the Army in 1969 were assigned to combat jobs compared with the overall rate of 43.1 percent. 61 percent of the graduates were draftees.

The higher death rate of draftees in Vietnam would have been ended by an amendment to the military procurement bill, which would have barred the shipping of draftees to Vietnam unless they volunteered to go. The amendment, authored by Sen. William Proxmire, (D—Wis.), was rejected by a vote of 22-71.

The Army says it has no figures on the chances of a draftee serving in Vietnam, but other figures indicate that 8,000 draftees are sent to Vietnam each month. The monthly draft call has been running about 10,000. 30 percent of all draftees then in the Army were serving in Vietnam on July 1 compared with 25 percent of first term enlistees.

Many persons, including Sen. Proxmire, feel that the three- year enlistees should not be able to opt out of combat while draftees must fight, the Army is apparently unwilling to remove the provisos because enlistees might drop, forcing a drastic rise in draft calls. "Strange as it sounds," Brahm said, "only 800 young men a month out of 200 million Americans are enlisting for combat. If we went to an all-volunteer force in Vietnam, it's quite conceivable that that's all we might get."

VIREN VETS STAGE "MOC"

In an 84-mile march from Fort Bragg, N. C. to the beach at Salisbury, Md., two veteran Vietnam combat veterans staged "moc" combat in small cities along the Progress of the war and the nature of U.S. aggression in Vietnam. These veterans staged "moc" combat operation in a small New Jersey town, a "search and destroy" action to find a "woman in the city's downtown area as the march passed through. Over 1,000 people joined the march at its conclusion in a rally calling for the immediate, total withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina. (Guardian, Sept. 19, 1970)
The Drug Bust

Many of us were wondering if we could count on the local pigs to help us bring our community together. Last week two outside agitators were busted by Cheek & Co. for possession of marijuana with intent to sell. The marijuana is a holy wish drug to the plant rejected Martha Mitchell. That's pretty convincing. And Rabelais pointed out a long time ago, when he was into nature study, that all singing birds in the wild naturally prefer hemp seed.

During the 1967 Marijuana Tax Act Congressional Hearings, the only testimony given in opposition to the pending legislation was offered by the Bird Seed Lobby. They wanted commercial hemp seed to be exempted from the law. They were using it for canary food. They still are and canaries are still singing. If you want to contend that marijuana is not necessarily good for people just because it is good for birds, then please be cool enough to admit also that damage caused to a rabbit foetus by an injection of THC does not prove that smoking cannabis has harmful effects on humans. There is no such thing as proof, of course, all there is is evidence. So, if you're inclined, like Sprio, to wait until all the facts are in, play it safe and don't inject THC into your rabbit foetuses.

Way back when it was all accumulated, beginning with New York's La Guardia Report, overwhelmingly supports the contention that grass is not just harmless, it is positively beneficial. The Establishment continues to hope that, given enough time and money, they may be able to find something wrong with it. Meanwhile, we are asked to stick to the substances which we are certain can cause serious physical damage — alcohol, tobacco, caffeine, etc.

So why not repeal the laws? Why not at least be consistently hypocritical and just stop enforcing them? Because smoking grass is a politically subversive act. It is a challenge to established values. We do not advocate the legalization of grass. It is only right and proper that in a society whose values are as perverted as they are in this one, a subtile marijuana is a holy wish drug to the plant rejected of 'Pleasure'.

Rewriting the national constitution, beginning with New York's La Guardia Report, overwhelmingly supports the contention that grass is not just harmless, it is positively beneficial. The Establishment continues to hope that, given enough time and money, they may be able to find something wrong with it. Meanwhile, we are asked to stick to the substances which we are certain can cause serious physical damage — alcohol, tobacco, caffeine, etc.

So why not repeal the laws? Why not at least be consistently hypocritical and just stop enforcing them? Because smoking grass is a politically subversive act. It is a challenge to established values. We do not advocate the legalization of grass. It is only right and proper that in a society whose values are as perverted as they are in this one, a subtile marijuana is a holy wish drug to the plant rejected of 'Pleasure'.

Rewriting the national constitution, beginning with New York's La Guardia Report, overwhelmingly supports the contention that grass is not just harmless, it is positively beneficial. The Establishment continues to hope that, given enough time and money, they may be able to find something wrong with it. Meanwhile, we are asked to stick to the substances which we are certain can cause serious physical damage — alcohol, tobacco, caffeine, etc.

Letters

I want to compliment your students that attended summer school at the Chippewa Lake Field Station at Clam Lake, this summer. After what we have seen conditions and overpopulations, it was refreshing to have those fine young men here this summer. They were honest, courteous, well-behaved, helpful and very concerned about their school and even parent of those boys is to be congratulated. You can all be proud of those fine young men that represented your school. Sincerely,

The Holters

Jerry, Tish, Lynn and Dave

Dear Sir:

President Dreyfus has on a number of occasions recently offered his evaluation of the sitdown in Nelson Hall of last May — at the first faculty meeting...[Continued on Page 5]

---

The Wrong Target

Shooting a hunting arrow into the door of President Dreyfus' home is an irrational act at best and an example of how not to change the system.

Neither the culprit's identity nor motives are yet known. But it seems safe to conclude that the incident had some relationship to Dreyfus' role as a university president. The culprit apparently felt that Dreyfus is an evil man, that he is too involved with business and the military, that he is trying to run the university in such a way as to make our lives totally miserable. If this were true and if intimidation would in some way remedy the situation, the act could be easily explained, if not justified. But this is totally irrational. It is based on the old Christian concept of personal evil, blame and responsibility. If the "evil man" can be eliminated, the problem will be solved. But this is not true. An educational institution is not simply a conglomeration of individuals. It is ideas that make the institution—and bad ideas make a bad institution.

Put your arrows away. Put your little "off the pigs" notes away. You've got the wrong target. The 'pigs' are not men. They are institutions based on bad ideas.
cont.
The issue of throwing people into prison for marijuana violations has long since been resolved in all but the bear trap minds that have snapped shut. What is involved in this case is a clash of life styles. What Nick Check and his cohorts fail to understand is that in our culture, we are not hung up on ancient doctrines concerning ownership and private property. The counter culture views property in functional terms rather than possessive terms. Project supervisor Mrs. Joel Mickelson said the orientation would begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Muir-Schuar Room of the University Center. About 50 colleagues are needed to work with an equal number of Winnebago youngsters between kindergarten and senior high school ages. Tutoring sessions are held at the Howe School in Wisconsin Rapids from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. each Wednesday. The project is supported by the university’s division of Programs Recognizing Individual Determination through Education (PRIDE). Other tutoring services will be organized soon to again serve Indian youths in Neopit, Reshena and Wittenberg.

Senate Elections
Elections for Student Senate will be held on Oct. 1. There will be four persons elected from each of five districts. The five districts as shown on the map are as follows. District one includes the cloister, the Whiting, Fairview and University Village and other off campus areas. District two includes Deitzell hall, Steiner hall and other off campus areas. District three includes Watson hall, Thomson hall, Burroughs hall, Knutzen hall, Schmeekle hall, and Hansen hall. District four includes Baldwin hall, Neale hall, Hyer hall, Roach hall, SMITH HALL, AND Fray-Sims hall. The fifth district includes off-campus areas.
Candidates will be nominated through petitions which may be picked up at the Student Senate office in the University Center. The petitions must be signed by 50 students and returned to the Student Senate office by noon on Mon., Sept. 28.

d Indian Tutors Needed
A meeting of students interested in becoming volunteer tutors for Indian children in Wood county will be held Wednesday, Sept. 23, at Stevens Point State University.

Professor Robert Freeman

DREYFUS SETS FORTH STUDENT DISCIPLINE GUIDELINES

Being that the Student Handbook does not indicate those things for which a student will definitely be suspended from this university, President Lee S. Dreyfus recently issued a statement to clarify the matter. Dreyfus established a policy of automatic suspension for one academic year for any student who is involved in the unauthorized occupancy of any university building. The same suspension policy will apply to any activity which prohibits a faculty member or student from entering or leaving a classroom, laboratory, or office. Dreyfus stated that “the right of the teacher to teach and the student to learn must be our first order of priority in these matters.”

Dreyfus further commented that whether or not a civil or criminal charge will also be made will depend upon the nature of the violation and the conditions in which it takes place.

On the specific matters listed above, the student-faculty hearing tribunal will make a finding of fact but the disciplinary action must be suspension for any found to be guilty of such conduct by the tribunal.

James M. West left an estate of $1,000,000, $750,000 of it was bequeathed away in silver dollars in a secret cellar in his home. His favorite relaxation was riding night patrol in squad cars with Houston policemen. "It's the life for me," he told The Big Spenders, p. XIV.
James Earl Ray Speaks Out

The following affidavit is true to the best of my knowledge, consented to by me, and sworn to before Mr. Hugh Stonton Sr., before me, a justice of the peace, in the county of Shelby, State of Tennessee, this day of June, 1969.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this day of June, 1969.

Mr. Hugh Stonton Sr.,

The only other discord Mr. Hanes and I had concerned publicity. Despite trial Judge Biddle’s banning pre-trial publicity their were many papers in the local press and national media. (As example) The story was published in the Commercial Appeal dated Nov. 10, 1968 just two days after the suit was filed, due to Mr. Foreman’s starting the trial, and H. H. axes and the trial was postponed. Mr. Hanes anser was that Mr. H. H. axes had to H. H. specified a time limit for the trial to being if we were to finance the defense.

After Mr. Foreman became counsel of record, and on one of my meetings with him he would retain Nashville At- torney, J. H. Hooker Sr. to assist with the law suit.

Later Mr. Foreman told me he would not have the trial on or about August 4th because I had testified in the trial and the state would not allow me to testify in the trial; he said that they would continue the trial to a later date.

Mr. Foreman also turned down this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

On or about February 3, 1969, Mr. Foreman sent me another contract to the jail and advised me to sign it. He told me he didn’t want anyone connected with me to know of until as long as possible after his contract was signed. He also said “Mr. Foreman told me that an attorney, one George H. McGowan, whom he had seen the last time he visited me had advised me not to sign any contract with Mr. Foreman to finance the defense and that Mr. McGowan was representing me in England.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.

Mr. Foreman rejected this suggestion saying: “Why stir up a barrel of rattle snakes.” Still later Mr. Foreman told Mr. H. H. axes that Mr. Foreman transported a contract to the jail and advised me to sign the contract. Mr. Foreman said it was in the best interest of the state and to finance the suit and pay John J. Hooker Sr.’s fee.
Ray finally went along with the plea, but after Forresten and Canale had pontificated about the guilt of Ray, the conspiracy, he interrupted the scenario to state that he wanted to be tried. There was still some disagreement with the "no conspiracy" option.

Hardly had the prison doors clanged shut behind him when Ray asked Justice to look into his case, to withdraw his guilty plea and enter a trial. Finally he had, pressured him into the plea.

It was the guilty plea which gave Blair the green light to publish, or to let press it, for it discredited the thesis that Ray was, as he alleged, a victim of a conspiracy. The Man Who Murdered Martin Luther King.

Judge Battle: Has any pressure of any kind by anyone in any way been used on you to get you to plead guilty?

James Earl Ray: Now what did you say?

His Honor the late W. Preston Battle did not repeat the question in the March 18 court session, in which he accepted Ray's guilty plea. Instead he moved on to the next question in a line designed to satisfy the record that the accused was making the plea of his own free will and fully understood the defense-prosecution argument that would spare him a possible death sentence.

The lawyer who conspired Ray to make the agreement was the famed Perry Forresten. At the original extradition hearing in London last June, Ray had loudly proclaimed his innocence, and his first attorney, Arthur J. Hanes of Illinois, had prepared an elaborate defense contending that the conspiracy was a frame-up. Suddenly, on December 11, Ray dropped Hanes and retained Forresten.

Evidently, the great mouth-piece from Houston intended from the beginning to advise his client to plead guilty. "When a man accused of murder sends for Percy Forresten," he declared in an incredible post-plea article in Look, "I show him the courtesy of assuming he is guilty and that he hopes I can save him from excessive punishment."

A heretofore undisclosed event indicates that guilty plea negotiations were in the works very early: on March 15, instructions arrived from Ray to drop the rifle and jump out of the window. In the nooks and crannies of Brewer's rooming house, to the immediate courtesy of assuming he is guilty and that he hopes I can save him from excessive punishment."

One must assume that Ray was actually the "brother" he had had to see his "brother" at the time, this master-servant relationship may explain some of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.

My Honor's case, close to an establishment of the seemingly pointless things Ray did. He religiously used the same call, he drove nonstop from New Orleans, finished his plea, and weighs over 160 pounds. It isn't there, and Blair is left to assume that the ray was neatly checked in at the airport.
Children: Innocent Canaries Of Our Streets

Dr. Frederic Gerard Burke, Professor of Pediatrics at George Washington University, Washington, D.C., began his fight for clean air in the early 60s with testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Public Works on a bill which in 1965 became the Nation's first Clean Air Act.

He was concerned about the insidious effects of air pollution on children who could suffer some form of allergy: hay fever, eczema, or asthma. He knew some 20 percent of the country's children were plagued in varying degrees by the pulmonary ailments, and he knew U.S. pediatricians spent, up to 85 percent of their office time on respiratory diseases. What he didn't know was to what extent air pollution actually complicated and intensified the respiratory suffering experienced by one out of five American children. So he decided to find out.

Dr. Burke was not so concerned with the lethal effects of sen- sitivity to any adverse atmospheric conditions. He was more concerned about the "canaries of our streets."

Children whose chronic respiratory ailments react sensitively to any adverse environmental changes. They are the warning city residents of dangerous pollution. They are far more sensitive than adults because they breathe so much like the canaries trusted canaries. Children whose respiratory and gastrointestinal systems may have never been as accurately diagnosed except to say that they regularly have a cold, and for one reason or another were given a satisfactory marks in school.

How to gather solid data on the "canaries" daily struggle to breathe various levels of ambient air pollution was a challenge Dr. Burke did not solve immediately. But a reading of Captain William R. Anderson's book, The Unhappy Pole -- the story of the men and women who have spent untold hours of their time to the physical work of saving wildlife, improving, food plantings, and protecting our natural environment, unless we giant industrial polluters are not our problem... or the Environment. Some of them are "old pro" at the business of conservation. The Isaak Walton League, the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, the National Rifle Association, the Audubon Society. We can also see a number of newcomers who have added their strength to the environmental effort.

All of those involved, old-timers and beginners alike, have their own individual convictions about air pollution. The recent statistics show what could be the cure for cancer."

Don't Knock Sportsmen! 1970 has been called "The Year of the Environment". Some of the more striking things which were said that it will be the last year of the environment, unless we immediately make changes in the ways we think about and use the natural world upon which we depend.

In typical American fashion, a great variety of reports, studies, and miscellaneous collections of concerned individuals have risen to the challenge. Some of them are "old pro" at the business of conservation. The Isaak Walton League, the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, the National Rifle Association, the Audubon Society. We can also see a number of newcomers who have added their strength to the environmental effort.

All of those involved, old-timers and beginners alike, have their own individual convictions about air pollution. The recent statistics show what could be the cure for cancer."

Don't Knock Sportsmen! 1970 has been called "The Year of the Environment". Some of the more striking things which were said that it will be the last year of the environment, unless we immediately make changes in the ways we think about and use the natural world upon which we depend.

In typical American fashion, a great variety of reports, studies, and miscellaneous collections of concerned individuals have risen to the challenge. Some of them are "old pro" at the business of conservation. The Isaak Walton League, the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, the National Rifle Association, the Audubon Society. We can also see a number of newcomers who have added their strength to the environmental effort.

All of those involved, old-timers and beginners alike, have their own individual convictions about air pollution. The recent statistics show what could be the cure for cancer."

Don't Knock Sportsmen! 1970 has been called "The Year of the Environment". Some of the more striking things which were said that it will be the last year of the environment, unless we immediately make changes in the ways we think about and use the natural world upon which we depend.

In typical American fashion, a great variety of reports, studies, and miscellaneous collections of concerned individuals have risen to the challenge. Some of them are "old pro" at the business of conservation. The Isaak Walton League, the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, the National Rifle Association, the Audubon Society. We can also see a number of newcomers who have added their strength to the environmental effort.

All of those involved, old-timers and beginners alike, have their own individual convictions about air pollution. The recent statistics show what could be the cure for cancer."

Don't Knock Sportsmen! 1970 has been called "The Year of the Environment". Some of the more striking things which were said that it will be the last year of the environment, unless we immediately make changes in the ways we think about and use the natural world upon which we depend.

In typical American fashion, a great variety of reports, studies, and miscellaneous collections of concerned individuals have risen to the challenge. Some of them are "old pro" at the business of conservation. The Isaak Walton League, the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, the National Rifle Association, the Audubon Society. We can also see a number of newcomers who have added their strength to the environmental effort.

All of those involved, old-timers and beginners alike, have their own individual convictions about air pollution. The recent statistics show what could be the cure for cancer."

Refuge Crisis Cools

Conservationists are resting somewhat easier now that the refuge crisis has been defused. The cause was a presidential order which could have resulted in the disposal of 16 percent of the national wildlife refuge system. According to the order, 16 percent of all federal lands except national parks, the string of confusing and conflicting statements flowing from the Interior Department for several days served to substantiate an intention to dump 2.8 million acres of wildlife refuge lands.

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel eased the tension somewhat when he finally announced that the national wildlife refuges "are a priceless resource and certainly not considered surplus." Hickel said that studies have shown that there is a "real, genuine threat of loss of wildlife. Most of the lands are not productive," he said, are endangered because they have been deprived of man's share of the creatures that live there. Wildlife refuge lands, he concluded, are endangered because the more we continue to acquire more.

It is not known whether or not the order intentionally included the refuge lands. In either case, the refuge is the nation's most valuable natural heritage. However, is the refuge lands will not be included in the cut.
License Revenues Increase

American sportsmen spent more than $132 million in 1969 for hunting and fishing licenses, tags, permits and stamps, $14.5 million more than in 1968, according to the Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Fishing license purchases jumped to a record $87,500,774, $7.5 million more than in 1968. An increased sale of 38,210 hunting licenses and permits pushed the states providing funds for fish and wildlife projects on public lands administered by the Departments of Interior and Agriculture. The program, he said, will assist young people to develop an interest in natural history and eventually specialize in conservation.

New Agency Opposed In Senate

Senator Gaylord Nelson (Wis.) has introduced Senate Resolution 433 "disapproving" executive reorganization plan number 4, to establish a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) within the Commerce Department. National conservation organizations are hopeful that Nelson can gather the necessary support to defeat NOAA. They are opposing the plan because it would transfer research, management, and regulatory functions of marine resources from the Interior Department to Commerce, which they say lacks the background and expertise to administer a biologically oriented science. Plan number 4 will go into effect automatically in early October unless the Senate or House moves against it. (Last week's Pointer covered the President's reorganization plan in greater detail and outlined the objections to NOAA.)

The University Activities Board has an opening for Chairman of the Pop Films Committee. The job entails sharing responsibility in selecting films. Anyone interested may fill out an application at the U.A.B. Office and return it by September 29.

Gymnastic Meeting

There will be a meeting for all returning gymnasts and any other interested persons at 7:00 P.M. Monday, September 28, in Room 119 of the Field House.

The Sport Shop Says

Welcome Back

With Free Drawing - Some True Bargains!

Register Free Drawing:

1st Prize
White Stag Ski Sweater

2nd Prize
1 Pr. Scott Ski Poles

3rd Prize
Garcia Allsop Boot Carrier

Stop In - Sign Up!

No Purchase Necessary
Winners Will Be Announced Sept. 29

Fairbod All-Wool Blankets
Start At
$12.95 With Case

Great for Football Games

W.S.U. Sweat Shirts
Reg. $3.25
Tues. Sept. 22, 6 to 9 P.M.

One Stop

The Sport Shop
1021 MAIN ST. • STEVENS POINT
This year, happily, the guns of August were stilled. It would be a crime against humanity if they were allowed to ring again this fall. It would also be a disaster for both branches of the Security Council.

The extremists on either side are made if they think they can attain their aims by war. Al Fatah's dream of destroying the Jewish state is now an accepted political position, if only in a new holocaust, this time for Jew and Arab alike; and it would be a misuse of the flames if they did not engulf the world.

Even those who think they can go on for another generation besieged and dependent on an ever more frantic effort to maintain their ranks of Arabs in the Middle East and the Arab state's gross national product and 85 percent of their taxes are already going to defense.

If there are some Arab leaders who think they can bring their comrades to the threshold of the one essential point should not be lost to sight. The international climate, and particularly the relations between the two superpowers, have underlined the dependence of the Arab countries on the Cold War. The joint moves toward a Middle Eastern opportunity not only for peace in the Middle East but to revive Arab states are not completely dependent on Moscow and if the U.S. maintains sufficient leverage on both fronts Jerusalem's taste. The Israeli government hoped for a speedy and a new life. That opportunity must not be lost.

Two steps are urgent. One is to set up some joint system of inspection which will deal quickly with the charges of cease-fire violation. The others to speed up the Jarring mission by making the Arabs spell out just how they are prepared to recognize Israeli sovereignty in the West Bank, by making the Israelis spell out just how and where they are prepared to withdraw.

When parallel discussions have forced both sides to begin putting their cards on the table, it will then be the task of the U.N. and superpowers to persuade both sides to face the fact that they will fit into the framework of the 1967 Security Council resolutions. The only non-paper on this is the readiness to help some hope for reconciliation. The coldness was not so much as an imposition but unleashed a frantic and costly effort to maintain air superiority. A fourth of Israeli's gross national product and 85 percent of their taxes are already going to defense.

In a real sense the coerced agreement to begin talks may be seen not so much as an imposition by the big powers as a little more than a scam both of Arab and Israeli politics from sacrilect but stale rigidities. What had long been deemed politically impossible turned out to be politically popular. The war weary people on both sides greeted news of the case-fire itself was not so much as an imposition but unleashed a frantic and costly effort to maintain air superiority. A fourth of Israeli's gross national product and 85 percent of their taxes are already going to defense.

For many years here and in Israel I have heard it said that Nasser alone among the Arab rulers was strong enough some day to make peace with Israel. Now that this day seems probly coming, Mrs. Meir is saying that they will fit into the framework of the 1967 Security Council resolutions. The only non-paper on this is the readiness to help some hope for reconciliation. The coldness was not so much as an imposition but unleashed a frantic and costly effort to maintain air superiority. A fourth of Israeli's gross national product and 85 percent of their taxes are already going to defense.

The basic trouble between the Israeli government and Nixon administration is that Nixon has been projecting the last scraps of remaining strength of the Cold War. The joint moves toward a Middle Eastern settlement are part of that trend. When German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's and Moscow make peace, when Moscow embraces the hated Social Democrats, when Bonn accepts the Oder-Neisse line, and Warsaw accepts the Tiran straits and Israel's access to the Red Sea, Baltic States, protect the vital import of oil from Jordan and Jerusalem. Some form of demilitarization and international force should be a feasible compromise at the first two points. There is no reason why Jerusalem and some intermediate position should not become an open city for Jew and Arab, perhaps some day the joint capital of a Palestine federation. The Holy City deserves a solution of imagination and magnanimity. Its present mayor, Teddy Kolleck, has paved the way by his own hand with large-minded policies for an evolution of this kind.

The crux of the problem, the key to future peace, lies with the Palestinian Arabs. The whole question of the occupied territories and the refugee camps. Unfortunately the Rogers plan does not provide for their representation.

Friends of peace must deeply regret the way in which Mrs. Meir handled questions about the Palestinian Arabs in her recent appearance on Face the Nation. She rejected any idea of talks with them and any responsibility whatever for the Arab refugees. She implied that they had only themselves to blame because they had not accepted the 1947 U.N. partition resolution. But how can Mrs. Meir invoke the 1947 U.N. partition resolution, the legal basis of Israel's existence, and then ignore the 1948 U.N. refugee resolution, which is the legal basis of Arab rights to repatriation or compensation?

We Israelis have a complex one is for Israel but we wish Mrs. Meir had voiced some sympathy for their plight, some readiness to help some hope for reconciliation. The coldness was not so much as an imposition but unleashed a frantic and costly effort to maintain air superiority. A fourth of Israeli's gross national product and 85 percent of their taxes are already going to defense.

The biggest and the biggest of the biggest leaders in the Jewish state is beginning to relinquish those territories. Israel has 40 years in the desert to purge them of the habits acquired in slavery. Leadership like hers, in 40 years of siege and war, will purify the Jews of the last remnants of the competition and in the way of the Palestinian Arabs are beginning in their homelessness to talk of a new life. That opportunity must not be lost.

Gi Toll: 341,495

The following U.S. casualty figures for Southeast Asia are based on U.S. government statistics. The first figures cover the war from Jan. 1, 1961 to Aug. 29, 1970. Figures in parentheses cover the war-for-the-week Aug. 22 to Aug. 29.

Killed: 43,481 (63); "non-combat" deaths: 8,455 (30); 659, 988 (581); missing, captured: 1,551.
Arrow Shot At Dreyfus Home

At 11:25 PM, Tuesday, September 15, President Dreyfus found that a hunting arrow with a threatening note attached to it was shot into the front door of his home. According to Dreyfus, he and his wife arrived home from an evening out at approximately 11:20 PM. After setting himself at home, he stepped out the front door for the evening paper when he found an arrow of hunting caliber imbedded about 1/4 of an inch in the door casing. The note attached read, according to the police report, "We are off the Pigs." President Dreyfus immediately contacted the police who claim they have a few leads and are diligently working on the matter.

Students Prepare For Ky Visit

Washington (CP) - Forces are consolidating here to plan some sort of action against the scheduled appearance of South Vietnamese Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky at a pro-war rally in Washington on October 3.

Ky's plans were first announced on September 4 by Carl McIntire, a right-wing fundamentalist radio preacher from New Jersey who is planning the victory in Vietnam rally, similar to one he organized last April.

The Nixon Administration, as reported by the Washington commercial press, was all aflutter when the announcement was made. Not only did they claim they knew nothing about it, but they were pretty much against it—the event gives the anti-war movement a ready-made organizing point for early fall actions.

Furthermore, it may loom up Nixon's delicate balance he hopes to project in the upcoming November Congressional elections. It may be hard for Nixon to convince people he is really working for peace in Southeast Asia with Marshall Ky giving war rallies speeches on the President's back steps.

Both McIntire and Ky have issued statements verifying the originally announced plans, in spite of reported Administration pressure for Ky to cancel out.

Washington-area anti-war groups have enough confidence in the event to begin plans for a counter-demonstration. During the week of September 14 at least five major portions of the anti-war movement held meetings. The groups ranged from moderate liberals to radicals, including citywide Student Mobilization Committee and other representatives from D.C. colleges.

Continuing Presence in Washington (a peace lobbying coalition,) SANE and the Business Executive Move for Vietnam Peace, the Vietnam Veterans for Peace and group of local radicals including Chicago Right defendant Rennie Davis.

Most of these groups want to coordinate the plans that have already been made. A mass meeting to clarify strategy was scheduled for Monday night (September 21), after which the call will be made for whatever kind of action is chosen.

The most likely course of action will probably include these features:

-As large an action as possible, but staged to avoid the inevitable crowd comparison with the right-wing demonstration. McIntire mobilized only 15,000 last April, but that was without Ky's presence. Anti-war forces don't have much time to coordinate a national effort.

-The major brunt of leadership would have to come from local D.C. people. This tactic has been endorsed by two rational anti-war coalitions, the National Peace Action Coalition operating out of Cleveland, and the newly formed Coalition Against War, Racism and Repression, which is composed mostly of people from the now-defunct New Mobe.

-The counter-demonstration should avoid confrontation with the right-wingers. This wasn't a universally held belief, by any means, and will probably be the main issue that could prevent such diverse elements as the Youth International Party and the Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace from appearing at a press conference to announce joint plans.

Students' Homecoming '70 promises to be one of the greatest. Limitless possibilities are offered by this year's theme, "point tackles the '70's!" New angles have been added to make the building more fun. Notice these changes and Homecoming Week schedule that follows.

Thurs., Sept. 24
Organizations sign out Homecoming booklets at University Center desk.
Fri., Oct. 2
Deadline for entering float sketches.

Mon., Oct. 5
Deadline for entries in Talent and Hootenany Show and Games.

Thurs., Oct. 8
Primary election for queen finalists by students-Debit, Allen Centers, Univ. Center.
Sun., Oct. 11
Bonfire where 5 queen finalists will be announced.
Sun.-Wed., Oct. 11-14
Campaigning for queens.
-Mon.-Tues., Oct. 12-14
Games.
Wed., Oct. 14
Final vote for queen; Talent Show; Announcement of queen.
-Thurs., Oct. 15
Games.
Sat., Oct. 17
Parade; Homecoming Game, Pointers vs. Superior.
Sun., Oct. 18
Glen Yarbrough Concert; Presentation of trophies.

Take note. These changes have been made in the rules for Homecoming '70:
1. YOU elect the queen. No longer are judges choosing the queen. Direct student elections will be held this year.
2. Two organizations may combine to build one float. Points will be awarded as follows:

- Single organization 60 40 20
- Two organizations 50 30 10

If two organizations combine their efforts and place in the judging, each group will be awarded the points listed above.
3. Floats must be entered in one of the two new divisions, Serious and Humorous. Girls and Guys, get together!!

For information about Homecoming, watch for posters. Time is short. To make Homecoming '70 a success, START NOW!!

Pizza
-13 varieties and combinations

8".... 1.30
12".... 1.95
16".... 2.45

Sandwiches
-11 types of mouth watering hamburgers

Chicken & Fish

Free Delivery
The emotional grandiloquence of the periods Architecture and Opera, and the rise of Christian mysticism. They are inextricably mingled and the particular quality which they represent is far more important to aesthetics than whether or not the art of that period partakes in a general search for universals.

Some observers of Art prefer the subject of the life Work of Van Gogh while another would mind the influence of the nature of the work of Mondrian: to use an even more universal example. One might brand it to that of Picasso. I use the word "preference" because it is exactly what we mean. Pacific out of ordinary, everyday, hum drum existence, just happen like one thing over another; not for any ideological reasons, but quite simply: personal preference.

An examination of Art which is based on the idea of duck's quack you decide to hang on your bedroom or studio wall, and the rise of Christian mysticism. This is common of the common sense attitudes of the public at large, and understanding of the dispel. There is a simple problem structurally, if every individual valid is true, no matter how Democratic; this may apply when Art has no particular manifestation; Art is in no way morally bound, and could be used to tools, or oddly shaped pebbles. While such an Art particular manifestation, if it fails to appear distinct among other people, one would recognize it as a separate activity which needs investigation. The next problem would be to care for writing these lines about a nonexistent phenomenon. It is more important, however, to put aside questions of taste for the simple reason that it does not help clarify anything. Box office does not indicate success an Art; it indicates economic success and no other. Taste usually ends up making romantic, or intellectually, or pathetically emotional; whatever the particular bent the viewer tends toward.

In last weeks introduction to a second expression of culturalism. Art is a purely human activity, and the events and periods of like events social phenomena; there is a discussion of the human activity behind art must be given illumination. Without a culturalist is a social phenomenon; there is a discussion of the way the human activity behind art must be given illumination. Without a culturalist has less depth than the real object. Art is the belief that the subjective nature of the work... "Not to understand Yes. that make easy bedfellows, both the real and the imagined. Not to understand Yes. that make easy bedfellows, both the real and the imagined. Not to understand...". It is the wild meandering of an American Jew searching for artistic relevance in the historical art of Europe. Through leading the life of an artist he attempts to be as it might be; one it even better be, a real and a play a scene.

Part II: In Search of The Arts

Muddy Waters Tonight

McKinley "Muddy Waters" Morganfield has been the most philosophical, musical and environmental aspects of the mountain's majesty a thing to feel and know — not taste.

It is impossible for a musician to die and take his music with him (unless he wants to). Therefore a rosary at St. Patrick's Church is necessary. His salvation will be determined by his spiritual family. The Jimi Hendrix Experience record is played anywhere.

Jimi Hendrix

For 24 years Jimi Hendrix was a musician — from an attempt to pan-banging to the electric turned-on Wall of Sound and the Experience. In London last week his power was shuf'off by an overdose of downers. The music he made brought emotion; the scene he made was part of a movement, his tempo a rhythm of frustration, hate and love. He made the Star Spangled Banner a song of the Revolution and the Purple Piggy. He was responsible for the making rock music which is today, will perform at W.S.U. Stevens Point Thursday, September 24, to open the '71 Arts and Lectures series, and at 8:00 p.m. in the Berg Gymnasium of the University of Wisconsin, tickets are on sale in the Arts and Lectures offices.

Recognized by experts for year has one of the all time greats of cool blues, Muddy Waters is finally receiving the wide recognition and long deserved. His contribution to this excitement is light simply has to do with discovering one's hidden genius, on the part of the modern artist, the search for meaningful form in a period when form is all but destroyed. It is the search, as Yeats suggests, of Perfection of the life or the work. Like the artist who knows the sacrifice of the genius, yet can only die in the oblivion of teaching techniques. Muddy Waters' influence on contemporary music when it stated that, "The Beatles, along with other British groups— The Rolling Stones, The Animals—revolutionized the British music and are becoming a fascinating imitation (and frankly crediting) such Negro originators of style as Muddy Waters, Chuck Berry, and Bo Didley. Soon the Negro 'soul sound ' will become as big as the white mass market..." Until the white music market became aware of soul music, performers like Mr. Morganfield were relatively unknown to the American public, and one of the first to "make it clean and keep on down the road."

Mckinley (Muddy Waters) Morganfield was born in Rolling Fork, Mississippi on April 4, 1915 and raised on the farms of the Delta, Mississippi. When folklorist Alan Lomax discovered him, Muddy was working as a field hand chopping cotton and playing guitar for dance and country suppers on weekends. He started playing guitar at seventeen, and had the benefit of learning from such masters of The Atlantic Ocean Comes To Point

The Atlantic Ocean, The Village and Moonstone Populace will be featured at the Fall Affair, sponsored by the University Activities Board. It will be an evening of dance and Coffee House entertainment.

The event will be held at the University Center, Sunday, September 27th, 8:00-12:30 P.M.

The Atlantic Ocean, six graduates from LaCrosse State University, is currently negotiating release of a national record. Their past popularity has gained them the prestige of being chosen the group to entertain at Your Uncle’s in LaCrosse during this year’s Oktoberfest weekend. This powerful sounding group does material by Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, and Three Dog Night as well as their own and other current groups.

The Village from Milwaukee originated two years ago as a harmonious group of six lead singers. They favor such music types as the Association, The New Colony Six, Cryin Shame and Beatles.

Moonstone Populace, a vocal trio from Fon du Lac, will entertain in the Coffee House. This group includes a girl and two guys and one guitar. They are noted for their folk music and selections from the top current hits.

Admission to the dances will be driving beat was added, and the sides were never released. Sweet blues was the preferred musical form of the day, but not Muddy’s, and it was not until 1946 that he was able to record his own style.

The first issue was a remake of his earlier Library of Congress recording, performed under Alan Lomax’ supervision, with bassist Big Crawford added and Muddy using electric guitar. The disc sold well and he did others which were equally popular. He then persuaded Leonard Chess, owner of Chess Records, to record the full band that he had been working with around Chicago and on tours in the South. These classic recordings with Little Walter on harmonica; Jimmie Rogers, second guitar; Big Crawford, bass; and Leroy Foster, drums — are as close as you can come to pinpointing the birth of Chicago Rhythm and Blues, said Muddy Water’s press agent. He continued by stating that the Delta sound was there, but a driving beat was added, and the amplified instruments made for a dynamic vitality that had previously been missing.

Twelve of Muddy’s early blues have been re-issued on Chess 1427, “The Best of Muddy Waters.” They range from solo performances to his full and furious band sound. Present personnel is made up of six men: Muddy Waters, guitar and vocals; Otis Spann, piano and vocals; George “Mop” Buford, harmonica and vocals; Sammy Langhorn, lead guitar; Luther “Georgia Boy” Johnson, bass guitar and vocals; and S.P. Larrie, drums.

Muddy Waters

the “bottleneck” style as Son House and Robert Johnson — upon whom he patterned his style. His half brother, Otis Spann, however, he credits as being his most important musical influence.

In 1942, he left the South for Chicago and played many taverns and house parties. He accompanied Paul Williams, Dunnyland Slim and other artists for Savoy and Aristocrat labels. He also did some recording for Columbia, but the sides were never released.

The first Negro depicted on a U.S. postage stamp was Booker T. Washington, on April 7, 1960. Famous First Facts, p. 465.
JAMES EARL RAY CON­
"After the signing of the Feb. 3, 1969 contract no further mention was made of me appearing as a witness. Mr. Foreman, I am con­erning Engatt. Hooker atone on March 9, 1969, Foreman said he would not speak with hooker, barring that, he would hire present on plea. I declined both suggestions."

"I also declined to insist on a trial he promised me, Foreman signed a contract with this S.C.L.C. Therefore I told Foreman that having Mr. Hook as co-counsel would be a clear conflict of interest, more so than the grounds Attorney F. Lee Bailey refused the case on. Foreman reply was that as chief counsel he had the right to pick co-counsel."

"It was also my belief that I would only receive one trial—that appellant etc. probably wouldn't look at the records and the jury in case of conviction. I didn't want the one trial faked. Considering I had no other choice, at the time, I agreed to enter a plea guilty to a technical charge of homicide. Mr. Foreman informed me with various stipulations. To sign which he claimed he received from the attorney General's office. I objected to a number of the stipulations; two in particular. The first, a stipulation with no legal qualifications, met to be an embarrassing reference to Governor George Wallace and instigated by a California hippie song writer named Charles Stein. Mr. Foreman had the stipulation removed. He said the novelist, William Bradford Huie, had the attorney general to insert the stipulation."

"The second, this stipulation removed as evidence, was trying to prevent the prosecution version of the conviction. In reply to one reporter's question as to why my past record wouldn't be used. M. Irvine. Foreman went into a long description on how every five years all the cells in the human body change, hence a different person mentally every five years. "Foreman was applying this scientific quackery to his client."

"After arriving at the prison in Nashville, Tenn. on March 11, 1969, and hearing more of Mr. Foreman's continuous monologue I then "knew" I could not change my mind before attempting to get a trial. Shortly thereafter the Defense was reinforced by the remarks of Trial Judge Battle at a news conference wherein he implied that the reason he (The judge) wanted the guilty plea was that the defendant would be easy to acquit by a jury."

"Therefore, on March 13, 1969, I wrote a letter to trial Judge W. Preston Battle stating Mr. Percy Petros, Tennessee Attorney General, informed me, and that I would seek a trial. I then contacted other counsel and ask my brother, Jerry Ray, to send counsel enough funds to visit me in order that counsel could attempt to get a jury trial. However, despite concerning to prescribed prison procedure Tennessee Corrections Com­missioner, Mr. Harry Avery, refused to let counsel into the prison because of the peal see the plea ct."

"Avery strongly advised me not to seek a trial. He said if I didn't, I would be given the death penalty for the crime of murder, and would be released from isolation at the end of the prescribed period. Noting that he persisted in asking for a trial he couldn't promise anything-be he was speaking for the highest authority."

"I was also concerned at this period that Commissioners Avery was trying to put me in a position to falsely quote me as making an oral statement. Therefore I sent an affidavit to United States Senator James O. Eastland, Chairman Senate, Juvenile Committee, stating I would only discuss the suit in the stipulations."

"Later I sent a similar affidavit to the Honorable Buford Ellington, Governor of Ten­nessee."

"I agreed that the media had had an adverse effect on the pretrial articles written in LIFE magazine and THE READERS DIGEST, with the help of Mrs. Ray being removed to a vestiges for agencies, as examples. I also cited various articles printed in the press, particular the story in the commerence was pressuring the prosecution wanted, and would thereby let me plead guilty.

"(One) That the chamber of com­merce was pressuring the trial judge to attempt to get a guilty plea as a long trial would have an adverse effect on business and such. Further, that the chamber wasn't unhappy about Mr. Ray being removed from the scene-hence the ac­ceptance of a guilty plea.

"(Two) That trial Judge Battle was concerned about the effects a trial would have on the city which I was witness that already had been given a raise in a welfare check. Mr. Foreman had the right to pick co-counsel."

"(Three) That the prosecution had promised a witness considerable reward money for testifying on my behalf. Further, that two Memphis attorneys had signed a contract with this witness for 50 percent of all revenue he received for his testimony. They in turn would look out for his interest.

"Mr. Foreman also gave me the following reasons why the prosecution wanted, and would therefore let me plead guilty.

"(One) That the chamber of com­merce was pressuring the trial judge and the attorney general's office to get a guilty plea as a long trial would have an adverse effect on business and such.

"(Two) That trial Judge Battle was concerned about the effects a trial would have on the city which I was witness that already had been given a raise in a welfare check. Mr. Foreman had the right to pick co-counsel.

"(Three) That the prosecution had promised a witness considerable reward money for testifying on my behalf. Further, that two Memphis attorneys had signed a contract with this witness for 50 percent of all revenue he received for his testimony. They in turn would look out for his interest.

"I agreed that the media had had an adverse effect on the pretrial articles written in LIFE magazine and THE READERS DIGEST, with the help of Mrs. Ray being removed to a vestiges for agencies, as examples. I also cited various articles printed in the press, particular the story in the commerence was pressuring the prosecution wanted, and would thereby let me plead guilty.

"(One) That the chamber of com­merce was pressuring the trial judge to attempt to get a guilty plea as a long trial would have an adverse effect on business and such. Further, that the chamber wasn't unhappy about Mr. Ray being removed from the scene-hence the ac­ceptance of a guilty plea.

"(Two) That trial Judge Battle was concerned about the effects a trial would have on the city which I was witness that already had been given a raise in a welfare check. Mr. Foreman had the right to pick co-counsel."

"(Three) That the prosecution had promised a witness considerable reward money for testifying on my behalf. Further, that two Memphis attorneys had signed a contract with this witness for 50 percent of all revenue he received for his testimony. They in turn would look out for his interest.

"Mr. Foreman also gave me the following reasons why the prosecution wanted, and would therefore let me plead guilty.

"(One) That the chamber of com­merce was pressuring the trial judge and the attorney general's office to get a guilty plea as a long trial would have an adverse effect on business and such.

"(Two) That trial Judge Battle was concerned about the effects a trial would have on the city which I was witness that already had been given a raise in a welfare check. Mr. Foreman had the right to pick co-counsel.

"(Three) That the prosecution had promised a witness considerable reward money for testifying on my behalf. Further, that two Memphis attorneys had signed a contract with this witness for 50 percent of all revenue he received for his testimony. They in turn would look out for his interest.

"I agreed that the media had had an adverse effect on the pretrial articles written in LIFE magazine and THE READERS DIGEST, with the help of Mrs. Ray being removed to a vestiges for agencies, as examples. I also cited various articles printed in the press, particular the story in the commerence was pressuring the prosecution wanted, and would thereby let me plead guilty.

"(One) That the chamber of com­merce was pressuring the trial judge to attempt to get a guilty plea as a long trial would have an adverse effect on business and such. Further, that the chamber wasn't unhappy about Mr. Ray being removed from the scene-hence the ac­ceptance of a guilty plea.

"(Two) That trial Judge Battle was concerned about the effects a trial would have on the city which I was witness that already had been given a raise in a welfare check. Mr. Foreman had the right to pick co-counsel."

"(Three) That the prosecution had promised a witness considerable reward money for testifying on my behalf. Further, that two Memphis attorneys had signed a contract with this witness for 50 percent of all revenue he received for his testimony. They in turn would look out for his interest.
Warhawks Kill Pointers

Whitewater State University's football team successfully opened defense of its WSUC title Saturday with a 27-6 victory over Stevens Point in new Warhawk Stadium. The Warhawks put together a fantastic defense and a balanced offense for the win.

The game opened slow with neither building anything of an attack until Pointer linebacker Dean Kruger fumbled a Whitewater punt at the Warhawks' 26, 2:57 of the first period. Three plays later Pat McPail split the uprights with a 36 yard field goal to give the Pointers a 3-0 advantage.

The Stevens Point defense continued to hold the powerful Warhawks until Frank Wipple blocked a Pointer punt on the 28 and recovered himself on the 3. Tom Hauser scored on the second play to give the Warhawks the lead for good, 7-3. Defense continued to be the key for both teams in the second quarter until, with 5:45 left in the half, Warhawk quarterback Ron Dum's hit Steve Hanaman for a 46 yard scoring strike that upped the Whitewater lead to 14-3. Two minutes later when Dum's again hit Hanaman for 46 yards to the Point 20. However, the defense held and went into the locker room trailing 14-3.

The two teams played even through the third quarter, but it once again was defense that did the chores. The Warhawks compiled two first downs in the period, while Stevens Point could muster three.

The Warhawks came back in the final stanza to put the game away with a 33 yard scoring march in 10 plays after recovering a Pointer fumble. The last five yards on a pass from Dum's to Hauser. Hauser scored his third touchdown with 1:00 left on a one yard slant after an interception at midfield.

W.R.A Open House

Monday, September 21, WRA sponsored an Open House to welcome all Freshmen women. All facilities of the fieldhouse were open to every woman student.

Activities of the night included volleyball, paddleball, badminton, basketball, swimming, gymnastics and free refreshments for all. Approximately 200 girls attended throughout the night.

Monday, September 28, the fieldhouse will be open for team volleyball practice for the incoming tournaments. All women are welcome!!

The Women's Tennis team organizational meeting will be held on Monday, September 28, at 5:45 in the lounge of the fieldhouse. Until then practice every day. Matches thus far include Oaksho on October 3, and Carthage on October 12.

Trippers Meet

What is Trippers? Trippers is a branch of the University Activities Board. We sponsor camping trips, canoe trips, rock climbs, rollerskating, hiking, snow-shoe hikes, hay rides, sleigh rides, toboggan trips, bike hikes, horseback rides and sailing. These are just some of our activities to give you an idea of our range and possibilities. Trippers is financed largely by student activities fees which enables us to give you these exciting trips for a reasonable cost. Because of our activities fee, all students are automatically Trippers. The planning of the trips is done by a group of interested students who donate their time and energy to serving on the Tripper Committee. Anyone who is interested in working on the trips can become a student of this committee by going on trips and coming to the Tripper meetings every Monday night at 6:30 p.m. in the Mitchell Room. Anyone who is just interested in "tripping" can earn a Tripper patch by going on three trips and paying $1.00. This Tripper patch designates you as an active member. These trips are on our October schedule.

- Oct. 2 - 4 Canoe Trip - Wolf River
- Oct. 9 - 10 Canoe Trip - Devil's Lake
- Oct. 23 - Hayride
- Oct. 24 - Horseback Ride
- Oct. 30 - Rock Climb
- Nov. 1 Devil's Lake

Sign up for these trips the Wednesday before the trip in the Classroom Center lobby from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Watch for posters and the Newsletter for further information on the cost of these trips. Be active! Be a Tripper!
CROSS COUNTRY TEAM OPENS SEASON

The Stevens Point State cross country team will open its season Tuesday when it travels to Kenosha to meet Carthage College and Whitewater State in a triangular at Petrifying Springs.

This is the first of three meets for Head Coach Larry Clinton's Pointers this week and it could well be the toughest assignment this week and possibly the entire season. Thursday they will travel to Wiscon (Minn.) and Saturday will host UWM and Michigan Tech.

Carthage had one of the best teams last year in the state and have recruited several top freshmen, while Whitewater is usually one of the top teams in the Wisconsin State University Conference.

"Both Carthage and Whitewater will be better off than us," said Clinton. "Both have been practicing since the first of the month and that is about two weeks more than we have been at it.

"Carthage had perhaps the best team in the state last year," said Clinton, who will be starting his second season at the helm of the Pointers. "They should again be strong with the addition of four of the top freshman candidates in the state."

Clinton cautioned that freshmen are sometimes unpredictable. "It is a big change from two and a half miles in high school to the five miles in college."

In this his second season, Clinton does not have a strong number of freshmen. But he also does not have a senior dominated team.

Headed by junior Paul Haus, Clinton feels the Pointers have the personnel to be one of the top teams in the conference.

"We have real good personnel," commented Clinton. "But we are not deep. We can't afford any injuries."

Clinton feels the condition his squad returned to school in this year was much improved over the team he greeted his first year.

"Last year the team was not sure who the coach was going to be and therefore they were not that concerned about their condition," said Clinton. "That was not the case this year."

All candidates were given a workout schedule to follow this summer and the directive by Clinton that all returnees had to run within a minute of their best time of last season in time trials on the first day of practice.

"Everyone passed the test," remarked Clinton. "And Haus and Charlie Upthagrove bettered their bests of last season."

Clinton plans to take, Haus, Upthagrove, senior; Don Hetzel, junior; Mel Neil, junior; John Schmidt, sophomore; Doug Riske, sophomore; Don Trebliatowski, freshman; and Ken Hynek, freshman, to Carthage on Tuesday.

A total of 20 candidates came out on the first day of practice. Clinton said that about 4 or 5 had already dropped out while there were others who are still trying to round into shape.

HOCCIE CR.UB ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING

There will be a meeting of the WSU Hockey Club for all interested players, Manager, statistician, announcer, reporter and maintenance personnel are also needed for the coming season. Any faculty member interested in assisting in coaching is also invited.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, September 24 at 6:30 p.m., in the Van Hise Room of the University Center.

Iris Needs Help

Students interested in becoming staff members of the Iris yearbook are asked to contact Linda White, 341-2554; Gary Schneider, 341-4142, or Bill Wit, 629 Main, Ext. 204.

Writers, editors, layout personnel, and artists are especially needed. Photographers are welcome, though several have already indicated an interest.

The Iris represents a new concept in traditional student activity programs this semester. For the first time, the student annual will be issued in a single yearbook. Students interested in assisting in coaching is also invited.

Iris will also allow greater in-depth coverage of campus events and concerns, says Miss White. Artwork will be innovative, editing will be bold, features will reflect things as they are.

Activities traditionally included in the single yearbook will be covered in several issues of the magazine format. This includes sports, homecoming, and other activities, student organizations, and senior photos. In addition, it is hoped that this type of approach to the yearbook will also allow greater in-depth coverage of campus events and concerns, says Miss White.

"Finest in Live Entertainment"

The POUR HAUS BAR

Black Society

Proudly presents

A TEN-PIECE SHOW BAND

THAT IS ABSOLUTELY THE BEST EVER TO APPEAR AT THE POUR HAUS

OPEN 3:00 DAILY

1:00 WEEKENDS

THE GOLDEN HANGER LTD.

THE GOLDEN COUPONS

WITH THIS COUPON $1.00 off on all SLAX EXCEPT FAIR TRADED BRANDS

WITH THIS COUPON $5.00 off any Sweater Stock

WITH THIS COUPON $1.00 off on all SLAX