Obey And O'Konski Debate

A debate which remained in doubt until several weeks after the first occurred last Wednesday night before a moderate turnout at the Berg Gym. Involved were incumbent Republican Congressman Alvin O'Konski and Democrat David Obey who are vying for the 7th District seat at least several days after the presidential elections. The unique situation of two incumbents running against each other resulted when reapportionment put O'Konski, the long-time representative of the 10th District into the 7th. O'Konski stated that the 7th District chair has been in office since former Congressman Melvin Laird became Governor of Wisconsin. The question was whether there would be a debate at all after Obey had centered on O'Konski's ownership of a television station in Rhinelander, and of that station's covering of the debate. Several weeks ago the matter was settled paving the way for Wednesday's meeting.

Both candidates began by listing some of the major campaign concerns. Obey asked how it could be possible to add to our defense budget after dragging down the cost of the Vietnam War. He noted that most people expected heavy defense cutbacks after the signing of the SALT pact. Instead they are seeing increased military allocations. Obey criticized the centered power in Congress noting some of the small committees which are so strong that they could delay bringing to the floor a Medicare bill for three years after the House had clearly voted in favor of it. O'Konski also expressed much of his statement towards the military spending issue. He stated that most of the increase in defense spending was due to several bills that increased the wages of the people in the armed forces. He noted that both he and Obey had voted for these bills and that he thought that they were essential to the future implementation of an all-volunteer army.

The Republican candidate claimed that he had opposed the war in Vietnam as far back as 1964. He added that he had voted against the draft extension in 1967. Suggesting that the Democrats had controlled Congress for all but two out of the last 43 years, he asked if the voters were going to give the Democrats another 49 years to accomplish what they've promised. He is brutal. Obey lauded his opponent for his original dissent of the Vietnam effort. He pointed out that in several past votes concerning withdrawal from Vietnam, that O'Konski had voted against the withdrawal. In a late remark, Obey stated that his opponent had advocated in the Congressional Record an anti-Draft program advocating nuclear bombing of Red China as the best way to stop the war in Vietnam. He cited the report stating that it was not consistent with O'Konski's position on the issue.

The remainder of the session which lasted 90 minutes was devoted exclusively to questions from the audience. One of the response getting questions concerned O'Konski's remarks that several days earlier in Wisconsin - Rapids that George McGovern supported the anti-war cause only after Gene McCarthy had proved it to be an effective issue. O'Konski had reportedly offered a four year scholarship to anyone who could prove him wrong. Several individuals noted instances in the Congressional Record when McGovern had expressed his displeasure with the war prior to that time.

The Republican candidate countered with several quotes by McGovern in which he indicated his distaste with the war protesting and draft card burning. He also claimed that McGovern had refused to run for President in 1968 because he had supported LBJ's action in Vietnam.

In addressing the same statement, Obey said that he could not assume that simply because he supported LBJ did it mean that he supported the war. He noted many Congressmen and Senators, including himself had supported LBJ even though they had had long since witnessed LBJ's policies in Southeast Asia.

For the most part, both candidates agree on the question of amnesty. They each stated that we should wait until all of our soldiers and POW's had returned. In addition to this, each case would be looked at on an individual basis. O'Konski however felt that it would take five to ten years to do this and Obey felt that every effort should be made to initiate and complete such a program before such a long period of time had elapsed.

Obey stated that he voted against revenue sharing because the American people were only getting half of the story. He noted that Congress would have to raise the national debt to pave the way for such legislation. He felt that this would only temporarily halt the eventual burden to the American taxpayer. He stated however that there were other ways of starting such programs which he would support.

Later in the program, both candidates were confronted by questions concerning the Sanguinie. O'Konski stated that he supported such a project so long as it was existing strictly as a test facility and nothing more. He felt that the project should be kept at the research and developmental stages. Obey emphasized that it was Wisconsin's Democratic senators that worked constantly to get the project used only for these research purposes. He warned that we shouldn't count on this project being moved to Texas as has been reported. He felt that the Navy still had their eye on this site in northern Wisconsin. The 68-year-old O'Konski was then asked what he felt about a mandatory retirement age for Congressmen. He responded stating that he didn't believe that it was needed in the case of elected officials where the people themselves judge whether or not an individual is capable at a certain age. He did add however, that for appointed offices that it might be a good idea to have such a limit. Obey then shared his agreement with his comments.

Obey expressed his concern with O'Konski's election material which gave him sole credit for most of the federal projects and grants which have come to his district through his terms in office. He suggested that most of the governmental grants and money are provided through formulas written in the laws themselves rather than by tremendous outside influence. He further stated that the few ways that one could actually influence the use of this money would be through the Appropriations Committees of which he is a member.

Obey was asked why he voted against a bill providing a moratorium for paper mill pollution. Obey stated that he was statistically representative of many voters in his and other areas who were five questions on the pollution at the site in northern Wisconsin. Obey responded stating that he knew that for Congressmen, to vote either in Stevens Point or their home towns. It also showed Rep. David Obey, the current holder of the 7th District seat, running ahead with huge leads over their Republican opponents in both the U.S. Congress and 24th Senate seats, respectively.

In conclusion, the poll, many students expressed dissatisfaction at McGovern's decision to drop out. However, they were pleased with the presidential running mate last summer and both showed that a large segment—about 80 percent—were undecided or for other candidates, including McGovern. Early in October, Richard Chifferston, another member of the political science faculty, took a straw vote in his class and found that the race for president was in a dead heat among the students. It also showed Rep. David Obey, (D-Waukesha) and District Attorney William Babcock (D-Stevens Point) running ahead with huge leads over their Republican opponents in both the U.S. Congress and 24th Senate seats, respectively.

Boycott Lettuce

Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted by permission of THE FOURTH ESTATE, 3128 West Oaklawn, Springfield, Illinois, Oct. 1972.

The United Farmworkers General Strike against lettuce is to be put into effect but iceberg lettuce if it comes from boxes bearing a solid black flag enclosed in a white circle on a black flag label. The United Farmworkers (UFWC) - CIO.

"Boycott lettuce" became a focal point of the demonstration because there has been an unfortunate lack of publicity regarding the boycott. This may be magnified by the fact that some workers will be isolated from their families while they are participating in the boycott. They may not know how to buy lettuce other than the usual brands. The boycotters must be informed of the correct procedures so they will know what to do.

The boycott of non-union lettuce is in progress in California, Arizona and Wisconsin. In California the United Farmworkers Organization Committee (UFWO) led by Cesar Chavez, is leading the boycott.

Cesar Chavez chose this boycott strategy because he knows that the large growers who are against unionization for them. We know: now we must act

Union lettuce. We must boycott lettuce wherever we eat. In restaurants, take a substitute said such as cottage cheese or jello. In cafeterias (such as UFWO's), beg to accept California or Arizona lettuce on sandwiches and bring up the issue if such lettuce is served. When eating with others raise the lettuce issue and refuse to use salad unless it is a type of lettuce not involved in the boycott. Of course our own boxes should mark the beginning of our personal boycott through the consumption of only those types of lettuce not being boycotted. If union lettuce, Wisconsin, leaf, or eastern lettuce is unobtainable, pressure must be put upon stores, and in the meantime substitutes such as cabbage or spinach should be purchased.

If any person remains unconvinced that the lettuce boycott should be supported, let him consider the following statistics from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Senate Subcommittee Hearings on Migrant Labor 1969-1970.

$2,700 average yearly income for a migrant family of four.

80 percent of migrant workers under 16 working in the fields.

80 percent of children under 14.

100 percent higher maternal and infant mortality rate among migrants.

250 percent higher TB and other communicable diseases.

300 percent higher accident rate among migrant workers.

800 workers die from pesticide poisoning yearly.

Unionization is a means to higher wages, better working conditions, improved health care, and decent housing. In the words of Cesar Chavez, leader of the UFWC, "Powerful people must be helped to realize that there is nothing to fear from the organizing of farm workers as fellow human beings. We do not seek to destroy the growers; we wish to organize those workers who have probably seen the shabby housing they must reside in, the overcrowded conditions of their employers provide, and we easily realize that their wages are minimal. Isn't it ironic that the very people who bolster our agricultural economy and aid in our food processing do not have enough food to feed their own families?"

The unionization of these farmworkers is imperative, thus it is imperative that each of us take part in lettuce held by the large, anti-union growers. We must boycott lettuce wherever we eat. In restaurants, take a substitute said such as cottage cheese or jello. In cafeterias (such as UFWO's), beg to accept California or Arizona lettuce on from other eastern states. Our big problem in identifying the boycotters is that some growers put confusing labels of railroad, packing house or tunnel union lettuce, but the lettuce is boycotted unless it is grown in California. Some growers cultivate and harvest the crops are represented by their union and the boycott is not effective. We must validate. The only way our support for the boycott to be used to look at the box the lettuce was packed in and buy lettuce labeled "Boycott." It is the only symbol of the United Farm Workers boycott.

The Local Story

The Poiser explained his informal survey of area grocers. "When the United Farmworkers AFSC-UI union became strong, the lettuce boycotts were among those carrying union lettuce when the letters from the farm workers arrived.

The problem is that most larger growers purchase their lettuce from these companies, depending on prices quoted by the Arizona and Wisconsin. These distributing receive their lettuce through a broker on the open market and have no standing contract with the Arizona and Wisconsin. Thus a store or distributing company may boycott lettuce for a week but not the next.

Copp's Distributing Company supplies several of the smaller restaurants and supermarkets in the area. At the time of the survey, the LP-AZ boycott was still in force and there was no Arizona boycott observed in the supermarkets. The University food center president indicated that her store was the lower bidder and makes no attempt to secure union lettuce.

Lettuce boycott is vital that the shopper checks the label on the lettuce crate personally. Grocers and store personnel are often befuddled and frequently only too willing to assure the shopper that "yes, there's union lettuce on it." We must do it ourselves without bothering to ascertain union origin.

Congressmen Vote

Editor's Note: The Poiser referred to a report of a bill sponsored by Congressman C. E. Hofmann (D-Minn.) and a bill sponsored by Senator John H. Chiles, respectively. Both measures were rejected by the Senate Committee on Appropriations.

The National Student Lobby in Washington, D.C., has adopted a resolution to support the lettuce boycott. It is the first time it has adopted a resolution of this type. The resolution calls for the boycott and the letter of support to be sent to your Senator and Representative.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 115 (Yea) to 257 (Nay) on May 12, 1972. A similar resolution was adopted by the House on May 12, 1972.

William Babilch

William Babilch, who was unopposed in the primary, is the Democratic candidate for the State Senate in Wisconsin's 1st District. Babilch, 31, lives in Ripon, a city of 6,500 just south of Appleton, and has been a member of the Portage County District Attorney for four years. He spent two years in the Navy and a year and a half as a Peace Corps volunteer, and is a 1968 graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Prior to the September primary, Babilch told the Poitner that he saw three major issues "that must be confronted in the campaign." The three he cited were no-fault insurance, no bar associations, and addressing itself "to the public on the issue." Babilch has said that "40 cents out of every single dollar is not going into the pocket of the attorney," and feels that high attorney fees and court costs are being borne by the general public in their accident settlements. He feels that the no-fault system will greatly reduce premiums, as well as accidents and the number of accident settlements.

On propose reform Babilch is opposed to the current situation in which a lawyer's fees are based on "a percentage of the settlement" and that they "average three cents on the dollar." According to Babilch, many uncomplicated cases are "stacked up" for the attorney to "do nothing more than sign the forms and bill his secretarys." The two specific reforms he favors are a shorter period of time necessary for an estate to go through probate and that fees would have an attorney's fees on time spent on a case rather than upon a percentage of the estate.

In a UWS debate with his Republican opponent Ray Riordan, Babilch reiterated his pledge that he "would not vote for any budget in the next session of the legislature that would result in a tax increase." Babilch sees a necessity for cuts, but has said that they cannot be made at the expense of needed programs. He would especially cut in the area of education, but a meat-axe approach could impair the quality education that can be provided to students. He is opposed to an repeal of added tax on grounds that it is a sales tax and therefore not the responsibility of the state government.

Property tax, according to Babilch, would be provided to lost students. He is for the development of small courts to court on littering charges when he was powerless to act under water pollution laws. Babilch has been endorsed by the UWS-Environmental Council. He sees medical care as a citizen's entitlement, and feels that if government funds are necessary to provide treatment, it "should be provided at no further expense." He also sees a necessity for more medical schools, stating that "it is probably necessary to create five more medical schools in the state than another law school."

As to welfare, Babilch sees "waste at all levels," but calls for cuts to be responsibly made.

"It's hypocritical to talk about providing welfare recipients with jobs when jobs aren't available." It would like to see more incentive plans in the welfare program, but does not rule out increases in welfare payments that would be necessary to meet the rising cost of living.

The Democratic candidate calls day care centers "absolutely necessary" and feels that public monies should be spent if necessary, because any families "could not afford" a privately controlled family center. He sees on the issue of abortion, but adds that the "attempt to an­ swer this is as absurd as politicians have, by saying they are in favor of life and therefore opposed to abortion. I think it is to fail to see the real problem which is that confronting the women whose futures are really, is and is irresponsible." Babilch traces his opposition to Vietnam War back to Moratorium speeches in 1969 and 1970, where he spoke of the "utter travesty of our role in Vietnam."

He supports state aid to private and parochial schools, "providing some service to the community," but adds that such contributions means that "bills for funds meant for public schools must not be cut to provide private and parochial aids.

He has called himself "extremely active in the area of consumer protection," and was this year named Chairman of the Consumer Council of the Consumer Trade Division in Madison.

Babilch states that he has an "open mind" on the question of legalization of marijuana, and would propose it as a "realistic proposals" of today rather than on an emotional appeals.

"I can't promise that I'm going to vote the student's bill of rights down the line, just as I can't promise labor that I'm going to vote 10 per cent for labor. I'm going to have to look at each bill."

The Senate and decide the question based on the merits of the proposal. The way that I will respond to the students will be the way I've responded to the Portage County during my last four years as District Attorney."
In The Race For District Attorney...

Marias Rushevicis

Maris Rushevicis, Democratic Candidate for Portage County D.A.

Pointe: What do you view as the major issues of the campaign?
Rushevicis: I think qualifications and experience are two of the primary issues of the campaign now. As Assistant District Attorney, I have spent a year and a half working on problems which exist and must be dealt with in the office the person has the ability to take into account a number of factors in making a decision. That is, it is not enough to have a person who can assume the role of a public stereotype let's say of a District Attorney, namely, a person is not enough to have a person who can assume the role of a public stereotype like the District Attorney's office. In the office we are faced contiuously with a series of problems where decisions have to be made, and discretion exercised. The experience, though important, also has to go hand in hand with the person in the office who has the ability to take into account a number of factors in making a decision.

Rushevicis: Well, I would like to think that it would be a very good relationship. I've always gone along well with students. At the law school where I was involved with teaching first-year law students, I had an excellent rapport with them. Since I've been in the office here, I've had a number of students come into the D.A.'s office with questions involving rental problems, financial problems, and personal problems, and in every case I feel that the person who came here left with the feeling that there was someone to talk to about this problem and was willing to do all he could for him.

Rushevicis: Well as you know, we have a series of drug cases during the past year here in Portage County. Some did involve marijuana but the major and perhaps hang drugs. I strongly support the recent trend in the law through the passage of the uniform controlled substances act, which in effect decriminalizes not only the possession of marijuana and he has not been in trouble before the judge has the option of placing him on probation for a period of a year, let's say. If at the end of that time he has not been involved in any further trouble the entire arrest and conviction record is erased. The new drug law expanded this, of course, to include other drugs, and I strongly support this. The question came up in a recent interview with a reporter from the Stevens Point Daily Journal concerning an ordinance regulating marijuana. I would favor for a couple of reasons. One, I think that the new law providing a period of probation for a casual user is really a bit cumbersome as well as expensive to administer. By this I mean if a person gets picked up and a couple of ounces of marijuana are found on his person, I see no real point to placing him under the supervision of a probation officer for six months or a year. If the person is a casual user and he enjoys using "grass" and he honestly believes that he's not doing anything wrong or hurting anyone, all he'll do is be more careful the next time he uses it. But in the meantime the probation officer is spending his time and the individual is spending his time coming down for monthly or bi-monthly meetings with the probation officer and I don't think any legitimate purpose is served by an ordinance adopted along the lines of a shop lifting ordinance, would provide for revenue for the municipality. In other words, if charged with an ordinance violation it would be like a traffic ticket. I think that the new law decri£11inalizes not only the possession of marijuana and the ability and discretion exercised in making decisions about the city's community; people are treated equally and justice is administered with an even hand.

Rushevicis: So certain cases could be filtered through the office and at least the person could be given some guidance and advice on what he could do to solve whatever the problem is that he is faced with. So I don't plan on telling anyone else, but in this regard I think it's a distinct advantage for the students because my feeling has been that any person is open to them as to any other citizen in the county, and I would like them to use it.

Pointe: What is your position on the legalization of marijuana and its prosecution?
Rushevicis: Well, I would like to think that it would be a very good relationship. I've always gone along well with students. Point: How do you feel about abortion, day care centers, and other aspects of women's rights?

Rushevics: I feel very strongly about the concept of women's rights. I was on the curriculum committee at the University of Wisconsin Law School, which is a student-focused committee that is instrumental in promoting an increase in enrollment in day care centers. I also feel that it is important to support the idea of women's rights.

Loyal Hanson

Engineer for IBM in research and development and with customers. I've had people working under me in the corporation.

I think that the corporate experience is always good for background in working with people and making business decisions. After that I had three years of law school on the University of Wisconsin campus. I was there when the National Guard was there and the courts were on campus and there was a lot of soul searching going on among students and the adults and people looking for something. I built my law office. I went to the courthouse and trained myself and organized my office so that it is a going business. I'm generally active, I'm active with the people around as the village attorney. I'm active in starting a youth center in Amherst. I've had a diversity of legal problems from divorce, traffic violations, tax matters, real estate, to some of the corporate work for the local bank. Work in different problems, work with different people, and all in all it gives you a credential, it gives you a background and experience, it gives you something you can carry around to the next thing you do in life.

Nixon-McGovern Comparison

Although a handful of interested citizens read platform papers and take them seriously, only a minority of Americans disregard them entirely. Why? Does a platform really reveal the party’s stand on issues? Is it better to examine the party record or the candidate’s record?

Toward the end of the Republican and Democratic conventions, well after the platform is ratified by the delegates, each party nominates a presidential candidate. A post-instantaneously, the attention of the American voter is focused on this man, the leader of the party that he unanimously elected in the last election. The platform is a piece of political literature written to influence public opinion. It is a neat little package of policies written in just a few pages.

Toward the end of the convention, the Democratic and Republican candidates both have a chance to make final statements. The platforms are offered as a blueprint of what party will do once it takes over government. Moreover, the platforms do have a few things to say about how the future is going to look for the voter.

ENVIRONMENT: Both parties recognize need to clean up air and water. Neither has developed a clear policy of land development or preservation.

Stress importance of reconciling conflicts among the goals of cleaner air and water, inexpensive power with industrial development and jobs in specific places. The party’s platform calls for action to curb sewer in federal courts. Suggest development of a new "unconventional energy sources.

WELFARE: Both parties deplore present complicated and emotionally.. and financial welfare system, but differ on mechanism and amount of welfare benefits needed to improve it.

Unemployment relief platform flatly opposes government welfare. Instead, it calls for a "workable balance" between economy and environment, comprehensive planning and stringent clean water standards.

TAXES AND FEDERAL BUDGET: Differing opinions on tax breaks for business and use of taxes to redistribute wealth.

Not one platform in plank devoted to federal priorities, which affects taxation and spending. Endorse Mills-Mansfield Tax Policy Review Act. Appeal all tax preferences as means of less complicating a systematic review of legislation affecting the nation. Urge cost of government to be more evenly among income classes. Offer no figures for cost of program advocated against value-added tax.

HEALTH: Both parties are for good health and each tries to outflank the other.

Favor system of universal national health insurance, federally financed and administered. Federally supported family assistance minimum payment for families with children: $2400 for a family of 4. Employable family members would receive grant for work or job training.

DRUGS: While they deplore drug use, lack of in-depth knowledge of what to do about drugs is evident in both platforms. Neither party attempts to examine family breakdown or reasons for widespread use in all classes.

Eliminate supply and demand for drugs or taxes paid by those earning below poverty level, "make come, despite resistance, due to federal loss of income substantially more government-guaranteed income which results from the tax base." Congress, to provide a basic minimum payment for families with children: $2400 for a family of 4. Employable family members who would receive grant for work or job training.

NATIONAL DEFENSE: Substantial differences between parties.

A clear that they are needed. National Defense Department cuts and defense partnerships in Asia and Europe to reduce dependence on U.S.

Defense budget substantially. (McGovern has vowed to slash military spending by some $3 billion annually by 1975, although the Democratic platform itself gives no figures whatever for defense-cuts and modifications.) Seek a comprehensive ban on all nuclear testing. Avoid commitment to new weapons until it becomes clear that they are needed.

The Pointer
YMCA Extends Its Hand To The University

by Tim Sullivan, Tom Enlund, and Phil Esche

Hectic is a good word to describe the Stevens Point Area YMCA these days. The "Y" is currently in a transition period, as the Pacelli High building at 1000 Division Street is being converted into a brand new YMCA. An extensive construction and remodeling program is in the making to change a building of classrooms into a full fledged YMCA. Within the "Y" is a special organization known as "The Y's Men Club", and this group is also starting to move into full swing. Both the "Y" and the Men's Club indicated that they are ready to take part in student participation when you started the club.

Warner: "We were interested in the students participating, but we felt our first goal was to reach the non-participators from the community. We wanted to begin in a small way, and as we grew into our new facilities, we had hoped we could work with the college people. Now that we're on firm ground, we'd be happy to have the college people come to join us."

Warlinbee: "Actually, up to now we were not that concerned with the university students, simply because they didn't need us. Now, with our new facilities, we hope to include the university students in our programs."

Pointer: What services do the Y's Men perform for the YMCA?

Warlinbee: "Mr. Warner might tell us that he needs new tumbling mats or basketballs. He might ask us for scholarships for young people to go to camp. We would find a way to get these jobs done, either by fund-raising projects or other ways."

Pointer: Has the club actually carried out any fund-raising projects?

Warlinbee: "Yes. One day last year, we had a trash-bag sales day. It happened to fall on the opening day of the tennis season, and we still raised over $800."

Hillman: "Initially, when we were headquartered in the old firehouse (on Strong Avenue), our projects were involved with raising funds for renovation and things of that nature. The actual manpower that we gave was directed more toward community interest. For example, we provided the manpower for the co-sponsorship of the initial Pitch, Hit and Throw contest. We provided cars and drivers to take kids in Young In Government to Madison. Things of this nature were more toward the community, because the "Y" itself really didn't have so many needs for us."

Pointer: The YMCA recently moved from the old Fire Station into the former Pacelli High School building. How does the move affect you now?

Hillman: "Now that we're in the new facility, there is a greater need for us from a manpower viewpoint. We were instrumental in moving everything out of the firehouse into the new building. We helped bring over the Campaign Headquarters. Our Guys worked on clearing up the gymnasmum, washing windows, and moving lawns outside the building. One of the fellows, Dave Bisbee, was the co-head of the touch football program for the youth."

Pointer: Why did you feel the need to expand the YMCA to its present location?

Hillman: "Our facilities were very cramped in the old fire station. We had no gym, swimming pool, handball court, athletic field, or anything of that nature. We merely had a game room and some office space. We couldn't serve the entire community that a good YMCA normally could."

Pointer: "In addition, we knew that people were definitely interested in this, because the YMCA had a membership of approximately 200 people, and even though it was all being run from a small fire station."

Pointer: Jay, this is the third YMCA you've been in now. How does the YMCA compare to others?

Warner: "It's a YMCA Men Club, and I honestly believe that this one in Stevens Point has the greatest potential, because it is new and rapidly growing. I would like to point out however, that we are not strictly involved in physical activities. A well-rounded YMCA looks for a need to perform something of real value to the community."

Former: What specifically would you tell a college student who were interested in joining?

Hillman: "It's a situation where we as a Y's Men Club could explain what we are doing. What do our meetings consist of, and what are our goals? If this fits in with their particular goals, whether they're students or teachers, or if they see something in it for them, we could get together. The program sells itself."

"A typical meeting would provide a chance for exercise, either in the form of football, basketball, volleyball, or something of that nature.

"Then we may have a project going on at the "Y", part of the service that we mentioned. The programs are really designed to make us as individuals more aware of what's happening in our own community. We might have a political speaker, or a sports film, or even a football commencement, and these programs are so many different things."

What is the cost of joining the YMCA and the Men's Club?

Warlinbee: "The YMCA offers two types of membership - physical fitness (recreation) membership costs $15 for a 12 month period. All YMCA programs are open to physical members, so any of the YMCA facilities are available. Besides use of the gym and athletic field, physical members can enroll in YMCA skill classes in karate, judo, yoga, instructional swimming, and ballet."

"Social membership costs $5 for a 12 month period, but the activities are more limited. Only the skills classes are open to social members. The gym or the other "physical" facilities planned for the future cannot be used by social members."

Hillman: "A person has to be a member of the YMCA in order to join the Y's Men Club. For students, the fee is $15 a year. It's $10 every six months for the YMCA alone. The membership of the "Y" or men's club will enable a member to go to YMCA anywhere in the world."

Pointer: What advantages are there for joining the YMCA Men Club, instead of just joining the "Y"?

Warlinbee: "If you're joining the men's club merely to participate in the athletics we have for instance the basketball games, there's no advantage whatsoever. The "Y" would have those facilities available at separate times."

"We offer something over and above the pure athletics. You'll get the fellowship of the guys in the group. You have our programs, which are styled to make you more aware of what's going on in the community. Just the idea that you're doing something good for people helps, like going along with the kids and members on bus trips to the Brewers and Bucks games."

Pointer: Are the Y's Men Clubs known outside the United States?

Warlinbee: "The Y's Men Club is an international club. It's represented in over 50 countries. This in itself speaks very highly of it."

"Regional meetings are helpful, too. Clubs get together from all over to discuss the good things that happened with them, and the shortcomings that were experienced. Money-raising projects are talked over. We have a number of sessions which are strictly related to raising money for the club."

"These groups help each other out. One of the things that every successful Y Men's Club has is a component of peer pressure from every walk of life. Our club is no different. Among our members are two teachers at UW-Stevens Point. Darrel Chase is an economics teacher and was our president last year. Don Showalter is a teacher in the chemistry department, and he recently gave a moon rock slide presentation at our club meeting. We also have an orthodontist, a lawyer, some Sentry and Sone Line people, a WSPR radio man, a restaurant manager, a golf pro, a paper mill employee, a department

Answers Of The Week

Birth Control Information Made Available

What's Up Doc?

The first question this week was asked by a curious junior. It concerns the relative risks of the IUD and other methods of birth control.

Does the IUD Cause Cancer? To date, we are aware of no study that shows that the IUD causes cancer. The IUD (Intra Uterine Device) has not been in use long enough to study the long term effects but none are expected. The IUD does cause irritation in some patients. IUD’s are also associated with increased pain and bleeding during menstrual periods in many patients. Some physicians feel that any chronic irritation can lead to the development of cancer. To date, however, no such definite relationship has been demonstrated from the use of the IUD. If there ever is such a relationship proven, the FDA will promptly remove IUD’s from the market.

How Effective is the IUD? IUD’s are placed in almost any topic, try to find out who has prepared the paper. Do they have a personal bias that will affect their objectivity? The effectiveness of the IUD is in the 97 to 98 percent range, depending on the source. This effectiveness rate is in women who continue to use the IUD.

4. Assistance to hunters by providing safety courses and facilities for weapon zeroing.
5. Provision of space for storage of firearms for security and safety purposes.

IUDs are not approved by the FDA for use by women who have had pelvic surgery, are pregnant, or have certain medical conditions. IUDs are generally placed in women who have had five or more children.

How Can Students Be Better Informed About The Various Methods of Birth Control? One of the least enjoyable duties we face at the Health Services each day is that of dealing with the unplanned and/or unwanted pregnancy. For this reason, we make sure they are familiar with the various methods of birth control. We have a Health Educator at the Health Service who would be happy to discuss any health related problem with you. Members of our staff can be obtained to meet informally with your dorm wing, or any other group to answer questions concerning birth, sexuality and birth control.

Vets Get Pay Increase

More than a million GI Bill trainees will receive checks averaging $160 a month as November results in a new GI Bill fiscal year. Veterans Administration estimates that total costs will be $2.6 billion for the fiscal year. September enrollment was 99,000 - 23 percent higher than last year's figure.

The October 24, 1972 law does much more than raise training allowances. It authorizes advance payment. Administrator Johnson pointed out: "These are changes of greatest interest to students: Residents can be liberalized to make it easier for students in need of tutoring to qualify for a special allowance.

New protection is provided for those who sign up for correspondence courses. Eligible wives, widows and children under the Dependents' Educational Assistance Program are given broader latitude in choosing training programs to include on-the-job training and enrollment in foreign institutions of higher learning. Tutoring for those who need it is also included, and correspondence courses and higher education will be available for wives and widows.

Women veterans may now claim their husbands as dependents in order to qualify for higher benefits on the same basis as married male veterans. Widowers of female veterans will now receive the same training rights as widows.

Lump sum payments of allowances are authorized for wives, widows and children enrolled in educational programs on less than half time basis.

Field and Stream is Watching You

By Bob Lattin

The condition of the environment has become a very popular campaign issue lately, usually being sandwiched in somewhere between high taxes and the Vietnam war. When asked what his opinion is on any environmental issue, the candidate will invariably say, "We need a better environment," and rattle off some disturbing statistics that he picked up from a recent issue of Field and Stream.

Rather than ask the incumbents what their view on environmental issues is, the Pointer will attempt to show "how high the incumbents have voted on environmental issues in the past. The information for this article was compiled from, you guessed it, a recent issue of Field and Stream.

The first pair of candidates to be examined are both incumbents, David Obey, the Democratic Representative for the seventh district, and his opponent Alvin E. O'Konski, the Republican for the now defunct tenth district.

Of the 11 bills on which the Representatives were rated, they scored a whopping 91 percent in voting on the side of the environment, his only miss occuring when he wrongly voted in the opinion of the authors of the article, to allow the Atomic Energy Commission to issue temporary licenses even if it had not faced an environmental impact statement.

O'Konski, on the other hand, scored 41 percent of the same bills. Besides voting the same way as Obey on the AEC bill, O'Konski also voted against the Yates amendment to delete funds for the SST, the Monk Amendment which would have barred funds to the AEC for their nuclear blast on Amchitka Island, and the Russ Amendment which would have cut off federal funds to many channelization projects, to name a few.

The next person to be examined will be the incumbent Assembymen for the 71st district, Democrat Leonard Groshek. Of the 16 bills that Groshek scored, he made the right environmental decision 86 percent of the time in the opinion of the authors. On the minus side, Groshek voted against a bill which would have given private citizens broader power to sue polluters as public nuisances, a bill which extended control over outdoor advertising (billboards), and voted for a bill which stripped DNRC of all power to control land to acquire park land. On the plus side, Groshek voted for an Endangered Species Bill which prohibits the trapping of rare animals in Wisconsin, a law to update snowmobile law enforcement, safety programs, and established trails, and a bill which gave the DNR power to regulate the drainage and filling of certain types of wetlands.

His opponent, Emil Przybyla, is one of the two contenders for the office of State Senator in our district, William Bahlbitch and Ray Riodan, cannot be rated in this poll as they have never voted in time, black. However, we remind the winner of the two contests that Field and Stream is watching you.

McGovern For President

Another term for Richard Nixon promises nothing positive for the United States or the world. This can be ascertained from judging the actions and nature of Nixon's current term—the following conclusions are reached. Reactionary policies, a ready use of force, and deception have been characteristic of the Nixon Administration. It has done nothing to improve the quality of life in America. It has done nothing to solve the deep and serious problems facing America, it has only compounded them. It has consistently refused to acknowledge the existence or seriousness of rampant militarism, inflation, unemployment, poverty, inadequate health care, decaying cities, destruction of the environment, racism, a failing educational system...

To the Nixon Administration, there have been but two institutions worthy of attention—business and the military, and all aid and assistance has been directed toward sustaining them. McGovern stands over and against this. Thus, he received the Pointer's endorsement. No one can be certain what McGovern's success will be in implementing plans for reform and change. We do know that he realizes that there are fundamental problems facing American which must be dealt with. But McGovern and his administration may not have the ideas to successfully deal with these problems. Or, they too may become sustainers of business and the military. McGovern may also face a Congress which refuses to implement any significant and meaningful change. Clearly, there will be many obstacles and problems. Yet, at the very least McGovern can succeed in ending U.S. involvement in Indochina and in providing a better life for the millions of Americans who lack even the food and clothing necessary to sustain them. Perhaps this is all that can be done, yet there is no possibility of even this under Nixon. McGovern must be the choice.

Pointers Endorsements

The Pointer in this election year has made an attempt at presenting each of the candidates for public office to the students of Portage County. Although the election scene is primarily directed toward Washington, we do feel that the voting which will take place for local and state offices is equally important. We have reviewed the local candidates we have found some interesting differences in both their platforms and sense of responsibility to the issues and public alike. The Pointer, noting these differences and recognizing the need for responsible men in local and state offices, gives its endorsement to those candidates that we feel are worthy of the offices for which they strive. The following are the Pointer endorsements for the 1972 election year.

State Senate Race - Bablitch

In the State Senate race the Pointer endorses and encourages students to vote for Bill Bablitch. Mr. Bablitch, the Democratic candidate for the 24th district senate seat, has taken a positive stand in the areas of no fault insurance, probate reform, and calls for taxation based on "the ability to pay." In environmental issues Mr. Bablitch has shown in his term as Portage County D.A. that he stands firm on the issues, having prosecuted industrial polluters to the fullest extent of his office.

Mr. Riordan, the Republican opponent, has advanced what we see as a philosophy of negativism. Riordan has called no-fault a 'phony issue.' His plan would agree that we should save from such government restriction.

Mr. Riordan has based his campaign on the greatest asset of saving all things sacred, including the "almighty dollar," Mr. Bablitch has been busy voicing his opinion on the real issues. We commend Mr. Bablitch for not limiting his judgements to economics but to a deep interest in human assets as well. His stand on environmental issues has earned him the endorsement of the UW-SP Environmental Council. His sensitivity to the human element of each issue has made him aware of the danger of snap decisions based on politics alone. 1969 and 1970 Bill Bablitch went on public record against the war in Vietnam. Today he remains cognizant of national issues, while his opponent continues to leave the war and national issues to the President and the starships.

Mr. Bablitch, in our opinion, will represent the people of this district far better than a candidate who finds it necessary to phrase his stand on the issues to fit the audience he is addressing. Mr. Bablitch has adhered to his stand on the issues throughout the campaign and we know he would do so as a State Senator. We endorse Bill Bablitch not as the "lesser of two evils" but as one of the most responsible candidates of this election year. Mr. Bablitch needs the student vote to win this election and we feel he is well deserving of it.

Sheriff's Race - Check

The Pointer endorsement of incumbent sheriff Nick Check has been based on his law enforcement record and experience and his opponents lack of it. Sheriff Check has, we feel, operated his office on a highly professional level. His rapport with students and his common-sense handling of student protests and demonstrations favors well with students. While Check offers to uphold the same philosophy in the future his opponent suggests little positive change, and programs which we see as detrimental to the rights guaranteed by the law. James Stankevitz, the Republican candidate, added nothing new to the previous experience in law enforcement. He contends that none is necessary and his programs show that it is. A Sheriff's office under Stankevitz would incorporate "special deputies" to see to the property of the county. We cannot help but agonize at the possibility of "special deputies" attempting to uphold the law where students are involved in the city, especially on the square. Sheriff Check has implemented prison reforms in the Portage County jail and is an advocate for further reforms in the state. His opponent's concept

LETTERS

Why, Mr. Nixon?

To the Editor:

Congratulations, Mr. Nixon! You have finally begun to be really serious about getting out of the philosophy avoidance game in Vietnam. As happy as I will be to look forward to Bill's intervention in your campaign, I have some questions that you must answer.

1) Mr. Nixon, did you allow 20,000 United States troops to die so you could continue to play your game, and could you have gained over three years ago?

2) Mr. Nixon, did we spend an additional $60 billion for war during your reign?

3) Mr. Nixon, does all this come about just as the elections are coming in?

4) Mr. Nixon, did 6,000,000 Vietnamese have to suffer your bombs, your napalm, your massacres, your dictatorship, for nearly four more years?

You must answer these questions, Mr. Nixon, before the American people decide whether or not to give you four more years.

Four more years? Though cynics will congratulate you on your political acumen, I say twelve weeks of Nixon-Agnew is too long.

Suan Hyland "T"
Environmental Council Endorses Bablitch

To the Editor:

The Environmental Council of UWSP is endorsing Bill Bablitch for the office of State Senator. Mr. Bablitch has consistently taken a nonsensical attitude toward polluters and used all the resources available to him as a District Attorney for environmental protection. As a senator, Bablitch could implement a sound restoration program for the Wisconsin River, and fight for sensible development of the northland. His decision to refrain from political posters and billboards, an option not shared by his opponent, is another indication of the respect he holds for our environment. The land and the resources of this planet are essential for any meaningful human existence. Bill Bablitch is unwilling to sacrifice the resource base of future generations for an artificial economic standard today.

The decade of the seventies will proclaim the beginning of significant environmental action or the continued degradation of our surroundings. Within the framework of the State Senate, Bill Bablitch could provide the leadership that is so urgently needed in sound environmental legislation. His political history, personal integrity, and ecological philosophy will be valuable assets in his service to the people of Wisconsin. The UW-SP Environmental Council endorses and strongly urges support of Bill Bablitch for State Senator.

Sincerely,

Environmental Council

Service For Everyone?

To the Editor:

In regard to your "Question of the Week" in the Pointer of Friday, October 27, 1972, you asked if the rifle range would be open to other students or student groups. This range will be open to all that wish to use it. There is another range on this campus that is pushing for the new rifle range, The Pointer Rifle and Pistol Club. This organization is open to all student and faculty members. The club has the potential of carrying on many beneficial activities for the student body. It is evident that there are many students on this campus of prison reform is by all indications based on his belief that prisons are punitive and not correctional institutions. Sheriff Check has stressed that his office believes that, "laws pertaining to marijuana should not be criminal laws." A sheriff's office under Check would move to decriminalize the use of marijuana and alcohol. In the past, that has amounted to a conviction on possession of marijuana resulting in a one year probation period with no criminal record. Stankevitz on the other hand would act to criminalize marijuana by enforcing mandatory sentences for drug dealers.

In the campaign, Stankevitz has suggested that Check has not enforced the law equally. Stankevitz has suggested that certain people get special treatment, stating that influential people don't get their names, "splattered in the papers." Check has responded to these charges by stating that his office is under the supervision of a board which can substantiate his enforcement policies. We would also remind candidate Stankevitz that a Sheriff's office does not control local newspapers, a realization which must also come with the experience he feels is not necessary for the office. The Pointer encourages students to vote for Sheriff Nick Check on the grounds that he has the experience and a law enforcement philosophy necessary for a professional and responsible Sheriff.

D.A. Race - Rushevics

The race for the District Attorney's office in Portage county has gone on without a great deal of publicity. The candidates for this office are vying for the seat vacated by state senate candidate Bill Bablitch. The Pointer endorses Maria Rushevics on the basis of his experience as Assistant D.A. for the past year and a half. We feel that Mr. Rushevics has exhibited an ability and willingness to keep the D.A.'s office not only a prosecution office but a source of legal guidance. Mr. Rushevics has taken a stand on the prosecution of marijuana users, abortion, day care centers and women's rights (see interview this issue). Mr. Hanson, however, seems to be riding the fence on this questions, failing to provide the voters with a clear picture of his convictions. We see Mr. Hanson's stand as one of expediency, meaning of course, that he will make decisions when the need for decisions is present. We would suggest that he should have found it expedient to inform the voters of his positions so that they would have the opportunity to vision how the office would be run under his direction. As it is, the only candidate who has given us the direction the D.A.'s office will take is Maria Rushevics.

Rushevics has all of the qualifications to make him the best choice for the D.A.'s position. The Pointer feels that Rushevics can and will continue to operate a D.A.'s office which has the correct balance in both the understanding of the law and its responsibility to the public.

7th Congressional District

David Obey

The Pointer feels that of the two candidates running for the 7th Congressional seat, David Obey, the incumbent Democrat is the best choice. Obey's voting record in Congress, especially on environmental issues, has been outstanding. Obey has been interested, in his term as congressman, in deferring money spent on the space race and the war in Vietnam to areas like health, education, water pollution and more domestic issues. We find David Obey's positions on the issues have been stated quite clearly and with conviction. (See Pointer Obey interview, Oct. 27)

While we have had little opportunity to view Alvin O'Konski's campaign, we hope that the debate scheduled for Nov. 1, and reported in this issue, will help clarify the difference between the candidates. To date, Alvin O'Konski, who won 16 consecutive terms as representative of the now reapportioned 10th district, has stood on his past record. Obey has left no doubt that he is a dove on the war in Vietnam. O'Konski has made it an issue that he had objected to the war as early as 1954, his objections, however, did not prevent him from voting against bills to terminate U.S. involvement in Vietnam. There have been new questions in the past directed at O'Konski's use of nepotism in placing members of his family and several of his employees from his broadcasting interests (a television station in Rhinelander) on the government payroll as congressional aides.

The Pointer believes that David Obey has proven himself as an effective legislator and as a man with vision and determination. Alvin O'Konski, on the other hand, has had 16 consecutive terms as a congressman and in this, his 17th attempt at election to the congress has held out his service in the past to the people of the 7th district. O'Konski has devoted most of his campaign to outlining those 16 terms and we feel if he was interested in serving the people of the 7th district he would show more concern for the future than the past.

A look at Congressman Obey's record is enough to convince us that he is deserving of his position in Washington. Obey not only has an excellent record but has taken the time this campaign year to discuss new areas of legislation, a practice not clearly advanced by O'Konski's campaign. David Obey is one of Wisconsin's best legislators, in fact one of the best in the United States, and he deserves to remain our congressman.
To the Electors of Portage County:

Notice is hereby given, that at an election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election districts of the State of Wisconsin, on the first Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday of November, A.D., 1972, being the seventh day of said month, eleven electors of President and Vice President of the United States, one for each congressional district and two for the State at large, are to be elected. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column.

Information to Electors:

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his name and address before receiving the ballot from the ballot clerk. The initials of two ballot clerks must appear on the ballot. Upon receiving the ballot, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth and mark his ballot. A ballot clerk may inform the elector of the proper manner for marking a ballot, but he shall not in any manner advise or indicate for whom to vote.

If an elector wishes to vote for all candidates nominated by any party, he shall make a cross or other mark in the circle under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot. Unless a name has been erased or crossed out, another name written in, a mark placed to the right of a candidate for the same office in another column or a sticker applied, a mark in the circle at the top of the column is a vote for all the party's candidates listed in the column. If an elector does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall make a cross or mark in the square at the right of each candidate's name for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of a candidate.

In presidential elections, the elector shall place a cross or other mark in the square at the right of the set of candidates for president and vice president for whom he intends to vote. The vote shall be counted for all the candidates for presidential electors of those candidates. The ballot should be counted for all the candidates for presidential electors of those candidates. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the elector spoils a ballot, he shall return it to an election official who shall issue another in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. Not more than five minutes time shall be allowed to mark the ballot. Unofficial ballots or a memorandum to assist the elector in marking his ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

After the official ballot is marked, it shall be folded so the inside marks do not show but so the printed indorsements and ballot clerk's initials on the outside do show. After folding the ballot, the elector shall leave the booth, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him the ballot to be placed in the ballot box, and leave the polling place promptly.

An elector may be assisted by two election officials of different parties in marking the ballot if he declares to the presiding official that he is unable to read or that due to physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot. If an elector declares that he is visually handicapped he may have anyone assist him in marking his ballot or operating a vote counting machine.

On Drugs

As stated above, Stankervitz calls a change in the dealings out of sentences to first-offense drug users, and states that there should be "a change of law to prevent drugs from being dealt to a misdemeanor." He draws the comparison to other first-offense drug dealers. Under his prison reform plan, Stankervitz would give second offense dealers a minimum penalty of nine years, while continuing to parole for three for third offenders, and life imprisonment for those who refuse to parole for three for offenders. "I don't want to be busying ourselves every other day," he stated, "that's chopping off the tail, and I want the head."

Crowd Control

Stankervitz stated repeatedly that he would handle crowd situations himself, without any other policemen to back him up. He believes that "... a riot squad is not the answer," and contends that the only way to handle a situation like, for example, a riot, is the campus, would be for him to "... approach the students alone and with reason."

Nick Check

The incumbent Sheriff, who has been in law enforcement since 1952 when he was on the Milwaukee Police Force, could not disagree more. He says that one does not need any experience to run for the office, and that perhaps his major issue in the campaign is to "keep the office professional." Check sees the major point in his prison reform plan include: separate prisons for first and young offenders, parole for first offenders only, a drug offender program in which first offenders would be judged individually depending upon their age and the obligation of society to "... give the offender hope to vote and hold public offices if he wishes."

This range would provide a service to any member of the student body or faculty who wish to take part.

Pheasant Research Study

To the Editor:

I am a graduate student in the Department of Biological Sciences, UW-SP working for a Master of Science Degree.

I am interested in obtaining a ring-necked pheasant research team to work part fulfillment of the Master of Science Degree. The Tomorrow River Valley Conservation is cooperating with me in this study. The project started on the second day old chicks in June from the Department of Natural Resources. Three hundred and fifty female pheasants were banded and released on four separate dates, September 30th, October 4th, 27th, and the 21st. The birds were 14-17 weeks of age. The pheasants were handled with plastic numbered leg bands. Green bands were used for the first release date, blue for the second, yellow for the third, and red on the last date. The pheasants and pheasants were released in the townships of Amherst, Lanark, New Hope, and Stockton in Portage Wisconsin in the vicinities of Amherst, Amherst Junction and Nolensville.

The main objectives of the study are to determine the winter survival of the pheasants to the hunters for each of the four release dates. A winter analysis will also be applied to determine what each pheasant returned to the hunters for the costs to the club.

A second objective is to determine the winter survival of the pheasants to the hunters for each of the four release dates. A winter analysis will also be applied to determine what each pheasant returned to the hunters for the costs to the club.

Other data collected will be height analysis, applying this to the hunter return and winter survival. Roosters were weighed during the banding process to determine weight loss or gain from time of release to return to the hunter. This may be correlated to a spring census prior to snow disappearance will be conducted for this reason.

From the economist's point of view, all Asian countries are classified as "less-developed". One characteristic of these countries according to E.C. Hagen in his book The Economics of Development is that "they are in a number of cases, rather peculiar societies...voting participation is low... whether or not the vote cast seems to reflect loyalty to a leader rather than individual concern on political issues." Why? Maybe the economic system is one in which the voting rate means so little to part in politics which they don't understand anyway. You can find your self in the library is waiting you.

So you see America, to have democracy in most part of the world is America having five year old voting right to vote. America should be on the way ready for democracy. Unless, you still want to break your head over America. America is changing the principle of democracy by giving to the same time of life-saving activities an equal part in politics which they don't understand anyway. You can find yourself in your self the library is waiting you.

Sincerely, L. Wipuchanin

On Crowd Control

Check, in speaking strictly to the college student on this matter, calls for the voter to look to present trends and what lies for the future. "I have alienated myself from some of the older people in the community," he stated, "particularly those who are hard line and want us to knock heads. From the time of our first district election years ago, I have alienated myself from my fellow police officers in other counties because of my stand with the University here, but I am proud of it. I am proud that we have not had to use crowd control equipment. First, I think it is wrong, we can accomplish more without it. I have not and will not take the stronger stand, if you are going to fight the idea of a stronger stand to the fact that we are going to work with the people even over the head and use gas. As long as I'm alive, we won't use gas."

Check has stressed the need for police training, because "... lower law enforcement officers, particularly those who are interested in hunting, are unable to conduct these activities at a large enough scale. We are using the White Rifle and Pistol Range. Our Club is limited to the number of members we can handle, but we have not turned away people, pleased or pleased. We have no doubt because of lack of facilities. We provide equipment and expert instruction. I marksmanship get picked, we're spattered in the papers, and all I want to see is fair and equal treatment all the way around."

David Obey, Congressman 7th district Democrat

compliance with certain antipollution standards. He was asked how he could justify voting against such a moratorium when the paper industry is one of this area's most important employers. The Democrat replied saying that a moratorium of this kind would give the green light to pollution in many parts of the nation for three more years and that because our state pollution standards are higher than many states, such national anti-pollution action would insure keeping these jobs in the state of Wisconsin.

O'Konski said that something must be done to clean up the rivers and streams but that if such a moratorium were enacted many jobs would be lost. He said, "We've got to balance the bread against ecology."

In concluding, both candidates were asked what they viewed as the major differences between each other. Obey felt that the difference concerned spending philosophy. He felt that a program would have to be more aware of wasteful defense spending and try to stop it. O'Konski, on the other hand, felt that the worst mistake in his career was in 1947 when the Republican Congress voted to cut Truman's defense budget by $27 billion and he voted favor of this measure. He claimed that the deterioration of our armed forces resulted in the Korean War. He stated that he wouldn't want to ever make such a mistake again.

The Republican candidate then concluded by saying that he favored more local control of spending. He said that the city and county governments are far more capable of spending for the people's needs than is Washington DC.

Local Prison Program Starts Second Year

The program of providing education to prisoners in the Portage County jail, started as a 6 month pilot project, is now entering its second year of operation.

Professor Dan Houlihan of U.W.-SP, who initiated the program and remains as Project Supervisor, has since been named a member of U.W. President Weaver's Task Force on Higher Education in the Corrections System.

Commenting on the program, Portage County Sheriff Nick Check praised the effect the program has had on prisoners.

Check said that little rehabilitation takes place when an offender is merely locked behind bars.

"After all, these men will return to the community and unless they have had an opportunity to improve themselves and develop a better attitude toward their role in society there's too great a chance they will repeat their crimes and be back in jail."

"If an inmate is allowed exposure to the community for short periods of time and has a chance to work and educate himself you reduce his resentment and make his return to normal life much easier," according to Check.

Inmates have been enrolled in classes at the local university and in vocational-technical schools in both Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids. A tutoring program, now in its early stages, is being developed to help inmates with pendic problem subjects such as reading and home budgeting.

Last summer a physical education program for prisoners was run by Jim Clark, a member of the Phys. Ed. department at the University. Classes were held in the City-County Building with an emphasis on films, literature and discussions.

The program is funded by a recent grant issued through the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice.

Meets

On election night, which is next Tuesday, November 7, just as the polls close (8 p.m.) but before any significant returns are in, the Philosophy Club will hold its second meeting of the year. The subject will be one of immediate concern: Are conscientious civil disobedients enemies of the state? So just before you find out, through the election results, whether or not there will be immoral laws in the next four years that you will be tempted by your conscience to disobey, Kevin Klein will introduce, and the rest of us will discuss whether such disobedience makes you an enemy of the state.

Mel Laird will not be there, but there is a rumor, undoubtedly false, that some of his friends volunteered to tape the discussion for him. If you lack the electronic equipment, come and participate in person. The place is 5715 Lincoln Ave. All are invited. Bring a friend if you have one.

ALVIN O'KONSKI SAYS HE'S BEEN AGAINST THE WAR SINCE 1954 — BUT LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD!

FACT NO. 1: In the Congressional Record in 1966, Alvin O'Konski endorsed a pre-emptive nuclear attack against Red China as the best way to deal with the Vietnam War.

FACT NO. 2: Alvin O'Konski has voted 9 times against amendments to end American participation in the War including the following:

✓ On 6-17-71 O'Konski voted against an amendment prohibiting the use of funds for U.S. military operations in Indochina after Dec. 31, 1971, but allowing the President to set a later date if needed to insure the safe withdrawal of troops and release of POW's.

✓ On 6-28-71 and 10-19-71, O'Konski voted against the Mansfield Amendment calling for a total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina in 9 months, pending release of POW's.

✓ On 11-17-71 O'Konski voted against halting funds for operations in S.E. Asia after June 1, 1972, subject to release of our POW's.

✓ On 8-10-72 O'Konski voted to strike provisions of the foreign aid bill calling for U.S. withdrawal from Indochina by 10-1-72, subject to the release of POW's.

✓ On 9-14-72 Alvin O'Konski voted against terminating U.S. troop involvement in Indochina in 4 months, contingent upon release of POW's.

FACT NO. 3: On these same votes Congressman David Obey voted YES!

Our gym schedule at the time favors men more, because the schedule is set up according to the needs and demands of the participants. If we get a greater demand from any group, we will give this group more consideration."

The YMCA is growing at a rapid pace. By 1973, additions will include a weight room, an Olympic-style swimming pool, and new shower rooms and locker area. The YMCA offers more than just recreational opportunities. Over 80 university students currently are involved in YMCA leadership positions through university course work. Law enforcement is a people problem and Sheriff Check puts people first.

"By the book" law enforcement is not his bag. Check interprets the lawbooks in the spirit in which they were intended — for the benefit of all the people.

• He believes that punishing offenders is not enough — for what is accomplished by turning a thoroughly punished, and just as thoroughly embittered, offender back to society unformed?

• Sheriff Check knows it is better to work at rehabilitating offenders than to merely keep them out of sight for a few months. That is why he has led the state in implementing work-release programs that show offenders how to cooperate with society, rather than how to fight it after marking time in a jail cell.

• In crowd control situations, Check relies on reason rather than tear gas and clubs. Experience, including nine years in Milwaukee's ghetto as a lawman, has shown him that calm discussion will cool incendiary situations more surely than hot rhetoric, angry threats or coded slogans like "law and order."

And his theories work ... force has never been used to control crowds here while Check has held office.

ROT C Wins Championship

The ROTC touch-football team used their opponent's mistakes to good advantage and became the undisputed champions of the Student Organization League, last week, as they defeated the Vets 55-0 by a score of 8-6.

The Vets received the first half kick-off and were well on their way to the ROTC end zone when a pass from Vet's quarterback, Dave Nass, was intercepted by ROTC's Bill Howlett. The subsequent ROTC drive was snuffed out by an interception of a Bill Howlett pass by the Vet's Bob Schiffbauer. The Vets were unable to capitalize on the interception, however, and were forced to punt.

ROT C drew first blood early in the first half. Howlett marched his team up the field and threw a touchdown pass to his brother, Mike Howlett, to take a 6-0 lead. The two point conversion attempt, again, courtesy of the Howletts' brothers, was good and the ROTC took a 8-0 lead.

ROT C held the 8-0 lead for the rest of the first half. But the Vets came roaring back, literally, in the second half. An obvious pass interference infraction was not called against ROTC and the Vet's offense momentarily sputtered. It also made a few other sounds not generally printed. Dave Nass brought the Vets back to life with a long bomb to Pat O'Don, who won the juggle-the-football contest with two ROTC defenders. The pass set up a Nass to O'Donald touchdown play for a 8-6 score. The ROTC defence prevented the Vets from scoring on the conversion attempt and the game ended with the ROTC winning, 8-6.

In another championship game last week, Gluteus Maximus took the Independent's League title by defeating the Flashies, 42-6. Ken Kupic was the leading scorer with three TD's to his credit.

The Smith League leader, 3 South, had a field day with 2 North, dubbing North 34-0. Dave Oldenberg led the top-sidet scoring with 24 points. At last count, 3 South had a perfect 10-0 record.

Baldwin 2 South rolled over 1 East, 28-0. TD's were scored by Bob Schwartz, Dan Ketter, Jody Rogers, and Tom Heruckles. 2 South leads the Baldwin league with a 7-0 record.

Another league leader, Burroughs 2 North, had a score in the form of 3 South. 2 North held on for a 12-8 victory over South. Bob Gago and Lee Harden scored all of North's points with a TD each. 2 North shares the lead in the Burroughs league with 2 West. Both teams have a 9-1 record.

Action in the Heyer league saw the leader, 2 East, upset by 1 West. The final score was 18-6.

Pat Zingler scored two of West's three TD's. 2 East's record is now 7-2 while 1 West's record is 5-3.

Knutzen 1 South continued their winning ways as they defeated 4 West, 14-8. Joe Murphy and Ron Hvizdak scored a TD each for South. 1 South leads in this league with a 10-0 record.

Frank Wallace passed for three TD's and scored one himself to lead league-leading Watson 4 West to a 32-4 rout of 1 North. 4 West remains undefeated in ten games.

Women's Intramurals

After four weeks competition, ten women's volleyball teams remain undefeated. These teams are Bloody Mary's Babes, 3 North Neale, the Village Vacancies, 1 East Roach, 1 South Thomson, the Spirits, 4 East'er Bunnies, the Nutherts, the Wild Bunch, and Freda's Follies.

Friday & Saturday

- Coming December 13
- The Fabulous DR. BOP
- POOR HENRY'S
by Larry Gilman and Tim Schmitt

Christmas came a little early last Saturday at River Falls, as the Pointers tried everything in their power to make the cold afternoon a happy one for the Falcons. The Pointers left a little bit included lots of little goodies, such as five fumbles and four interceptions. Due to the overwhelming generosity of Stevens Point, River Falls won the game 23-6.

If one chooses to ignore the turnovers, a glance at the statistics would indicate that Point was the game. The Pointers beat the Falcons in first downs, net yards passing, passes attempted, passes completed (excluding interceptions) fewer punts, and total net yards.

Nevertheless, we can’t ignore the turnovers. One Falcon touchdown was set up directly by a Pointer fumble, and another was aided by a misplaced Pointer pass. In between the two, the Pointers also managed to get caught for a safety, thus giving them a starting point in any kind of football.

“It’s really kind of a funny game, isn’t it?” asked a rhetorical Pointer Coach Monte Charles after the game. “I turned the ball over to us on four fumbles and four interceptions and still won, while we made just one mistake — a meaningless fumble and lost.” Football indeed is a funny game, and we should point out another nontraditional thing known as the ‘safety’.

A few weeks ago, the Pointers were asked to name the season’s greatest upset in their game against Oshkosh. They had the game won, and all they needed to do was take a 2-point safety to clinch it. Unfortunately, the Pointers declined to turn the safety down and lost the game instead.

Last Saturday, the Pointers finally got their safety. Needless to say, it came in the wrong game. But it was all for keeping Point’s perfect record intact—zero wins and eight losses.

The game got under way on a bizarre note. The Falcon’s Bob Rogers fumbled and then recovered the Pointer opening kickoff. The lack of coordination on the part of the Pointers gave the ball back to the Falcons on their own one-yard line. Three plays later, they punted.

Falcon punter Mark Gieslewicz boomed one 26-yard touchdown pass to Falcon linebacker Mark Gooms. That immediately wiped out any chance of a Pat Robbins’ field goal.

Both team’s defenses played well. Dan Shaler picked up the first quarter, and Robbins ended one Falcon scoring drive with an interception. The Pointers did appear to have one scoring march going. First downs by Ben Breese and Mark George on runs and a great pass play gave them excellent field position on the Falcon 33. Then another crazy play developed.

Oleszewski faked a handoff and completed a spiral to split end John DeLaurier for a 30. The Pointers were moving.

But wait a minute! The pass was called because the Pointers were detected for having an illegal receiver downfield. The penalty forced them to drive.

In the second quarter, the Pointers had another chance to score. Robbins intercepted his second Falcon pass and recovered it at River Falls’ 22. Following a first down, Oleszewski threw one to Ken Golomski, but the pass was hung up in a northeast trade wind and picked off by the Falcon’s Jerry Ritcher.

The Falcons couldn’t go anywhere with their offense, so they punted 54 yards to the Pointer six. Recent history shows that the Pointers sometimes have problems when they have the ball deep in their own territory, and this was no exception.

Mark George fumbled on the first play, and Falcon Arlo Slack picked up the loose ball on the three.

Bingo! Bob Rogers, whose earlier claim to fame was fumbling the opening kickoff, took a handoff on the first play and scored the game’s first touchdown. Jeff Voss converted for a 7-0 lead.

The Pointers were soon again in trouble in the third period. Following a Pointer punt, the Falcons had a chance to have more passing plays to move the ball. Then the same old thing happened again. The Pointer defense got tough and forced Rogers to fumble. Pointer defensive tackle Dave Milliken recovered at the two.

Joe Farmer and Lloyd Jones each carried once, getting the ball out to the 10. On third down, Fullback Doug Olejniczak faked a handoff to Mark George, who then carried for a first down. Shaler picked up the loose ball on the line, and the Pointers were in business.

UW FACULTY FOR BABLITCH

The undersigned faculty of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, support the candidacy of Bill Bablitch, Democrat for the Wisconsin State Senate in the 24th Senatorial District.

As Portage County District Attorney these past four years, Bill has shown himself to be a staunch friend of the University community and higher education. His coolness under pressure has helped Stevens Point to achieve cordial student-community relations.

A strong civil libertarian, Bill Bablitch has also proven a vigorous and successful prosecutor. He has been an aggressive advocate of consumer interests and environmental interests. Bill’s record of proven performance in a tough job makes him an outstanding candidate, worthy of support by all.

Cross Country Team Hopeful

by Tom Enslund

The UW-SP cross country team split a double dual meet at Stout October 28 in final preparation for Saturday’s conference championship.

Stevens Point will host the conference meet beginning at 11 a.m. at the Riverside Golf Course.

Point’s effort at Stout was one of their best of the year and left some hope for a strong showing Saturday. The Pointers were defeated by Stout 24-31 but overwhelmed Superior 17-40. The outcome against Stout might have been different on a flatter course. Point’s runners were often passed or lost ground on the course’s numerous hills.

The flat Riverside course will be one point in their favor in the conference meet.

Don Trzebiatowski of Point won the Stout meet with a time of 26:36. Stout’s runners occupied the next four places with Point’s Don Behnke 6th (27:44), J.C. Schmidt 7th (27:51), and John Dwell 8th (27:55). Dave Elger completed Point’s scoring, finishing 11th at 28:15.

All that remains now is the conference championship. Predicting where the Pointers will finish is difficult as they have been erratic all year. The team ran strong early in the season but slumped in the later stages. Their performance at Stout may be a rejuvenation of the early season successes. Trzebiatowski has been Point’s leading runner all season and should finish near the top but the rest of the team has lacked consistency. The Pointers have a 7-7 record against conference opponents. Although only La Crosse, Platteville, and River Falls have beaten them decisively. La Crosse seems to be in a class by itself and should be this year’s champion. If Stevens Point comes up with an outstanding team performance they could challenge Platteville and River Falls for the runner-up spot.

Superpickers’ Heavy Artillery

Bombs Out

by Tim Sullivan and Mike Haberman

BENGALS AGAINST STEELERS - This is our weekly toss-up. Haberman likes Stuhlmann and the Cincy defense, while Sullivan likes Bradshaw, Pagin, Shanklin, and Franco Harris.

FALCONS OVER RAMS - There seems to be two road-blocks in the path of Atlanta’s march to the division championship. The Rams are one of them, and Van Brocklin is the other. The Falcons will win by six despite Coach Norman.

DETOUR OVER CHICAGO - Those poor Lions aren’t getting any respect. A few weeks ago, Dick Butkus called them a bunch of jerks. Then Howard Cosell was asked by The Sporting News what he thought about Joe Schmidt. Cosell replied, “Joe Schmidt - a great football player who couldn’t inspire a frog as a coach.”

We respect the Lions enough to pick them over Chicago.

CLEVELAND OVER HOUSTON - This week’s beneficiary of the automatic win should be the Browns. The Oilers couldn’t beat themselves in a practice scrimmage. Browns by 10.

SAN FRANCISCO OVER PACKERS - The Pack will lose this one. Were it not Green Bay’s deep scoring threats, Paul Krause and Wally Hilgenberg, will be playing in Minnesota. The Packer’s playbook this week will have Earl Starr calling passes to Dave Wilcox, Bruce Taylor, and Cedric Hardman. San Francisco by 7.

BALTIMORE OVER PATRIOTS - Baltimore isn’t the threat it used to be, but theColt’s taxi squad could give New England a rough time. Come to think of it, the Colts should start using their substitutes, because their starters are getting very good.

DALLAS OVER SAN DIEGO - The Chargers are having their problems this year, and Dallas wants to get in the Super Bowl again. San Diego should help the Cowboys make it.

CARDOS OVER PHILLY - Last week, we really did something stupid by picking the Eagles to win. St. Louis should win, regardless of how many passes Harold Jackson catches.

MIAMI OVER BUFFALO - Nothing needs to be said here. The Dolphins will be 8 and 0.

Soccer Club Triumphs

by Joe Weigand

While most people were keeping warm last Saturday by staying indoors there were 16 guys from the soccer club keeping warm by running over UW-Stout by a score of 5-1.

Andy Cheung got things rolling midway through the first half on a second effort goal after Stout’s goalie had made a save on Cheung’s first shot. Mark Franklin made it 2-0 when he banged in a shot on a well placed corner kick.

Hail no it been for some tremendous saves by goalie Gary Beisser, Stout could have easily tied up the game instead of being down 2-0 at halftime. The second half saw both teams really fired up. However, Stout seemed to be a little more fired up as they scored a quick breakaway goal that Beisser had no chance of stopping.

But that was the first and last time that Stout scored as Point’s defense got stingy and very successful.

VIKINGS OVER SAINTS - The Vikings are still capable of handling Archie Manning and the non-existing Saint defense. Fran the Scram and company should take care of him by 14 or maybe even 21.

REDSKINS OVER JETS - This will probably be a wild one, with both teams coming out throwing. Namath is better than Kilmer, but the Redskins are better overall. Washington by 3.

This week has a close
