

New Food Contract Decided

by Terry Witt

Saga Food will continue operating the university food service program at UWSP this fall under a new contract.

The old food service contract with Saga expired last August. Bud Steiner, the official liaison between the food service and the university acknowledged that Saga Foods has been formally awarded the new contract by central state purchasing. He explained how the contract was constructed and some of the new provisions that were included.

Steiner said that specifications for the new contract were based upon the current needs of the food service program. "In the new contract we intend to offer more variety in the food programs and enough flexibility to appeal to both on-campus and off-campus students," said Steiner. As a result several changes affect the new contract.

New in the contract are the breakfast, lunch and dinner packages and the snack bar ticket. 50 cup and 25 cup coffee tickets.

The breakfast, lunch and dinner packages are available at the gridiron for cash; there is no ticket. The lunch package is also available in ala carte.

The $11.00 snack bar ticket available last year will again be offered along with a new $5.50 snack bar ticket. This is a punch out card which can be used in all campus snack bars, ala carte or board lines for cash line prices.

The 50 cup and 25 cup coffee tickets are both punch out tickets which allow the owner 50 or 25 cups of coffee.

Also offered will be the 10 lunch ticket and 10 dinner ticket in DeBot and Allen Centers. These two tickets each allow the owner 10 meals and unlimited seconds (the same meals as the lunch and dinner packages only with a ten meal limit).

The optional 15 meal-per-week program available only during summer sessions previously, will be offered for the first time during the regular academic year.

In addition the three-meal-per-day program at the University Center will be discontinued due to the recent closing of Steiner and Delzell Residence Halls.

The 21-meal-per-week program will be changed to a 20 meal program. It will offer two meals on Sundays (a brunch between the regular breakfast and lunch periods; and dinner).

Food service rates for 1973-74 will be $510 per year ($255 per semester) for the 20 meal program and $475 per year ($237.50 per semester) for the 15 meal program.

There is a possibility that Allen Center will be closed for food service on weekends. All students with 20-meal plans would have to eat at DeBot Center should that happen. The main reason would be to save money by operating only one facility.

The new contract includes a standard two year service with the university and three optional 1 year renewal clauses. It provides all board dining in the centers, all ala carte dining, all catering and all beer and liquor service. It includes all home economics food programs and the vending machine service.

Included in the contract specifications is a mandatory 28.5 per cent return to the university of all the gross dollars earned through the food service program. The old contract required a 25 per cent return to the university. This change will mean a couple of million dollars more to be spent on the operations of the three university centers.

"The contractor (Saga Foods) is also encouraged to employ as many students as possible for all positions resulting from this contract, in keeping with the policy of employment at UWSP," said Steiner.

Steiner is a former student and graduate of UWSP, with a B.S. in mathematics. He has nearly completed his masters degree in student personnel administration. In 1965 Steiner began his duties as Assistant Director for Operations at the University Center and has maintained that position for the past 8 years. He is directly responsible for the supervision of text rental, the university store, games room, all the materials centers, arts and crafts center, information desk, student employment, personnel procedures and building and maintenance services. In addition he is the official liaison for the university manual food service contracts and the vending contract which he is involved with right now. "A number of things are happening at this point with the vending contract, although nothing has been finalized," said Steiner. "Central administration has put together specifications built around standard contract language and we have modified that to fit what we think provides the best service to this campus."

The Residence Hall Council was also involved in the development of the specifications for the vending contract, indicating what students in residence halls would like from the vending program. Specifications have not yet been finalized.

Steiner admitted he was somewhat dissatisfied with Ace Host, the current vending contractor. "The machines were old and there has not been resident management which has caused the machines to deteriorate to some extent," he said. There were a lot of complaints especially from residence halls throughout this past year. Also, the contract was nearly expired and the university was going out to seek bids anyway.

The university is looking to replace all the present equipment on campus with new machines by the second week of August. "In most cases we have

by Keith Otis

The UWSP campus has been designated as the site of a halfway house which began operating August first. The halfway house is located in a wing of Delzell Hall. Delzell has been vacated this fall due to declining student enrollment.

Its purpose will be to rehabilitate minor criminal offenders who would ordinarily be referred to the Division of Probation and Parole. It will be the first operation of its kind in the state.

The program will be funded by a $60,525 grant from the State Council on Criminal Justice. The funds were allocated at a meeting of the council's executive board in Madison.

Staff for the Portage County Rehabilitation Program include Daniel Houlihan of the Communications Department. Houlihan was appointed project supervisor of the halfway house and has also been recently appointed to a steering committee for establishment of a UW System Criminal Justice Institute.

William S. McKee, who completed his degree requirements this summer at UWSP, has been appointed director of the halfway house.

Douglas Broyles will be alternate director. Because the halfway house will operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, the alternate director's position was included to enable the director to have two days off each week. Mrs. Janice Young will be the tutor with assistance from Mrs. Joan Hanson.

Houlihan explained the objectives of the program and what it is designed to accomplish. He noted that the halfway house is a worthwhile and very much needed alternative to incarceration. "In the case of a probationer who would not be jailed, residence in a halfway house may provide the kind of structure and supervision that can keep him from further contact with the courts," said Houlihan.

About ten persons at a time will be accommodated. They will be people ordinarily housed in the county jail; minor traffic offenders, petty thieves, persons convicted of alcohol related offenses and the like. "None of them will be dangerous criminal types," he added.

Residents staying at the halfway house will have an opportunity to pursue schooling or job training. And they will be assisted in finding jobs if that need is greater than education. There will be an intensive group therapy program, as well as individual counseling. Residents will be able to use most university services and facilities.

"Traditionally halfway houses are located in residential areas and that has some obvious advantages," Houlihan said. "But this university has played an important role in our program, and the wealth of opportunities and resources on this campus can be of tremendous aid to the offender. Also the idea has potential on a state or nationwide scale because of the increasing surplus of dorm space available now at many colleges. You will see other universities follow by attempting programs like ours."

In addition to the halfway house operation, the program will continue educational offerings at the county jail which were begun two years ago by Houlihan.

ENROLLMENT

What Is It?

by Jim Habbeck

Enrollment, or the lack of it, has ascended to a place of prominence among UWSP concerns. From all available figures, it now appears the 8,000 mark will not be reached.

The number of confirmed students now stands at 7500, with 300 to 400 more late registrants expected. Thus, the expected enrollment lies between 7800 and 7900, significantly under the February estimate of 8300 for this semester.

"If we have 7800 come in," states Paul Kelch, director of budget planning and analysis, "we anticipate only 7100 starting in August 1974."

Most extensive among enrollment shortcomings is the present freshmen class. Transfer and re-entry students are down only 14 and 37 students, respectively, from 1972. As of August 23, the number of new freshmen accepted fell 412 short of last year's count. The total number of incoming students accepted is 510 under the 1972 mark.

Cancellations have complicated the problem, with an unfinished count of 625 already 47 ahead of this year's total.

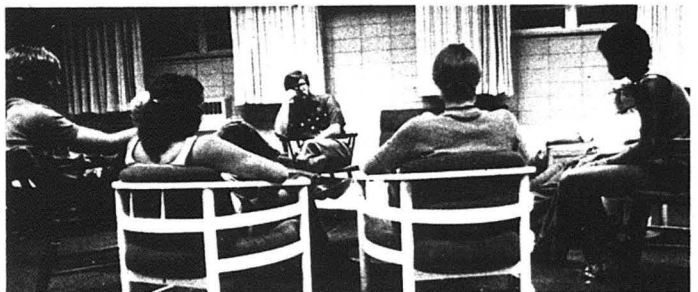

Several reasons have been mentioned when discussing the enrollment drop: vocational schools being able to place their graduates, dropping of the draft, and the late enactment of Congress providing reduced federal aids. Furthermore, the graduating class of 1973 was the largest freshmen and graduating class in UWSP history, perhaps rendering the drop in enrollment even more startling.

An enrollment drop could present vast hardships to this campus and its planners. Paul Kelch noted, "If we have a 7900 enrollment, we're going to have to find about 150,000 dollars." This money, he explained, was more than the administrative council had set aside. Some of this money will necessarily come from the various Dean, Vice Chancellor, and Assistant Chancellor's offices, where it was originally dispersed.

"As our enrollment declines, we have to reduce our budget," asserted Dr. Elwin Sigmund, assistant to the Vice Chancellor on Academic Affairs. "If our enrollment continues to decline," he continued, "I have no doubt we will have to begin facing up to the prospect of having to eliminate programs."

While no faculty members may be released this year, both non-tenured and notified tenured faculty may be let go next year. "For every 16 students we drop," noted Paul Kelch, "another faculty member must also be dropped."

An Island Without Parking

by Dave Gneiser

The Stevens Point Police and Fire Commission intends to make the university area an island without street parking.

The reason given for the parking restrictions according to Commissioner Robert T. Wray was "to avoid congestion of the streets." Wray also said that he didn't think it was the city's duty to provide parking for university people.

Considering what the university and its people add to the economy of Stevens Point the commission had better take another look at city "duties".

In recent years, the commission had done well in closing some of the streets in the immediate campus area because of the potential danger to heavy pedestrian traffic. But what the commission intends to do now is without merit. There is no heavy concentration of pedestrian traffic on those side streets. The streets are wide enough to allow two-way traffic with parking on one side.

What choice is left to the university employee or to the commuting student? The university parking lots? Can the commuter afford this only alternative in this time of increased living expenses? Does the fact that he has little other choice make this plan an extortion attempt?

At this time when there is a decline in enrollment can the university afford to further discourage the commuting student? Can the city afford to do without the money that is spent by university people in Stevens Point?

Perhaps the students will park farther away from campus for awhile until those streets also sprout no parking signs from the curbside.

Meanwhile we suggest that the commuting students and university employees form car pools and park in those few remaining areas. The walk will not only be good exercise but you'll have the personal satisfaction of not giving in to the whims of the city and university. Call the city alderman and let them know your feelings on this issue. Perhaps they need a reminder of their "duties".

I hear that next semester they're offering a two credit course on drop-add procedure!

where are we going?

by Bob Kerksieck

Now it's my turn to speak, and I'd like to clear up some things.

First, contrary to the "reporting" in the first page article of the April 13, 1973 Pointer, I will write editorials.

Second, contrary to "unofficial comment" from the last staff, I have found a competent staff and we are putting out a newspaper.

The real question however, is not whether or not I have found a competent staff or whether we can put out a newspaper.

The real question is: "Where are we going?"

I have been asked: "Is the Pointer going to be turned into nothing more than a newsletter?" and "Are you going to be an administrative puppet?" My answer to both of those questions is a final and definite "NO". Rather than becoming a newsletter or a puppet of any single group, the Pointer's first goal is to try to be a source of information about everything that pertains to students of this university.

While it is true that the campus will be given first priority in news coverage, that priority will not result in a mere "enlarged newsletter".

Instead, the Pointer will try to keep students informed of all the workings of the university and all that pertains to it.

The Pointer will help those in Student Government who are learning to work with and change the university system in order to provide mature student input into decisions made on all levels of the university.

Another goal of the Pointer is to be a strong voice for the student. Not a voice telling students what they are or what they should be.

You may ask: "How are we going to be a voice for the student?"

A difficult question, it will have to rest in part with the Pointer staff and in part with the editorial policies.

The staff is so far made up of about 30 individuals. The most interesting thing about them is that they ARE individuals. Some may be found in a bar every night, while others may never touch a drop. Some will be making honors and a couple may have to work to stay off probation. Politically they range from conservative through moderate to radical. As individuals, I believe they represent a fair cross section of the campus.

Editorial Policies are much more difficult to define. I realize that I cannot hope to satisfy all the varied elements of the university simultaneously. However, the Editorial Policies have been designed to keep the Pointer as open to students as possible while reserving editorial rights. I hope that we will be able to accurately and fairly cover the various student groups as well as the faculty and administration.

I sincerely hope that during my year as editor the Pointer will be a service to the students of this university. I hope that we can turn it into an informative newspaper that will be picked up and read.

Should you wish to speak to me or any of the Pointer staff, feel free to drop into the office or call at any time. I will be available to speak to any group by appointment.

Fee Hike Hurts Many

by Bob Kerksieck

A new hike in academic fees has hurt many students in the pocketbook.

The new resident rates are $284.00 a semester for freshmen and sophomores, $306.50 a semester for juniors and seniors, and $344.50 a semester for graduate students. Last year the academic fees were $259.00 a semester for ALL undergraduate students and $285.50 for graduate students.

This fee increase represents an inflationary move that would certainly be frowned upon in any country. Even the lowest rates for freshmen and sophomores reflect nearly a 10 percent increase! As it now stands a freshman will pay only $11.50 a semester less than a graduate student last year. Certainly the teachers don't cost THAT much more than last year? At that rate, in a few years, we'll be pricing ourselves into the private school bracket!

I wonder why this university is still constructing buildings even though enrollment is dropping and we are being forced to cut what may be some of our best faculty. And now we are suffering from abnormally high fee increases.

If those fee increases represent in any way, poor planning on the part of the administration of this university or the UW system in general, then I believe those administrators responsible should be fired.

Even more startling is the fee increase that juniors, seniors, and graduate students must pay. Juniors and seniors must pay what amounts to a full 18 percent more than last year. Graduate students must pay over 20 percent more than last year!

It seems to me that the state university system was founded with the idea in mind of enabling EVERYONE to seek higher education regardless of financial or social position. If that is still the goal of this system, then some place there is a terrible contradiction.

For certainly juniors, seniors and graduate students can LEAST afford the increased cost of going to school after dishing out the money for so many years to get as far as they have. And they have an investment in their education that cannot or at least should not be thrown away because of the lack of funds to continue.

If you didn't make as much MORE this year as the university is charging you, how about writing a letter to the chancellor asking for an explanation?

Chancellor Dreyfus, Old Main:

As a junior I will be charged 18 percent more than last year. Yet my paycheck does not show any similar increase. In fact, I will make less than last year.

Could you please explain this to me as it has me baffled.

The Question Of The Week

The Question Of The Week is: "How is the date that classes begin decided upon?"

The Question Of The Week was sent to Robert Baruch, Chancellor Dreyfus, Mr. Haferbecker and Mr. Sigmund.

The Question Of The Week will be a weekly service of this newspaper to keep students informed of the workings of this university.

Letters will be sent to the departments and individuals concerned before the Pointer is printed.

Answers will be printed as soon as possible. If you have a question you want answered, it should be in the Pointer office no later than the Monday noon before you want it to appear in print.

specified that all machines be of 1972 or later manufacture," said Steiner.

"We have written a couple of things into the new vending contract. One specification calls for the vending management to meet with representatives of the university and with student groups. In this way student groups can act as a sounding board for what is good or bad about the vending system."

The major recommendation that came from the residence halls was that snack bars be allowed to operate along with the vending program. "This was written into the contract," said Steiner. And the contractor will be made aware that snack bars will be operated on a limited basis.

One of the things that caused trouble with the vending program this year was raising the price of canned soda from 15 to 20 cents a can. With the new vending contract the university will use variable pricing machines, and the student will be offered an option. National brands like Coca Cola, Pepsi and Seven-Up will be sold for 20 cents a can while minor brands will cost 15 cents a can, to give the student a choice.

"Five companies have indicated an interest in the vending contract," said Steiner. Canteen Company of Wausau has expressed an interest in bidding, as have R. & J. Coffee Service in Stevens Point, Saga Food Service, Coca Cola Bottling Company in Madison and R. M. Pollock Company in Wausau.

The specifications will be sent out to these companies, a date will then be set and those companies still interested will be invited to tour the campus. A date will then be set probably in Madison for bid openings and the company that offers the highest financial return to the university and maintains specified service levels will generally be awarded the contract.

will be assisted in enrolling at any educational institution in the area with emphasis on vocational training. Inmates without high school diplomas will be encouraged to prepare for and take a high school equivalency test. Program personnel also will be in contact with local social service agencies that may be of help to the inmates who do not know how to apply for those services.

Houlihan ended by saying, "Without the help of Sheriff Nick Check and his department's personnel, a program like this could never happen in Portage County. On all levels, from County Judge Robert Jenkins to District Attorney Maris Rushevics to the local probation and parole agents, Gerry Hutnik and Don Geiger, we have met with cooperation and support."

"It is important to note that almost all offenders, and certainly those in Portage County, will eventually be back in the community. Nothing happens to them behind bars that will make them better members of society. This is a criminal misuse of human resources." "Isolation from the community is not the answer; the answer lies rather in a process of reorienting offenders constructively into the community. Our goal is to help men help themselves to become an asset, not a liability, to the community."

"Exposure to the community at large should reduce the feelings of isolation, alienation, and inadequacy that 'banished' persons often feel."

From The Desk Of The President

As was promised last spring, Student Government will undergo intensive decentralization. More of the responsibility for innovative programming and problem solving will be placed upon the senators rather than the officers. An intensive committee structure will examine all aspects of student life on and off campus and will make recommendations as to what changes should be made. While it will be the responsibility of the senators to chair these various committees, they will be structured in such a way so that there will be more non-government people than ever before. This is being done so that when issues arise which involve specific areas, (i.e. campus planning, parking, etc.) the student most directly involved or concerned with the problem can become actively involved if he so desires.

As an example, this summer Joan Schaefer did a tremendous amount of work on the faculty evaluation that will be run this year. Joan is not in Student Government, but believes as many students do that faculty cuts based purely upon tenure are indeed less than desirable if not intolerable. Because she took the initiative, she was given the responsibility and handled it very well.

If anyone has the desire to find out what is going on in an area in which they are interested, they should consider running for the Student Senate or contact the Student Government Office. An honest attempt will be made to place all students with the type of project they would like to become involved.

Student Government is always open for criticism and ideas. It is your Government. Make it work for you!!

film society sets schedule

by Nancy Cordy
University News Release

Hitchcock and Bogart, musicals and mysteries, documentaries and even cartoons are among feature movies to be shown this fall by the University Film Society.

The society serves as a primary source of film—art classics and foreign films, which the community probably would not have access to at local theatres. Many of the society's films have never been shown in Stevens Point or shown on television.

This fall, the society will include among its features Alfred Hitchcock's 1935 mystery thriller "The Lady Vanishes", "Marjoe", the 1973 Academy award winning documentary of a fully ordained hell-fire-and-brimstone preacher and Hitler's 1934 Nazi propaganda rally as recorded by Leni Riefenstahl in "The Triumph of the Will"

Also included are Mike

Nichol's social film essay "The Graduate"; French productions of "Le Boucher"; and "The Confession"; and "Bye Bye Braverman", a 1967 film depicting the narcissistic intellectual-literary set of Greenwich Village.

A full evening is in store for the young at heart with such Warner Brothers' cartoon characters as Daffy Duck, Bugs Bunny and the Road Runner. Included are "My Little Duckaroo" and "Rabbit Fire", cartoons of a sophisticated level seldom reached in the animation field.

A full schedule of the University Film Society follows: Sept. 4, "The Graduate"; Sept. 11, "Repulsion"; Sept. 18, "Garden of the Finzi-Continis"; Sept. 25, "The Lady Vanishes"; Oct. 2, "Le Boucher"; Oct. 9, "The Confession"; Oct. 16, "The Sorrow and the Pity"; Oct. 23, "Triumph of the Will" and "Night and Fog"; Oct. 30, "The Magician"; Nov. 6, "The Big Sleep"; Nov. 13, "Singing in the Rain"; Nov. 20, "Warner Brothers' Cartoons"; Dec. 4, "Marjoe"; Dec. 11, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "Bye Bye Braverman".

All films will be shown in the Old Main Auditorium on Tuesday evenings at 7 and 9:15 p.m.

Season tickets are available at the City News Stand, Emmons University Store, the university information desk and the Communication Cinema Center. Cost of the tickets is $4.00 for student season tickets and $5.00 for season tickets for others. Individual admission is 75 cents for students and $1.00 for all others.

UWSP FIRST TO OPEN

by Bob Kerksieck

This campus was the first of the 27 in the UW System to open classes for the fall semester. The starting date was Thursday, August 23.

Other schools in the state opened the following Monday or will open the Tuesday following Labor Day.

A number of students and faculty have voiced disapproval of the new calendar which calls for starting classes in the middle of the week. In a conversation with the Chancellor, he also voiced disapproval of the plan calling it "a mistake".

One reason behind the dislike for the plan is that it is especially hard for those who must travel a long distance in the middle of the week. It may mean that either their parents must take off of work or they must wait for the weekend, missing the first two days of classes. In addition, many students must work until Labor Day, so, with this new calendar they will miss a full seven days of classes.

Also, there was little publicity pertaining to the early opening date. Many students were caught unawares by the announcement late in the summer that they had to come back to school several days earlier than expected.

The early date was decided upon so that final exams and commencement could be completed before Christmas. As a result, the traditional two week Christmas recess has been expanded.

The fall calendar includes a break on Labor Day and a long weekend for Thanksgiving. Classes will end at 11:45 a.m. on Wednesday, November 21, and resume on the following Monday morning. Final exams will begin on December 8 and run through December 15 with a break or "reading day" December 12. Commencement will be Sunday, December 16. Second semester classes will begin Wednesday, January 9.

To Experience another human being is the fundamental ground from which all personal meaning arises. Contemporary man's basic need is the recovery of 'self' through knowing other persons. This course is intended to create that approach in which personal meaning can emerge from the whole field of human experience. When man allows himself and another to be, an integrated radically new vision of values emerges. Extensive discussion is expected.

School of HPER Reorganized

by Bob Kerkiseck

The school of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) has been reorganized to include athletics.

One of the primary benefits of the inclusion of athletics, according to Mr. Bowen, chairman of the department, is that two dual areas are now under a single administration, making them both simpler to manage.

Athletics was previously separate under the Office of the Chancellor.

This will result in no changes to the mens' and womens' athletics programs, said Bowen. Varsity sports programs will operate as before with athletic directors, he added.

The greatest change observable to students will be the diversification of general degree requirements which under the old structure might have been impossible, said Bowen.

With this diversification, students may elect to take one credit toward their general degree requirement of four phy ed credits. One credit may be taken in each of the areas of Athletics, Intramurals and Cheerleading for a possible maximum of three credits.

This program is open to juniors and seniors only.

There are stipulations that the student finish in good standing and that he or she spend a minimum of 32 hours in whichever activity he or she chooses.

Additional credits may be taken in each area as electives.

Mr. Bowen drew a parallel between this program and the activities classes in other departments.

In speaking of the program in general, he said: "Although the program is relatively young, we have undertaken major alterations in course outlines, teaching methodologies and credit offerings to upgrade both the student and faculty performance. To remain consistent with our policy of a common non-sex specific major, nearly all offerings are taught on a coed basis." The school is broadening the major so that men may also get a major at this school.

We are fortunate in that our courses always have been coed, said Bowen. Unlike many other schools, Stevens Point has never had separate areas for men and women.

The school of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics has about 300 students enrolled, 127 of whom are majoring in the school.

folk dancing here

In the International Folk Dancers, people can find a new way of life.

The simple folk culture of Europe that was brought to America and which still lives to an extent in the old country, has begun to gradually fade away in our modern world. By doing the dances of our European ancestors, one is not only going through movements but is also preserving a culture, tradition, and way of life. Through folk dance, members of the International Folk Dancers try to keep this culture alive while receiving enjoyment and exercise.

Over 50 folk dances are known by the group and are from countries such as Russia, Poland, Germany, Israel, Ireland, Czechoslovakia, and Serbia. The International Folk Dancers started 6 years ago under the direction of Frank and Linda Hatch who had only 12 dances in their repertoire. Since then, numerous people have contributed dances to the group and these have year after year been passed down to new members - just as in the old tradition. Members find not only much enjoyment in dancing but also an enjoyable way of staying in shape.

The IFD will meet Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the Dance Studio (Room 150 Phy Ed, on the balcony of Quandt Gym).

POINTERS RADIATE CONFIDENCE

by Jerry Long

You could almost feel the confidence that UWSP head football coach Monte Charles was radiating at the annual Football Press Day and Luncheon held at the UWSP campus on August 25th. Call it confidence, cockiness, esprit de corps, or what have you; make no mistake: this year's Pointers are out to prove that they're not the losers of last year. Charles makes no bones about it. He wants a nationally ranked pass offense.

The members of the "Aerial Circus" aren't quite so worried about national eminence. They simply want revenge for last year's heartbreaker against Oshkosh, revenge for the disasters at Platteville and Whitewater, and revenge for humiliations suffered at the hands of flunkies like St. Norbert's and Stout.

How does an Aerial Circus get itself off the ground?

For one thing, "We have to kill the clock. We have to slow down the game and make our opponents play five quarters. We have to wear them down, make them make mistakes," said the determined Charles. "Look for a lot of sideline passes, anything legal to stop the clock. Our fans should be ready to sit in the stands till 5 or 6 o'clock. We want to drag out the game so that it's going on 3 o'clock when the first half ends. We noticed that if the half ended at about 3 o'clock, we would win."

Coach Charles also expressed the belief that his prime concern would be the health of his crew.

"We want every man healthy at the beginning of each game. We are not a hitting team like some others. We will have to finesse our opponents. To do this we need everyone healthy," Charles told one interviewer.

An Aerial Circus includes not only passing but the fine art of kicking, as well. Chester Marcol and George Blanda are points of fact. Last year's big toe was Pat Robbins, who is returning. Coach Charles also had praise for a new recruit, Bob Hoffman from Antigo who is a soccer style kicker.

"Who ever taught him (Hoffman) to kick, taught him awfully well. I don't mess with him. I just let him do his thing," lauded Charles.

While aerial warfare will be the theme of this year's football season, Charles did express some concern for the running game. While it is true that the Pointers will be pass-minded, "we do need some good running," commented the coach. With regard to this need, Charles did make note of Joe Pilecky, a freshman from Antigo, Larry Sowka from Stevens Point, Pacelli, and Pointer running back of last year, Ben Breese. All could figure in this year's attack.

Additions to the "ground crew" of linemen and defensive players, without whom no Aerial Circus can exist, are Dave Holm from Madison West, a 5-11, 200 pound middle linebacker; Jim Quaerna, a transfer student with a year's experience at linebacker for Clemson University; Don Sager from Milwaukee, another transfer student with experience at full back and linebacker; and Wausau native Orie Sjoborg, a transfer student from Northern Michigan University who has experience at offensive center and defensive tackle.

All the esprit de corps of the Circus and the confidence of its coach will be thrown into the crucible early in the season. The first game, at Goerke Field, will be against Eastern Illinois University, an all-scholarship team. Eastern Illinois is very big on football, with both spring and fall seasons.

The next week has Point traveling to LaCrosse. Following LaCrosse, Point will again travel, this time to St. Norbert College, seeking revenge against a team that seems to have slipped since last year. Point then comes home to meet Whitewater. Following the foray against Whitewater, the Aerial Circus will fly against last year's champions, the Oshkosh Titans.

The remainder of the rest of the season is as yet unfirm. The Pointer will publish the entire schedule as soon as it becomes available.

Head Football Coach Promises "Aerial Circus"

by Al Pavlik

Monte Charles, head football coach at UWSP has promised fans that the 1973 season will include an "Aerial Circus" - an offensive passing attack he believes will help put his team in the national spotlight within small college competition.

The second year coach has occupied himself rebuilding Pointer football from a base of 30 returning lettermen.

Charles said UWSP's natural resources program is a big factor aiding recruitment of freshmen and transfer prospects.

"The high school coaches and the Pointer alumni have also been helpful in attracting the players," added Charles.

"Our biggest problem will be replacing the conference's two top receivers who have graduated," said Coach Charles, referring to last year's top loop pass catcher, Joe LaFleur, and his standout accomplice, Bill Hamilton.

Jeffery Gosa, a graduate of Waukesha Catholic Memorial

High School, is a top candidate. He was an all-state receiver a year ago, and intends to further his career at Point.

Charles said Stevens Point Area High School product, Doug Krueger, a 6-2, 180 pound wide receiver and defensive back, is also a good prospect. Krueger was the Wisconsin Valley Conference's top pass catcher.

Small by collegiate standards, the 5-8, 170 pound Joe Pilecky was both tailback and safety during his prep seasons at Antigo High School, last year's prep grid champions. He was named to an All-State offensive team as a running back.

Larry Sowka, of Stevens Point Pacelli, is also a highly regarded prospect as a running back.

Junior Dennis Eskritt, of Wisconsin Rapids, will probably grab the wide receiver's job, while senior Bruce Weinkauff, of Wausau East, is in the running for the spot at tight-end.

Another freshmen, Monte Mattei of Wisconsin Dells, is in the competition for the position of understudy to senior quarterback, Mark Olejniczak, of Green Bay. Barring injury, Olejniczak should capture several conference records to climax his collegiate career.

Golf Team Has Bright Future

by Jerry Long

This fall appears bright in the eyes of UWSP head golf coach, Pete Kasson. The reason for the optimism is the return of five of last year's six lettermen and the recruitment of at least two freshmen standout golfers.

The team will be formed around a core consisting of lettermen Kent Fosse of St. Charles, Ill., Jay Goers of Lake Mills, Rob Hermson of Oconto, Keith Nelson of Phillips, and Denny Strong of Rhinelander. Joining the team for the first time are freshmen Jack Hamer of Sheboygan and Bob Omelina of Cudahy.

While Coach Kasson cited LaCrosse and Whitewater as strong title contenders, he remained confident that the Pointer team could master these conference rivals.

Coach Kasson also expressed his approval of the newly lengthened and rescheduled season. Previously, the season covered a scant two and one half weeks in the middle of May.

The cramped schedule, played out on courses water-logged by spring rains, placed too much pressure on the players and generally resulted in a lower quality game. The longer fall season, played in September and October, will allow a slower pace for the eight to ten scheduled matches, and should result in better golf.

The new season begins for the Pointers on September 6th with a dual meet with Green Bay at Green Bay. Conference play begins with a triangular with Platteville and River Falls at Platteville on September 10th. The Stevens Point Open will be held on September 14th at the Stevens Point Country Club.

Outdoors With Larry Schiefer

by Larry Schiefer

The northern Wisconsin tourist industry is up in arms over the recent hike in hunting and fishing license fees for nonresidents. Somehow I cannot bring myself to sympathize with them. For years the nonresident has utilized our natural resources for a nominal fee. Wisconsin was and still is among the cheapest states for the nonresident to hunt and fish.

I feel that Wisconsin can go one step further. Somebody should propose a fee to be leveled on the thousands of snowmobiles that out-of-staters bring into Wisconsin each winter weekend. The nonresident contributes very little to the revenue needed to construct and maintain the state's snowmobile trails.

Whatever increase in license fees Wisconsin decides on after the uproar has subsided will do little to deter the lemming-like migration of our southern neighbors. Chicago's rivers are not noted for their large abundance of trout and muskellunge and their parks are noted for a different type of "wildlife" than Wisconsin offers.

"Nubbs" Miller Named Assistant Football Coach

by John Anderson

Campus News Service

Norbert "Nubbs" Miller, one of the all-time great football players at UWSP, will be back in action for his team this fall but with a different role.

Athletic Director Robert Drueger announced that Miller, a teacher at Pacelli High School here, has been contracted for assistant coaching responsibilities on a part-time basis for the duration of the grid season.

Miller will serve under Head Coach Monte Charles "as a man with versatile talents," according to Charles. He will work much of the time with the defensive linemen but will also be involved with the offense sector.

Much of the same work was done last year, also on a part-time basis, by Chris Charnish, a recent graduate of UW-Platteville who had become a "Little All-American" in the days when Charles was a coach at Platteville.

The other assistants to Charles will be Jack Renken Reg Wicks who will be returning to work with the offensive line and freshmen, respectively.

Miller made football history for what then was Central State Teachers College and Wisconsin State College-Stevens Point in the early 1950's. He joined the Pacelli faculty in 1955 and coached for the school with considerable success until leaving the sports arena in 1971 and devoting full-time to class duties.

A native of Stevens Point, he won "Little All-American" football rating on the basis of his achievements for the Pointers in both 1952 and 1955. He was given the outstanding freshman athlete citation at UWSP in 1951 and was on All Conference teams in 1952 through 1955.

Miller also was a scoring leader in the conference and compiled the second best rushing record in national small college competition in 1955 by gaining 1,158 yards in 166 attempts for a seven-yard average. He also excelled in basketball on both the prep and college levels.

He was signed into "pro" ball but his career was shortlived by the Baltimore Colts. Miller was one of the last four men cut from the team's roster in the mid-season.

In October of 1971, he was inducted into the Pointer Hall of Fame during a program coinciding with the university's homecoming.

Amiot Named Information Director

Don Amiot, head track and cross country coach has been given the additional responsibility of sports information director.

He will coordinate the total sports information program with the help of some student assistants. His new duties will include the dissemination of sports news, the keeping of permanent records, handling promotional programs for the teams and recording team and individual statistics. In addition he will serve as an informational liaison between this university and the athletic conference headquarters in Madison and other universities in the conference.

Amiot will continue to teach in the School of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics.
