Human Relations Committee
To Be Established

by Mary Budde

A university wide administrative human relations committee is forming on the UWSP campus.

The new human relations committee, will be appointed by the Chancellor, states the formal purpose will be education, not just action, emphasized McCaig.

Education in awareness of the regulations and standards of fair treatment will be community and campus oriented, explained McCaig. Information will be distributed throughout community schools and the campus. A series of films will also be used.

As an action committee, it will hear complaints of alleged discriminatory treatment, and serve as a mediator in bringing the concerned parties together. If mediation is not successful, the committee will file a formal complaint with the proper government agency or university department, stated McCaig.

Members of the committee are to be appointed by Chancellor Lee Dreyfus. The committee will consist of two faculty members, two students, two university personnel, one representative of alumni, and one direct representative of the Chancellor, states the formal proposal of the committee's relations committee.

New Financial Aid
Program Funded

by Terry Witt

"It's the financial aid program of the future," said John Bohl, financial aid counselor at UWSP. Bohl was describing the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (BOG) that is now available to incoming freshmen attending UWSP this year.

BOG is a new federally funded financial aid program which offers the student a maximum grant of $1400 minus the estimated contribution of the family, when the program is fully funded.

"Unfortunately BOG is being funded at about one ninth of its total budget requirement," said Bohl. "This means that only incoming freshmen with no previous education will have a chance to receive a BOG grant. And even these freshmen will not have the benefit of the maximum grant allotted to the student based on school determined needs and family income.

The maximum award is actually closer to $400 for a student with no personal income or family contribution at the current funding base. This is the maximum award for a UWSP student. The money will be received in the customary form of an increase in the student's account.

BOG is also unique because it can be cashed in at any university in the country. "This is one of the reasons why BOG will probably become the largest and most popular aid program of the future," said Bohl. But currently only about 20 students at this university are taking advantage of the BOG program.

Bohl said that while only 20 students at UWSP have applied, nearly every senior high school in the country was sent an application for BOG from the federal government.

Applying for a grant from BOG is nothing like applying for financial aid, explained the program director. "Unfortunately BOG is being funded at about one ninth of its total budget requirement," said Bohl. At this time there is a plan to cut all graduate programs here at UWS. Unless the plan is stopped all our graduate programs will be relocated at other universities. No graduate programs will be relocated here at UWSP.

The plan is being pushed by the UW Central Administration. They believe that by reorganizing all graduate programs within a few years, UWSP will reduce cost at a lower cost to the taxpayer.

There is another problem with the plan. First, it will cut off all graduate programs immediately. This will leave a mark on the records of all the students who have taken these programs and also what they have known. Even though employers are certain to look with disdain at a graduate whose program was cut after one semester.

Another apparent problem is that draining off all the professors who are graduate programs will drain off all some of our best instructors.

In addition, the transfer of some of our programs (Communicative Disorders and Home Economics being one) to UWSP are presently among the best in the nation will certainly mean that many of these programs may no longer exist. This will leave us with more empty buildings while forcing the state to build new buildings on other campuses. Does that represent a cost savings?

Secondly, we are currently divesting graduate programs here at UWSP. Many undergraduates will also leave. This will leave us with more communicative Disorders and Home Economics here at UWSP. This is a last point.

So, let’s do everything possible to make bicycling a safe and enjoyable experience. After all, you all have got, so take care of yourself.

Student's Blast Summer Point

Those students who feared that the Pointers editorial writing would rise above mediocrity could have been pleasantly surprised. Whether it is a result of the following: governmental control of natural gas prices, environmental controls, building of refineries and nuclear power plants, oil controls, the Clean Air Act, and petroleum price controls. The actions lead to shortages and inefficient allocation and waste of resources as well as a lack of predictions regarding future demand is a problem. While the environmental movement may have contributed to governmental economic distortions which should not be blamed on oil industry. Those who are worried about monopoly, we suggest that international free trade would be the best trust- breaker. The Pointer charges the food trade with making excessive profits. There is no such thing as an "excess" profit in a competitive market, and certainly the grocery industry trade is not competitive. As to food shortages and inflation problem, we respectfully suggest that they are due to government price- fixing and everyone not encourage idle land.

“Curry Carson’s Quick Course in Constructing Courses.” The professor for your course probability didn’t sign for the book, so you’ll have to steal it. After you have the book, clear the class change through the Library, Phy Ed, Burger Chef, and the Pay Toilets. They have the card signed by as many names as you can fit on it, and three more. After all this, turn the card back in to the lady at Student Services. She will give you another card. You give this one to the instructor of the add class, and he uses it to scrape algae off the side of his fish tank, scoop up the dead bugs he swats with his university catalogue. That’s it. As you can see, it’s a lot of trouble. But look at it this way; it’s a great way to see the campus; and you get to meet a lot of crabbly, overwhelmed people who know about as much about everything as you do, if not less. And, of course, when you grow old and wise, and your children are complaining about how they have to eat their lunch manually at school, you can tell them how easy they have it, and bitch it used to be!

School Of Education Reorganized

by Robert Pearson

The School of Education has been reorganized. The individual departments of Business Education, Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Instructional Resources, and the Teacher Corps have combined to form one group known as the School of Education. Dr. Tom McCaig, the new Assistant Dean says the reorganization took place for financial reasons as well as to coordinate the curricula. Communication will be greatly improved, said McCaig, between the teachers and his office and the students and their chairmen.

The New School enables its teachers to operate with greater freedom and efficiency than before, said McCaig.

Counseling Initiates Group Sessions

The Counseling Center will be initiating a series of groups for interested students at the beginning of the current semester. The groups are intended to meet the developmental needs of a wide range of student concerns. Groups will be offered in the following areas:

1) Vocational Exploration; 2) Personal Growth; 3) Interpersonal Communications Training Lab; 4) Couples; 5) Learning Skills.

The Vocational Exploration Groups will run for three weeks (total of three class periods). Students will be asked to take an interest inventory a week in advance of the first group meeting. The group meetings will center on an overview of major factors in making vocational decisions; review of the interest inventory results; and the development of, and formulation of, individual “game plans” with respect to careers.

The Personal Growth Groups will run the entire semester, meeting twice a week. The groups will focus on the reeducation of (1) interpersonal competence; (2) the ability to send and receive communication about his own and other member’s behavior; (3) a tolerance for ambiguity and interpersonal anxiety; (4) the capacity for open, honest, trusting relationships; and (5) insights about oneself during the semester. Perspective group members will be asked to talk with a counselor to ascertain individual goals for joining the group.

The third type of group, the Interpersonal Communications Training Lab, will focus on the development of: (1) functional interpersonal communication; (2) listening skills; (3) understanding and acceptance of alternative perceptions; and (5) constructive feedback skills. These groups will run the entire semester.

The fourth type, Couples Groups, will focus on the development of interpersonal relationships of married and unmarried couples. These groups will run on the development of: (1) the ability to “fight” constructively; (2) the ability to set reciprocal goals; (3) mutual decision-making; (4) ability to deal with freedom vs. control in the relationship; and (5) the ability to settle the power issue in relationship. The groups will run the entire semester, an hour and a half per week.

Finally, the last type of group involves the development of learning skills. The major aims of these groups are: (1) to develop an increase in the speed of reading; (2) to increase comprehension for material read; (3) to develop flexibility in speeds and modes of attacking material; (4) to develop ability to retain material for exam-taking; and (5) the development of alternative study methods for differing types of material. These groups will run for six weeks, with one class period per week for group meetings, and one hour a week for individual practice on the Controlled Reader Pacing Machine. Anyone interested should come to the Counseling Center and sign up.

Individuals interested in participating in any of the above-mentioned groups should contact the Counseling Center, 014 Nelson Hall or extension 3553.

“EVERYTHING YOU’VE NEVERANTED TO KNOW ABOUT DROP-ADD PROCEDURE” Every student at this university will or already has encountered the sadistic ritual observed for dropping or adding courses. The only possible way to avoid it is to choose and be satisfied with all your classes at registration, which is like eating a bowl of thin soup with a pairing knife.

So what IS the procedure? Very well, let’s say you want to add Introduction to Self-Inflicted Pain to your draft schedule. You wander aimlessly for awhile until you come upon the Student Services Building. (You can’t miss it—it looks like all the other buildings.) As soon as you get there, grab an add card. Then, take this miracle of cardboard technology to the department which handles Introduction to Self-Inflicted Pain. They will probably tell you that the class is filled. So you end up taking Corset Making for Beginners. Now, take the card over to Text Rental. Get your new book.

From The President

I was sitting around trying to think of an appropriate topic for this week’s issue, so I ran down a list of possible subjects. I asked myself, should I express my views on the shortcomings of the Financial Aid’s office, or perhaps the statement by Mr. Wray that he didn’t think the city should provide parking for “university people” or maybe even the naive words of Dr. Sigmund when he stated that if we lose anymore faculty positions we will begin to lose programs (as if that hasn’t happened already), but as the list went on, the cost of education, politicians trying to keep the student minimum wage below everyone else’s, discriminatory housing practice in town, etc., an overwhelming question, which always arises, poked through the muck.

How much should the student take before he refuses to take it any longer? How long should he wait before he organizes against the powers which thrive on his disorganization? How long should the student wait before he understands that at some point he must have a minimum wage for work for which he does? How much longer should he put up with a Financial Aid’s office which has no student on its policy and decision making board? How much longer will he allow the Mr. Wray’s of the community to dictate policy before he fills the chair of the City and County offices? How long will he allow the administration to think it is telling him the truth when it says that the way decisions on faculty cuts are being made is good for the university and the students’ education? How much higher will he allow the cost of education to soar before he is forced out of the classroom and his university turned into a country club for the elite? How much longer will he allow others to set the educational requirements for his goals and his aspirations? How much longer??

These are questions I have asked myself for years. They are nagging questions now. They are questions I see and feel and live with everyday. And I answer them, NO LONGER! Signed.

Speaking Award Discontinued?

Each semester the Lee Sherman Dreyfus Excellence in Speaking Award has been given to top Communication 101 students. They compete in a speech contest arranged by the Communication Department. But, according to Merri Christopherson, Communication Department Chairwoman, if we lose and Ifard Fritz, the award will be temporarily discontinued due to lack of interest on the part of both faculty and students.

Chancellor Dreyfus donates the award money, amounting to $75 per semester, from his speaking tour income. The Communication Department sets up a speaking contest at the end of each semester. The contest is open to the best student from each Communication 101 section. The entrants give a 6 minute extemporaneous speech and the judges choose three winners who receive cash awards.

The main objective of the honorarium is to further excellence in public speaking. The first place winner in the contest is awarded $100; second place, $50; and third place, $25. The honorarium is handled by the Foundations Department. There are no immediate plans for use of the money.

GESELL, WHAT IS IT?

by Tom Halimann

Jim Hamilton, Student Government President

GESELL Institute's sole function is planned research in early childhood development. Dr. John Pearson, refers to it as "the lab school." The three projects that constitute present research are: Early Childhood, Learning Disabilities and Early Intervention. All are described by Pearson as "long term, lifestyle type projects." At one time, there were eight projects running simultaneously. Budget cuts forced the closing of all but three.

The institute also serves as a second classroom for many UWSP students. Many education majors and minors spend four to nine hours per week practicing teaching and observing, while receiving no credit in return.

GESELL Institute will be ending its year operation. A recent decrease in enrollment at the university and the subsequent loss of anticipated funds, prompted the formation of a committee to review the budget. Its function was to trim extraneous people and projects from the budget. Why from the institute? The rationale of the committee according to Pearson was "by the institute not offering credit to students, twelve and a half full time positions must be scrapped to save eight to ten positions elsewhere in the university, which do offer credit hours."

A look at the 1972-1973 budget of Gesell Institute reveals the following expenditures: salaries $187,000. Work Study Program employing 30 students $10,000, overall 12 month operating cost $250,000.

What will happen to the years spent on research, the data compiled, the numerous gains already achieved? "If it goes, it will be gone forever; the community will have lost faith," said Pearson.

Enrollment Higher Than Expected

by John Anderson

Campus News Service

Fall semester enrollment at UWSP is shaping up to better the enrollment trend for the past five years.

The figure now being used by Registrar P. A. Hall is about 700 students higher than last year.

Transfer students number nearly 160 and about 45 less than last year.

Last fall, 8,700 persons signed up for classes and it was thought that a big decline was in store for one year hence because recent freshman classes have been shrinking each year since hitting a peak of 2600 in 1969.

Worst, best by taste test

The Chicago Daily News, July 10, 1973

The American beer industry's newest critic is by saying it gives us the kind of beer we really want.

This week I ran a beer-tasting session in which 11 people sampled 22 beers. The beers included the biggest-selling American beers, imported from eight countries, and a few small craft American beers that were mostly in the area.

The Tasters, drinking from unmarked glasses, rated each of the beers. The following are the entries for the four beer-tasters:

Worst, best by taste test

AS YOU CAN SEE, CLUSTERED at the top were nine beers that didn't include any of the major American brands.

In general, organizations are encouraged to use the Student Faculty Organization structure for their own convenience in not having to maintain the same system for you at no cost and get dividends in addition to it.

Among the comments about Wunderbier, all five testers said about those beers are that:

Compared with American beers, it is poor in taste and more expensive.

Office Changes in U.C.

by Lorraine Hollihan

With the beginning of the new 1973-74 school term, many changes have been made concerning the University Center. Not only has the University Center changed in external appearance but also there have been changes in the U.C. offices.

One significant change is that the Student Activities and Programming offices have merged into one office. The location of this office is on the second floor of the U.C. Bob Busch is the new assistant director. Mary Ellen Lynch and Richard Kurz will also work in this department. The Student Activities and Programming office has the same purpose as they did last year.

Activities range from the telephone answering service to the University Activities Board (UAB) which conducts Fall Festival, Winter Carnival and other activities. An Exchange Program, Campus Leader Workshop, and the Organizational or Student handbook are only a few more of the activities that come out from the Student Activities and Programming office. The arts and crafts room, associated under the direction of this department, will be moved to the book store after the completion of the U.C. addition in January.

The Conference and Reservations office only has a few minor changes in its makeup. Dennis Nuchols is the Conference coordinator and Mary Mosier is assistant Conference coordinator. Mary Ellen Lynch and Richard Kurz also work in this office.

The purpose of Conference and Reservations is the same as in previous years. The Conference section of the department is concerned with the arts and sciences. Marion Johnson, assistant director of the Student Activities and Reservations, is in charge of the additions in the U.C. addition in January. The Conference and Reservations office only has a few minor changes in its makeup. Dennis Nuchols is the Conference coordinator and Mary Mosier is assistant Conference coordinator. Mary Ellen Lynch and Richard Kurz also work in this office.

The purpose of Conference and Reservations is the same as in previous years. The Conference section of the department is concerned with attracting school oriented groups to gather and hold meetings here.

The Reservations part of the office is to reserve different rooms for the use of various organizations of a group of people needing a place to conduct a meeting.

The Turner Room, which was previously a meeting room in the Union, is now going to be used by the UAB Conference and Reservations will be moving into the U.A.B. office. The small Pointer office will become a storage area for supplies and small equipment for the addition to the Union. The Pointer will move into the Conference and Reservations office.

Bud Stein, assistant director of the University Center, expects more office changes after the addition to the U.C. is completed.

Outdoors

With Larry Schiefer

September is the time of the year when most outdoorsmen retire their fishing gear in favor of shotguns and bows. This is entirely understandable as I have recently been haunting trap ranges trying to improve my somewhat shaky shooting eye, spending Saturdays putting a new coat of paint on a leaky duck skiff, making un-distinguishable noises on a hollow piece of tigerwood labeled a “duck call”, and trying to decide if this is the year to retire my old hunting coat whose sleeves are six inches too short and more patched than my favorite pair of worn-out jeans.

But each fall when I store those rods and reels I know that I am passing up some of the best fishing of the season, and this year I promise myself rightful compensation for the measly stringers of fish that have plagued me through August.

This last week I spent one of my most memorable evenings on the lower Tomorrow River. About 7 o’clock one of the best batches of the year started coming off the water, a hatch that was perfectly matched with a Light Cahill. My only regret was that I couldn’t share my excitement with the two friends I have tramped so many streams with this year.

In the planning stage are weekend trips to Door County to attempt to seduce a new state record brown trout into my line. Roloff’s a good easy meal. This fall has to be better. Better than the high water, low water, steam too dirty, steam too clear, and the multitude of other factors that enabled the spawning rainbows to elude me this spring. I have been convincing myself all summer that this fall will be better.

This fall has to be the year that I will save my ego. I “know” that I will catch that big brown, that first legal musky. Now if I can just keep my mind off that big flock of bluebills a friend said I recently saw. And if the young Black Lab behind the house would quit whining so my conscience would not bother me so much about his neglected training, maybe, just maybe, I can concentrate on that fall fishing.

Intramurals Prepare For Season

Sports

by Jim Halbeck

Monday Night Football is scheduled to arrive soon at UWSP! Also appearing on Monday night will be cross-country, punt, pass, and kick, and baseball teams.

While the Gifford-Cosell-Merrith team will not be on hand to view these intramural activities, many student participants are expected.

"Right now, we expect between 100 and 125 touch football teams," said Jim Clark, head of intramurals. Approximately 2000 students will be involved.

All-campus participation in baseball and tennis are scheduled for this fall. All-campus events, where no group points are awarded, are open to every student and faculty member.

The forthcoming tennis tournament will feature men's and women's singles, and men's and women's doubles on the September 14-16 weekend.

Saturday, September 21-23, the following weekend, will be set aside for mixed doubles play. Entry forms may be obtained at room 103 of the Phy Ed building after 2 p.m. Deadline for entries is 6 p.m. Friday; September 7.

Trophies will be awarded upon completion of the tournament.

Completion of the all-campus baseball season will find each member of the championship team holding a medal. The evening games will be played weekdays at Buckolt Park.

"We are hoping to field more off-campus teams this year," said Clark. For this reason, the deadline for entering individual football teams has been extended to Thursday, September 16.

Complementing the intramural football program will be the punt, pass, and kick competition. In this event, a team may enter as many individuals as desired, providing three members compete when entry points are sought. Competition for both punt, pass, and kick, and cross-country are: September 7 and 28 (Fridays); and October 15 and 19 (Monday and Friday, respectively).

Cross-country scores will be determined by adding the best times of the five fastest runners. Turkeys will be given each to the runner with the overall best time, the winning wing in each dorm, and the winning student organization, independent group, and fraternity.

Also among the list of fall activities is the art of horseshoe pitching. Over 100 teams are expected to join in the organized competition.

Organized play began Tuesday, September 4. Events are scheduled throughout most of the school year, and include foul-throw shooting, basketball, volleyball, bowling, racquetball, swimming, and indoor track. These and all activities, according to Mr. Clark, will begin entry of the St. Louis Cardinals World Series sweep.

Later sports include table tennis, outdoor track and relays. All-campus sports include golf, tennis, baseball, badminton, handball, and wrestling.

Environmental Council And You

by Deb Hill

"Environmental Council has two strong points", says Lyle. One, their information center. Ecological, social, political, and cultural materials may be found in paperback books (usually one-third in circulation), current magazines and newsletters supplied by the Environmental Council office library.

Second is Eco-Tac. The Eco-Tac relies solely on the Environmental Council budget for publication. The Eco-Tac keeps the student reader posted on all the latest in environmental humor, facts, and points of interest. This year Eco-Tac will be two pages long and biweekly. Lyle suggests personal interest, your articles can be left at the office or posted through the Campus Mail to Eco-Tac.

Future action for the Council will have many goals.

For example, the Council's view point on the Rudolph Power Plant. (10 air miles from Stevens Point), Lyle explains, "There are too many unanswered questions about nuclear plants in general. It is necessary for legislative, investigating hearings on the impact on nuclear power generation to start immediately and hearing should be held throughout the state. The council also supports the nation-wide moratorium on the licensing and operation of civilian nuclear power plants and to accelerate development of fission-free energy technologies."

The first Environmental Council meeting will be held Wednesday, September 5, 1973 in the Van Hise Room of the Environmental Council building, for anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Those who are concerned about Wisconsin Solid Waste Recycling and would like to attend a seminar, please contact Lyle in Room 022 of Old Main or phone 346-2065. Office hours are 11-45 a.m. through the 15th, Monday through Thursday or whenever the door is open.

Oshkosh, the team to beat

MADISON-The old sports adage about sticking with a winner seems to prevail in the Wisconsin State University Conference football race. Oshkosh stormed through its league schedule last fall and finished undefeated with a young team that's eager to repeat in 1973.

Coach Russ Young's "surprising" Titans get the nod from most opposing headmasters as the "team to beat," although Oshkosh won't be able to sneak up on anybody this year.

Titan opponents are wary. Still, Young has returning this fall the rugged running tandem of Tim Vanden Velden and Dan Feldt, a competent quarterback in Pete Koupal, and talented linebacker Scott Kronenwelter to spearhead the title defense.

As usual, Whitewater and La Crosse rank as the principal challengers. Both retain a strong nucleus from 1972 and expect to be bolstered by promising newcomers.

Whitewater hopes to field a defensive unit comparable to the 1972 edition that led NAIA teams across the country in total defense.

The six other Conference teams figure to battle for first division berths and they could call also-rans are starting to veer offense, and Vander
