HOMECOMING 83
PUTTING ON THE RITZ
Homecoming means more than just a good time

With Homecoming but a week away, I decided to resurrect my traditional Homecoming garb from its entombment in the attic. I was going to go back to my alma mater, UW-Stevens Point, in style.

The musty smell of Homecomings long past tortured my senses as I handed a moth-eaten bearskin coat out of that cabinet of memorabilia I kept for posterity. As I slapped the coat on, I realized it had probably smelled better when the bear was wearing it.

I delicately lifted my “Central State” pennant from under a pile of curling black and white snapshots and found the once brilliant purple and gold had faded to a dingy brown and pea soup green.

I ambled outside in hopeful anticipation that my ’79 Packard would be ready to travel the once-familiar roads from Milwaukee to Point like the V-4 thoroughbred I remembered. Brilliant autumn leaves swirled around my feet as I threw the garage doors open triumphantly. The Packard stood majestically on cement blocks, a more skeleton of its former self. My son had stripped it of every valuable piece in order to temporarily regiment one of his automotive bombs before parking it, long overdue, in a local salvage yard.

As I drove up to Point, I reminisced about the great school spirit we had back in ’53. I was Central State’s star fullback and paraded around campus always a very big deal – the parade, the floats and banners, and, of course, the big game.

“Bar fullback, a pretty girl on my arm, nickel Cokes... God, those were the days,” I muttered fondly.

However, a sobering thought crept into my mind. What if things weren’t like that anymore? I became depressed as I realized “the good old days” had gone the way of my moth-eaten bearskin coat and faded “Central State” pennant. I felt the urge to turn around and go home, but I drove on.

I arrived at UW-Stevens Point and toured the campus on foot to observe all the growth that had taken place since I’d last been there. Students seemed to be going about their normal activities, unaware that Homecoming was only a couple of days away. Sure, there were a few Homecoming activities going on, but they just didn’t seem to have that feverish exuberance we had back in ’53.

I felt a little better by game time on Saturday. The parade and other festivities had faded and the Homecomings, but echoes were all I felt. There was still something missing.

I sat down on the bleachers, just one unrecognizable drop in a sea of purple and gold. When the game started up so did the fans. Each cheer became louder and more forceful than the last. The show of enthusiasm stunned me.

By the time the final gun sounded, the emotions that were once but dim memories had returned with a new power.

“Well I’ll be damned,” I thought as I drove home, “those kids felt as proud about Point as we did.”

That was it. Pride. After blinding my mind with bearskin coats, pennants and parades, ‘79 Packard I had forgotten completely what Homecoming was all about – a celebration of school pride.

When I got home I tossed my moth-eaten bearskin coat and faded pennant into the trash unceremoniously. The years had not tarnished, faded or ruined the other thing that made Homecomings so memorable.

I still had my Point pride. Chris Celichowski

CONTENTS
NEWS FEATURES SPORTS ENVIRONMENT

Homecoming ‘83
Putting on the Ritz

Despite a rash of mistakes, the Pointers still blew out the Scot Blue Devils 94-30. Bill Lafe was there and provides a synopsis of the gridiron action. SentryWorld hosted the WSC golf meet earlier this week, and Tom Burkman FILM monitors in on the fate of the Pointer golf team.

John Savagian and Sheldon Cohen team up to view the pollution of Consolidated Paper and Lullabye Furniture Company, finding that all is not rosy in the pollution control picture. Andre Savagian does big readers and follows CTR fisheries students into the Little Plover River to help improve trout habitat. A look back at old Pointer environmental briefs.
Marshall offers plan to boost faculty salaries

UWSP Chancellor Philip Marshall would like more flexibility in adjusting salaries of local faculty members. He said when savings in salaries accrue to the university by the retirement of a long-time professor in the highest pay range, he would like to be able to use all or part of the money to beef up wages of continuing teachers.

Marshall has been speaking out frequently in support of bolstering salaries of faculty who have waited years for their chance to retire.

Fiction workshop here

Writer Norbert Blei will conduct a workshop and give a reading at UWSP on Wednesday, Oct. 19.

The fiction writing workshop will begin at 3 p.m. in the Writing Lab, 394 Collins Classroom Center. The reading will be at 8 p.m. in the Nicolet-Marquette Room in the University Center.

Both events are sponsored by the University Writers and the Writing Lab. They will be open to the public without charge.

Blei, who writes fiction and non-fiction, is the author of many books. Among his works are: Adventures in America's Literature, a critical look at the high school English class; Door Way, a collection of interviews with Door County residents; and The Hour of the Sunshine Now, a collection of short stories.

Homecoming voting next week

Americans don't often get the chance to vote for a king or queen. We must settle for more mundane figures such as presidents and congressmen. But Thursday, Oct. 22, from 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m., you can express your monarchical preferences in the voting for the 1987 Homecoming King and Queen.

Fourteen royal couples, representing all halls on campus, are up for consideration this year. Pictures of all couples will be posted in Devil's and Allen Centers and the University Center in both election days. The winning royal couple will be chosen based on several criteria. The most important single factor will be their popularity of the people. Judges will also consider a number of other things. Contestant performance in a dance contest, decoration of parade cars, and other things, involvement in Homecoming Week, activity in student organizations, and a paragraph describing "why you want to be Homecoming King or Queen" will all be figured in their final decision.

The top six finalists will be announced at the conclusion of the Homecoming Parade. All six finalists will take the field during half-time of the Point/Whitewater football game. Each couple will receive a wrapped rose. Five couples will get red roses, but the winners will receive a solitary white rose.

1985's Homecoming King and Queen, Todd Zaugg and Deb Strauss, will crown the new royal couple.

The Homecoming Court will be treated to a breakfast and happy hour. These arrangements are designed to encourage more people to participate in the event. Homecoming organizer Deb Strauss.

"We would like to see people having a real fun time on court," concluded Strauss.

Retired Point prof passes away

Miss Bertha Glennon, 83, retired member of the English faculty at UWSP and the person for whom the school's journalism center was named, died Wednesday, Oct. 6, at Fond du Lac County Home following a long illness.

Her funeral was Friday, Oct. 7, at St. Stephen's Catholic Church, followed by burial in the parish cemetery. The Rev. Thomas Mullen officiated.

A memorial has been established in the UWSP Foundation for a scholarship fund in her name to honor outstanding English students.

Miss Glennon taught English a total of 47 years, on the college and high school levels. She served at UWSP from 1946 until her retirement in 1969. She also taught at Waupaca High from 1929 to 1982, at Stevens Point High from 1931 to 1932 and 1935 to 1936 and again from 1932 to 1935, and at Wausau High from 1929 to 1932.

At UWSP, she served many years as adviser of The Iris, student yearbook. She was a secretary-treasurer of the faculty, and adviser of the student social sorority, Omega Mu Chi.
The University Center
and ACU-I Region 8
present

The Balloons

Rising to New Heights in Rock 'n Roll Saturday, October 15 the 9:00 pm
in Encore
$1.00
Senate hosts Helbach; debates security issues

by Max Lakritz

Amongst serious questions and reserved candor, the SGA Senate talked with State Senator Dave Helbach and initiated the first of three debates on the role of Protective Services on campus at Sunday’s Senate meeting.

Senator Helbach opened the discussion by mentioning the drinking age legislation situation. According to Helbach, there are 17 bills in the Senate; all dealing with the issue of raising the drinking age in the state. Helbach concluded that some drinking age legislation would pass either in the October or February session of the Senate.

On the topic of faculty salaries, Helbach explained that he was serving on a committee whose purpose is to “open communication lines between faculty and legislators.” He admitted that “there was lots of bitterness on both sides.” Senator Tim Blots questioned Helbach on his views of collective bargaining for the faculty. Helbach began by explaining to the audience and people he has a right to collectively bargain and to form unions. He went on to say, “The faculty collective bargaining bill is a victim of reaction of faculty toward pay increase.”

National
Santa Barbara, Calif.— James Watt resigned as Interior Secretary after heavy criticism from formerly staunch political allies. Watt’s resignation came before the Republican-controlled Senate could vote on a resolution censuring him.

His troubles began Sept. 21 when he referred to five members of his coal leasing commission as “a black, ... woman, two Jews and a cripple.”

New York, N.Y.Cardinal Terence Cooke of New York, 62, died last week. The New York Archdiocese said he suffered from “acute leukemia.”

by Joseph Vanden Plas

International

Warsaw, Poland—Polish labor leader Lech Walesa was named recipient of the 1983 Nobel Peace Prize. Watt was designated by the Nobel selection committee as “an exponent of the active longing for peace and unconquered Church.”

Polish-speaking Poles of the world—Helbach explained—said he would donate the accompanying $485,300 Prize.

AMERICAN NEWS CAPSULE

THE NEWS THAT WAS

Senator Alan Kneser Quebeced Helbach on the slow movement in regard to ground water legislation. Helbach asserted that the bill was tied up in the State Assembly due to “competitive forces, industry and environmentalists who will not give.”

Although Helbach was hesitant to talk about United Council on his own, he did respond to questions posed by Senator Blots. Helbach felt United Council has traditionally gone from very effective to not very effective. He confided with the Senate that “since the departure of Kurt (Pawlisch) last year, we have not seen hide nor hair of United Council.”

Funding

The Women’s Soccer Club appeared before the Senate for various requests which amounted to $485,300. The Senate approved the amount without asking the representatives any questions. The Interfaith Council also appeared before the Senate to request $140,000 which would allow draft registration. Senator Bill Artz asked if any questions were asked by the Senate.

Protective Services

After the allocations, the Senate proceeded to commence with the first in a series of discussions involving the role of Protective Services on campus. Deb Meyer, a member of Protective Services, cited her reasons and opinions. She felt strongly that Protective Services should be granted arrest powers which fall under “law enforcement status.” Meyer commented that the security officers had already taken 240 hours of basic police training and that many times security officers have to call the city police in a situation to make the “same judgment call” security officers had just made before any action can be taken.

by Bruce Assarde

of United Council to look into charges against the organization’s president, Scott Bentley, will be held this Saturday, October 16.

Bentley is accused of misusing United Council funds. The U.C. is funded by the students through a Mandatory Re

by Bruce Assarde

The hearing called by the United Council to look into charges against the organization’s president, Scott Bentley, will be held this Saturday, October 16.

Stevens Point’s Student Government Association Vice-President Tracey Mosely sympathetically met the speaking would be an open session nor the press could attend. He said he doubts Bentley would attend the hearing, but Mosely said nine University of Wisconsin schools “probably” will attend.

Bentley is accused of misusing United Council funds. The U.C. is funded by the students through a Mandatory Re funded Fee. Each school normally runs a referendum every two years to determine if the students want to continue their membership. Up until a certain period of each semester, a student can request a return of their 50 cent fee, if they do not want their money going to the U.C.

The charges against Bentley include undocumented travel expenses and abuses of power. Bentley has denied the charges and said they were all false. But Mosely said they have proof of wrongdoings.

President last fall, Bentley has accused Mosely of “stealing the fight against for his own personal gain.” Mosely denied this and said he isn’t sure if he’ll even run for President of U.C. again if Bentley resigns.

“I never crossed my mind to run,” said Mosely, “I can honestly say, when I went into this ‘house cleaning’ it had nothing to do with that.”

Mosely later said, “I’m not in it to get back at Scott Bentley. It isn’t worth it.”

Mosely admitted if many of the other schools rallied support for him he’d run.

This Sunday’s hearing will be in the Program Banquet Room of the University Center at 2:00 in the afternoon.
Horvath says he'll provide good representation

by Laura Sternwels

"If people want good represen- tation, then they'll get it from me," said William Horvath, the Democratic candidate for the 71st Assembly District seat.

"I've always been interested in politics," he said. "Government has such a dramatic effect on people's socially, legally, financially. I've been a firm believer in the idea that a person should use his talents to the fullest. I feel I have the experience to make sure people get the best."

Horvath said he first got involved in government because of his interest in education. "When I moved to Stevens Point in 1972, my children were small. I was interested in education because I received a good education." Horvath didn't like the way the school board budget was being handled at the time, so "at that point I decided to run for alderman."

Horvath decided to run for the Assembly because "the opportunity availed itself. Until that opportunity came I had no intention of running for anything," he said. "I had made up my mind before all this occurred that I was not going to run for city council again, which is a tough thing to do when you enjoy it."

Horvath felt that the city's major projects, like park development, the street tree program, Whitewater Highway 10 relocation, had not been taken care of. "It's not that I've burned myself out," he said. "Everything is on line, so I guess this is the best time for me to step down. I'll miss it."

Although he never became a Democrat, Horvath was the director of the Maryland State Soil Conservation Board from 1964-66 and executive director of the Wisconsin State Soil and Water Conservation Board from 1966-72. Currently, Horvath is the regional representative for the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

Horvath said that he would like to continue his position with NACD if he wins the election. "I'd like to give it a try for a year and see how it functions," he said. "I want to be a conservation ward- en."

Protest

UW-Whitewater faculty members protesting a state university Board of Regents' opposition to faculty collective bargaining walked through the Board's meeting at UW-Whitewater last Friday.

Approximately 20 faculty members demonstrated outside Whitewater's University Center, and about 10 of them entered the building and walked through the Board's meeting room. The regents paid little attention to the demonstrators who then marched outside the room and dispersed.

Econ association to convene here

by Laura Sternwels

Ethnic Honor

The positive aspects of ethnic diversity will be emphasized in a series of classes developed by Shirley Wiles, director of the school for seniors and traveling teachers at UW Extension in Milwaukee.

The classes will feature histories, languages, cultures and lifestyles and will focus on Jews, blacks, Germans, Poles, the Irish and Hispanics. Wiles said that she chose members of each ethnic group to present that group's type of humor.

The purpose of the classes is to broaden people's understanding of other cultures and increase sensitivity to "poor taste," ethnic humor, Wiles said.

Ethics

State Sen. Lynn Adelman (D-New Berlin) criticized a revised code of ethics for the UW System at a meeting of the UW Board of Regents at UW-Milwaukee last Friday. Adelman called the revised code "too timid and negative." He urged the regents to study the revisions carefully before beginning the adoption procedure for the revised code.

The regents felt the study Adelman suggested would be more fitting during and after the required public hearing on the code, set for Dec. 8.

Protest

UW-Whitewater faculty members protesting a state university Board of Regents' opposition to faculty collective bargaining walked through the Board's meeting at UW-Whitewater last Friday.

Approximately 20 faculty members demonstrated outside Whitewater's University Center, and about 10 of them entered the building and walked through the Board's meeting room. The regents paid little attention to the demonstrators who then marched outside the room and dispersed.

Censorship

UW-Madison librarians were asked to remove select ed works viewed as "politically objectionable" from a display of books for a confer ence on American-Yugoslav relations, according to Milan M. Radovich, one of the li brarians. Radovich said the entire display was removed rather than censor specific books.

He said conference co- chairman Michael B. Petro vic of UW-Madison and John Lampe of University of Maryland requested that certain books that didn't conform to pro-Marxist views of Yugoslav history be removed from the display because some conference delegates objected to them.

The librarian protested the order to remove the books because they "wanted to represent all points of view," Radovich said. "We regret that such censorship could happen here at campus."

Hike

On Sunday, Oct. 16, approximately 50 Beloit College students will conduct a 15-mile hike from Beloit College to Memorial Point, WI, and the college in honor of Joseph P. Cille, the school's first student, graduate, and valedictorian.

Cilie made the same walk in 1847 in order to enroll in the college.

Econ association to convene here

Representatives of business and government will join a group of educators who will convene Oct. 14 and 15 at the UW for the fifth Governor's Economic Advisory Council. "Wisconsin Economic Issues" will follow the 3:30 p.m. Friday dinner.

Economic problems will be discussed Saturday morn ing beginning at 9 a.m. with Leon Schurr of UW-Mil waukee, discussing "State and Local Governmental Trends in economics courses; David Jones of College of St. Thomas in Minnesota, on computer assisted instruction in economics; and W. Lee Hansen of UW-Madison, Catherine Lyall, who is vice president for academic affairs for the UW System, and Chancellor Phillip Marshall of UWSP on the economics of higher education.

Following the Saturday noon luncheon, Robert Lempman and Timothy McFadden will present their findings to a group of UW-Madison librarians, and Jerry Snow of the Department of Industry, Labor and Research will do the same. The session will provide an overview of the work that the librar ians have undertaken, and the students will present a program entitled, "State and Local Tax and Expenditure Patterns: a Wisconsin perspective at the state level of government."

The association is headed by Jon Karcher of the UW-Marathon County Campus in Wausau as president.
Philosophy based on Christian beliefs

Unknown GOP hopeful says he’s qualified for assembly seat

by Joseph Vandenberg

One may think perhaps at first glance that McQueen is not a candidate for the state legislature. He is lacking in experience and has no political background.

Yet, there is such a man who is running and who is easier to serve. He is Ralph Scott McQueen, the Republican Party nominee for the vacated 71st state assembly seat. Mc Queen, who is app-proaching his 30th birthday, is running against Democrat William Horvath, a widely known and more expericed political aspirant in the 71st district.

Nevertheless, one senses Mc Queen is undaunted by this situation. He adheres strictly to conservative principles, and he expounds his faith with confidence and unwavering conviction. He states clearly that he doesn't believe Horvath's extensive experience in local government makes the Democratic hopeful more qualified than he for the state legislature.

"I don't think he has any more experience in state government than I do. I know he doesn't as a legislator, he's never been a legislator," says he.

Mc Queen was born in Texas. Although his father is a native of Stevens Point,
his family moved to Texas
in 1972. Mc Queen followed in his father's footsteps and joined the navy. During his three-year stint in the ser-vie he studied electronics and eventually made it his vocation. He attended UWSP from 1975-77 and majored in Vocal Education but decided against a teaching career.

He then lived briefly in Brownsville, Texas where he worked for Zenith and then in Madison where he worked for Xerox. Mc Queen opted for the quality of life Stevens Point offered and before his decision to run for the legislature, he was employed at Tandy Corporation as a salesman. He's married and said he would like to raise a family.

Having been brought up in a steadily religious commu-

(171) 341-9455

BAUSCH & LOMB
Soft Contact Lenses

$58.00
per pair

$58.00
per pair

For more information call Broadway Optical LTD.
David L. Drinkard, o.d.
William B. Moore, Optician

1052 Main Street
Stevens Point, Wisconsin 54481

rake A DAY OFF FROM SMOKING
NOVEMBER 17, 1983

RALPH SCOTT McQUEEN

Best Homemade Pizza In Town

MONDAY
HIGH FOOTBALL . . . . $2 PITCHERS
TWO'S DAY DOUBLE BUBBLE
MIXED DRINKS . . . . 2 FOR 1

WEDNESDAY
Burger Madness 11 A.M.-1 A.M.
D.J.'S FAMOUS 1/2 POUNDER, FRIES & LARGE DRAFT . . . . $1.25

SATURDAY
ALL YOU CAN EAT 12-3-30 P.M.
PIZZA, GARLIC BREAD . . . . ONLY $3.69

SUNDAY AFTERNOON PACKER BACKER . . . . 75c
D.J.'S BURGERS . . . . $0.50

LUNCH MONDAY-WEDNESDAY 11 A.M.-2 P.M.
2 BURGERS, FRIES . . . . 1.50

FREE DELIVERY
341-4990 210 Isadore Stevens Point

er through individuals and
now they want the government to step in and solve every problem instead of the individuals finding for themselves. If government solves
all the problems that means
to my way, it is a minority that
makes enough noise to force its
views on the remainder of the country. But he not only
can be described as devoutly
pious, he can also be labeled
an individualist. He likens
"big government" to the system depicted by Orwell.

"Everybody wants the government to solve their problems," he laments. "This country was set up by and
became a major world power through individuals and
now they want the government to step in and solve every problem instead of the
individuals finding for themselves. If government solves
all the problems that means
to my way, it is a minority that
makes enough noise to force its
views on the remainder of
the country. But he not only
can be described as devoutly
pious, he can also be labeled
an individualist. He likens
"big government" to the system depicted by Orwell.

"Everybody wants the government to solve their problems," he laments. "This
country was set up by and
became a major world power through individuals and
now they want the government to step in and solve every problem instead of the
individuals finding for themselves. If government solves
all the problems that means
to my way, it is a minority that
makes enough noise to force its
views on the remainder of
the country. But he not only
can be described as devoutly
pious, he can also be labeled
an individualist. He likens
"big government" to the system depicted by Orwell.

"Everybody wants the government to solve their problems," he laments. "This
country was set up by and
became a major world power through individuals and
now they want the government to step in and solve every problem instead of the
individuals finding for themselves. If government solves
all the problems that means
to my way, it is a minority that
makes enough noise to force its
views on the remainder of
the country. But he not only
can be described as devoutly
pious, he can also be labeled
an individualist. He likens
"big government" to the system depicted by Orwell.

"Everybody wants the government to solve their problems," he laments. "This
country was set up by and
became a major world power through individuals and
now they want the government to step in and solve every problem instead of the
individuals finding for themselves. If government solves
all the problems that means
to my way, it is a minority that
makes enough noise to force its
views on the remainder of
the country. But he not only
can be described as devoutly
pious, he can also be labeled
an individualist. He likens
"big government" to the system depicted by Orwell.

"Everybody wants the government to solve their problems," he laments. "This
country was set up by and
became a major world pow-

Ralph Queen has less than one month to make up ground. He appeals to those who abhor the influence special
interests have on the political process and he perceives
politicians as "ordinary
guys" who aren't necessarily
"cut above" everyone else.

With such attitudes, he may
woo some voters, but what is
more likely to impress them
is that Mc Queen believes in himself. "I think that I am as
qualified as anyone who runs
for office," he asserts.

The young GOP candidate
is fully aware of the challenge that lies before him.
Horvath is a prohibitive favorite in this race and Mc
Queen has less than one
month to make up ground. He appeals to those who
abhor the influence special
interests have on the political process and he perceives
politicians as "ordinary
guys" who aren't necessarily
"cut above" everyone else.

With such attitudes, he may
woo some voters, but what is
more likely to impress them
is that Mc Queen believes in
himself. "I think that I am as
qualified as anyone who runs
for office," he asserts.

The young GOP candidate
is fully aware of the challenge that lies before him.
Horvath is a prohibitive favorite in this race and Mc
Queen has less than one
month to make up ground. He appeals to those who
abhor the influence special
interests have on the political process and he perceives
politicians as "ordinary
guys" who aren't necessarily
"cut above" everyone else.

With such attitudes, he may
woo some voters, but what is
more likely to impress them
is that Mc Queen believes in
himself. "I think that I am as
qualified as anyone who runs
for office," he asserts.
Today’s UWSP students are doing it their way

by Phil George
Director of Financial Aids

A college education is still one of the best bargains around, but, as my grandmother used to say, "A bargain's a bargain only if you’ve got the money to pay for it." More than ever before a college education has become the necessary credential to a promising future, the ticket to a good job. Paying for it is yet another matter. With an overall cost (tuition, living and personal expenses for four years) in excess of $19,000, the temptation to check it all off for a Mercedes is very present.

But the fact that some 8,906 students enrolled this year at UWSP is testimony that it can be done. Somehow the money’s there to grab, if you want, and go for it," and despite the cost the bills are being paid. How do they do it? The answer’s no secret to today’s new generation of dedicated students who are returning to some old-fashioned cost-cutting ideals to make it happen. But there’s a new modern twist—they’re also borrowing heavily to meet the costs they can’t cut.

Today’s student is a survivor, budget-wise and benefit-oriented. She’s the new rule of life, replacing wasteful abundance with a more frugal, thrifty-doing way of living. Substance matters more than show. Economy over luxury. Necessity governs actions. Extras are scoffed at. A pair of jeans is more than showy; junk is not a commissioned study; "can-do" is very clear, therefore. Today’s student is a survivalist, an ingenuity for today’s student and a "derring-do" for today’s generation.

Today’s student is a survivor, benefit-oriented. She’s the new rule of life, replacing wasteful abundance with a more frugal, thrifty-doing way of living. Substance matters more than show. Economy over luxury. Necessity governs actions. Extras are scoffed at. A pair of jeans is more than showy; junk is not a commissioned study; "can-do" is very clear, therefore. Today’s student is a survivalist, an ingenuity for today’s student and a "derring-do" for today’s generation.

In response, and with recognition of the sacrifices being made by both student and family, the university strives to augment these efforts by awarding its scarce financial aid resources carefully and consistently to as many students as possible. Student aid applicants have demonstrated their need in the 1983-84 academic year to be over $1 million, against which about $1.1 million is available. The $1 million shortfall in aid is made up by the families through additional sacrifice and through implementation of survivor tactics to cut costs.

Because aid resources are scarce, a sincere effort is made to insure accuracy of student data through a process called "validation" where tax forms are reviewed to check information submitted on the student’s aid application. In addition, a priority system is utilized to insure that institutional grant and work study dollars are awarded only to the students who have the highest needs or to those who have accumulated the highest level of educational loans. Maximum awards in campus-based aid programs (College Work Study jobs, National Direct Student Loans, Supplemental grants) are set at a moderate level to spread them dollars among more students.

The student demand for part-time employment is very high. If funds were available, the university could award over $328,000 in need-based jobs, but only $312,000 is available for the 1983-84 academic year under the College Work Study Program. Thus only one needy student in four is awarded a job. Another $1,496,000 is available with the Regular Work Program and through the University Food Service, but these are not need-based, and thus needy students must compete with other students for these jobs. The overall adding-up does not meet need, and the normal experience is that additional loans must be sought to more nearly meet these students’ needs.

Funding patterns have changed over the years, with the result that today’s student must borrow more heavily for education than did the student of yesteryear. The good news is that the percentage of student educational and living costs met with financial aid has almost doubled in the last ten years (17 percent of the cost was met with aid in 1973-74; today the level is 32 percent). Thus it can be said that opportunities are greater than ever before for a college-bound student to secure an education. But the mix of aid has changed to a point where 58 percent of the available aid is in loans, whereas ten years ago only 47 percent of the aid fell in this category.

A more severe view of this shift in funding reveals that although costs have risen only 124 percent in ten years, student loans have escalated 406 percent.

Federal student employment opportunities have not kept pace with the increased costs, especially in the last five years. In that time support for the College Work Study Program dropped from 11 percent of the total available aid to only 7 percent. A stark comparison is that although overall costs rose in the last five years by $12,808,500, only $45,135 in additional funds has been made available for College Work Study employment. It is very clear therefore that the heightened level of borrowing is not for choice, but by necessity. Students desire work, but for three out of every four needy students it is not available, and they are forced to scramble for other employment or borrow for their education.

If ever there was a generation of hope for the future, it is this one. With record levels of borrowing, today’s students are demonstrating faith in a bright tomorrow, willing to invest in themselves to bring it about. And the loans will be repaid, with interest. The level of loan repayment in Wisconsin now stands at 92 percent, and it is expected to rise as soon as the economy improves and unemployment recedes.

This is a level of commitment which is unparalleled by past generations who were more constrained by mounting debt, not as likely to mortgage their future.

But there’s a new modern twist—they’re also borrowing heavily to meet the costs they can’t cut.

Today’s student is a survivor, budget-wise and benefit-oriented. She’s the new rule of life, replacing wasteful abundance with a more frugal, thrifty-doing way of living. Substance matters more than show. Economy over luxury. Necessity governs actions. Extras are scoffed at. A pair of jeans is more than showy; junk is not a commissioned study; "can-do" is very clear, therefore. Today’s student is a survivalist, an ingenuity for today’s student and a "derring-do" for today’s generation.

Opinion
HAVE WE GOT STYLE!
Opening October 17

Hours:
Mon. 8-5
Tues. 8-8
Wed. 8-5
Thurs. 8-8
Fri. 8-5
Sat. 8-12

CUTTING
trimming

shampooing

conditioning

blow drying

tinting

Staff:
Ron Wallace, Alice Verpoerten, Terry Hebert

University Center
HAIRSTYLIST
346-2382
Walk-ins welcome

A Redken Retail Center
located in the lower level of the University Center

The University Center
and UAB
are

"Puttin' on the Ritz"

Thursday, October 20
7 pm to 12 midnight

WOW...
INTRANUMRAL SPORTS

1983 3rd Annual Homecoming Decathalon
Sponsored By Intramurals
• Run in conjunction with UAB Homecoming Week-Oct. 17-21
• Teams are 10 member co-ed teams
• Teams must be from dorm or organization (1 team per dorm)
• Entry fee of $20.00
• Each participant receives a free t-shirt

Individual trophies and ribbons for winner or winners in each event!
Team trophies for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place.

Events Include:
• Pie Eating
• Chariot Race
• Cross Country Relay
• Frisbee Toss
• Hot Shot Basketball
• Inertube Relay
• Archery
• Tug-O-War
• Water Balloon Toss
• Racing Dragons

COME AND CHECK IT OUT
ENTRIES CAN BE PICKED UP AT INTRAMURAL DESK OR UAB OFFICE

SOFT CONTACT LENSES

For Only $69.00

Enjoy the comfort and easy-care of soft contact lenses at a price that's easy on the college student's budget (standard spherical lenses only). Eye exam and eyecare accessories available.

50% Off on All Frames when purchased with lenses. Save 50% on our entire inventory of frames, including the latest designer styles. Our professional staff will help you find just the right pair for good looks, comfort and proper vision.

Please show student I.D. cards for these special offers. Sorry, other discounts do not apply.

214 W. Division St.
Stevens Point
341-0198

One Of The Nation's Leading Employers Is Now Interviewing On Campus.

One of the largest employers in the U.S. is accepting applications and scheduling appointments for interviews. The Department of the Navy is offering management opportunities in electronics, engineering, nuclear propulsion, systems analysis and other vital fields.

These positions provide strong technical and general management training, rapid professional growth and immediate executive responsibility.

To apply, you must be no more than 29 years old. Be within 12 months of a BS or BA, pass aptitude and physical examinations, and qualify for security clearance. U.S. citizenship is required.

If you're interested in finding out more, see Lt. Daniel Bach and the Navy Officer Programs Team. They'll be on campus Oct. 24 & 25 (Placement Office). Sign up now for an interview or call toll free 1-800-242-1569.

Get Responsibility Fast.
As we drove into the Holiday Inn parking lot, I told Mara, "I saw their limo at the university yesterday. You can't miss it. So that's what we're looking for." We made one complete revolution of the lot. No limo. It seemed as though they weren't there. Suddenly, before our unexpected eyes, there appeared, as if out of nowhere, a huge bus with the word "Tubes" on the side. An extremely conspicuous looking gentleman, wearing a "Tubes" cap on his head began walking away from the bus. This confirmed our suspicions. This was the Tubes' bus.

"Oh shit," I screamed, "that's their bus and they're just unloading it now!" Talk about being at the right place at the right time! The valet was stockpiling luggage back with the Tubes' gear. This was the perfect opportunity to find out what room they were staying in.

Trying to be very inconspicuous, we followed behind the valet about 15 feet and entered the hotel at a different door than he did. Like I said, we didn't want to be arrested. Only if it were absolutely necessary, so we played it real cool.

We walked in some doors that led straight to the pool. Before we got three steps in the door, a man with orange hair, wearing a grey and pink sweats, the same Tubes hat the man in the Holiday Inn parking lot wore, was in hot pursuit. He followed us. Neither could I but I figured if this kind of thing could work for Lucille Ball on "Love Lucy," why not for us too? So we hurried down the hallway, took a sharp left, and found ourselves at the very door the valet brought the luggage in through. We were on the right track.

Mara said, "Well, what should we do? I suppose we should listen for a wild party or music, huh?" I said, "I don't know. I suppose..."

What do I know about rock 'n roll, punk or new wave bands? They must party, all you need to hear about in the news is how this rock 'n roll star is coke user, and how he stays up all night and parties his brains out. I guzzled the notion of a party didn't seem too far fetched. So we walked down the hall, past the rooms on the first floor. We heard no music, not even any singing. So we went to the elevator. By now my protege looked slightly stunned and, even worse, terribly confused. I said, "We'll take the elevator and walk up and down all the hallways of each floor in this section until we find them.

When we walked inside the elevator, I looked at the butt­too panel. My mouth fell to my chest and I said, "Shit!"

There are six floors on this frickin' hotel! Ah well, the life of a reporter requires tremendous legwork. So I pressed the button to take us to the second floor. When the doors opened, Mara and I walked out of the elevator and began to walk down the hall when we spotted the valet and the rack of Tubes' luggage. He was bringing some of it into a room on the left-hand side of the hall, third from the end. We started to get out of the elevator and began to walk down the hallway. Mara, I and I stood there, looking at each other with extremely dumb expressions on our faces. We didn't know how we were going to get into the room. I suggested we knock on the door and tell them we had complimentary champagne from the hotel...not a real original idea, and it was tossed out. So much for cliché notions.

As we stood there, playing with the ice machine, a petite young woman walked up to the soda machine. I knew it was Cheryl Handeland of the Tubes Girls. She had on gray and pink sweats, the same Tubes hat the man in the parking lot had on. Flashy metallic colors, and her long blond hair, Nike tennis shoes with a canceled. After explaining a few distant words, I decided to go to the printer office and type the complete sheets I would be using for the Tubes concert that night. With my wet pants clinging to my legs, I braved the brutal weather once again to get to the communications building.

Fele Waybill and the Tubes girls (Cheryl Handeland and Michele Gray) sing and dance to the tune "Wild Women." Wild was certainly was. (Photo by R.B.)

My plans were to meet with one of my writers, Chris Mara, at 2:15 p.m. in the UC. We were going to get ourselves arrested. After all, every good reporter should go through the experience. You might be wondering, at this point, how are these two roving reporters going to go about getting arrested? To be quite honest, I wasn't sure we would see the man in blue, but I was prepared for anything.

Anyway, our destination was the Holiday Inn. Our purpose: to talk to the members of the Tubes. No matter how many bouncers got in our way, we wouldn't let those gorillas intimidate us. No way, not us!
Tubes and Romantics range from cool warm-up to sexism

The Tubes concert offered some hard rock and roll to get the adrenaline flowing, some punk for those who like to dress weird, some teeny-bop-pert-forty stuff for the Bruisers regulars, supplementary skits for those who couldn't understand the lyrics, a lot of skin and lewd gestures for all of the sex fiends and perverts, and some time to sleep during the Romantics' set.

The Romantics got the concert off to a slow start. A warm-up band was sued to, by name, warm up the crowd and the Romantics failed to do this. No one even got on their feet until the last song, "What I Like About You" (Foxy Lady). The lead vocals were difficult to hear at all so if it wasn't for an occasional bass and drum fill, I would have thought they repeated a song or two.

Putting chairs on the main floor did not help matters. The type of concert the Tubes and the Romantics present requires or depends on a rowdy crowd. How can a crowd get going when it feels like it is sitting in a theater?

The Tubes, however, did breathe some life into the crowd. The Tubes stage experience proved to make the difference immediately. They seemed to play to the crowd rather than at them. The Tubes were able to float up the crowd with a definitive rock and roll, and roll flavor created by Roger Steen's guitar, "Wha" and Prairie Prince's drum solo.

Quay Lewd's (a fictitious character played by lead singer Fee Waybill) classic "White Punks On Dope" from the Tubes' first album was one of the songs mentioned earlier. The tubes, which took the crowd by surprise, don't sing every other song, supplemented the songs by giving us a little insight into the lyrics meanings and also by adding some entertainment. I am sure most of the guys enjoyed the skits but the women in the audience must have been offended by the way they degraded women. The girls used in the skits, Cheryl Horlitz, Hangland and Michele Gray, were basically used and abused as sex objects. The skits appeared to be attempts to see how much of their antics could be shown within legal limits.

One such skit finds Cheryl having her shirt ripped off, tied up, and brutally grabbed by Fee in places which often get the average guy slapped.

I think the sexual content of the concert moved the focus from music to sex. That is too bad. Musical talent should be in the limelight.

The Tubes act softened up the crowd a little towards the end when, for their encore, they did their two most remain hits, "She's A Beauty" and "Talk To You Later. " "She's A Beauty" allowed the girls to prove themselves as capable singers, rather than just trashy versions of Solid Gold dancers, even though they did not bother to cover their bottoms while doing so.

Homecoming festivities: a promise of the ritz

by Bill Passminder

Next week in Point's Homecoming and many organizations are planning festivities to celebrate the occasion. Entertainment, parties, and activities as the traditional Homecoming Parade are on the agenda. University Activities Board is the major organizer of all the events, however, many other organizations are joining in on the fun by planning their own activities and parties.

The special events UAB has planned for us start off early in the week. Intramurals is sponsoring a Decathlon all week long with several various activities ranging from Hot Shot Basketball, Intramural Relays to a pie eating contest. Many other sports are planned to take place throughout the week also.

UAB has also brought in some entertainment this week. Live in the Encore Room will be "The Good Time Mine" featuring O.J. Anderson. Wally Cleaver will be hosting "The Great and the UAB Homecoming dance and "Putting on the Ritz" will be the theme for the dance at the University Center. A Monty pink design on them, and the thing that gave her away—dark sunglasses. If anyone reading this remembers what Tuesday was like, sunglasses were the last thing a person needed.

A smile grew on my face and I thought, again, we're in the right place at the right time. Things sure were falling into place.

Cheryl's hair was tucked up under her hat and it looked as though she had no make-up on. She had a pink bandana around her neck and a green one around her wrist. The only noticeable jewelry she had was a rhinestone earring in one hole, and the second earring (one ear, different hole) had a dangling earring in it that looked like a fan bell from a car turned inside out.

The parade marshal at the University Activities Board is the major organizer has planned for us start off many other organizations some top entertainment this week. Innertube Relays to a pie eating contest. Many other activities will also be performed in the Point area citizens, as well as UWSF faculty, will be the float judges.

In the past, problems with crowd control has resulted in unfortunate incidents and even the cancellation of the parade two years ago. Consequently, UAB has had trouble finding marching bands to perform in the parade because of behavior of some of the students. Therefore, this year only will not the Stevens Point area citizens, as well as UWSF faculty, be the float judges.

The parade itself takes place Saturday morning at 19. The marching bands that will be performing in the parade, the Marching Band, the Wis. Rapids Assumption H.S. Band, Mosinee Middle School Band, and Scandinavia via Band, and the UWSF Marching Band. The parade marshal has not yet been announced, however, notable Stevens Point area citizens, as well as UWSF faculty, will be the float judges.

Likewise, many fraternity take part in the Homecoming events as well. They construct floats and enter representative King and Queen candidates in the parade.

The Black Students Coalition is celebrating Homecoming by holding their 2nd annual Homecoming Festivities Dinner. It will be held Oct. 25 in the Allen Center Upper dining hall. The purpose of this dinner is not only to celebrate Homecoming, but to raise funds for the Black Students Coalition Scholarship. They will also be represented in the parade by their King and Queen and float.

The parade itself takes place Saturday morning at 19. The marching bands that will be performing in the parade, the Marching Band, the Wis. Rapids Assumption H.S. Band, Mosinee Middle School Band, and Scandinavia via Band, and the UWSF Marching Band. The parade marshal has not yet been announced, however, notable Stevens Point area citizens, as well as UWSF faculty, will be the float judges.

In the past, problems with crowd control has resulted in unfortunate incidents and even the cancellation of the parade two years ago. Consequently, UAB has had trouble finding marching bands to perform in the parade because of behavior of some of the students. Therefore, this year only will not the Stevens Point Police Dept. and Campus Security be there but four volunteers from each organization represented in the parade will be present to help control the crowd. UAB is asking for more volunteers to help out with security.

UAB President Judy Pence encourages students to attend the parade and the other Homecoming activities taking place next week, to have fun and show support for the Pointers.

The finale of Homecoming week will be the Pointer football game when they take on U.P. Whistler at 2 p.m. at Goehrke Field.

ANTA's "Tavern":

Credibility runs amok

by Trudy Stewart

"What was this play about?" is a question I've frequently asked myself since the evening of October 5, when I attended a performance of "The Tavern" by George M. Cohan. That's not to imply that I am unfamiliar with the plot or even the themes of this offering that was penned by Mr. Co- han in the 1920s. Maybe it is my provincial outlook that has prevented me from appreciating fully the campy, campy portrayal of the Sheriff. Consequently, UAB has had trouble finding marching bands to perform in the parade because of behavior of some of the students. Therefore, this year only will not the Stevens Point Police Dept. and Campus Security be there but four volunteers from each organization represented in the parade will be present to help control the crowd. UAB is asking for more volunteers to help out with security.

UAB President Judy Pence encourages students to attend the parade and the other Homecoming activities taking place next week, to have fun and show support for the Pointers.

The finale of Homecoming week will be the Pointer football game when they take on U.P. Whistler at 2 p.m. at Goehrke Field.

Lead singer Fee Waybill plays quasi-spacey "Quay Lewd" while-singing "White Punks on Dope."
Parents Weekend

All those older faces weren't re-entry students

by Jill Fassbinder

If you were wondering why there were so many parents around last week, it's because Student Life Activities and Programs sponsored "Parents' Weekend." Last weekend students had the opportunity to spend time with their parents, expose them to their new world, and participate in the many fun activities that were offered.

The weekend began Saturday morning at the Pre-game Family Picnic. This was held at the University Center in the new plaza area. Here students and their parents had a chance to fill up on some delicious food and enjoy the pleasant atmosphere. Parents also had the opportunity to meet their students' new friends and added extra excitement to the game.

The Family Picnic was held at the Center in the new plaza. They filled the quarter reception was held in the new plaza. Much to our dismay, much to our dismay, their latest album Outside-Tubes.

"Hello," she replied. "How are you today?" I asked.

She said, "Oh, just fine." Getting a little bold, I asked, "How would you like to talk to us, we're relatively harmless!"

She saw looked rather curious and said, "Sure."

I told her that the disguise wasn't very effective. She laughed and said, "Oh no!"

I told her we were from the school newspaper and that we were very nice people.

"Oh sure, I know all about you media people," she jest-ed.

We laughed a nervous laugh.

She told me to talk to the road manager about an interview. I told her that I had tried to arrange an interview session but a policy had been made that there would be no "day of the concert" inter­views. She said that was probably because everyone is so tired. We got into town and slept on the road.

"Could we get an inter­view tonight before the con­cert?" I asked.

She said, "Sure! What's your name?"

"Kim Jacobson, and this is Chris Mara."

She extended her hand to both of us and said, "Hi, I'm Cheryl Hangland."
by Tom Welland

Things have changed a little, but...

For those of you who weep at the slightest hint of a fond memory, dry your eyes. These recent photographs will tell you that things have not changed very much at this old place. For instance:

1. The football team still wears the same old quilted girdles they did then. (1900)
2. Appealing dormitory residents still stay at home Saturday nights to knit sweaters for the coming cold weather. (1960)
3. Great rock and roll bands are still being hired to play the gym. (1980)
4. The cheerleaders are still as beautiful as ever. (1960)
5. People still get down at the local dancing spots. (1970)
6. Sweethearts can still be seen cuddling in front of a warm fire.

A Homecoming look at our past
7. They still offer all-female chemistry labs introducing the latest technological advancements. (1917)
8. There is still a lake next to Quandt gymnasium where one can enjoy a swim or canoe outing. (1970?)
9. If anyone has seen Collins, Cop, The CNR, the LRC, Baldwin, Steiner, Hansen, Neale, Kootam, Burroughs, Watson, Thomson, Depot center, K mart, IGA, or the university center for that matter please let us know. (1964)
It wasn't that long ago, now was it?

ROMANOVSKY & PHILLIPS

"Outrageous, occasionally irreverent and always enjoyable"
-S.F. Music Calendar

"Best and brightest of San Francisco's new gay talents"
-The Sentinel

"The show will make you happy"
-New York Native

IN CONCERT

Wednesday, October 19

UNIVERSITY CENTER
Encore Room 8:30 pm
General Admission $2

Sponsored by the UWSP Gay Peoples Union

GAIN ENERGY & BETTER HEALTH
WHILE CONTROLLING YOUR WEIGHT

* Program by America's Health Care Leader.
* Weight loss/control & improved nutrition.
* Provides all essential nutrients plus vitally needed protein & fiber.
Safety & effectiveness fully guaranteed
WHY NOT A HEALTHIER YOU?
Contact: Jack Porter 344-8553 625 Janick Circle W.

KNOCK 'EM DEAD

With our UWSP VISORS!
only $1.00
ATTENTION JOCKS:

STRUT YOUR STUFF, IN A SWEATSHIRT CUT OFF!

You Are Invited To A Chinese Cultural Performance

Wednesday, October 26 at 8:00 p.m. in Sentry Theatre

The Youth Goodwill Mission from Taiwan, Republic of China will introduce you to the rich cultural tradition and philosophies of ancient China. The fourteen members in this group were selected from 106 universities and colleges in Taiwan and represent many disciplines of study.

Tickets ($2.50 general public $1.00 student) are available at U.C. Information Desk & Foreign Student Office, First Floor of Detzel Hall.

Pick up at 7:15 & 7:30 at U.C.

Youth Goodwill Mission from Taiwan, Republic of China

TENDERLOIN FILET MIGNON FOR TWO
Includes tossed salad, choice of dressing, soup, potato, rolls & butter

$11.95

Wed., Thurs. & Sun. Only

Wisconsin River COUNTRY CLUB
West over Hwy. 10 Bridge, Turn Left 1st Road, 4.5 Miles.

SPECIAL NIGHT OUT
...at the CLUB

Get away from the crowds and enjoy a memorable dinner at prices even a student can afford!

TENDERLOIN FILET MIGNON FOR TWO
Includes tossed salad, choice of dressing, soup, potato, rolls & butter

$11.95

Wed., Thurs. & Sun. Only

Wisconsin River COUNTRY CLUB
West over Hwy. 10 Bridge, Turn Left 1st Road, 4.5 Miles.

PARTRERS PROUDLY PRESENTS

Located:
2600 Stanley

PEOPLE LEASERS

MON. 8 till Close
Peanut Night
Dubatts + Heiniken
.75 glass 3.50 Pitcher

TUE. 8 till Close Margaritas 12 oz. .99
dFree Nachos (Served at Mini Bar)

WEN. 8 till Close $2.00 Pitchers
Free Popcorn

MON-FRI 3-6 HAPPY HOUR

HOURS
MON-SAT: 12:00 AM till Close
Sun: Noon till Close

$1.00 Cocktails
$.99 Highball's, Wine, & Bottle Beer
$.50 Taps
2.00 Pitchers (Bar Brads Only)
UNIVERSITY FILM SOCIETY PRESENTS:

John Wayne, Henry Fonda and Shirley Temple in the John Ford classic

FORT APACHE

Tuesday & Wednesday
Oct. 18 & 19
7 & 9:15 pm

Only $1.50
Program Banquet Room-U.C.

JUNIOR AND SENIORS
EARN OVER $1,000.00 PER MONTH

If you are a math, physics, chemistry or engineering major, you could earn as much as $1,000.00 per month through your junior and senior years... summers included! The Navy's NUPOC (Nuclear Propulsion Officer) Collegiate Program is looking for qualified individuals. Other benefits include:

☆☆☆$3,000.00 CASH BONUS IMMEDIATELY UPON ACCEPTANCE INTO PROGRAM
☆☆☆$23,000 STARTING SALARY—$42,000 AFTER JUST FOUR YEARS
☆☆☆FREE MEDICAL/DENTAL CARE AND MANY OTHER TAX FREE BENEFITS
☆☆☆30 DAYS PAID ANNUAL VACATION

If you're interested in finding out more, see Lt. Daniel Iach and the Navy Officer Programs Team. They'll be on campus Oct. 24 & 25 (Placement Office). Sign up now for an interview or call toll free 1-800-242-1589.
Points’ Source Pollution Probed

Pollutants from Wisconsin’s Consolidated Paper Mill have been the subject of recent investigation. The company’s mills, located on the Wisconsin River, have been the focus of regulatory scrutiny due to their impact on water quality. In this article, we examine the steps that Consolidated Paper Mill has taken to improve water treatment and wastewater management.

Consolidated Papers, Inc.

In central Wisconsin, Consolidated Papers, Inc. has been the leader in water treatment and wastewater management. The company’s mills, located on the Wisconsin River, have been the focus of regulatory scrutiny due to their impact on water quality. In this article, we examine the steps that Consolidated Paper Mill has taken to improve water treatment and wastewater management.

At this point, I should explain in detail the two categories of pollutants which are by-products of the paper and production processes. First, keep in mind that these pollutants are both very energetic and water intensive. Two types of pollutants discharged by these processes and regulated by state and federal agencies are TSS and BOD. TSS are minute pieces of clay, silt, soil and other fine particulate solids; high quantities of these suspended solids can prohibit light penetration in water and can result in a die-off of photosynthetic organisms and other organisms higher up on the food chain. BOD is derived from natural organic materials and, in higher quantities, can depopulate oxygen levels and cause oxygen starvation in aquatic organisms. The impacts of both of these pollutants vary with their concentration in the discharge of water and the rate and temperature of the river. For example, high BOD concentrations have a greater impact on fish in warmer waters (e.g. summer) than when biological activity in the river is higher.

The steves Point Division of Consolidated has a wastewater treatment system designed to remove these pollutants. The waste water treatment system includes a primary treatment plant that removes settling solids and grit. Following primary treatment, the wastewater is treated in a biological system that utilizes bacteria to degrade the organic matter. The treated water is then discharges into the river.

The testing of the stack was done on November 19, 1981, showing the emissions to be 0.11 pounds per million BTU on the average. Lullabye is allowed up to 0.6 pounds per million BTU. The BTU’s are based upon how much energy is going into the boiler.

Such standards as regulated by the DNR do nothing to satisfy the area residents. Mr. Ebel is aware of their complaints but stated that as conscientious as they are, there is no clear-cut evidence of dust and the noxious fumes from the plant itself. According to Mr. Ebel, since the cleaning of the stack, the company does not have the resources (i.e. the money to clean it). Mr. Ebel states that the Lullabye into the clean citizen the area residents do not want. Lullaby has never had a trapezoidically clean plant and it is not just an issue of money being spent, it is also an issue of policy.

There is another factor which hampers Lullabye in its efforts to placate the area residents and that is the need for economic efficiency. Mr. Ebel noted that Wisconsin Consolidated Papers, Inc. is owned by a group of banks known as Q-A Associates. Q-A Associates is an attempt to quiet its dissenters. Lullabye employs 116 hourly wage earners (union and nonunion) and 38 salaried people.

For a city the size of Stevens Point, the closing of such a plant could not be easily accomplished. Often, closing a plant can be a difficult process for the community. But Lullabye is being directed to a solution that is difficult to implement. As long as the profits from the paper mills are above the national average, the company remains profitable. As long as the profits remain above the national average, no incentive for the company to improve.

Despite their impressive record, there are problems. There is currently no incentive for the Stevens Point Division to improve their treatment technology and decrease their BOD discharge. Minute, sometimes undetectable, levels of zinc and iron salts are used in paper production. These chemicals are discharged into the river. The DNR has found these levels to be "below the amount that the actual impact upon aquatic life is difficult to measure. The enforcement of these limits depends on the perception of what is”...
Lullabye
the heavy accumulation of dust in windows, on cars, and even inside the homes. The DNR’s Wisconsin Rapids
office handles regulation of air emissions,
and have handled complaints
from area residents as well.

Joe Ansel of the DNR, when asked about the incinerators burning, which seems to generate most of the complaints about noxious smoke remarked, “I don’t always tell them when I’m coming, I can just stop in sometime and tell them I want to see what you’re burning today,
and if I never see anything...then there’s a pretty good chance they are not burning anything like plastics.” Mr. Ansel also reaffirmed Mr. Ebel’s comment about being stuck in a residential area and expressed his confidence in his ability to try and do something about the problems.

Mr. Ebel admitted that moving the plant would be the best solution, but economically impossible
given that a move would cost over 12 million dollars. Even upgrading the plant is out of its range since it would cost about 4 million dollars.

From the limited capital
they have to work with, only about 150 to 200,000 dollars is reinvested into the plant
each year. A new dust collection system is being purchased piecemeal. Mr. Ansel noted that these cyclones as they are called, “may take out about eighty percent to ninety percent of the bulk of what comes through, the rest moves into the air, but if they can take out to one hundred percent, they’ll have more fuel for their boiler.”

In the case of Lullabye,
the abatement of pollutant
problems can also spell an increase in efficiency. Present plans for improving the plant include the purchase of a new boiler, which will improve the use of wood burning, from the present efficiency rating of only 35 percent to almost 70 percent.

Coupled with a better colcollection of wood waste which accounts for much of their fuel, Lullabye’s current $100,000 gas bill could be cut
substantially.

It is not a simple task to
point fingers and blame
someone for Lullabye’s problems. If anything can be learned from this story, it is
that pollution is a problem
that is caused by economic priorities and exacerbated
by displaced owners who
have no stake in the welfare
of the factory or the community in which it lives. The management of Lullabye is aware of the problem and
seem sincere in their efforts
to improve the plant’s performance but risk losing their
livelihood if they go too far, too fast. In the club that Lullabye is in, corporate
dues are the first priority to
be met, all else becomes secondary.

Stream improvement day successful, fun
by Andy Savagian

October Saturdays are
some of the prettiest and
also some of the coldest
days of the fall season. Last Saturday, October 8, was no
exception — beautiful fall
colors were abundant and
the temperature was a cold 40 degrees. Though most of the people of Stevens Point
were still asleep, a few inhabilants were out and about
— a lone old man, his breath
visible in the cool air, was rummaging in a garbage can
and gathering a load of
wood for his evening fire.
Saturday morning workers
methodically made their way to their jobs; and at the CNR building there were
about ten or twelve tired,
sleepy people waiting for a bus.

Dressed warm and
-equipped with waders, these
students were volunteers of
the Fisheries Society’s
annual Trout Stream Habitat Improvement Day. In one of
the largest fishery projects
this reporter has taken, the
group left at 8:30 a.m. to
work a section of the Liti-
' Plover River when most of
us were dreaming of what
not to do the next day.

The program, which
is advised by Dr. Jack Heaton,
a professor in Fisheries, began five years ago and re-
cived a lot of coverage from
not on TV news, but state
press as well. The uninitiated
also like to see their new program to biology
not distinguish one completed section from another.

To start the project, the
group first laid bags of sand
on sections of wooden planks
on the river bottom, pre-laid
by the DNR. Rocks used to be piled on the planks, but
the sandbags are easier to
use because they require little transportation, compared
to the usual human chain of
rock passing that was the norm.
Rocks are still used, but as one helper noted: “(piling sandbags) isn’t as much fun.”

The purpose of piling sandbags, explained by Dr. Heaton, is to “bounce the current from around the world.

The objective of the expedition, made apparent by the
title, is to improve the trout
habitat for a particular trout
stream. The section of river
where the students worked
was on the Department of Natural Resources’ public
fishing access land, indicating the cooperative effort the DNR is providing. In order
to improve the stream, the
group obviously picked a
poor spot for trout inhabi-
tation. Further up the river,
the previous year’s work
was so well accomplished
that the layman’s eye could

This next time Fisheries needs help...picture this.

with a deeper slant into the form so the current
will

Finally, the volunteers cut
sections of reed canary
grass to be added to the overlay. The grass is an extremely fast growing species
and spreads quickly, making it
ideal for the project.

The group finished around
mid-afternoon, and even though the work was hard,
the workers went
together and had a very good time. Brats and
beverages were provided afterwards
for the hungry workers, also.
When asked why students
would spend their time
wading, hauling and lifting on a Saturday morning, some of
the replies were: “It’s fun,”
and “It’s a good time.” One volunteer stated: “It is boring — why not? I had nothing else to do...you learn
something, too.”

nearly the whole day without

Lullabye’s current
$100,000 gas bill could be cut
substantially.

It is not a simple task to
point fingers and blame
someone for Lullabye’s problems. If anything can be learned from this story, it is
that pollution is a problem
that is caused by economic
priorities and exacerbated
by displaced owners who
have no stake in the welfare
of the factory or the community in which it lives. The management of Lullabye is
aware of the problem and
seem sincere in their efforts
to improve the plant’s performance but risk losing their
livelihood if they go too
far, too fast. In the club that Lullabye is in, corporate
dues are the first priority to
be met, all else becomes secondary.

Stream improvement day successful, fun
by Andy Savagian

October Saturdays are
some of the prettiest and
also some of the coldest
days of the fall season. Last Saturday, October 8, was no
exception — beautiful fall
colors were abundant and
the temperature was a cold
40 degrees. Though most of the people of Stevens Point
were still asleep, a few inha-
bilants were out and about
— a lone old man, his breath
visible in the cool air, was
rummaging in a garbage can
and gathering a load of
wood for his evening fire.
Saturday morning workers
methodically made their way to their jobs; and at the CNR building there were
about ten or twelve tired,
sleepy people waiting for a
bus.

Dressed warm and
-equipped with waders, these
students were volunteers of
the Fisheries Society’s
annual Trout Stream Habitat
Improvement Day. In one of
the largest fishery projects
this reporter has taken, the
group left at 8:30 a.m. to
work a section of the Liti-
' Plover River when most of
us were dreaming of what
not to do the next day.

The program, which
is advised by Dr. Jack Heaton,
a professor in Fisheries, began five years ago and re-
cived a lot of coverage from
not on TV news, but state
press as well. The uninitiated
also like to see their new program to biology
not distinguish one completed section from another.

To start the project, the
group first laid bags of sand
on sections of wooden planks
on the river bottom, pre-laid
by the DNR. Rocks used to
be piled on the planks, but
the sandbags are easier to
use because they require little transportation, compared
to the usual human chain of
rock passing that was the norm.
Rocks are still used, but as one helper noted: “(piling sandbags) isn’t as
much fun.”

The purpose of piling sand-
bags, explained by Dr. Hea-
ton, is to “bounce the current from around the world.

The objective of the expedition, made apparent by the
title, is to improve the trout
habitat for a particular trout
stream. The section of river
where the students worked
was on the Department of Natural Resources’ public
fishing access land, indicating the cooperative effort the DNR is providing. In order
to improve the stream, the
group obviously picked a
poor spot for trout inhabi-
tation. Further up the river,
the previous year’s work
was so well accomplished
that the layman’s eye could

This next time Fisheries needs help...picture this.

with a deeper slant into the
form so the current
will

Finally, the volunteers cut
sections of reed canary
grass to be added to the
overlay. The grass is an extremely fast growing species
and spreads quickly, making it
ideal for the project.

The group finished around
mid-afternoon, and even though the work was hard,
the workers went
together and had a very good time. Brats and
beverages were provided afterwards
for the hungry workers, also.
When asked why students
would spend their time
wading, hauling and lifting on a Saturday morning, some of
the replies were: “It’s fun,”
and “It’s a good time.” One
volunteer stated: “It is boring — why not? I had nothing else to do...you learn
something, too.”

nearly the whole day without

Lullabye’s current
$100,000 gas bill could be cut
substantially.

It is not a simple task to
point fingers and blame
someone for Lullabye’s problems. If anything can be learned from this story, it is
that pollution is a problem
that is caused by economic
priorities and exacerbated
by displaced owners who
have no stake in the welfare
of the factory or the community in which it lives. The management of Lullabye is
aware of the problem and
seem sincere in their efforts
to improve the plant’s performance but risk losing their
livelihood if they go too
far, too fast. In the club that Lullabye is in, corporate
dues are the first priority to
be met, all else becomes secondary.
DOUBLES TABLE TENNIS
Thurs., Sept. 29 (mixed or otherwise)

DARTS 301
Thurs., Oct. 13

DOUBLES FOOSBALL
Thurs., Oct. 20 (mixed or otherwise)

BACKGAMMON
Tues., Oct. 25

MEN’S BILLIARDS
Thurs., Oct. 27 (single's competition)

CHESS
Tues., Nov. 1

WOMEN’S BILLIARDS
Thurs., Nov. 3 (single’s competition)

WOMEN’S TABLE TENNIS
Tues., Nov. 8

MEN’S TABLE TENNIS
Thurs., Nov. 10

All competitions begin at 6:30pm.

Entrants must be full time students at UWSP with a cumulative G.P.A. of 2.0 or better.

First place winners in each event will receive an expense paid trip to UW—Whitewater to represent UWSP at the ACU—I Regional Tournament.

Rules and sign-up available until noon the day of the event.

Entrance fee is $1.

Sign up at: RECREATIONAL SERVICES 366-0848

Interested in more tourneys? Pick up the fall 1983 tourney brochure at rec. services.
Mistake prone Pointers still stomp Stout 30-6
by Bill Laste
Teams that lose the ball on fumbles four times, throw an interception, and are penalized 85 yards hardly stand a chance of winning a football game, right? Wrong.
The Pointers were guilty of all the above blunders yet still managed to pick up their first WSUC victory in a 30-6 shellacking of Stout last Saturday.
The Pointers had lots of heroes, especially members of the ball-hawking defense. Freshman nose guard Bob Wietersen forced one fumble, broke up a pass, and had a hand in 12 tackles.

Once again, LeRoy pinned much of the blame on the errors on the inconsistent play of the offensive line.
"I was disappointed with the way our offensive line handled the pass rush. Not the entire line, but just the tackles. It's just a matter of time taking the responsibility to do the assignment.
"Dave Geissler fumbled twice but he didn't even have time to get back and lock the ball before someone was hitting him. There were other times when the quarterback just didn't get any time to throw the ball.
"These are all things that can be corrected but it's going to take a heck of an effort from the players.
Effort never seemed to be lacking as Point took the ball after the Collins interception in the first quarter. The drive start drive included a roughing the kicker call against Stout on a 43-yard Jon Kleinschmidt field goal attempt. The play scored on a naked rollout to give the Pointers a 13-0 lead.

Rick Wietersen set up the Pointers' next score as he pounced on a muffed punt reception by Mike Krainz at the Stout 13 with 1:59 left in the half. The Pointers settled for a 23-yard Klein­schmidt field goal and went into the locker room with a 16-0 halftime lead.

The Pointers tackled on two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter. The first score came on a five-yard pass to reserve tight end Uly Otte. The Kleinschmidt PAT put the Pointers on top 23-6.

The Pointers' final score came on a drive that was all Mike Gaab. The first play of the drive saw Gaab go 37 yards around right end to the Stout 9-yard line. Gaab, who had 100 yards on 26 carries, then went up the middle for five more yards, and finished off the drive with a four-yard touchdown plunge.

The 5-2 Pointers, 1-2 in WSUC play, face Oshkosh Saturday in a pivotal match for both teams. The loser of this game can almost certainly put aside conference title hopes as Oshkosh also enters the game with two conference losses.
"It's a must game, this game," said LeRoy of the 1-0 homecoming contest at Oshkosh. "It's going to be a very close game. I think it'll be a defensive battle and their strength is their defense. It won games for them against Superior and Platteville.

Mike Gaab puts distance between Blue Devil defenders and himself in Saturday's game.

Mike Gaab puts distance between Blue Devil defenders and himself in Saturday's game.
In the loss to Marquette, the intimidating Warrior frontline was more than the Pointers could handle. The Milwaukee-based team shut down the Point frontline hitters and its stubborn defense returned numerous hits. The Pointers rebounded from the Marquette loss with a strong win over UW-Eau Claire. The spikers were led by the strong hitting of Donner, and the excellent defensive play of Lisa Sallisbury.

In the final match with UW-Milwaukee, the Point women played some of their best volleyball of the year, but the performance was overshadowed by the aggressive Milwaukee women who won the match. Point displayed a balanced hitting attack in the second game which was proven with 23 kills. Leading the way was Heiring with seven and Miller had six.

Point standout Dawn Heary was selected to the all-tournament team as both an attacker and defensive player.

Miller and Heiring led the Pointers in the tournament statistics as each had 41 kills and the latter also had a spiking accuracy of 95 percent. Ruth Donner and Heary contributed 35 and 29 kills, respectively. The next competition for the Pointers will begin Friday, Oct. 7, when they host the Stevens Point Invitational in the Berg Gym. Competition begins at 6 p.m. and resumes Saturday at 10 a.m.

SID - The UWSP women's field hockey team continued its dominance of Wisconsin opponents here Saturday as it easily defeated UW-Oshkosh 4-0.

The victory improved the Lady Pointers' season record to 10-3. Coach Nancy Page's troops will attempt to improve on that mark this weekend when they host the Stevens Point Invitational beginning Friday. Friday's play begins at 8:30 a.m. at Coleman Field.

UW-SP's dominance in the final score was reflected in the statistics as Point unleashed 34 shots on goal compared to only two for the Titan women. The Lady Pointers also had an advantage of 14-0 in penalty corner shots.

Shelia Dowling gave Point a 1-0 halftime advantage when she scored at the 7:04 mark of the initial half. The assist on the play went to Madonna Golla.

Golla scored the second goal with just 2 minutes expired in the second half on a direct corner shot. Jaye Hallenbeck had the third goal off an assist from Dowling at the 22:12 mark and Kristen Kemerling had the final tally at the 33:56 mark off an assist from Dee Christofferson.

Field Hockey

SID - The UWSP women's field hockey team continued its dominance of Wisconsin opponents here Saturday as it easily defeated UW-Oshkosh 4-0.

The victory improved the Lady Pointers' season record to 10-3. Coach Nancy Page's troops will attempt to improve on that mark this weekend when they host the Stevens Point Invitational beginning Friday. Friday's play begins at 8:30 a.m. at Coleman Field.

UW-SP's dominance in the final score was reflected in the statistics as Point unleashed 34 shots on goal compared to only two for the Titan women. The Lady Pointers also had an advantage of 14-0 in penalty corner shots.

Shelia Dowling gave Point a 1-0 halftime advantage when she scored at the 7:04 mark of the initial half. The assist on the play went to Madonna Golla.

Golla scored the second goal with just 2 minutes expired in the second half on a direct corner shot. Jaye Hallenbeck had the third goal off an assist from Dowling at the 22:12 mark and Kristen Kemerling had the final tally at the 33:56 mark off an assist from Dee Christofferson.

Men's X-C

The UWSP men's cross country team battled with the big boys in the Notre Dame Invitational here Friday and came away with a 12th place finish in the rugged blue division.

A strong cross-section of the Golfo Division I, II and III schools in the nation were represented and the Pointers performed well. Bowling Green won the 13 team field with 68 points to edge out host Notre Dame which tallied 77. Rounding out the scoring were, Eastern Michigan, 91; Illinois State, 110; UW-La Crosse, 134; Indiana State-Evansville, 171; Central Michigan, 206; Indiana State (Penn.), 213; Edinboro, 224; Eastern Illinois, 231; North Central, 235; UW-SP, 236; and Saginaw Valley State, 235.

The Pointers were led by senior Lou Agnew who toured the five mile course in a time of 25:14.1 and finished 34th. He was followed by Chris Celichowski, 41st; 25:22.5; Arnie Scharaeder, 45th; 26:22.6; Dennis Kocoton 52nd; 26:24.3; Jim Kowalczyk, 61st; 26:32.1; Steve Bridewell, 66th; 26:37.3; and Kevin Seay, 77th; 26:10.2.

Tennis

SID - The UWSP women's tennis team dropped matches to UW-Eau Claire and UW-Oshkosh in competition here Saturday.

The Pointers saw their season record fall to 1-1 as they were defeated by UW-Eau Claire 8-1 and by host UW-Oshkosh 7-2 with an identical 6-1 score.

Women's X-C

The UWSP women's cross country team gave its best effort in the Notre Dame Invitational but was unable to capture third place out of 13 teams. The Carlson Invitational that was held Saturday.

St. Thomas won the invitational with a score of 36 points, and were followed by Mankato State, 72; UWSP, 126; Carleton, 139; St. Scholastica, 172; UW-Stout, 183; and UU-Flint. Additional team scores were Macalaster College, 225; Gustavus Adolphus, 228; UM-Duluth, 236; Bethel College, 250; St. Cloud State, 258; St. Benedict's, 266; and St. Olaf College finished with no score as they did not field a complete team.

Cindy Gallagher led the Lady Pointers with a second place finish and a time of 17:51. Cindy was only nine seconds behind pace winner Kristin Pageus. Cont. on p. 22

Men's X-C

The UWSP men's cross country team battled with the big boys in the Notre Dame Invitational here Friday and came away with a 12th place finish in the rugged blue division.

A strong cross-section of the Golfo Division I, II and III schools in the nation were represented and the Pointers performed well. Bowling Green won the 13 team field with 68 points to edge out host Notre Dame which tallied 77. Rounding out the scoring were, Eastern Michigan, 91; Illinois State, 110; UW-La Crosse, 134; Indiana State-Evansville, 171; Central Michigan, 206; Indiana State (Penn.), 213; Edinboro, 224; Eastern Illinois, 231; North Central, 235; UW-SP, 236; and Saginaw Valley State, 235.

The Pointers were led by senior Lou Agnew who toured the five mile course in a time of 25:14.1 and finished 34th. He was followed by Chris Celichowski, 41st; 25:22.5; Arnie Scharaeder, 45th; 26:22.6; Dennis Kocoton 52nd; 26:24.3; Jim Kowalczyk, 61st; 26:32.1; Steve Bridewell, 66th; 26:37.3; and Kevin Seay, 77th; 26:10.2.

Women's X-C

The UWSP women's cross country team gave its best effort in the Notre Dame Invitational but was unable to capture third place out of 13 teams. The Carlson Invitational that was held Saturday.

St. Thomas won the invitational with a score of 36 points, and were followed by Mankato State, 72; UWSP, 126; Carleton, 139; St. Scholastica, 172; UW-Stout, 183; and UU-Flint. Additional team scores were Macalaster College, 225; Gustavus Adolphus, 228; UM-Duluth, 236; Bethel College, 250; St. Cloud State, 258; St. Benedict's, 266; and St. Olaf College finished with no score as they did not field a complete team.

Cindy Gallagher led the Lady Pointers with a second place finish and a time of 17:51. Cindy was only nine seconds behind pace winner Kristin Pageus. Cont. on p. 22

Women's X-C

The UWSP women's cross country team gave its best effort in the Notre Dame Invitational but was unable to capture third place out of 13 teams. The Carlson Invitational that was held Saturday.

St. Thomas won the invitational with a score of 36 points, and were followed by Mankato State, 72; UWSP, 126; Carleton, 139; St. Scholastica, 172; UW-Stout, 183; and UU-Flint. Additional team scores were Macalaster College, 225; Gustavus Adolphus, 228; UM-Duluth, 236; Bethel College, 250; St. Cloud State, 258; St. Benedict's, 266; and St. Olaf College finished with no score as they did not field a complete team.

Cindy Gallagher led the Lady Pointers with a second place finish and a time of 17:51. Cindy was only nine seconds behind pace winner Kristin Pageus. Cont. on p. 22
Women's X-C, cont.

Jenny Hintz of St. Thomas who finished with a 17:42.

Following Cindy were Tracey Lamers who placed 17th with a time of 18:55; Jan Murray was 19th, 19:53; Sue Hildebrandt, 20:10; Andrea Berceau, 20:23; and Kathy Hirsch, 20:23.

Dave Parker was pleased with every individual effort on the part of his women runners.

"This was our best competition as well as our best team effort of the season. It also stirs with the taste of Seagram's 7 & 7UP. It also stirs with the right taste of Seagram's 7 & diet 7UP. It also stirs with the taste of Seagram's 7 & diet 7UP. It also stirs with the taste of Seagram's 7 & diet 7UP. It also stirs with the taste of Seagram's 7 & diet 7UP. The University Centers TOURNAMENT OCTOBER 20 $1. fee Play begins at 6:30 p.m. university Activities Board
OFFERS STUDENT AID
With our student aid card, college students are entitled to a 15% discount. Pick up your Student Aid Card at your local TRAILWAYS AGENT or call TOLL FREE 1-800-242-2935.
TRAILWAYS STUDENT AID CARD
15% DISCOUNT OFFER
NAME
ADDRESS
UNIVERSITY
AGE
SIGNATURE
Ten lines are assigned to six passengers with Adult List. List to be presented with valid Student Aid Card. All listed passengers must be present for sale to be honored.
TRAILWAYS STUDENT AID CARD
The University Centers
UAB Visual Arts PRESENTS
Buried Treasures Week
For the Halloween Season
First-Rate Thrillers in the Horror/Suspense Vein
Cat People - 6:30
Time After Time - 9:00
Thursday, Oct. 13
Friday, Oct. 14
in the UC-PBR
Both feature Malcom McDowell, Star of Clockwork Orange and Blue Thunder Seats $1.50 Single or double
Cont. from p. 5

cussion followed on fireanns until Tracey Mowley, Vice President, insisted that the discussion was about law enforcement status and "firearms were another issue."

Next week, the Senate will hear the official administration viewpoint on the status of Protective Services.

Senators Greg Gilles, Deb Landon and Todd Barnes were absent from the meeting.

PHOTOGRAPHERS WANTED

The Horizon yearbook is looking for people to help out on the photography staff. Apply at the main lounge Horizon office in the U.C.

ZONTA SCHOLARSHIP

ATTENTION ALL FEMALE PART-TIME STUDENTS IN GOOD STANDING:

- Employed full or part time not eligible for financial aid
- Household income a consideration
- Must be a Portage County resident and a non-traditional student

PICK UP APPLICATION BEGINNING FRI., OCT. 14 AT 103 STUDENT SERVICES DEADLINE OCT. 24

SERVE IN APPALACHIA

December 26, 1983 - January 1, 1984
January 2-8, 1984

NEEDED: Catholic men to work with the Glenmary Home Missioners, a society of Catholic priests and Brothers, serving the poor of Appalachia. Please send information about your winter volunteer program.

Please send information about Glenmary's work with the rural people of Appalachia and the South.

Rev. Emer M. Delahaye Glenmary Home Missioners Room Box 46404 Cincinnati, Ohio 45246

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Age</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Address

City State Zip

Glenmary Home Missioners Room
Box 46404
Cincinnati, Ohio 45246

ZONTA SCHOLARSHIP

ATTENTION ALL FEMALE PART-TIME STUDENTS IN GOOD STANDING:

- Employed full or part time not eligible for financial aid
- Household income a consideration
- Must be a Portage County resident and a non-traditional student

PICK UP APPLICATION BEGINNING FRI., OCT. 14 AT 103 STUDENT SERVICES DEADLINE OCT. 24
this week's highlight

Thursday-Saturday, October 13-15
THE CRUCIBLE—Arthur Miller's dramatic classic comes alive in the Jenkins Theater to open UWSP's '83-'84 theater season. The play examines characters involved in the Salem Witch Trials of 1692, drawing parallels between the false persecution of "witches" and the communist witch hunts that took place when Miller wrote the play in the early years of the McCarthy Era. Students pick up tickets for $1.50 in the Theater Arts box office. All shows start at 8 p.m. Call 346-4100 for further information and to check on ticket availability.

Music
Thursday, October 20
WALLY CLEAVER—Gosh Wally, the band which came out on top in Madison's Battle-of-the-Bands competition will be right back in Stevens Point to play for the Homecoming Dance. Grrr Beave, don't get so excited; Homecoming Dance. Geez.

Friday and Saturday, October 13 and 14
BOSCO AND HINES—These westerly folk musicians liven up the Encore Room this weekend from 9-11:30 p.m.

Tuesday, October 18
THE VIENNA CRAMBER ORCHESTRA—This international-styled ensemble brings its impeccable talent to the Sontdy Theatre for an 8 p.m. performance. Tickets can be purchased at the Arts and Lectures box office for the following prices: general admission—$6; $3 for youths and senior citizens. For further information, call 346-4100.

Student Classifieds

For Rent
FOR RENT: Person to sublet space in the Village Apartment, As soon as possible or for 2nd semester. Price negotiable. 341-2836, ask for Jeff.

For Sale
FOR SALE: 1982 truck, full size pickup. Must sell. 341-9082.

FOR SALE: Photographers needed. New high-tech wizardry. Turn on Channel 29 at 5:30 p.m. Thursday or at 3 p.m. Saturday.

WANTED: Photographers for the HORIZON yearbook. The photo editor is putting together a photography staff. Any help would be appreciated. Apply at the HORIZON Yearbook Office in the Main Lounge of the U.C.

Employment
EMPLOYMENT: Citizens for a Better Environment, Wisconsin's largest environmental research organization, is seeking intelligent, articulate people to assist with area public education and fundraising. C.B.E. has been active in the Midwest since 1971, earning a reputation as an effective public service.
ADVANCEMENT: Non-Traditional Students. This week is National Student Contact Week. You may call 344-0071 to help out on a photographic project. You know what today is? October 23, North Country trail day. Dally will be in the Dining Lounge 318. Don't forget to bring your horse to school, New!! Sunrise farm! Riding lessons are being provided by University Equine Science and the General qualifications of the horse are being advertised. The best of this event is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surraui Hall and 918 Main.

ANNOUNCEMENT: Non-Traditional Students, please call 344-0071 to help out on a photographic project. Qualifications of the horse are being advertised. The best of this event is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society will be having a meeting Mon., Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m. in the Regional Science Building. All entries are due today at the intramural desk. Trophies for 1st and 2nd places will be presented at the Alibi on Monday. A-Team provides special Gay Days function so, let's have a good time.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The UWSP Interfaith Council is sponsoring a panel discus- sion on world hunger. It will be held from noon until 1 p.m. in the Nicollet-Marquette Room of the U.C. on Monday, Oct. 26. The public is invited.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The Xi Sigma Pi Initiation will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 15, in the Communications Room of the U.C. If you want to receive your pin, please call 344-2544.

ANNOUNCEMENT: Write IJC Box 344-0011, Found, please call 344-3374. Lost and found. Lost at Alibi last Thursday, gold chain necklace with pearl and diamond for men's. Keep an eye out only. If found, please call 344-8747. Lost and found. Yellow A.A. backpack. Lost last Wednesday between library, U.C. and dental, please call 345-6692. No questions, I need my glasses.

ANNOUNCEMENT: On Monday, October 17 Dr. John Willett will present "Violence Against Women in History, Literature, and Society" in the Women's Studies Program. Tickets are available at the Green Room of the University Center. Both the performance and screening are scheduled to take place in a 40-minute introduction to the film, and will solicit audience questions for a half-hour afterwards. The program is being sponsored by the UWSP Women's Studies Program and is funded by a grant through the Wisconsin Humanities Council.

ANNOUNCEMENT: You want it! You got it! The best of this event is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surraui Hall and 918 Main.

ANNOUNCEMENT: Do you want to walk—fear no more! Rides will be provided by Professor M. Gigante, Surrauli Hall and 918 Main.

ANNOUNCEMENT: Non-Traditional Students. Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society will be having a meeting Mon., Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m. in the Regional Science Building. All entries are due today at the intramural desk. Trophies for 1st and 2nd places will be presented at the Alibi on Monday. A-Team provides special Gay Days function so, let's have a good time.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society will be having a meeting Mon., Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m. in the Regional Science Building. All entries are due today at the intramural desk. Trophies for 1st and 2nd places will be presented at the Alibi on Monday. A-Team provides special Gay Days function so, let's have a good time.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society will be having a meeting Mon., Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m. in the Regional Science Building. All entries are due today at the intramural desk. Trophies for 1st and 2nd places will be presented at the Alibi on Monday. A-Team provides special Gay Days function so, let's have a good time.

PERSONAL: Genesis live and in concert at the Milwaukee Arena!! Join UAB-Jeremiah at the Milwaukee Arena Thursday, November 10 for a wild and crazy time!! Two, includes tickets and passes. Sign up in the SLAP Office.

PERSONAL: Hey Whinny, can't believe it's been a whole year already! When I think of you, I think of the best days. I have always been and will always be there for you. Love ya, Complication.

PERSONAL: Amybell, it's 7 a.m. Do you know what time it is now? No reason to wake you up. It's time for a trip to the slumber party to get the day started! A-Team provides special Gay Days function so, let's have a good time.

PERSONAL: I'm glad you make the "Big D" soon... If not, I'll just kick your ass! Love you A.C.I.

PERSONAL: Main Attraction Press: Your parties are the best on campus. Looking forward to your Halloween Classic. Let's party till the rows come home.

PERSONAL: DEW! How are you doing? I hope you make the "Big D" soon... If not, I'll just kick your ass! Love you A.C.I.

PERSONAL: Do you want to walk—fear no more! Rides will be provided by Professor M. Gigante, Surrauli Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Jo-jo & Scott! The big day is getting closer—only 52 more days! Can't wait to Surraui Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Hey Jo! Do you know what today is? October 23, North Country trail day. Dally will be in the Dining Lounge 318. Don't forget to bring your horse to school, New!! Sunrise farm! Riding lessons are being provided by University Equine Science and the General qualifications of the horse are being advertised. The best of this event is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Jo-jo & Scott! The big day is getting closer—only 52 more days! Can't wait to Surraui Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.

PERSONAL: Kong Kong! Finally, and most important thing of the day is the lowest price! Please sign up with Professor M. Gigante, Surrauni Hall and 918 Main.
TONITE!!!
6:30 - 9:30
$2.50

HEY! LOOK AT THAT TREE.
THAT'S NOT A TREE HOWARD, THAT'S A RUGBY PLAYER!

YOU COULD WIN... IF WE WERE HAVING A CONTEST!

TAKE ME DRUNK, I'M HOME

THE POINT CLUB HAS DOMINO'S PIZZA!

NEW WAVE ON MY BIRTHDAY, SUNDAYS!

THE RAGE ON WED. OCT 19
1.00 COVER
2.00 PITCHERS
1.00 IMPORTS

Spirits & Dance