Conflicting policies--UW System and ROTC

by Karen Rivedal
Staff Reporter

The current ROTC policy of open discrimination on the basis of homosexual orientation continues to cause debate within the UW system. United Council, the Madison-based lobbying organization for UW students, has clearly outlined its opposition to ROTC practices in its 1986-87 platform statement. As the debate now stands, the issue is not whether or not the ROTC discriminates against homosexuals--no one denies that. The real question is what the university system, in light of its stated policy of non-discrimination, will or will not choose to do about the conflict.

United Council takes a straightforward view of the issue. In brief, its resolution on the matter states that ROTC is in violation of the Wisconsin Fair Employment Law and should either be forced to conform to it or vacate the campus. Bryce Tolefree, President of United Council, has also tried to say regarding the choices that exist:

"What United Council and the university system is dealing with is whether or not we will stand behind the philosophy of non-discrimination for all citizens regardless of sexual preference, or whether we will stand behind the philosophy of supporting ROTC because of the other benefits it provides to the university."

He describes the dilemma facing universities as a "Catch 22" situation. According to Tolefree, proposals advanced by the Military Defense branch of the Federal Government threaten possible retaliatory action in the form of grant withholdings should ROTC be eliminated from campuses. However, it is mainly large doctoral universities such as UW-Madison and campuses with a strong math and engineering emphasis that contract with the Defense Department. According to Dave Staszak, the Graduate Dean and Director of Research at UWSP, this university does not receive any military aid.

There is clear legal support for United Council's allegations. The Wisconsin Fair Employment Law was amended on March 3, 1985 to prohibit discrimination in employment based on sexual orientation. The amendment followed suit with the December 16, 1982 amendment to its official policy, including protection for individuals regardless of sexual preference.

In addition, the 1985-87 UWSP Catalog reads that "UWSP is committed to equal educational opportunity. This means that all campus educational programs and activities are equally available to all students."

These statements seem to support United Council's claim that ROTC is in violation of state law and that the university stands in violation of its own stated policies by supporting ROTC on campus. UWSP's 1985-87 budget allocates $41,517 to the ROTC, along with free rent and utilities. This constitutes approximately 10% of the ROTC budget, with the remainder paid by the federal government.

However, the United States Armed Forces and the university system has equally strong legal backing to counter these charges. Lieutenant Colonel Johnson, the Director of the ROTC branch on our campus, cites national policy, founded on Congressional regulations:

"The United States Army Cont. page 14"

Ed aid package includes higher loan limits

by Debbie Kellein
Editor

Congress has passed and sent to President Reagan legislation that would extend the Higher Education Act of 1965 for five years. The more than $10 billion Higher Education Reauthorization Act of 1986 revises many existing programs and authorizes the creation of a variety of new ones, varying from new aid for the construction and renovation of campus facilities to increased support for graduate education.

Passage of the legislation marked the first time that Congress had made a significant effort to help the growing number of college students who are the "non-traditional" students, who are not only a course or two and are often single parents who work full time, to apply for sub-

Cont. page 4

Vol. 30, No. 8
October 16, 1986
King and Queen candidates Bart Clement and Laura Keys, ham it up during Homecoming parade.
I'm apathetic.

If you're worried that this is suddenly going to take that overused slant of "go ahead, be apathetic, but you'll be sorry," don't be.

I don't think apathy has to mean you like the A-Team and only read the Green and sometimes my future (usually after Mom and Dad call they're no good and I don't have a future again). I care about grades (when girls either too much or too little, depending on how much beer I've cared about at the time).

I care about doing big machine submerged in the Rockies will go 'ping' one day ROTC freedom fighters to get my apathetic brains blown out (or some general 'oops') and we'll all be glowing Roach Moths to mine South American harbors, I do nothing.

The world has grown too big, and perhaps even too unjust, though I seriously feel that it is wrong for a good that didn't do any good and probably won't in '88 either. Even for us tiny people to change it.

I think that's the way most of us are.

I focus instead on my life now. On school and work and beer and television (not at all in that order).

Oh, I'll try to change some parts of my world. Newspapers can do that, even if it just means passing a few people off. Except the close world isn't usually grouped in the apathetic file. Apathy seems to mean "contras" or "violent oppression" or "nuclear holocaust". It doesn't mean "phone bills" or "drunk football players who try to beat you up". True, there are some terrible evils out there in the "real world", but I feel helpless against them and, probably for the most part, I am.

I hear quite a bit of moaning about how we don't care about anything anymore, but it seems pointless to care too much about anything "out there". I prefer my own tight little controllable world. You one where we can actually make things happen (where I can make some RAs angry, and maybe think about what they're supposed to be doing).

I don't do anything. I don't wave boards or banners crying about Ethiopians or South Africans. I don't even send them money. I don't write to my Congressmen asking for more financial aid. I don't even apply for financial aid any more, since the first and only time I did was a bureaucratic hell. They also refused to give me any money. I voted Democrat but that didn't do any good and probably won't in '88 either. Even though I seriously feel that it is wrong for a good country like ours to mine South American harbors, I do nothing.

I would like to see things change, but the big ones are so big it seems futile. The ones like nuclear war and the Russians and conservatism and starving Africans and South America and Ronald.

Next week the Pointer is expanding its Editorial/opinion page. If you have something to say and can say it well enough send to Pointer office, room 117, CAC (we don't guarantee publication).

The Pointer is also looking for serious investigative reporters to research and write controversial stories. Contact Bernie or Dan, X2249.

Bernie Bleske
Senior Editor
Inadequate gym floor finally replaced

It's been 20 years since the Quandell gymnasium has been able to host a new floor. This fall a new $128,000 fence wood floor has been installed. The floor was installed by Frat­ter, Inc. of Milwaukee who sub­mitted the lowest bid to get the job. The funding came from a general purpose revenue fund.

Although the project was not completed by the beginning of the school year, they are on schedule, according to Larry Williams, university relations. This has caused some problems with the education classes being held in the Annex. "The project is not on schedule for the most part. It is unfortunate that it was not completed before class sessions began. However, that is better than using an in­adequate floor. Classes are held outdoors as often as possible, weather permitting. This year was an "un­usual" year weather wise and class work in the gym is held indoors," stated Williams.

The old floor was an artificial material that wasn't performing as it should have. "The old floor was a polyethylene floor that was much less resilient than a wood floor. A hard maple floor such as the new one allows for better bouncing and jumping than the artificial one. It is easier on the ankles and knees of the people who use the floor. It was peck marked and the seams were splitting. It wasn't the appearance of the floor but the performance that forced us to replace it," stated Williams.

Don Amiot, athletic director, also showed some concern about the performance of the floor. "Coaches and players in general were not happy with the floor. Anybody who played basketball or did any activities on the floor could see it wasn't a good floor," stated Amiot.

The problem seems to be solved as illustrated by Wil­liams. "The floor we have now is a superior floor as compared to the former one."

Unification Church circulating petitions here

by Debbie Kellem

Representatives of the Unifi­cation Church, popularly known as the Moonsies, have apparently returned to UWSP for the first time in three years.

At least five people, claiming to be volunteers for an organi­zation called Causa USA, a body funded through a branch of the Unification Church, are asking students to sign a peti­tion supporting a "God-centered morality in America, total free­dom and suppression of commu­nist atheistic ideas."

One of the representatives said that he was going to be used to "dis­tribute info" pertaining to the issues mentioned in the petition, and that this campaign had be­gun about three weeks ago. The representatives have been at the UWSP campus since early last week. Causa USA has a branch headquarters in Mil­waukee.

The petitioners defined Causa USA as an "educational organi­zation" which attempts to build the moral character of the United States but which they or the or­ganization were affiliated with any other group.

One of the volunteers, who said his name was Greg Pederson, stated that Causa USA had worked with legislators, including senators and state senators, in the past but was now speaking to indi­vidual citizens. "We wanted to conduct a more grassroots campaign," he said. "we are going door to door, downtown. But we are going to college campuses be­cause as students, you repre­sent the future of America."

He also refused to say what organization Causa USA is affili­ated with. "I personally am a member of the Unification Church, but I'm doing this as a volunteer," he said.

Causa USA is funded through a for­mel affiliation, Causa Interna­tional, according to the Washington Post, Causa International is a Unification Church organization founded in 1980 and chaired by former South Korean CIA Gelo­net Ho Hi Pak, Reverend Sun Myung Moon's top aide.

Five petitioners are circulat­ing a petition for Causa USA, which was endorsed by a group of 120 -plus groups, including Ut­ termost Church of America, the Christian Businessmen's Association, the National Education Association, the American Association of University Professors, the American Civil Liberties Union, the American Civil Liberties League of Wisconsin, the National Religious Freedom Council, the National Council of Churches, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, the American Society for Ethical Culture, and the American Humanist Association. The petitioners are calling for a "new commitment to the nation's future, a commitment to the principles of freedom, democracy, and human rights that have made our country great."

Another limiting factor re­garding minorities, as with all students, is lack of funds. UWSP offers Undergraduate Minority Retention grants to minority students. These stu­dents must be sophomores, jun­iors or seniors. They must also be Black, Hispanic or Indian and a resident of Wisconsin or Minnesota. The grants are awarded in $2000 increments. Upon graduation Vance feels that there are very few minor­ity students who choose to pursue high technology jobs. To combat this, UWSP offers hands-on ex­perience in the Pre-College pro­grams to get minorities to real­ize what they have available to them. Also during the summer months minority students can get summer jobs or an intern­ship through the UNR. It is the goal of the program to involve one half of the minority stu­dents on campus who are CNA majors, which amounts to ap­proximately 20 students.

Vance felt that communica­tion with the students was the key to recruiting students to attend UWSP. "We are in con­stant communication with our students. We give them up-to­date information regarding fi­nancial aid and the admissions policy. If we are going to be in a student's community we let them know we are in the area and are available if they would like to get in contact with us," stated Vance. Vance also out­lined the process of staff mem­bers keeping in contact with the students once they arrive on campus.

Once on campus the students sometimes have problems of re­tention. "Typically minority students don't stay at this university for all four years. They may transfer to another university in a more urban set­ting or they may leave the university for lack of funds or for other various reasons," stated Vance. However, there are places the students can go for help. "We provide many services for students who are having troubles, whether they are academic or otherwise."

"We can give the students help and guidance from seventh grade to high school graduation."

Jim Vance

With the academic standards regarding admissions possibly going up, Vance felt minority students would be at a disad­vantage. "With a higher admis­sions standard, an environment is developed that mainstream students are more prepared and instructors expect more out of the students. It forces my office to offer more assistance to that high risk population."

Another limiting factor re­garding minorities, as with all students, is lack of funds. UWSP offers Undergraduate Minority Retention grants to minority students. These stu­dents must be sophomores, jun­iors or seniors. They must also be Black, Hispanic or Indian and a resident of Wisconsin or Minnesota. The grants are awarded in $2000 increments. Upon graduation Vance feels that there are very few minor­ity students who choose to pursue high technology jobs. To combat this, UWSP offers hands-on ex­perience in the Pre-College pro­grams to get minorities to real­ize what they have available to them. Also during the summer months minority students can get summer jobs or an intern­ship through the UNR. It is the goal of the program to involve one half of the minority stu­dents on campus who are CNA majors, which amounts to ap­proximately 20 students.
Red Cross sponsors Bloodmobile

University News Release

On October 21, 22, and 23 the Portage County Red Cross will be having their annual blood drive in the UC Wright Lounge. The sign-up for this drive will be Monday, October 13, through Monday, October 20, in either the UC Concourse, the DeBot or Alien Centers.

Debbie Kohlenschmidt, executive director of the Portage Count; Red Cross, is really enthused about this year’s expected turnout. Last year they received 660 donors, 126 donors over their quota.

Education Act cont.

dent aid. It would also encourage colleges to make it easier for such students to take courses by providing child care and other services for them.

Although the Reagan administration has long been asking lawmakers to make deep cuts in student aid programs, Congress has repeatedly rejected these proposals in its extension of the government’s last financial-aid programs.

While the legislation would tighten the rules governing eligibility for student aid, it would allow the size of the maximum Pell Grant for low-income students to grow by $20 annually and would raise the amount of federal aid that students may borrow.

Under the legislation, fresh-may pursue a bachelor of fine arts degree in studio art or visual communication; a 55-credit bachelor of fine arts degree in art education, with teaching certification; or a 44-credit bachelor of art degree which can be combined with a major or minor in another field.

Practical experience is stressed through a year-round internship program, sponsored by the art department, in which students work on campus, in the community, and around the world. This training experience has led to an increase in job placement for graduates.

The new curriculum was recently accredited by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design, joining such schools as Pratt institute and Boston University, in recognition of progressive development in art and design.

MENSA holds qualification session

MENSA News Release

Mensa of Wisconsin is forming a chapter in the Central Wisconsin area and will be holding a qualifying testing session in the Stevens Point area. Mensa is an international organization with only one requirement for membership—a score on a standardized IQ test higher than 98th of the general population. The testing session will be held at the House of Prime, (intersection of Highways 31 and 54 in Plover), on Saturday, November 15, 1986. Anyone interested in joining Mensa is encouraged to attend. For more information or to make a reservation contact Tessa Escamilla-Proctor, P.O. Box 1118, Milwaukee, WI 53201-1118. Phone (414)448-1050. Following the testing session members, guests, and interested persons are invited to meet for lunch at noon. Mensa of Wisconsin elected officers will be present to answer questions and meet potential members. Lunches are moderately priced and cocktails will be available. Reservations for lunch are not required, but an RSVP would be greatly appreciated. For more information contact the Central Wisconsin Coordinator, Ellen Vise Pliska, 700 Woodland Lane, Amherst, WI 54406, Phone (715)584-0060.

She is the most mysterious, independent, beautiful, angry person he has ever met.

He is the first man who has ever gotten close enough to feel the heat of her anger...and her love.
Alcohol conference first of its kind

by Lisa Strack
Staff Reporter

On October 8-10, the UW-System held its Alcohol Education Conference here in Stevens Point.

The conference, which held five separate track sessions, for counselors, specialists who provide employee assistance in alcohol and other drug abuse, administrators who deal with legal liabilities associated with alcohol/drug problems and face questions about cost effectiveness of education, student life personnel, and students, aimed to deal realistically with the alcohol and drug problem both in society at large and within the university system.

The conference itself was in fulfillment of one of the seven recommendations that were established by the UW-System Advisory Committee on Alcohol Education. Robert M. O'Neill, past president of the advisory committee, convened the system-wide committee in October, 1984. Comprised of faculty, academic staff and students, the committee represented each of the fifteen institutions in the UW-system, including the centers and extensions. President O'Neill suggested that the committee's attention be focused on the abuse of alcohol as a major social and health problem in the U.S. He also asked the committee to not simply mandate the problem, but rather to "We, the people." The assumption that abuse is widespread in the university community and in known to interfere with the educational process of students and the job performance of faculty and staff. No facet of our community is immune to the problems and all areas should be addressed," explained O'Neill.

For this reason, the advisory committee sought to provide an appropriate structure for responsible decision making about alcohol.

To provide this appropriate structure, the committee had to first agree to certain assumptions regarding the use of alcohol in the academic community.

These assumptions, which were based on surveys at some UW campuses were:

1) It is apparent that in recent years more people are drinking at a younger age and more heavily with over 90% of students throughout the system using alcohol.

2) It is a widely held perception that more people drink with the desire to get drunk than in the past and that social acceptance of intoxication as a part of normal drinking behavior encourages the abuse of alcohol.

3) That students bring their attitudes toward drinking behavior with them to college.

4) That problems with alcohol abuse among faculty and staff have broad implications since they have an impact on the university as a whole.

5) That socially acceptable behavior is not instinctive but learned.

After devoting considerable time to gathering data and discussing various aspects of the study with personnel on the individual campuses, the committee found deep levels of concern about alcohol abuse on all campuses and well-designed programs for alcohol education and referral for students at many.

Unfortunately, when it came to alcohol problems among faculty and staff, little more than "pass programs" were found. Despite a state mandate in place for more than a decade, employee assistance for faculty and staff was often only a small fraction of someone's already overloaded job description. In many cases, no specific funding allocations existed for employee assistance programs at all.

Along with the employee assistance problem, the committee also found frustration and confusion on the part of campus administrators in regard to the alcoholic beverage industry's marketing policies. "There is a general feeling that some campuses may have unwittingly sold out for monetary support for athletic programs and other campus activities by permitting themselves to become battlegrounds for alcoholic beverage marketing competition. Altermative dependence on funding provided by the alcoholic beverage industry have not been seriously addressed," committee members explained.

In order to seriously address these problem issues, the advisory committee presented seven recommendations that expressed the opinion that the most effective ways to deal with the issues of alcohol use in the university community are educational and supportive in nature, designed to effect behavioral and attitudinal change.

Those attending the Alcohol Education Conference also adopted this same option. The conference's keynote speaker, Thomas Goodale, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs at the University of Denver for the past five years, explained that we needn't control students and faculty who have alcohol problems but work with them and guide them through our own example.

Stuart Whipple, UWSP's Alcohol Education Coordinator who was in charge of arrangements for the conference, agreed with Goodale. "Rather than impose a parental expectation on those persons with an alcohol problem, we need to work in a cooperative, supportive, and challenging fashion with expectation that adult behavior." Whipple went on to explain that by working cooperatively with people, UWSP has been in a position to deal with its alcohol problem. "UWSP has become the national leader in addressing ways of helping its students and staff who are abusers of alcohol and other drugs."

"Alcohol and drug abuse in the university community is a dramatic problem that won't change automatically. Awareness is, however, being raised, and out of awareness we get reactions that may, in the long run, also encourage constructive responses within the larger society," concluded Whipple.

---

If you're worried about cancer, remember this.
Wherever you are, if you want to talk to us about cancer, call us. We're here to help you.

2,500,000 people fighting cancer.

THANKS

Thanks to everyone who helped make Homecoming '86 a success!

It was HOT!}

UAB Homecoming

Want to move up quickly?

- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
- Want to move up quickly?
The Editor:

Yes, it was your turn to get blamed by a full-page editorial. In the last month our paper's editors have chosen to cut down on our Nationally renowned Resident Hall program and the dedicated students, RA's, and AD's who are the main reason our hall is a known campus leader who is responsible in some capacity for every event (whether educational or entertaining) that occurs on campus. The Student Government Association is pulling the knife out of its back.

Dan Dietrich, why don't you state the real reason why you have a full page opportunity to slamblat Lisa Thiel and SGA. Is it not that you are sure that during the recent SGA Finance Committee budget revision hearings the Pointer requested for 10 paid staff reporters in addition to your present paid positions did not make the committee's recommendation list to the SGA Senate? Was this not the real reason why you decided to use your power of the student's press to make a false so called defamatory statement against students? WHAT HAPPENED TO THE 2ND AMENDMENT? A R.A. IS NOT THE KNIGHT FOR A COMPUTER TO BE shared between the Pointer and WFFPI? This was the small oversight you forgot to add to your report which does not include your $51,000.00. Your report on a computer is exactly what eliminated a large portion of your previous operating budget which went to the Stetson Point Journal for their printing services.

You chose to use misrepresentations and lies to serve your own concerns. Does this mean that any student who has not been granted every penny they request has his budget segregated fees will get a full page or two per total page at a cost of $1.25 per page? The dollar requests on the student activity segregated fees are expected to increase and the cost almost doubles the current cost.

The total dollar requests on the student's activity segregated fees greatly exceeds the amount of money available for allocation. It doesn't take a genius to figure out that some program and even requests can be funded and that others can be partially funded. But we are certain that every student who pays into the fund can no longer support their club on being their funding base. This means some very tough decisions have to be made by students on the SGA Finance Committee and 26 member Senate. These decisions are based on goals which look at educational, cultural, and entertainment value, number of students affected, reviewed of previous performance, and allocation spending, to name a few.

As members of SGA explained to you and your editor Deb Kleinon, the revisions serve in part to support unexpected costs which have incurred since annual budget allocations will be covered, i.e., technical services increase. It is not for organizations to come and request money for things that have already been reviewed and denied by the previous Senate. The staff reporter request was considered last year and denied.

Alan, where are your journalistic ethics? Most good journalists leave the leaks out; why did you decide to put one out? Not to mention you look so called quote from a friendly conversation in the hallway. I had no idea I was getting interviewed. If you had to pass along some chance you might find it a sad thing. You apologized to me; to those offended I apologize. To you Dan, I'm annoyed at your methods.

Deb are you approving these lies in hope of gaining support? Have you been writing people so they write back or is their something you need to know they read your words? This is a poor way to increase circulation. This is not consistent, relevant, factual, timely stories about pressing issues and interesting topics or people will not only improve the campus reputation of the Pointer, but also will attract more quality writers to your staff.

Why are you not going to the students and asking them what topics and issues they would like to read and become informed about? I've enclosed a two page list I wrote in the future to see 1 or 2 articles that could enliven the common real creators of the policy, social, economical, environmental, and political problems that are the causes of so many injustices of students' rights and bank accounts.

Sincerely,

Lisa Thiel
SGA President 1986-87

Editor's note: Lisa, the figures, as well as your actions, speak for themselves. You continue to disregard the true function of ethics: How do you warrant your acceptance of SGA salary increases? You also overlook, or possibly do not understand, the purpose of an editorial.

Editorials present opinions. Editorialists offer free comment upon or offer criticism towards any issue, whether it be the conduct of certain student leaders or the price of graph paper.

Readers are not expected to agree with all views presented; they are, however, encouraged to take action on the issue addressed by the writer.

When you're ready to reply to last week's editorial, please drop me a line once again. I'll remind you that letters should not exceed a maximum of 200 words.

Pike gets mail

To the Editor:

This letter is written in response to the article by Jon Pike entitled "UAB Concerts. Needs a change of perspective." Pike is said to find it unfortunate that UAB Concerts programs almost exclusively with commercial acts. Although he seems to find this arrangement unsavory, UAB Concerts exists for the exclusive purpose of presenting the most type of music. He, as well as many others, wants nearly all of the team members involved with Alternative Sounds. In addition, the article Pike is viewed as a report on UAB Concerts, a distinctly different area of the University Activities Board than Alternative Sounds.

I, in regards to the "facts", Mr. Pike has a lot to discover about Alternative Sounds. In order to keep this letter as brief as possible, I will again (this time publicly) invite a member of the Pointer staff to do an article on Alternative Sounds and talk with me and find out what it is we're trying to achieve. Jon, sure you have enough sense to realize this: I Alternative sounds has only sponsored two events (besides TGIF) this semester (two third coming up soon). Your article made it seem as though we have had hundreds of events staged already! Give us an opportunity to get going, will you? 2) More importantly, we have not sponsored strictly folk music thus far, as you erroneously indicated in your article. Granted, Jan Marcs is folk (and profoundly so). However, I'm sure that as a new-age artist, Preston Reed would be outبان at the indication that he folk. (I saw you at the show, Jon, so you can't claim unfamiliarity with his music). Considering your affiliation with WWSP, I think your knowledge of the differentiation between genres within the music industry would be of fine tuning. I also suspect a conflict of interest in your article intended to focus on UAB. While you primarily downplay UAB's role in the concert area as you put your own personal spin on the back, you lose credibility as a journalist. I think an example of irresponsible reporting.

Bob Ludeman
Program Coordinator
UAB Alternative Sounds

---------

Thiel talks back

Wanted: Ambitious, Conscientious Student

To MARKET: OUTSTANDING NUTRITIONAL PRODUCTS

Generous Income
Excellent Benefits

ACT NOW! CALL JACK PORTER 344-8553
PORTER PARTNERS IN WELLNESS

MEXICAN

We'd be proud to serve you south of the Rio Grande.

All day Monday its Mexican food day at SentryWorld's Sport Plate restaurant.

Well serve up grande portions of a daily special featuring tamales, enchiladas, burritos, tacos and fajitas. Expect a feast with chips and salsas, guacamole, refried beans and the best Mexican beer and margaritas are available to round out your meal.

So next Monday, take a quick trip south of the border. Hot foot it over to SentryWorld.

Page 6 October 16, 1986

Tuesday Is Taco Tuesday

at Partner's Pub

2 Tacos - $9.99
New Margaritas - $1.00 New Mexican Beer - $1.00
6 P.M. - 9 P.M.

Tonight - "The Singing Machine"
EXPERIENCE THE CARIBBEAN THIS WINTER

Choose Your Cruise — Free Airfare!

Jan. 10-17 from Madison

March 15-22 from Madison

Prices start at: $999.00 per person double occ.

PUERTO PLATA, ST. THOMAS, SAN JUAN AND NASSAU

M/S SOUTHWARD

If you’ve never cruised the Caribbean, you’re going to love this NCL all-time best seller.

One of the world’s 10 best beaches

Through beautiful seas under a warm tropical sun, you’ll cruise some 2,000 miles to the wonderful beaches and amber jewelry of Puerto Plata in the Dominican Republic. To the U.S. Virgin Island of St. Thomas, where pirate hideaways now house millions of dollars of duty-free goods. Magens Bay, one of the world’s 10 most beautiful beaches, is a short taxi ride from the harbor.

Then to lively San Juan, Spanish-influenced capital of Puerto Rico, where nightlife tours are easy to arrange and most every hotel has a casino. And finally to Nassau, playground of the Bahamas.

SAVE $$$ HUNDREDS

Per Double

Duty-free shopping, sun and sports

At sea, you can be lazy and enjoy a swimming pool and spacious decks in the sun and shade. For a change of pace, browse through the duty-free shop, relax in the card room and library, maybe take in a popular film in the luxurious theater.

Bring the coupon below to the UNIVERSITY TRAVEL SERVICE for more information about our winter cruises or call toll free — 1 (800) 221-4553. Then enjoy the restoring influence of sea, sun, open air and what amounts to an extra day of paid vacation.

To take advantage of this offer, complete this coupon and give it to the University Travel Service.

Name

Address

City State Zip

---
Bye-bye Belt's (for now) by Brenda Bergell

What Vince Lombardi was to the Packers, what Kansas was to Dorothy, the sweatband to Jim McMahon, or tap shoes to Fred Astaire, that's what Belt's Soft Serve cream is to Stevens Point, Wisconsin. And if not original (no covers) and the college audiences either on another season. But Dorothy, the sweatband tapes from their mark.

The following months, an animated duo give Concerted efforts radio stations across America. Who made it, "adds Joyce, shaking her magnetic lenses. The collection includes 15 microphone of various American-Caribbean stones ranging from miniscule plants to unknown,” said Joyce. It was a syndicated radio show. by seeing what charge.

For the year, the band could have received BMI Awards to Student Composers. The context is designed to encourage young composers in the creation of concert music and, through cash prizes, to aid in continuing their musical education.

The prizes, which vary from $500 to $2,500, are awarded at the discretion of the judging panel. To date, 314 students, ranging in age from 8 to 38, have received BMI awards. In all categories, the composition is open to students who are citizens of the United States, Canada, or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere including North, Central and South America, except for Cuba.

Broadcast Music, Inc. is the largest music rights organization in the world, representing over 100,000 composers and publishers. More than 50 percent of the music played on American radio and television in the past year is licensed by BMI. Each year BMI sponsors a variety of workshops and seminars designed to encourage participation in all areas of music.

Compositions, which are considered over two categories, are submitted to a panel of judges. This year’s judging panel included BMI President and CEO Frances W Preston announced Thursday, October 6, at 4:30 p.m. on Fridays; 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays; and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

The 36th annual Broadcast Music, Inc. Awards to Student Composers competition will be continued in the spring of 1986. The winners will be announced in the March issue of Billboard. The competition is open to young composers in the United States and Canada, and is sponsored by the BMI Foundation, which is the educational and charitable arm of BMI.

The prizes, which vary from $500 to $2,500, are awarded at the discretion of the judging panel. To date, 314 students, ranging in age from 8 to 38, have received BMI awards. In all categories, the competition is open to students who are citizens of the United States, Canada, or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere including North, Central and South America, except for Cuba.

The prizes, which vary from $500 to $2,500, are awarded at the discretion of the judging panel. To date, 314 students, ranging in age from 8 to 38, have received BMI awards. In all categories, the competition is open to students who are citizens of the United States, Canada, or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere including North, Central and South America, except for Cuba.
Eventually even Richard left. But, he never stopped working. Throughout the years, he recorded with former Fairport Convention members, other various folk rock artists, and his new wife, Linda. Probably one reason why he's never achieved popularity is his personal style. You see, Richard never believed that playing as many notes as you can per measure is what constitutes good guitar playing. In fact, he almost seems to play as few notes as possible, placing them side by side so carefully. Like last year's LP Across A Crowded Room, Dangerous Adventures shows that Richard is comfortable in many styles—folk, country, rock'n'roll, and minimalism. Also, like last year's album, this disk's lyrics explore the dark side of love and sex. It seems like Richard will never quite get over Linda. Well, Polydor probably won't give his record the attention it deserves and fame will probably still elude his grasp. Speaking as a fan, it's nice to know he still cares about consistently churning out a quality product.

Quotations

"Gold is a wonderful thing! Whoever possesses it should be master of everything he desires. With gold one can get souls into heaven."
—Christopher Columbus, in The Worldly Philosophers

"I am not a Marxist."
—Karl Marx, in The Worldly Philosophers

"An advanced nation is one that has flowered toilet paper." —Leon Lewis, in English 284

"In philosophy, we're not concerned with facts."
—Richard Feldman, in Philosophy 284

"People shouldn't have a shred of life. People should be as beautiful at 65 as they were at 15. But they aren't, and you know that and I know that."
—William Kelley, in Communication 282

Belt's, cont.

But the Belts found out that what people want is one thing, and what they need when selling the best you call for it. No air in it and keep it the berttle content to only 3% -4% - the ice cream cone (that's more than one pound of soft serve) for $1.25. Only Belt's. With ice cream cones like that, it's no wonder Belt's Belt's Soft Serve went through 16,716 gallons of soft serve in less than six approximately a full LP's length.

These lucky enough to have heard Belt's live single known as "Train Kept 'a Rollin' / Bald-Headed Woman" know what they're about. The Shake Rag record chart sold over 60,000 copies in its first pressing. Some records of the '50s, dripping with reverberations and grooves to be reckoned with. Imagine the simplicity of the Cramps, with the indifference of the late Gun Club (without pierced appendages), and the heart of the original Blasters. Slow things down a bit and you get the idea.

Unfortunately, the lineup for the live stuff is not listed, but past Panther Burners have included ex-Fairport guitarist, hand, and various Gun Clubbers, so who knows? Tav's idea of rock and roll is simple, cut a groove and dig it. "Jump Bait" is the perfect example. Over 10 minutes long, it brings to mind Creedence's version of the Bo Diddley Through Grapevine. "Fairway" is about runaway Tav alerting the listener, "Panther men and Panther women, this is the Invisible Empire, you look so right, in your jumpsuit tonight."

Another example of "Hairdresser Underdog." Sort of a "Guitar Wight" chapter 2, Tav goes on and on...

"I took my baby to the hairdresser school. I was jumped, worked over hairdresser hoodoo. I took my baby to the hairdresser lady and she said 'I can't dress this woman.'"

"Sure can grease her hairdresser hoodoo all around hairdresser underground."

"Don't get the wrong idea, Tav has his fun, but he knows evil is all around. "Starkeweather" is about serial-murderer Charlie-you-know-who and his girlfriend (the one he wanted to kill off in his last hit when they got to the chair). Tav says they're waiting in the cornfields checking the edge of fields, but swatting off the wait and watching. Take note. "Memphis River Blues" is a two-heart-wrenching minutes of bliss of blues about 'al muddy, big and wide and the poor sap's girl on the other side."

Well, no high tech production disc numbers here, just Tav telling it like he seen it.

Newly formed, instead of supporting one of America's global-death corporations (which might just get you killed anyway) go to a record store that sells independent and imported record labels. Look for the Shake Rag LP. At least you tried to open your mind to new musical ideas.

If you are really ambitious and write Tav himself, c/o Penni Records, 545 Princeton, Memphis, Tenn. 38112.

---

Questions

1. What is the main theme of the text?
2. Who are the main subjects discussed in the text?
3. What is the significance of the phrase "Gold is a wonderful thing!" in the context of the text?
4. What are the characteristics of Tav's guitar playing style?
5. What are the main events included in the text about the Shake Rag record chart?
6. What are the themes explored in Tav's song "Jump Bait"?
7. What is the significance of "Fairway" in the context of Tav's music?
8. How does Tav describe his relationship with the hairdresser?
THE RELATIONSHIP, FOR ALL PRACTICAL PURPOSES, IS PRETTY MUCH OVER WHEN BILL SHOWS JENNY WHAT HIS HAIR LOOKS LIKE AFTER WEARING A HAT ALL DAY.

by Kyle White

PORDNORSKI
AT LARGE

One of the year's best films.
Haunting and creepy. -- George Sidel, THE MAY TRIBUNE

"Brilliant!" -- Martin Beck, THE BOSTON SYNDICATE

"William Hurt's sexual chemistry produces the beat" -- Marlee Matlin's debut
IN A VICTORY -- Bruce Sillman, PLAYBOY MAGAZINE

"One of the Best Films of 1986...
The most extraordinary love story in many years...Richard and profundly moving." -- Michael Voiles, SMACK MAGAZINE

NOW PLAYING AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

WILLIAM HURT • MARLEE MATLIN
PAR ent Pictu res PRESENTS • A PARENT MIfCTURe PRESENTATION
1. A RANDA RISNER FILM • CHILDREN OF A LESSER GOD • CHER • PETER LAWRENCE • PHILIP BOSCO
Sponsored by the CHERRY AWARD and MARLEE MATLIN. Based on the Stage Play by MARLENE DIETFF. Produced by RITA SIGROUN and PATRICK PETER. Directed by RANDA RISNER.
"Stranger Than Paradise" by Kmart

Rating 1/2

by Ed Tergy
Staff Reporter

"Stranger Than Paradise" is an offbeat, low-budget, deadpan comedy. It’s the kind of movie that might not make you laugh, but it will make you smile. It is also unlike any movie I have ever seen.

The most striking feature of "Stranger Than Paradise" is the way that it was made. Most films today have very competent, and sometimes quite sophisticated, editing. "Stranger Than Paradise" is a black-and-white film with practically no editing whatsoever.

Editing is usually taken for granted. Movies, TV shows, and televised sporting events often use several different cameras and shoot the same scene from several angles. For example, the shower scene in "Psycho," which lasts about one minute, contains over 40 different shots, all edited together.

"Stranger Than Paradise" was shot with only one camera. Each scene is composed of one long, continuous shot. The scenes range in length from less than five seconds to several minutes. The screen goes black for about two seconds between each scene. The result is something which you can call a cede between a slide show and a move.

"Stranger Than Paradise" is composed of three different segments, each with its own title: "The New World," "One Year Later," and "The New World." "The New World" takes place in New York. Willie and Eddie are two deadbeats and Eva is Willie’s cousin from Hungary. The best scenes are when Willie tries to explain things like TV dinners and football to Eva. At the end of "The New World," Eva leaves for Cleveland, to stay with her mother.

"One Year Later" starts when Willie and Eddie win $800 while cheating in a poker game. They decide to drive to Cleveland to see Eva. This may be the best of the three parts, with Willie trying to explain that even though he’s Hungarian, he’s still as American as Eddie. Another great scene takes place on a railroad yard in Cleveland. While suffering from boredom, Eddie says to Willie, "You come to someplace new and everything looks the same.

The third segment, "Paradise," begins after Willie and Eddie have left Cleveland. They decide to go back and get Eva and go to Florida. While in Florida, they lose their money and then get it back. They also get split up, but not the way they expected.

"Stranger Than Paradise" was well-made, written, and directed by Jim Jarmusch. "Dem By Law" is one of the best films awarded at the Cannes Film Festival in France last year. It is a fresh and original movie with an unknown cast (John Lurie, Easter Baill, and Richard Edson). Seeing "Stranger Than Paradise" is a unique experience. Because of the way the film was shot, it can be rather slow moving at times. But if you’re interested in something original, and if you’re patient, "Stranger Than Paradise" will be a great experience. If anything, you’ll never forget screaming, "I put a spell on you."

Bestsellers

Campus Paperback Bestsell-

7. The Road Less Travelled, by M. Scott Peck, (Touchstone, $8.95). Psychological and spiritual inspiration by a psychiatrist.

9. The House of the Spirits, by Isabel Allende. (Bantam, $4.50). Turbulent life of a Chilean family.

Compiled by The Chronicle of Higher Education from information supplied by college stores throughout the country, September 15, 1985.

New & Recommended

The Accidental Tourist, by Anne Tyler. (Berkley, $4.45). Odd domestic life of a travel writer.

Mugget, by John Fowles. (NAL/Signet, $4.95). Dazzling erotic tale of obsession and desire, madness and murder.

Guide to American Graduate Schools, by David D. Dougherty. (Penguin, $4.95). First comprehensive guide to graduate and professional study in the U.S. A personal selection of Jerry Showalter, Newcomb Hall Book store.

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS/NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGE STORES

"Possession" Rating 1/2

by Ed Tergy
Staff Reporter

"Possession" is a 1982-year-old film from France and West Germany that deals with the subject of madness. Despite the poster, which makes it look like a cheap Hollywood thriller, "Possession" has a certain European sophistication which saves it from being a total waste of time.

When "Possession" was re-released in Europe in 1981, it had a running time of 123 minutes. The American version is only 96 minutes long. It’s not surprising that audiences have to guess about things like this.

To describe "Possession" as confusing would be an understatement. It starts with a married couple who are having sexual difficulties. When the husband finds out that his wife is having an affair, he has a nervous breakdown. When he is released three or four weeks later, he goes back to his wife and tells her, "I’m taking over here." He physically and emotionally causes her to the point where she also has a nervous breakdown and doesn’t know about you, but one nervous breakdown per movie is enough.

The wife, played by Isabel Adjani ("Blue Velvet"), her husband, she batters him, she batters her, her husband batters her, he goes back into the kitchen. He looks at the electric knife, turns on the knife, and starts to carve. The director (Andrei Zulawski) is obviously trying to show us that the husband’s madness and the wife’s madness are related. But the characters are so poorly developed that it’s impossible to understand them, much less care for them.

The wife breaks off relations with her husband and her lover. She gets an apartment of her own and builds a man. That’s right, a man. I have no idea how she made the monster or why she made it; I’m not even sure if the director knows. This is where "Possession" really lost it for me.

I suspect that the monster is meant to be a surrealistic representation of the wife’s husband, or man in general. Surrealism is usually characterized by subconscious or irrational symbols. Dreams are often full of surrealistic images. It could be that the whole movie is one big nightmare. But there is something seriously wrong with a film when the audience has to guess about things like this.

"Possession" seems cold and detached from its characters. Perhaps, part of the reason is because over one-third of the original European version was cut when the film was re-released in America. Perhaps the movie was supposed to be more surrealistic, but the distributor figured that American audiences wouldn’t understand it. Perhaps this film was never that good to begin with. All I know is that I saw it was not a good movie.
PRESENT THE SECOND ANNUAL GREAT ALBUM TOSS

Saturday, October 18
2:00 pm at the football practice field behind Quant

Registration is 90° at the 90 FM studios during business hours, the U. C. Concourse on Friday, October 17, and Rocky Rococo's, 433 Division.

Rocky Rococo pizzas awarded for the longest throws in both Men's and Women's divisions.
★ First Prize: 6 large pizzas
Second Prize: 3 large pizzas
Third Prize: 2 large pizzas

Rain date: Sunday, October 19
Poison: Controlled chaos?

by Steven Gelke
Staff Reporter

was a personal grudge the road manager had against us. This grudge (John Vassilou had led into his thinking of us. He pushed us far, cutting away at our show. First of all we weren't allowed to use this outfit, then we couldn't use that, then we got half the sound, half the lights. The nicer we get, the more they took away. You know what I'm saying? We weren't allowed to use a dressing room, not allowed to be in before the show (having to change in their tour bus); we would go onstage and leave immediately after the show.

Now, to me, this sounded pretty drastic. There must have been good reason for this. What were the grounds for this treatment?

"I think with him (Vassilou), it was more of a jealous thing. I'm not scared to say that. He was jealous of our band, for whatever reason. He used to say 'girls with my name marked on their passes, you don't touch them.' You can't mark someone. The fans, aren't branded like cattle. You've got to treat them like people. I think that's why he started to get upset.

"It's like what I was saying to Riki and the guys. Of course the headlining act isn't going to let the opening group do certain things, but I think the opening act is there to warmup the crowd. Why not let them do their thing?"

(No note: Poison had only one date left with Quiet Riot as support. The next night's show only drew 200 people, without Poison. The cyanide kids are heading for Japan and the UK, returning to the Midwest in early spring.)

Poison's show Friday was, as reviewed, limited in time and freedom. I wondered out loud what type of show the ticket-buyer would be in for as Poison

Poison lead singer Bret Michaels.

BUFFY'S
Hey--
UWSP Students

Sun.-Wed. $2.25 Pitchers

Other Nightly Specials:
Sun.-All bar brand mixers and cans of domestic beer—75¢
Tues.—Free popcorn and Bud Card Night
Thurs.—Rugby Happy Hour*
Fri.—Sisseli Happy Hour*
Sat.—Rugby & Sisseli Happy Hour 4-7

*Happy Hour—$3.00 at the door from 7-10

ONLY picture drivers license or Wis. ID's will be accepted!

DJ's DONUT SHOP
New In Stevens Point
Serving Fresh Ground Coffee
— Donuts Baked Fresh Daily —

FREE DELIVERY
Located on Church & Michigan St.
Next To Shopko South
Open 6 A.M. — 7 Days A Week

R-C INSTALLATION
From basic to very high end custom installations available in both security and car stereo.
Affiliated With Salon 1 Audio
Ph. (715) 652-2973 Wis. Rapids

FIGHT CANCER.
EAT YOUR VEGETABLES.

There's a strong evidence your greengrocer has access to cancer protective you won't find in any doctor's office. Like broccoli, peaches, spinach, tomatoes, citrus fruits and various other types of fruits and vegetables. They may help reduce the risk of some forms of cancer.

Write for more information.

American Cancer Society
A few questions about Point’s ROTC

Answered by Assistant Professor of Military Science, Steven Miller

What is the philosophy of ROTC?
Miller: Army ROTC is the primary source of junior officers for the Total Army—the Regular Army, the Army National Guard, and the Army Reserve. As such, our job is to train these future leaders of the United States Army.

What arrangement or obligations do ROTC have with the state that allows them to keep office space here?
Miller: In June 1967, officials of UWSP (then Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point) petitioned the United States Army to establish and maintain a unit of the Army Reserve Officers’ Training Corps at the university. The agreement specifies that a Department of Military Science would be established as an integral academic and administrative department of the university.

How long has the ROTC office been here?
Miller: The Department of Military Science was established and became functional in 1968.

Does the ROTC pay for the office space in the UWSP SCS? If so, how much? If not, why?
Miller: Under the contractual agreement, the university has agreed to make available to the Department of Military Science the necessary classrooms, administrative offices, storage space, and other required facilities in a fair and equitable manner in comparison with other administrative departments of the university.

Briefly, what has been the history of ROTC offices on college campuses. What might that say about the view (from students) of the military?
Miller: ROTC as we know it today was established in 1968. Since that time almost half a million Army officers have earned commissions through ROTC. Currently, Army ROTC programs are part of 1,450 campuses nationwide. At the national level, the number of commissions conferred has increased thirty percent from 1980 to 1985. It is apparent that service to the nation as an Army officer is generally viewed by students as an honorable profession.

What changes have you noticed in funding for the ROTC (specifies) since Ronald Reagan became president?
Miller: Funding at both the national and local level has been adequate enough to enable the job to be accomplished. Graham Rudman has had and is expected to continue to have its impact.

What has been the response from administrators to your office?
Miller: Excellent! What has been the student response to your office?
Miller: Excellent! Current total enrollment is up significantly over the past several lower division course enrollment but approximately doubled over last year.

How many students are enrolled in the ROTC nationally? In Wisconsin? In Stevens Point? (all at the university level)

Miller: During School Year 1985-86, approximately 61,300 college students were enrolled in ROTC courses. Of these, courses for the current school year at UWSP exceeded 300. Wisconsin enrollments are not available.

What contract does the ROTC have with UWSP students that are enrolled in the programs?
Miller: ROTC courses are available to all students enrolled at the university. There is no commitment or obligation to enroll. Should the student be qualified to pursue an Army commission, he/she then voluntarily initiates an agreement with the Department of the Army to pursue the required course of study and to accept a commission at the satisfactory conclusion of their studies.

What percentage of ROTC members continue on with military careers?
Miller: Of the current enrollment in the Department, approximately 20 percent will likely continue in their goal to obtain a commission in the United States Army, while the remainder will choose other careers and professions. The majority of those commissioned receiving a commission will also pursue other careers while serving with the Army National Guard or U.S. Army Reserves. Those commissioned who are selected for Army active duty reserve will serve two to six years of active duty followed by active or inactive affiliation with the Reserve component. Some, of course, will decide to continue the Army as a career. That number is impossible to predict.

What professions do the majority of ROTC graduates enter?
Miller: Since approximately 75 percent of the students completing the ROTC program will serve in the National Guard or Army Reserve, their professions would mirror those of the general student body graduating from the university. Those students selecting active duty in the Army would serve from two to four years. At that time all will make a career decision—continue in the active Army or seek other career opportunities.

What do you perceive as being the differences between students now and students in the ’60s and ’70s?
Miller: From reports in the national media, it seems that students are more career-oriented today. Do you as students have a responsibility to the nation?
Miller: That’s a matter of personal choice, values, and conviction.

Should we be patriotic?
Miller: Patriotism is a personal feeling and decision that traverses a wide continuum of values.

What do you feel are the ‘major misconceptions’ of UWSP students about ROTC or military careers?
Miller: Seemingly two: 1) Everyone in the Army fights against peace and 2) ROTC makes national policy. Both are so off track it’s saddening.

The statement ‘Painter ROTTC Contrast’ appeared in a bathroom stall on this campus. What is your response?
Miller: People should refrain from defacing university property.

Is it possible to promote peace through a philosophy that appears to be based on military action? If so, how?
Miller: National policy is made by our elected representatives, not by ROTC.

Questions from an opponent of the ROTC: ‘How can you promote peace as a major idea when you’re promoting militarization, manipulation, and control?’
Miller: There is no man or woman in the country today more desirous of peace than those in military service. Perhaps these conceptual substitutions are more appropriate: teamwork, managerial skills, leadership.

Is it possible to come up with any proof for the implied assertion that an individual’s sexual orientation makes him or her any less capable of serving and loyally to one’s country? He did state that ROTC does not make national policy—merely it follows the regulations set down for it by the nation.

In addition to national policy, a 1983 Attorney General’s opinion held that ROTC programs are not covered by the laws of Wisconsin that outlaw homosexual discrimination. The Attorney General found that on the basis of ROTC’s status as a branch of the military, federal regulations in this case take precedent over state laws. Therefore, the university’s actions are within the law as most recently interpreted.

Cont. next page
This ruling does not obligate a university to include an ROTC program however. It also re- mains within the power of the university to eliminate an exist- ing one. However, since 1967, when officials of UWSP petitioned the United States Army to establish a unit of the ROTC, it has been a UWSP policy to support the organization. UWSP Chancellor Philip Mar- shall maintains his innocence in the matter: "I wasn't the one who invited the Army to join the campus. The argument is that it is in the best interests of the American public to maintain civilian con- trol over the Army. To do that most effectively, you want the Army officers educated in civil- ian controlled institutions." The university maintains a separation between the educa- tional opportunities offered by ROTC and the employment option with the Army that is also open to students. Any stu- dent can take any class offered in the Military Science Depart- ment without incurring a mili- tary obligation. Summer camp, basic camp, advanced camp, and the scholarship programs are not open to homosexuals be- cause these require a contract between the individual and the federal government promising military service after school. It can be argued that the offering of scholarships brings the employment factor into the realm of the university and that the conditions placed on the re- ceipt of one fosters homosexual discrimination.

Marshall, however, contends that, "ROTC scholarships are in an Army administered program. There's no way that we could force the Army to give a schol- arship to someone that they don't want to give it to. That hasn't denied the student admission to a program on our campus. Homosexuals do have equality of opportunity on cam- pus. What they can't do is be- come a member of the Army and we don't set those stand- ards." Proving that the university is within legal limits set by national policy does not, however, re- solve the basic compromising of principles that United Council seen in the university's toler- ance of a discriminatory organi- zation on campus. Telofree's comments concern- ing United Council's resolution state: "United Council has always supported the idea of non-dis- crimination for any individual on any basis. We think that the (UW Board of) Regents should make an attempt to enforce the state's non-discrimination law. We also believe that we should move further to change the fed- eral outlook on homosexuality and the ROTC." In other words, an effort to resolve discrimination could lead to further injustice. ROTC is an educational opportunity and a source of financial aid that many students may wish to remain available.

When confronted with this question of principles and the suggestion to remove ROTC as a solution, Marshall contends, "We could, but who loses? If we say that unless you let ho- mosexuals join the Army, we won't let you on campus, then you're denying opportunity to all the other people who may want that option."

Both United Council and the UW Board of Regents recognize the deeper root of this issue. The problem is federal regulat- ions and these are what must be changed to affect a solution. The ability of a single individu- al to change national policy is limited, but by utilizing the re- sources of elected representa- tives, change is possible.

Marshall remarks on this option: "I don't see any way that the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point is going to change the pol- icy of the Defense Department. That's going to have to come from Congress. The way we got into this situation was through lobbying of the state Legislature. Now we have changed the laws of the state of Wisconsin. The next step is to change the laws of the United States."
Share Your Health
Give Blood

BLOOD MOBILE
Tuesday, Oct. 21, Wednesday, Oct. 22, Thursday, Oct. 23
University Center
Wright Lounge

Sign up in the University Concourse
Monday, Oct. 13 - Monday, Oct. 20
(Reservations are greatly appreciated)

Sign up sheets also available at ALLEN and DEBOT Centers

American Red Cross
UWSP INTRAMURALS

INTRAMURAL DESK HOURS:
Monday-Thursday 10:00 A.M.-11:00 P.M.
Friday, Saturday, Sunday 10:00 A.M.-10:00 P.M.

HEALTH ENHANCEMENT CENTER HOURS:
Monday-Thursday 6:00 A.M.-8:00 A.M.
Monday and Wednesday 12:00-1:00 P.M.
3:00-11:00 P.M.
Tuesday and Thursday 11:00 1:00 P.M.
6:00-11:00 P.M.
Friday 6:00-10:00 P.M.
Saturday 10:00-6:00 P.M.
Sunday 10:00-10:00 P.M.

SWIMNASTICS:
Monday-Thursday 7:30 P.M.-8:30 P.M.

POOL HOURS:
Monday 9:00-10:00 A.M.
12:00-1:00 P.M.
8:30-10:45 P.M.
Wednesday and Thursday 9:00-11 A.M.
12:00-1:00 P.M.
8:30-10:45 P.M.
Friday 7:30-9:45 P.M.
Saturday and Sunday 2:00-4:00 P.M.

AEROBICS EXERCISE SCHEDULE:
Monday-Wednesday-Friday 6:30 A.M.-7:30 A.M.
Berg Gym
Monday-Friday 12:00-1:00—Annex
Sunday-Thursday 6:00 P.M.-7:00 P.M.—Quandt
(4:45-5:45 P.M.) Monday-Thursday—Faculty & Staff

ENTRY DEADLINES AND UPCOMING EVENTS
Co-ed volleyball begins October 20
Entry deadlines due October 15
Men’s and women’s volleyball begins October 27
Entry deadlines due October 22

Intramurals is sponsoring a Doubles Racquetball Tourney open to men and women. Play begins October 31 through November 2. Entry deadlines due October 30.

Turn in entry forms at the Intramural Desk.
Playoffs begin next week for flag football. Good luck to all teams!

DECATHLON RESULTS
Thanks to everyone who worked and participated in the Homecoming Decathlon. It was a great success!
Congratulations to Hansen Hall who finished first with 485 points. Hansen Hall second with 420 points and Steiner hall third with 375 points. Baldwin Hall finished fourth with 360 points and Thompson fifth with 320 points.
Hunting Dictionary
A guide to understanding outdoor lingo

Each year about this time, a strange phenomenon is reported. Wives begin to notice their husbands speaking a rather peculiar language. Ordinary words seem to take on new meanings. It, if, of course, hunting season comes the rebirth of hunting lingo. It's a sort of jargon foreign to those who hunt. In an effort to let the rest of society in on all these secrets and code words, here's a brief excerpt from the Hunting Dictionary to relieve hunting widows of their communication anxiety. It's recommended that this be clipped and attached to your refrigerator for future reference.

Hunt: Bow. - Trajectory of arrow after deflecting off an arrow rest between hunter and Pope and Young buck.

Hunting: Buck-face-Common fragrance on both blonds and brunettes. Especially effective during hunting season.

Stabilizer-Drank after two bottles of Wild Turkey but before attempting to stand. (See also cold duck)

Tree stand-platform from which hunter is harassed by squirrels and blue jays. (See target practice)

Hunting dogs: Bark-Sound made when wife dictates hunting dog and hunter is missing. (See also dog house)

Stabilizer-Drank after two bottles of Wild Turkey but before attempting to stand. (See also cold duck)

Tree stand-platform from which hunter is harassed by fox squirrels and blue jays. (See target practice)

Hunting dogs: Bark-Sound made when wife dictates hunting dog and hunter is missing. (See also dog house)

How about some respect for timberdoodle hunters

by Chris Dorsey

The lab shuffled over. The lab-hall Clydesdale huge dog lumbered toward me. My setter is too brave for my liking. I decided to call it a draw and put my setter back in the pickup until the duck hunter left with me in my Bronco.

I finally answered the duck hunter's question, "I'm hunting woodcock today." He then let his half black half Clydesdale out of the back of his new Bronco, "You know, the ones that cost about 12 grand for a cheap version. He then lumbered out of the back of the truck, the Browns' tail end shot like a springboard as the 100 pound dog leaped off the tailgate.

The lab shuffled off to my setter which looked like a cat posseted near a hillside. Simply sometimes my setter is too brave for his own good. The lab, meanwhile, had a look of, "make my day." He then let his half black half Clydesdale out of the back of his new Bronco.

"What are you after?" I asked the hunter. Judging from the tone of his voice, what he really meant to say was, "You can't hunt ducks while wearing a blue-orange cap with a white dog at your side."

I decided to call it a draw and put my setter back in the pickup until the duck hunter left with me in my Bronco.

I finally answered the duck hunter's question, "I'm hunting woodcock today." He then let his half black half Clydesdale out of the back of his new Bronco, "You know, the ones that cost about 12 grand for a cheap version. He then lumbered out of the back of the truck, the Browns' tail end shot like a springboard as the 100 pound dog leaped off the tailgate.

The lab shuffled off to my setter which looked like a cat posseted near a hillside. Simply sometimes my setter is too brave for his own good. The lab, meanwhile, had a look of, "make my day." He then let his half black half Clydesdale out of the back of his new Bronco.
Fewer leaves mean more grouse for state hunters

by Bad Geartie

Conservation News

In the northwest, fewer leaves on the trees means better visibility and improved grouse hunting in the Park Falls area. Waterfowl hunting is also fair there, but the birds are scattered as a result of the wet conditions. Crappie fishing is picking up on the Chippewa Flowage and, in the Brule area, anglers have had some success on steelhead in the Brule River. Woodcock hunting is excellent around Ladysmith.

Wisconsin Outdoor Report

There are about 121,000 Canada geese on the Horizon refuge at this time and almost 100,000 birds throughout the state providing hunting and viewing opportunities. Fall colors are past their peak and most of the leaves have fallen in the northern counties.

Fatter south in the west central counties, large numbers of Canadas in the Eau Claire area provided good hunting opening weekend. Duck hunting, overall, was poor in Eau Claire. There was some walleye and musky action on area flowsages, and panfish fishing has been some perch action off both Door and Brown counties, and a few chinook were caught off Manitowoc County. Browns and chinook were hitting off Marinette County. Anglers are taking muskies and northern in Shawano Lake, the Wolf River and the Cloverleaf lakes. Shawano County goose hunters had good action opening weekend. The lower Wolf River in Winnebago County is providing excellent action for white bass. Fall color has reached about 90 percent in Winnebago County.

The southeastern, waterfowlers had a slow opening because of the high water conditions scat tering the flocks of birds. Blue gulls are biting on some Sheboygan County waters. The weather limited fishing in Lake Michigan off Sheboygan County last week. Some chinook were taken off the Edgewater power plant. Anglers fishing at the power plant in Oshkosh County had few Fair success due to the abundance of water. Squirrel hunting is excellent around Ladysmith.

MADISON, WI - All terrain vehicle (ATV) enthusiasts in Wisconsin will soon begin to see their registration money put to work, according to Mike Schaskey, Chairman of the State Off Road Vehicle (ORV) Council.

The Council met recently and recommended funding approximately 3,000 miles of ATV trails in Wisconsin. Funds totaling about $800,000 will be distributed to 11 sponsors to develop and maintain trails for all terrain vehicles. Schaskey points out that this is the first step in providing trails in Wisconsin. The ORV Council action doesn’t mean a trail is immediately open and ready for riding. Trail design and environmental assessments must now be reviewed and approved by the Department of Natural Resources.

ATV trails recommended for approval include trails open all year. Schaskey adds that the first trails open will likely be winter trails, and by next spring he expects a number of summer trails will also be open.

Owners of ATVs are reminded that all terrain vehicles operated in Wisconsin must be registered. Applications to register those vehicles are available at Department of Natural Resources offices, county clerks’ offices, and ATV and snowmobile dealerships.

The registration fee is $12.00 for two years. This will permit the owner to operate his vehicle on public trails officially designated for ATV use. All terrain vehicles which will be used for commercial purposes, used exclusively for agricultural purposes, or used only on private property may be registered for a $5.00 one-time fee.
Rifled slug barrels remain legal

MADISON, WI - Rifled slug barrels for shotguns will be legal to use for deer hunting in all areas opent for deer gun hunting, including those areas open for hunting with shotguns only, Ralph Christensen, Department of Natural Resources chief warden, said.

The intent of the "shotgun only" deer hunting zones remains unchanged by permitting the use of rifled slug barrels. Rifled slug barrels are smooth bore, opening for hunting, including hunting, including deer hunting, including those area in the past two contests and family

Log cabin building workshop to be held Oct. 31 to Nov. 2

The Central Wisconsin Environmental Station near Wausau will sponsor a log cabin building workshop Oct. 31 to Nov. 2.

Persons interested in learning to build with logs are invited to participate by joining staff members at the station who are currently working on the second and third of six new log cabins at the facility.

Testing has shown the rifled slug barrels improve accuracy somewhat. These barrels are also equipped with sights which might aid hunter's marksmanship.

FOR INFORMATION, CONTACT: Ralph Christensen - 608/266-1115

MADISON, WI - Entries in the 1987 Wisconsin Waterfowl Stamp Contest are now being accepted by the Department of Natural Resources.

The contest is open to Wisconsin residents, 18-years of age or older, except that winners of the area of outdoor ethics and responsibility. The award recognizes hunters, anglers, landowners and others for contributions they have made toward the improvement of outdoor ethics.

Nominations for the award should be sent by November 15th to Sally Benjamins, Conservation Responsibility Committee, Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707.

The Board has adopted the awards program in an effort to accelerate the waterfowl population.

The Cousteau Society

DAVID BROWN

GUEST SPEAKER
"ADVENTURES OF THE CALYPSO AND BEYOND"

OCTOBER 21, 1986
7:00PM WISCONSIN ROOM

Limited seating available. If you have already reserved a ticket, YOU MUST PICK IT UP AT THE CAMPUS ACTIVITIES OFFICE BY MONDAY, OCTOBER 20th. If you have not reserved a ticket yet, you can call 715-824-2478 or writing the station at 7290 Cowley MM, Amherst Junction, WI 53907.

Seats will be held for ticket holders until 6:45pm the evening of the presentation. After 6:45pm, any remaining seats will be given to individuals at the door. All seats are general admission.

SPONSORED BY THE RESIDENCE HALL ASSOCIATION, STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION, UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES BOARD AND RESIDENCE LIFE

BREAKFAST ONLY 99¢

ALL THE PANCAKES YOU CAN EAT

Perkins* famous buttermilk pancakes at a special price! Served with real butter and delicious syrups. Offer applies to regular buttermilk pancakes only.

One coupon per person per visit at participating Perkins' restaurants. Not valid with any other offer. Sales tax, if applicable, must be paid by customer. Please present coupon when ordering. 100% cash redemption value. © 1986, Perkins Restaurants, Inc.

Perkins Restaurant
Stevens Point, WI
Expires Oct. 30, 1986

SAVINGS ONLY 99¢

ALL THE PANCAKES YOU CAN EAT

Perkins* famous buttermilk pancakes at a special price! Served with real butter and delicious syrups. Offer applies to regular buttermilk pancakes only.

One coupon per person per visit at participating Perkins' restaurants. Not valid with any other offer. Sales tax, if applicable, must be paid by customer. Please present coupon when ordering. 100% cash redemption value. © 1986, Perkins Restaurants, Inc.

Perkins Restaurant
Stevens Point, WI
Expires Oct. 30, 1986
Landspreading sludge approved by DNR

RHINELANDER, WI - Nekoosa Papers, Inc. of Port Edwards has received conditional approval to resume landspreading paper mill sludge containing traces of dioxin, Department of Natural Resources officials announced today.

"We believe this project can continue without endangering health," said Lyman While, Administrator of DNR's Environmental Standards programs. "The physical properties of the dioxin molecule bind it tightly to soil particles limiting movement through soil, and reducing potential groundwater contamination. At present, we believe the dioxin traces in the sludge are not likely to be ingested or inhaled by people, giving us reason to believe human health is not currently at risk," stated Dr. John Olson, Wisconsin Division of Health toxicologist.

While continued, "At the same time, we recognize that dioxin is an extremely toxic compound. We need to closely track what happens when the minute traces of dioxin are exposed to air, soil, rain, and wind. Department will work with Nekoosa to conduct additional research assessing how readily these trace contaminants move through wildlife food chains."

In a letter to Nekoosa Papers, While said the conditional approval would require the company to: limit sludge spreading on single applications of pine plantations; report quarterly on progress to reduce dioxin concentrations in sludge destined for landspreading; and extensively study wildlife effects from potential dioxin exposure; and include DNR and health officials on the wildlife research team.

"Paper sludge is a nutrient-rich residue filtered from paper mill wastewater when it is treated. It typically contains wood fiber, clay and other fillers, nitrogen and phosphorus. Industries and municipalities are using sludge as a soil conditioner and fertilizer rather than dumping it into the lakes as waste. Preliminary tests by Nekoosa indicate sludge promotes quicker and more vigorous growth in red pine."

"Dioxin is a collective term for a family of 75 similar compounds. Dioxins are by-products of producing many products, including the now banned pesticides, PCBs, and silvex. Some wood preservatives and the once popular household cleanser, hexachlorophene, also contain traces of dioxin."

Sludge spreading was discontinued by Nekoosa Papers and Consolidated Papers, Inc., of Wisconsin Rapids last February when tests showed Nekoosa's "BioGreen" sludge contained 0.138 parts per billion of dioxin and Consolidated's "ConsGro" contained 0.159 parts per billion of dioxin. BioGreen sludge was spread on 400 acres of company-owned forests for six months preceding the suspension. ConsGro sludge was spread on 3,790 acres of farmland for two years preceding the suspension.

The Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Health and Social Services are currently assessing the risks of landspreading ConsGro sludge to agricultural land. Later this fall, the agencies will determine if the ConsGro spreading program can be resumed.

"The risk assessment on hu-

Respect, Cont. from page 20

ly in the sharp prickly ash. But we had four woodcock. That always seems to dull most any pain. I began loading up the pickup for the journey home.

As I packed up my gear, I could see the silhouette of the duck hunter lugging two bags of decoys and his bowie sidekick approaching.

"How was the hunting?" he hollared to me as if to make sure I didn't leave before he could continue his ridiculing of my obsession for upland birds.

"We got four," I replied (I always refer to me and my setter as we on account that he's kind enough to show me where the birds are and polite enough to tolerate my poor shooting). Mr. Duck slowed his pace as he arrived at my pickup. "Four isn't too bad. Heck, in more and you'll have enough for a meal," he said with a self-pleased smirk.

I continued loading my pickup.

"I flushed one of those little woodcock on my way out to the blind again," he said, "I thought about shooting it, but I figured my lab would get it stuck between his teeth." Chuckle.

I'm sure he thought that one up while waiting away some time in his blind.

"What did you get?" I asked (hoping well).

"Um, a teal," he said.

"One teal?" I countered in amazement.

"Yup, but he's a fat one," he said.

Everyone who has ever shot a teal knows there is no such thing as a fat one.

"Just think, 10 more and you'll have enough for a meal," I said, "that is if your lab doesn't get them stuck between his teeth." Exit laughing.

Tuesday is Taco Tuesday at Partner's Pub

New Margaritas $1.00 New Mexican Bee $1.00

Tonight - "The Singing Machine"

6:30-9:00 PM, OCTOBER 15 & 20th, NICOLET/MARGUETTE ROOM
UNIVERSITY CENTER, UWSP

A hands on workshop to teach weatherization and lifestyle energy consumption techniques to help one both conserve energy and save money.

Next Week: pheasant hunting

Nominations, from page 22

spotlight the need for ethical and responsible conduct on the part of all developers and other primary users of Wisconsin's outdoor recreational resources and facilities, and to recognize worthy individuals or groups who practice, promote, or otherwise encourage good outdoor ethics.

Couples Discount Bowling

Friday Night 6:00 - ?

Reservations Accepted

POINT BOWL

Looking For Women For Thursday Night City League Dart Team
Sign-up Call 341-2100

BAR

The Newly Renovated Fox Hole Bar
Under The American Legion - Downtown Clark St.
Home of the "Rugby Arctic Fest"

Nightly Specials

MONDAY

WEDNESDAY

52.00 Pitchers Free Pint & 32.50 Pitchers
8 - Close
3 Point Shorties-$1.00
7 - Close

LADIES' NITE THURSDAY

Half Price Drinks

(Gin, Vodka, Brandy, Whiskey, Bar Wine, Tap Beer)
8 - 11

FRIDAY NITE FISH FRY

Walleyes $4.95 Carryouts Available 4-9
Call 344-2100

SATURDAY ENTERTAINMENT

Featuring the "New Edition" 8-9 Free Beer
9-1 A.M. Music
man health from spreading dioxin contaminated sludge is in progress," said Dr. Olsen, who reviewed the studies with environmental officials. "Currently, we are not anticipating human health problems from the Neokoa exposure route given the remoteness of the pine plantations and the fact that this sludge is not being spread on or near food crops. However, there may be potential for human health problems, even through exposure to these minute doses of dioxin, and these effects should be assessed.

Nekoka Papers volunteered to study if animals living in pine plantations treated with BioGreen showed signs of biological or physiological changes like illness, reproductive changes, or if body defense mechanisms were triggered by dioxin exposure. The company retained consultants who examined soil, soil insects, mice and songbirds in pine plantations treated with sludge. "Robins analyzed in the Neokoa study showed no observable signs of illness or toxicity from exposure to these trace levels of dioxin," said Dr. Terry Amundson, DNR wildlife disease specialist. "In fact, the study shows that the moist sludge may actually provide conditions that encourage larger populations of more diverse bird species than we would expect to see otherwise," Amundson added.

"Even though birds were not ill, biochemical tests indicate the birds were responding to chemical exposure. That's why we are requiring additional wildlife studies in the field and in the lab to verify how trace dioxin levels move through biological ecosystems. We want to determine if the compounds are concentrating in predators higher up the food chain," Amundson added. "The team of environmental and health experts that analyzed potential risks from this dioxin exposure faced some very tough judgments," said John Sullivan, DNR toxicologist and chairman of the dioxin task force. "There is little data on wildlife effects from exposure to dioxin and dioxin-like compounds. Allowing these experiments and carefully monitoring if the chemical moves through food chains, soil, and water is the best tool we have to test our assumptions and track the fate of micro-contaminants like dioxin."

Regional forestry topic of future midwest conference

MADISON, WI — How can the Great Lakes of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan cooperate to capitalize on the region's $7 million acres of forest lands to achieve common economic and conservation objectives?

Joe Frank, Director of the Bureau of Forestry in the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, said opportunities for regional cooperation in forestry policies and programs will be considered at a three-state conference on forestry early next year in Minneapolis.

"By working together toward common goals the three states can realize benefits greater than if each acts alone," Frank, a member of the steering committee, noted. The conference is a followup to the Governor's conferences on forestry that have been held in each of the three states. "They looked at what each state could do for itself; now it's time we look at what we can do together," Frank said.

The conference has three objectives:

- To promote a better understanding of the forests and their potential contributions to the regional economy while enhancing their scenic and recreational values.
- To develop a consensus on regional forest policies and programs.
- To develop an action program for regional cooperation.

Frank said the conference will convene leaders in the forest community in the three states, as well as agencies and organizations that affect or benefit from the forests. A committee broadly representative of forestry interests in the three states has been established to plan the conference.

The conference is part of the lakes states forestry initiative, a two-year-old effort aimed at improving and diversifying the region's economy through use of its timber resources while improving the scenic, recreational, and environmental values of the forests. Cooperating in the initiative are Frank, the state forestry agency counterparts in Minnesota and Michigan, the Minnesota Forestry Association, the Conservation Foundation, a non-profit environmental policy research and communications organization based in Washington, D.C. FOR INFORMATION, CONTACT: Joe Frank - 386-0842 or Dick Lindberg - 366-2044.
Your chance to win a FREE BIKE!

Come to Little Caesars® bring the valuable coupon you see on this page and get a free pizza with the purchase of an identical pizza at regular price. Then, just fill out an entry blank, and you could be the winner of a free bike!

Of course, no purchase is necessary and the contest ends November 7, 1986.

Little Caesars Pizza...where else can you get so much food for so little money...and a chance to win a free bike!!

Entry forms available at

Little Caesar's Pizza

Call ahead for quick pick up — Carry Out Only

345-2333

Church Street Station

STEVENS POINT

Open for Lunch with pizza by the slice, Caesar Sandwiches and Salads

11 a.m. to 11 p.m. (Fri. & Sat. until 2 a.m.).

Tuesday is Always Twosday. "Buy One, Get One FREE. The Month of October features "Crazy Bread" the Month of November features "Sandwiches" (no coupon needed for this Tuesday offer).

When you make pizza this good, one just isn't enough."
The Stevens Point Rugby Club's five-game winning streak came to an abrupt and last weekend as Oshkosh, route Point, 44-6.

"Our team came out very flat and Oshkosh just outdistanced us," commented Coach Dave Plaisance. "We had bad tackling and lack of motivation." Oshkosh opened up a 30-point lead by halftime and tacked on 16 more in the second half.

Oshkosh is classified as a city team comprised of players that have at least five or six years of experience. Stevens Point players can play on the "A" team until they graduate from UW-River Falls.

"One thing is certain, they know how to play rugby. They were the best team we've played this year," added Plaisance.

"Oshkosh's scrum dominated play, and when your scrum does that you have the ball most of the time. We didn't have the ball very long at all."
Golfers tally fifth place finish

by Kent Walstrom
Sports Editor

STEVENS POINT, WI — Led by all-conference selection Kurt Rehlboll, the UW-Stevens Point men’s golf team finished fifth in the final WSUC standings after posting a fourth place finish at the conference tournament here last week.

Originally, there were to be four legs that would have made WSUC/NAIA 14 tournament were played. A meeting this season, and last weeks’ day night at Berg gym. In the series al next two games, however, the 15-7 loss in game one Pointers rebounded to their troubles and Point

than over

in the series al

next two games, however, the 15-7 loss in game one Pointers rebounded to their troubles and Point

than over

The Pointers rebounded to their troubles and Point

than over

the Pointers, however, who finished a distant sixth of nine teams at the Point Open.

Eau Claire (1196), which topped rival Oshkosh (1285) for first at the recent WSUC/NAIA 14 tournament, piled up 33 first place points for the conference title. Whitewater trailed runner-up Oakahsh (31) by two points, followed by La Crosse (31); host Stevens Point (22); Stout (16); River Falls (15); Plattevill (9), and Superior (4). UWEP’s Rehlboll (33) led until the final two holes of the 34-hole WSUC/NAIA 14 content before dipping into a three-way tie for second with Oakahsh’s Rick Kranitz and Eau Claire’s Paul Meyer. Ron Clark of La Crosse fired a 331 for third.

Other Point finishers included Greg Majka (39); Jamie Keller (40); Mike Froster (44), and Joe Stadler (246).

Team scores were based on the top five individual scores shot on each day.

Only Rehlboll achieved all-conference status for the Pointers.

Indians club.

by Scott Huelskamp
Staff Reporter

What began as a promising weekend for the UWSP women’s volleyball squad

Point handed UW-La Crosse a 25-7 loss in game one Wednesday night at Berg gym. In the next two games, however, the Pointers could not get over the bump of scoring more than one point, and when they did it was too late. Missed serves and poor service reception also added to their troubles and Point dropped both games 3-2, 6-3.

The Pointers rebounded to win game four, 15-12, and even the series at two games apiece, but in the deciding fifth game squandered a 9-5 lead and the match to the Indians, 13-15.

“We had trouble picking up dumps and could not adjust to the loose calls,” commented coach Nancy Schoen. “We learned quite a bit and it was good experience for us.”

The UW-La Crosse Indians finished fourth in last years’ National Tournament.

Sheri Schrieu led the squad with 17 spike kills and Mary Miller contributed 14. Freshman Tammy Kueter added 10 kills.

UWEP’s woes continued into the weekend as they lost all six games at Elmhurst College in Illinois.

Illinois Benedictine took three games from the struggling Pointer team 15-12, 9-15, 14-16. Host Elmhurst then swept the next three from Stevens Point 15-9, 15-11, 15-12.

Kelly Cierniakowski was the top Pointer spiker for the weekend with 11 kills.

Schoen commented on her team’s difficulties: “We faced some very tough competition. We were playing without Tammy (Kueter) and had some problems in her position.”

“We were not used to playing against teams with such fast offenses.”

The Pointers record dropped below .500 for the first time this season at 13-15, but they have a 6-4 conference mark.

Point’s spikers will try and return to their winning ways this weekend in the contest of Gerg Gym at the UW-Stevens Point Invitational.

SMHINDIANS club.

Point spikers

The Pointer golf team bagged a fourth at the recent WSUC/NAIA 14 Tournament.

Wunder names assistant

by UWSP Sports Information Office

STEVENS POINT - Texas Davia, a 25-year-old London, Ohio native, has been named assist-women’s basketball coach at UW-Stevens Point. The announcemen came from head coach Linda Wunder.

Davis, a graduate of Ohio State University, was a member of the varsity fencing team at OSU from 1996-98. Her background includes four years of teaching at the high school level in Chicago. She coached junior varsity volleyball and basketball at Elmwood Park High School and then moved up to varsity status at Westmont High School. While at both high schools, Davis taught Physical Education and Driver Education.

“I think she’ll make a significant contribution to our program this year in the sense that she is familiar with some of the things we run offensively and defensively,” said Wunder. “She’ll also help immensely in recruiting. It’ll be nice being able to have a full-time assistant, it will make both of our jobs easier and we’ll be able to do more. It’ll do nothing but help the program—it’s the first step.”

DISCOUNTS?

Yes We Discount Many Of Our Famous Brand Shoes — Like...

Timberland
Bass
Sperry
Reebok
Rockport
Nike
Florsheim
New Balance
Connie
Avia
Zodiak
Adidas
Cherokee

And Many More

SHIPPY SHOES
949 Main St. (Downtown)
Junior Hockey League to play in Point

by Kent Walstrom
Sports Editor

STEVENS POINT, WI - Representative teams from the United States Junior Hockey League (USJHL) are set to square off at Wednesday's game October 22, here at the K.B. Willett Arena, according to UWSP Hockey coach Mark Mazzoleni.

The game, scheduled to start at 7:45 p.m., will feature the Madison Capitols against the Rochester Mustangs, both of which are growing members of the 10-team USJHL currently touring Wisconsin.

According to Mazzoleni, the organization serves mainly as a developmental hockey league which prepares aspiring hockey players for collegiate competition. Only players up to 20 years old may participate.

Besides offering a higher standard of competition (in comparison to high school hockey), the USJHL gives its players exposure to recruitment by Division I and III schools.

Along with the Capitols and Mustangs, the league is comprised of St. Paul, MN; Omaha, NE; Thunder Bay, Ontario; Duluth, IA; Sioux City, IA; Des Moines, IA; Waterloo, IA, and Mason City IA.

The league posts a 66-game schedule, with teams playing each other six times from October 11 through March 1. Mazzoleni, whose current 23-man roster includes 25 former USJHL players, feels the league has been a main reason for the continuing improvement of hockey in this region.

"Most of our league teams highly encourage playing USJHL hockey before college," Mazzoleni stated. "The main advantages of the USJHL are that players emerge much more physically mature, they have the opportunity to really refine their hockey skills, and the facilities needed to play in the league help develop important priorities in life.

"I consider the USJHL as my number one recruiting priority," Mazzoleni added. "Much of the Pointers' recent success is due to players from that league.

Wednesday's game, which marks the first USJHL appearance in Stevens Point, serves as a regular season game with the Capitols considered the home team.

Student admission is $1.50 with a student I.D.

Runners 10th at Eau Claire

by Wade Turner
UWSP Sports Office

Running primarily its junior varsity squad, the UW-Stevens Point men’s cross country team could only notch a 10th place finish at the rain-drenched Eau Claire Invitational Saturday with 38 points.

Host UW-Eau Claire topped the 15-team field with 79 points. Rounding out the top five were St. Thomas (Minn.) (90); UW-Milwaukee (90); UW-Whitewater (121) and UW-Parkside (129).

Dan Held of UW-Eau Claire won the individual title with a time of 33:58.

Coach Rick Witt said that other squads fielded their varsity teams, but he used this meet as an opportunity to rest his top runners. "This was a J.V. meet for us," said Witt. "I felt as a whole, however, we were a little flat. I don't feel some of our runners recovered from a very tough workout we had on Thursday."

Former SPASH grad Andy Sackman led the Pointer contingent as he churched to a 36:47 clocking on a route to a 14th place showing.

Witt was extremely pleased with Sackman's performance. "He was making his debut for us in this race," said Witt. "It's been two years since he raced cross country. I thought he ran well after such a long layoff."

Sackman was cited as "Point–Runner of the Week" for his efforts. "He worked himself into good position in a big meet and ran a solid race," said Witt. "I'm sure with some other Pointers to run with he could have run even better."

The next Pointer finisher then dropped to the 57th slot as Kurt Lepak had a 37:48 clocking. He was followed by Steve Wollmer, 57th (38:31), and Marty Kempf, 57th (38:33).

At Platteville, Greg Cerny and Mark Cota each scored a pair of touchdowns to spur the Falcons against the sting of next week's matchup with co-leader La Crosse. The winner of that contest will give each team undisputed possession of first place.

The Indians (34-54) were idle over the weekend. The Falcons, meanwhile, harvested for 402 yards rushing while staking a 53-1 lead in the third quarter.

At Superior (64-64), the Blugolds emerged for 39 points midway through the third quarter. Pointers leading only 40-1. Eau Claire’s Tim Konrads was kicked for two touchdowns as the Yellowjackets remained winless.

At UW-Stout, Warhawk running back George Rainey amassed 170 yards in 26 carries and scored a touchdown, but teammates Dave Hickelnbelholt and Marty Kempf each scored a pair of touchdowns and returned it to the Warhawk 15-yard line to set up Lindberg's scoring toss.

Football, cont. from p. 26

Second Street Pub

Presents

UWSP's Own

"The Groove"

"Dance-able Blues"

Friday, October 17

$2.00 Admission

Free Beer While It Lasts!

- SPECIALS -

Thursday Night - $1.25 Pitchers

Sunday Night - 15¢ Taps

UAB Athletic Entertainment

$12 plus tax each orders taken until October 31 by all cheerleaders, poms, and stuntmen.

for more information, call UAB office X2412.
in the Switzerland Junior All-Star selection. He is the son of Richard and Kay Dodd, 732 Riviera Circle, Edwardsville.

JOHN HEDSTROM (Brooklyn, MN) - A 5-10, 170 pound center who played hockey for the Rochester Mustangs in the United States Hockey League (USJHL). Scored 30 goals and had 24 assists in 46 games. Two years ago, he pumped in 35 goals with 39 assists in 48 games. He was named the team's most consistent player in 1985. This past season he was a U.S.H.L. All-Star. As a prep, he was an All-State selection in 1983. A solid student who was on the honor roll five times in high school, graduating with honors in 1985. He is the son of Mike and Ronnie Butler, 351 Trapp St., Sun Prairie.

RICK DODD (Edwardsville, IL) - A 5-10, 100 pound center who was granted to UWSP from the Sioux City Musketeers (USJHL). His team won the 1986 National Championship in the Junior A League. He is a 1984 graduate of Edwardsville High School. A fine student who was a Who's Who in America and was accepted to play on the United States national team. Rick is the son of Donal and Jeanne Gruber, 5241 Minnesota, Stevens Point.

CRAIG HEDSTROM (Fergus Falls, MN) - A 5-11, 156 pound center/defensive who played for the Northern Minnesota Huskies in the USJHL. In two seasons, Hedstrom poured in 31 goals and had 26 assists for the Huskies. High School. In his efforts, he was named to the South All-Star team and also participated on the USJHL All-Star team that went to Switzerland. Played his prep hockey at Fergus Falls High School where he graduated in 1984. Craig is the son of Lenor Hedstrom, 250 Cecil Ave., Fergus Falls.

MICHAEL HEISS (Green Bay) - A 5-9, 150 pound defenceman who graduated from Green Bay East High School and has played for the Dubuque Fighting Saints (USJHL). In two seasons, he scored 18 goals and had 25 assists in 69 games. Also an all-star, Mike traveled to Sweden to play Track Men for all-sports. Mike is the son of Robert and Marilyn, 303 Beaupre, Green Bay.

BRYAN MACJIEWICZ (Moosic, PA) - A 6-1, 185 pound center who was a 1981 graduate of Moosic Senior High School who has made strides in the NCAA. For the Monarch Senior Team. Last season, he scored 36 goals and assisted on 39 others in 31 games. Played in 1982-83 for UW. Supple in 1981-82 for the University of Wisconsin. He was a Who's Who Among American High School Students. The son of Robert and Marcia Macjiewicz, 628 West Three Springs Rd., Moosic, PA.

For more information call

Dorm or Group Rates
Bowling Party Dates Available

For: More Information Call

POINT BOWL

SERVE IN APPALACHIA
Single Catholic Men Serving Others

Your practical help to the elderly, handicapped and poor in Appalachia can make a difference. Single Catholic men are invited to volunteer one week to learn more about the culture and people of the area.

December 15-21, 1986
December 27, 1986-January 2, 1987

DISCERNMENT WEEK
Single Catholic Men Thinking of Ministry

This very unique experience will provide you with the atmosphere to reflect and pray on your vocational calling. You will have the opportunity to learn more about yourself, rural America and Glenmary's ministry.

January 5-11, 1987

For more information about the: Winter Volunteer Program , and/or DISCERNMENT Week, please send this coupon to Brother Jack Henn, Glenmary Home Missioners, P.O. Box 469816, Cincinnati, OH 45246-9816.

Name
Address
City
State
Zip
Telephone College

338-1786

State

338-1786

Sports needs writers Call for:

Sports needs writers Call for:
Letters, from page 6

the respondents have a reward to the point of making me not the issues-the subject of their communication.

Murphy is especially guilty and must face up to the reality of his party's policies. I challenge Mark Murphy to return to my letters and respond to every issue he can understand. Until you, and more of us in general, begin to debate the many issues we face, all we will have is a few gateless individuals who help hide the truth through petty quarreling and backstabbing.

Since you started the "repetitive, rhetorical madness" Murphy, why don't you end it?

Signed, W. Paul

Cont. from p. 31

Ty if you tell anyone else that I farted, I'll send you a breakup note in class and I'll go out with DAVEY. Seph

Our float was a BLAZE and Homecoming was great but to our pledges I hope that you leave the SIG TAU candle light with no flame light. V.P. Membership.

Hi Kurt, Are you still grossed out by what Belly Buttons are for? 2000 was sick! Have a great weekend! Signed, me from last year's T & this year's 36! How original!

"Oh" again to the NORTH WOODS! I hope you & Erik have a great time! Keep warm Joe Bear & remember the advice about a certain place up there is the same! Love You.

Sunny

Hey you women of 1-SE Roach, I think you guys are all Terrible, thanks for being such good friends. I love ya Kris!!!

Hey Clem, What have you been up to lately, seen any Baby Oil? Take care and stay PESKY. Love ya.

Hey 5-South Roach! You guys are the best! Thanks for making my job so fun. I love you! Laurie

Hey Roaches - You are GREAT! Homecoming was fun - it's 3 years in a row we placed in Yell Like Hell! Special thanks to I North, Denly and Maureen. Love, Cindy

Hey, South Debti Complex, Boo! They're here! Polteraged! Do you have difficulty falling asleep? If so, and you wish to participate in a treatment program designed to study the reason people have difficulty falling asleep, contact Todd at 341-907 between 4 and 5 p.m.

Estel - It's Lazy again. Remember me? No, I'm not the jealous type and yes we'll be talking by November. I love ya very very much. Luzzy

Bubba & Samari - Here's to a great semester. Thanks for putting up with me at times - it's been 3 years of fun so far let's make it 4. Love ya - Leisel

Prince Andrew: J.L.U & I'll miss you this weekend!!! Guess who - Princess It

Dear Mr. Starling Network: Thanks for putting up with me! You're really great - thank. Have a happy Sweetest Day - early. Till this weekend - "POETS" Love, Diane

Mr. R.O.T.C - We're watching you, ha ha HA HA HA

Bill - You're OK after all. I'm so sorry I massacred you. Keep pumping that iron.

University writers meets Mon., Oct. 20. The place to be for success and power at UWSP. All invited.

Our drivers carry less than $20.00.
Limited delivery area.
101 NORTH DIVISION
STEVENS POINT

345-0901

Got the Dorm Food Blues? One call to Domino's Pizza will save you! We make and deliver hot, tasty, custom-made pizza in less than 30 minutes. All you have to do is call! So skip the cafeteria. Get your favorite pizza instead.

2 FREE COKES
With Any 12" Pizza

EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1986
1 Coupon Per Pizza

345-0901

4 FREE COKES
With Any 16" Pizza

EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1986
1 Coupon Per Pizza

345-0901

$1.00 OFF
Any Thick Crust Pizza

EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1986
1 Coupon Per Pizza

345-0901

DORM FOOD SURVIVAL KIT

DOMINO'S PIZZA

201 NORTH DIVISION
STEVENS POINT

DOMINO'S PIZZA

EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1986
1 Coupon Per Pizza

345-0901

DOMINO'S PIZZA

EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1986
1 Coupon Per Pizza

345-0901
SPOTLIGHT

George Strait, the reigning Music City Vocalist of the Year, plays Friday night, Oct. 17, at 7:30 in Quandt Gym, Straf, leaving for his national tour swing and honky tonk cowboy songs, will be joined by Baxter Wil- de, Sonris, and for late night K-Tell commercials that have sold over two million copies, Tick- ets are still on sale at the U.C. info. desk and Shopko. Sponsered by Campus Activities.

CLASSIFIEDS

EMPLOYMENT

Get INVOLVED! If you like sports, this is just for you! A.C.T. is looking for active volunteers for their Saturday Youth Night Program. This is an excellent way to stay in shape while having fun. If interested, contact Scott Howland or Marlene Havlovick at 346-2890.

Come join the International Folk Dancers and our annual Folk Dance Night! We meet from 7-9 p.m. in room 618 of the ULC. Everyone is welcome.

ALL VENDORS NEEDED...ALL VENDORS NEEDED...

The 85-89 HORIZON Yearbook will be here the last Tuesday of October in the U.C.-Encore Room, Muller, who performed in the 1966 Riverfront Roundhouse here in Point, combined music of artists like Tinsley Ellis and J. D. Simon and let his own imagination fly with a "timely and not to order yours. Stop by the office of the UC, located on the second floor, Office Hours are: M 9-104-00; T 10-104-00; W 2:04-00; F 9-10-110-00: S 12:00-00.

ATTENTION WATER JAMMERS!! The AWRA will be holding a general meeting in the Nic- olet/Marquette Room on Oct. 21, 7-9 p.m. in room 618. All members present at our general meeting are encouraged to attend. Everyone is welcome. Sponsered by the UTRW.

Spend spring semester on the Mediterranean, and earn 12-13 credits. Hispanic days! Excellent teachers! Call Dr. Helen Cornell this week in Greece, 346-2717.

Soil Conservation Society of America general meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in Nic- olet/Marquette Room on Octo- ber 21, Dr. J. Bowles will be speaking on Soil Judging. All CNR majors welcome.

Hate: The magic markers lea- ders - discussion - each Tues. 3 weeks - begins Tuesday, Oct. 21. Come for all or any lectures. Series is in UC. Sponsored by EKAT.

ATTENTION WATER JAM- MERS!! Tom Osborne of the Con- tento-Wisconsin Geologic Reserch Center will be speaking at the AWRA general meeting in the Nicoclet-Marquette Room of the UC on Wednesday, Oct. 22 between 7-9 p.m. We will be volunteers for their Saturday Youth Night Program. This is an excellent way to stay in shape while having fun. If interested, contact Scott Howland or Marlene Havlovick at 346-2890.

Now's your chance to get rid of those(WWW) albums forever. WSS-WFUM Need Rockero- co's second annual Great Album Giveaway (Oct. 18) behind Quinn. Prizes include six whole men and women bottles. Enter at WSS-FM, Rocky's or in the UC-Campus Friday for only 90 cents.

Put a fire in your jail cell. The March of Dimes presents Jail & Ball in the UC Club from 21-23 from 9-3.

Give blood, give blood, give blood. The Bloodmobile will be hooking up on the outside of Rocky's on Thursday from 9 to 5 in the Wright Lounge, UC.

David Brown, a member of Jackson's court, is set to speak in the Wisconsin Room, UC, from 7:30-3:00 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 21. Sponsored by UAB and RHA.

FOR RENT

Wanted: Person to sublet in Plover Hall this month plus utili- ties. Call Chris at 345-1300 or Marlene Havlovick at 346-2890.

Room for rent. Double; close to campus; includes all utilities. Contact Michael or Marlene Havlovick at 346-2890.

FOR SALE

New law price on a used "71 Honda Walnut with ste- reo/tape, A/C, 36 mpg, great condition, a real bargain! $850. Asking $650. Call Dr. Betts 346-6066.

LOST & FOUND

Lost - Rosheach Joan Jacket. Taken from Buffy's last Thurs- day, Oct. 9th. Keys in front door. Please return. Phone or email. No value. Return it to Bur- rington Hall. Reward for return with no $'s asked.

Lost: An expensive lighter in the Encore Room. Reward if found, no questions asked. Contact Katya Cowie at 344-4431.

Lost: Eye glasses, brown hair, horn-rimmed (Photo in a red case. In UC on Oct. 4-Mon. Reward. Call 345-6287.

LUB ARTS presents Jack Nicklaus: "The Champion," a photog- rapher finishing One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest. Oct. 21 & 23 in UC's Auditorium. Admission is only $1.50 with ID.

Dean, Frank Herbert's clas- sic, will show in Amphi's, the Depot Room, and Jeremiah's on Oct 23. Show times are: respectively, Showtime 7:00 p.m. and Friday, 6:45 p.m. for that week's issue.

If you want an event well-pre- viewed in the Pointer Spotlight, send a brief outline of the event with dates and prices to the Pointer office, Room 117, CAC, Pointer office, 6:45 for that week's issue.

December 19, 1984. Pointer Page 30

Mike Martin - Nice butt!!
Wonder if the rent measures up. Lurk Kirsten and Aria- photog- raphers of 29.

Hey 2-Eays-North Wilson: Great Bourbon Street!! Do we know how to have fun - or what? Your athletic director, Kim.

You knew it, we know it... Wilson Hall is 17!!
Jules: Happy Birthday. Just think you can really celebrate now that Homecoming is over. Great job! Sherry.

Saw & Rose? Thank a lot for the roses! You really made my year! Love ya, MEG!!

Hey Brian K. from Hyer!! Re- member me from the dispenser on Saturday? Let's do it again sometime soon! ST.

Thomson 84! ST.

The best. Thanks for all your help with the RA's!!!

Joan - Thanks for being a fes- tive roomie. You are "fun" in a "small" way. Right choice. HA-HA! Where did you get those ideas for Guinny and Poky from? Was it personal ex- perience? I wish that was the case.
P.E.T. It's eight months today that we have put each other to sleep, so I can tell you... I enjoyed you! You know you will always be ducky to let me. We have some baby goldfish! M.J. through the trees.

If a tree falls in the Per- cunise Mountains in winter are there any campers in Section 17 to hear it?

Genna, I had a great time this homecoming, you're really... ST.

Knutzen Hall would like to congratulate Mike and Becky from Hassen Hall, as the new Homecoming King and Queen. This was a difficult job. We would also like to thank all the people from UAB and other hall who worked with Homecoming, you all did a great job. We hope all our RA's connecting has been much of a blast as we did, it's rough being in RA, but truly, you guys are fabulous and No. 1 in our book! Sincerely, Kirsten and Robby.

Jules - Hope you have a great birthday! You really helped me more than you know of my life. Love ya, Love ya, Ruth and Ginger

Pointer office, Room 117, CAC, Pointer office, 6:45 for that week's issue.
HAL'S FOOD STORE

OPEN 24 Hours Every Day!

* 200 DIVISION ST.
* 2124 RICE ST.

"From The Deli"
CHOPPED HAM $1.69 lb.

FLAVORITE
Breaded Chicken Nuggets or
CHICKEN PATTIES $1.79 10 oz. pkg.

DUBUQUE
BRAUN-SCHWEIGER 69¢

CREAMETTE Macaroni or
SPAGHETTI $1.19 2 lb. pkg.

HUNT'S 3 Var.
TOMATO PASTE 3 $1.00 6 oz. cans

Juicy, Red
DELICIOUS APPLES 49¢ Jumbo lb.

FLAVORITE All Varieties
ICE CREAM 89¢ half gal. square

FLAVORITE Large
EGGS 59¢ doz.

JENO'S ASST.
PIZZA 18.3-19.8 oz. pkg. 99¢

DANNON Asst.
YOGURT 2 8 oz. 99¢