Die baby
by Kyle L. White

Let's say you're about a month pregnant in the Pointe, just about to get out into the big, wide, cruel world and a couple of UWSP grounds crew dudes come into the dorm room and say, "Ya know, Jim, you're probably not gonna amount to much and your prods aren't up to the responsibility of teachin' ya, noo..." Then proceed to pull a National Guard's worth of stuff, toss a few handbags in the trash, and then say, "When the fight they toss you into a hefty trash bag and drag you down your wing. Many of your wing-mates take it in stride, saying, "Oh, I see you got Jim. It was for the best, I'm sure." And, after you're thrown into a dumpster, no one asks about you again.

You're probably thinking, "Gross! Gross! Gross and ridiculous!"

Yeah, I guess I have to agree, and there's something more "gross": every day about 5000 babies are tossed in the trash through the ignorant, barbaric methods of abortion (the methods read more like a Nazi torture guide than a medical procedure). You want something a little more ridiculous? Here's ridiculous: Abortion is accepted prac­tice in 1986 in America. We cry out and take political stances when people are victimized by apartheid, but we've had no shame in killing 15,000 babies in the last 15 years since abortion was legalized. And how much will it cost to watch this bath and money did we spend on three whales in Alaska.

"But Kyle, it's not human, it's just a blob of tissue." If you think that you're lying to yourself to justify murder. What is it if it's not human? What is that "thing" that breathes, grows, takes in food and will one day become a fully-functioning human woman if we keep our selfish hands off of it? What is that?

And what are the reasons we have to justify this genocide? It's one, and it's a sad situa­tion, but the baby should not pay for the father's crime and if you think that women's rights, please consider the rights of unborn women.

Another reason we give for abortion is that we're not ready to have a child. We're ready for sex and we're ready for pleasure, but when the reality of pregnancy slaps us, we jump ship. And a baby dies to smooth out a reputation. Keep your pants strapped up if it will save a life.

There are other reasons, and except for the endangerment of the woman's life, they are fee­ble when compared to the life of a child.

"Discrimination is illegal"

by Jennifer Hacker

Recently there have been two articles printed in the Pointe regarding discrimination. The first described the discrimina­tion a student reporter received while looking for off-campus housing in Stevens Point. The second article tried to minimize the UWSP problem by stating that dis­crimination happens everywhere. The second article is correct in that statement, there is no denying that discrimination happens. But what really is the issue? The real issue is that discrimination is happening everywhere and it is a real problem that someone should deal with.

Is it right that a student is de­nied housing because of the color of his or her skin? Of course it isn't right. We live in a demo­cratic society where all people are created equal. Each person is supposed to possess the same privileges or rights as another person. Therefore, discrimina­tion of this kind at UWSP or anywhere else contradicts what we claim we stand for. There are laws forbidding these actions against minorities too, so this discrimination is not only against U.S. values, it is il­legal.

The second article, "Discrimination is not a New Issue," seems to forget that fact. Disc­rimination may happen all over, but it isn't something that we should be ashamed or minor because it occurs everywhere. If someone is denied housing because of his or her race or sex, he or she should do some­thing about it. If you are dis­criminated against in this way, you should go to the Equal Opportunity Commission in Stevens Point, report the incident and ask that the U.S. government investigate and do something. There is no reason anyone should be denied hous­ing based on race or sex. The first article mentioned that a landlord's reason for not accept­ing a minority student into his vacancy was that the tenant already there didn't want to live with a minority student. This isn't a justifiable reason under the law, so reason along with all the other discrimina­tory reasons is wrong and illegal.

Discrimination is on a wide­spread problem, but one would think that on a college campus, minds would be more open and better informed so that sorts of things wouldn't go on. One would hope that in the 1980's discrimination would be a mini­mal problem. This however is not the case. So, maybe if we start dealing with the problem whenever we can, instead of accepting it and hoping it will go away, the problem will be smaller and therefore society will be better. Maybe then we can be proud and say that at UWSP, every student is created equal.

Statistically speaking, the safe­st place to be, in America, is death row. These people have the least chance of being killed. The second place is the most danger­ous place is if you say "Be kind" you win and against laws.

It's interesting to note that Norman "Jane Roe" McCorvey, one of the famous "Roe vs. Wade" case of 1973, lied when she told lawyers that her pregnancy was the result of gang rape. The motivation for the lie, McCor­vey said, was to get around a Texas law banning abortions except to save the mother's life. The Supreme Court decision allowed women the constitution­ally right to have abortions. Inci­dentally, the law wasn't passed before McCorvey had the child which she gave up for adoption. I wonder what that child thinks about abortion.

How many potential doctors, teachers, musicians, artists, paddywacks and presidents have we lost? If there's no respect for life, what do we respect?

Where is this hardened na­tional heading? We're throwing away our future. It's like a man who stands there and cuts off his body parts-arms, legs, ears, nose-and says, "No problem, it will be productive and have a long life." Wrong. It's evil stuff we're doing.

Rally Against Racism

MADISON-The Wisconsin Stu­dent Association, in conjunction with Major Students Against Racism, a newly-formed UW student group will sponsor Rally Against Racism on Thursday, November 17.

Rally Against Racism will be­gin at 12:30 p.m. on Library Mall, followed by a march up Ithaca Hill.

The event's organizers hope to organize a more broad base of support in response to racist incidents on the UW campus.

"It is hard for majority stu­dents to feel "minority con­cern." It is hard for minority students to accept majority in­volvement, but racism will not be stopped by five percent of the society," said WSU Senator Jordan Marsh, one of the event's organizers.

Among the speakers scheduled to appear at Thursday's rally are Ed Garvey, former Dem­ocratic Fed. Senate candidate, UW Professor Harold Schueh, from the Dept. of African Lan­guages and Literature, as well as representatives from the Wisconsin Student Association and Majority Students Against Racism.

We would like to thank everyone who worked with us and everyone who attended last Wednesday night’s concert with Cheap Trick and Femme Fa te. A special thank you to everyone who attended the concert at UABC. It was a fantastic event. Thank you to everyone who played a role in making this event happen. We look forward to having you back next year.

To the University Activities Activities executive board and Campus Activities staff, we couldn’t have done it without you! Our advisor, Greg Dlekt roger who made everything possible, and our former chief, Rick Gorbette whose support was invaluable.

Thank you to everyone who attended the show and made it such a great success. We hope you enjoyed it as much as we did, and we hope to be able to put on another show next semester.

Also, a big round of applause to the Washburn band, and our great setlist.

I’m writing in response to the numerous articles in the Nov. 3rd issue of the Pointer concerning the dating contract. As a male, I feel insulted that such a view on dating be held, and associated with males. What the Dating Contract initially does is outline subtle forms of prostitution. Why, I ask do it have to that each time a date is paid for by someone, it is looked at as an exchange for sexual activity? What about romance, or just doing something nice for someone? Believe it or not there is still people in this world who do things for others expecting nothing in return. The contract clearly implies that all men and women of our generation want is sex. I feel that even though general attitudes toward sex have relaxed, this is far from true. The contract also goes on to say that if a man pays for a date, after the signing of the contract, the woman no longer has a choice of whether or not to have sex. I am appalled that any amount of money can result in the loss of a right over what will happen to ones body, be it on the part of the male or female. The passages of the contract state that basically once the male reaches a stage in sexual involvement they no longer have control over what they do, or might do. The contract will stop the painful occurrence of “date rape,” but rather only rob females of defense as well as self respect. I personally would be insulted if asked to sign such a contract. I also couldn’t see a woman signing these contracts.

Patrick Leads Network Users Group

Representatives of corporations, institutions of higher education and nonprofit organizations formed the group earlier this year in a planning meeting in Stevens Point. Membership has grown rapidly since then.

The users have a common interest; they all have AT&T computing sites. While independent of the firm, the users invite representatives of AT&T to join in discussions on product needs, how to apply the equipment to various kinds of projects and development of unified computer architecture and integration.

"They (AT&T representatives) don't always agree with us," Patrick adds, citing the users' independent stance.

An administrator at UWSF has been elected president of a national organization of computer specialists.

Steve J. Patrick, acting director of general sciences at UWSP, was chosen to lead the Network Users Group during a recent meeting in Washington D.C.

Russian Dignitaries Visit Stevens Point

By Timothy Rechner

Four Russian dignitaries were present at the Sentryworld Sports Center Tuesday, November 16th to view the golf course, along with Robert Trent Jones II, the designer of the course.

The Russians will be constructing the first 18 hole golf course in their country and Jones is to be in designing the course. Jones has designed courses through out the world, including Zen-try's which was rated by Golf Digest as one of the top 50 public courses in the country.

The Russians were here to view the golf course because of the similarities between the climate and that of Central Wisconsin and the area surrounding Moscow.

The spokesman for the Soviets told the group that more than twenty five percent of the construction will begin in June of next year, and will include a sports complex, pool, golf course and the existing Inn of Hospitality.

He also told reporters that the courses will be used by not only Businesses and Diplomats, but will also be available to the Soviet citizens. When asked if Gorbachev played golf, he said, "He travels a lot and will soon be improving his game.

Robert Trent Jones estimated that the complex will cost approximately $3.5 million dollars. According to Jones, there are plans to build another course near the Black Sea, which will be a twelve-month-per year operation due to the climate in the southeastern part of the Soviet Union.

Golf is a new sport to the Soviets, but the dignitaries re- minded the group that only forty years ago the Soviets were introduced to the sport of hockey by the Canadians.

The project has been in the works for two years because of the declining relations between the United States and the Soviet Union in the early 1980's, the plans were slowed.

Hettler: Established Wellness Advocate

Dr. Bill Hettler remembers that as a new physician on the staff of the UW-Green Bay Health Center, he lacked discipline and was confrontational to "things that don't make sense to me." One of those things was a cigarette machine at St. Michael's Hospital. Another was a beer-truck in the UWGB homecoming parade carrying a group of intoxicated young men.

He objected. Today, cigarettes cannot be purchased in the hospital or anywhere on campus, and alcohol abuse is no longer viewed with amusement. He was still under 30 then as he helped set in motion what now is called the wellness movement.

Sixteen years and many "ruffled feathers" later, Hettler has established himself as one of nation's most active wellness advocates. While away from his office, he may be out of town addressing a large organization or corporation on some aspect of health promotion; he may be developing computer software related to lifestyle improvement or, he may be involved in planning special services or programs to be offered by the National Wellness Institute of Stevens Point, of which he was a principal organizer.

As a result of his efforts, Hettler has been the recipient of several major awards, the latest of which he believes may be the highest recognition he will ever receive.

In mid-October, Hettler was joined by members of his family in Dallas where he was one of 10 men and women named Healthy American Fitness Leaders. He shared the honor with George Allen, pro-football Hall of Fame member, Dr. John Arnold, co-founder of the Association of American College of Health, Denise Austin, nationally-talented fitness instructor; Gayle Ban, 1984 Olympic volleyball gold medalist, Susan Butcher, three-time Iditarod winner; Constance Horner, director of the U.S. Office of Personal Management; James Lefevre, Jr., former Apollo astronaut; John Mars, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and President Reagan.

The Phalanx is the portion geared toward alumni in the major fundraising campaign, called Traditions in Action. The program's other segments focus on the faculty and staff, area businesses, previous donors, and individual student group membership Board Members. This is the first fundraising program of its size on our campus. The goal which had been set for this year's Phalanx of $20,000 was met and surpassed to a final total of $29,714.

The general response to the program from alumni was a favorable one. Certain particip-

The Indian Student Grant exists for Native American Indian students. This program is need-based also. In 1967-68, this program provided 53 students a $1,000 Grant to be funded. The maximum grant: $1,000 per year for five years.

Students covered by the Private School Minority Grant program are Black, Hispanic, American Indian, Cambodian, Laotian, and Vietnamese. This program allocates the money to the individual campuses, based on percentage of minority students, and then the campuses allocate the money to the students. The average award is $1316.

The VTAE Minority Student Grants are very similar to the Private School Minority Grant. The students are funded for the second year of a two-year program.

The two biggest beer brewing companies in the U.S.A., Miller and Anheuser-Busch, both taken different approaches to a common intention. First Miller succeeded in introducing a widely accepted craft beer in the market which not only increased Miller's share of the market but also increased their rivals overall share. Anheuser-Busch took the same success that Miller has enjoyed with their contribution of Michelob Dry to the market. Both companies are putting their faith in the consumer by hoping that this added excitement to the market will increase sales of beer.

Get Money to Study Abroad

The International Programs office announces a leadership stipend for students interested in studying abroad in the 1988-89 spring semester. This special opportunity will enhance personal development and personal growth in another country and culture through an academic and travel experience.

Students who have a desire to participate in international studies and need additional financial resources should consider this unique opportunity. If you have leadership potential, a respectable grade point and motivation to experience a very different culture, call or stop by the International Programs office for an application for the 1988 Taiwan Leadership Award. Two 400-hour allocations will be awarded each spring. Students should apply before November 25.

All interested should contact:

The spring semester in Taiwan offers you the opportunity to experience traditional Chinese cuisine, Chinese food, mountain scenery and Confucian thought and traditions. The $3,625 cost includes air travel, homestay in February for the Chinese New Year, dormitory accommodations, board, UWSP tuition for Wisconsin residents, travel insurance and all expenses paid in Taiwan.

Hertel has been conducting research on suffering and discomfort in human beings experiencing pain and anxiety.

Beyer has spent the past summer at the University of Minnesota doing research on pain. He had worked previously with UWSP Psychology and computer science faculty in developing a computer program to simulate the data retrieval system of chemical abstracts on-line.

Wolf spent the past summer as an intern at the Smithsonian Institution in biological research studying a new frog species from Taiwan. He completed an exhaustive literature review of the leopard frog and koytopyr two frog species.

Mike Gross, a faculty member in the UWSP College of Natural Resources, will be the after dinner speaker at the meeting with an illustrated program entitled "Nature and Environmental Protection—A Picture from Germany." He will recount experiences of students from a study tour done last summer in Germany and Poland.

Additional Information

Pre-Registration for semester II, 1988-89 for Psychology majors and minors will be held on Thursday, December 8, 1988. (Note: One day only!) In Room D67, Science Building.

Depression and the College Student

by Peter Teska
Features Writer

Everyone knows the feeling. The pressure keeps building and building. Maybe you failed a test, or had a fight with your boyfriend/girlfriend. Suddenly, that feeling is with you all the time. You sleep in, but not at home. You fight with everyone. Even little things get on your nerves.

While everyone has bad days, if your bad day is all week long, you need to stop and look at what you are doing. College students are very susceptible to depression. But, seeing that you are in the early stages of depression, it is hard to do.

The best way to beat depressive cycles, is to look for, so that you can see them coming. Even if things seem fine, you need to change your eating habits. Are you not getting a well-balanced diet? Despite the availability of healthy foods, campus food service workers will tell you that students mostly eat junk foods.

Duran Duran: Still A "Big Thing?"

By SM Ong
Features Writer

And then there were three. Andy and Roger Taylor (no, they are not related), the rhythm section of Duran Duran, left the group in 1985 to form their own band, with Bernard Edwards of Chic and veteran rock singer Robert Palmer. The new band was named "The Power Station.

The Power Station had a top ten hit with "Some Like It Hot." Helped by the exposure, after more than a decade in the music business, Palmer soon went on to score his first number 1 hit with "Addicted to Love."

Meanwhile, the three remaining Durans, Simon Le Bon, John Taylor and Nick Rhodes (who was once voted the most beautiful man in rock, not to be left out, formed their own side-group, Arcadia. But Arcadia could not match the critical and commercial success of the Power Station.

Renaming themselves Duran Duran, a name originally from the Jane Fonda space movie "Barbarella," they released "Notorious," which managed to rekindle a little of the old spark.

Duran Duran was one of the first groups to fully exploit the growing music video industry in the early 80s, spending large sums of money on exotic productions. The video for "Hungry like the Wolf," was shot on location in an Asian jungle.

In 1984, Le Bon and the gang played set agents up the Effel Tower in a video, and hit the top of the Billboard Hot 100 for the second time with "A View to a Kill," which was also the first James Bond movie theme song to reach number 1.

At the height of their popularity, Duran Duran split up.

And then there were three. As a trio, Duran Duran has just released their second album "Do It" and have come a long way since their early new wave days, in 1980, they hit the British top five with "Girls On Film," this writer's favorite Duran Duran song.

It was their second album "Rio" that earned them international stardom with hits like "Hungry like the Wolf," "Save A Prayer," and "Rio." "Rio" also served as a transitional album for Duran Duran, coming in between the raw experimentation of their third and last studio album together, "Seven and the Ragged Tiger."

The album was produced by Chic's Nile Rodgers, and contained the band's first American number 1 hit, "The Reflex."

Sleep is crucial to surviving in college. Keep track of your sleep patterns, and become conscious there is a change for any length of time.

Take time out to do nothing. Sometimes being a couch potato for a day can help you restore your balance in life.

Keep up your hobbies. Make sure that you have some hobby to take your mind off school work, even if it is just socialising, which is also important to one's emotional well-being.

Friends can help you through tough times.

Exercise regularly. Nothing is a better stress reliever.

Finally, don't go through life alone. If you are having problems, tell someone about it. This is what R.A.s and hall counsellors are there for. Most students are familiar with who from the university is there to help you.

In case there is someone out there who can help you to get back on track.

ACTIVELY seek advice.

University Groups to Open Slave Raider Concert

The purpose of the UWSP Music Coalition is not only to bring a variety of music to the campus and give bands on experience in programming and promotion to its members, but also to help university musicians. President Mark Montgomery is accomplishing all three December 1, when the students of UWSP will be given the unique opportunity to experience the heavy metal band SLAVE RAIDERS. The concert will take place in the University Center's Program Banquet Room.

The coalition is gaining practical experience by doing graphic paste-ups for posters and flyers, writing radio ads, obtaining extra funding through university channels and outside sponsors, and conceiving and executing unique promotional campaigns.

But, perhaps the brightest aspect of the concert is the acquisition of experience and exposure for two bands made up of UWSP students. Both bands, Gemini and Paris, will be the opening acts for R.C.K. recording artists, Slave Raider.

GEMINI and PARIS are both extremely talented and dedicated bands. GEMINI is a five member group which plays mostly originals. They are made up of three communications majors, Kelly and Pat St. John on guitar and Launze St. John on bass. The drummer is the highly energized Tim Gumm. The newest addition to the group is keyboardist and music major Will Ulrich.

The St. John brothers have been playing and composing music for over 10 years. Their main goal is to write great songs and have people hear and enjoy them.

One highlight of their show will be an original recently recorded entitled, "Why." PARIS was recently featured at a TTN in the Encore Room, and mesmerized the crowd with their energy. Paris features Michael Jay, a communications major on vocals. Jim Weber and Ryan Powers are music majors, on guitar and bass respectively. Hard hitting Tom Karlen, a medical technology major, is the drummer. Paris has a heavy edge and will do material ranging from Ozzy Osbourne to Guns N' Roses.

Paris has also recently recorded an original single that is truly dynamic, entitled, "Don't Tell Me." (Both the Paris and Gemini singles will be featured on 90FM's Sunday night Metal Thunder show with Paul Panick.)

Paris vocalist Michael Jay said to let everyone know that "we'll be pulling the card to start the Chainsaw (referred to Slave Raider vocalist Chainsaw Caine) on December 1." The Slave Raider show will have to be seen to be believed.

Design Seminar

As a public service, the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point's department of art and design has scheduled three seminars in careers in design. There will be no admission charge.

The sessions will be held on the late afternoons of Nov. 17, Dec. 1 and Dec. 8 in the classroom behind the Edna Carsten Gallery of the Fine Arts Center. There will be no admission charge.

The speakers Nov. 17 beginning at 4 p.m. will be Michael Metcalf, a Stevens Point architect, and D. Ken Salee, a Madison-based landscape designer and member of the firm J.S. Morrison

"I may not bring about world peace, but I can save Buddy Holly.

These words were spoken by Walter Sorg, who was referring to the work done by the organization he co-founded with Bob Pearson. The group is called R.O.C.K., and although it can't save Buddy Holly from the plane crash that stole away his life, R.O.C.K. might prevent his music from being forever remembered as the jingle for a car commercial.

R.O.C.K. stands for Rockies Opposing Cheap Knockoffs, and its goal is to protect rock-and-roll classics from becoming tools for commercial makers. Members of R.O.C.K. write to major recording artists to express their anger with the use of classic songs in television ads.

Among the tunes used in commercials Sorg notes as being particularly offensive are: Duke of Earl for toilet cleaner, Great Pretender and Tilt-light Time for a chain of seafood restaurants, Splish Splash for drain cleaner and I Heard It Through the Grapevine for a certain state's dried grapes (mug by these cute little clay figures). And it's not hard to come up with several more. Sittin' On The Dock of the Bay for root beer, When A Man Loves A Woman for automobiles and, of course, Revolution for speakers comes immediately to mind.

Now maybe the use of these classics doesn't bother some of you younger college students who don't really feel a connection with the hits of yesteryear. Fair enough, but imagine the songs that have become a part of your lives. Think of 'I Feel Like I'm Breaking Up With You' or 'Child's in Time.' What would you do if you heard them on a public service, the promotion of colorful, plastic for tape recorders, R.O.C.K. may perhaps be the place for you. Remember, Buddy Holly's legacy needs your help.

Bounce Your Way to a Healthier You

by Lorrie Zundy

Aerobics. Egads-exercise. Do you envision Jane Fonda or Janice Lee Curtis bouncing up and down with the energy levels of a person "tripping out" or five cans of Mountain Dew? Don't let this image intimidate you, especially if you are a beginner.

You may be hesitant about beginning an aerobic program. Maybe you do not know what aerobics is. Do you believe that you must be in good physical condition to do aerobics? Are you unaware of the benefits, both physical and emotional, that you will achieve?

Aerobic exercises are a consistent, continuous demand on the different muscles of the body. They must be done three to four days per week for 30 minutes at your target heart rate in order to receive the full benefits. Several aerobic classes with different intensities are held daily in the Phys. Ed. building. Information pertaining to the intensity, times, and locations are posted throughout the Phys. Ed. building, or you may call the intramural desk at 346-4641.

There are many physical and emotional benefits that can be achieved by doing aerobic exercise. Physical benefits include improved heart condition and oxygen uptake, increased high density lipoproteins and metabolic rate, decreased blood pressure and body fat percentage, immune system benefits such as fighting off viruses, and possible increased longevity. Emotional benefits include increases in ability to cope with stress, increased self-esteem, relief of chronic depression, and a better feeling about life in general.

Aerobic exercise is a great way to get in shape, receive physical and emotional benefits for yourself, meet new people, and have fun. Go shape, have fun, do aerobics!

Lazer Tag: The Newest Craze

by Michelle Blodowski

Plastic cap guns in dorm hall.

That's the scenario that's been lately's Lazer Tag. The Lazer-shooting gun has become one of the most popular diversions from the dorm room to starbase to opposite ends of a playing field. Players then go out as pairs or in groups to tag each other on the ground. Anyone can tag each other in an attempt to better their team's chances. If a play­er receives six tags, he is out of the game and the opposing team now faces fewer defend­ers.

As the last alternative, experts offer a variation called Time Out. The object of the game is to score as many points as possible during a set amount of time. Each tag that an opponent receives counts for one point. The reduced price makes this game one of the hottest commodi­ties around. Area toy mer­chants say they cannot keep any Laser Tag in stock. So for all of you fans of guns, fun and technology, this toy is for you.

Pornography

From Pornography and Obscenity
by D.H. Lawrence

What is pornography to one man is the laughter of genius to another.

One essay on pornography, I remember, comes to the conclusion that pornography in art is that which is calculated to arouse sexual desire, or sexual excitement. And stress is laid on the fact, whether the author or artist intended to arouse sexual feelings. It is the old veiled question of intention, become so dull today, when we know how strong and influential our unconscious instincts are. It is when man should be held guilty of his conscious intentions, and innocent of his unconscious intentions than of conscious ones. I am what I am, not merely what I think I am.

However! We take it, I assume, that pornography is something base, something unpleasant. In short, we don’t like it. And why don’t we like it? Because it arouses sexual feelings?

I thing not. No matter how hard we may pretend otherwise, most of us rather like a moderate roasting of our sex. It warms us, stimulates us like sunshine on a grey day. After a century or two of Puritanism, this is still true of most people. Only the mob-blobby of condemning any form of sex is too strong to let us admit it naturally. And there are, of course, many people who are genuinely repelled by the simplest and most natural stirrings of sexual feeling. But these people are perverts who have fallen into hatred of their fellow-men; distrustful, disappointed, unfulfilled people, of whom, alas, our civilization contains so many. And they nearly always enjoy some unimprovable and unnatural form of sex excitement, secretly.

Even quite advanced art critics would try to make us believe that any picture or book which had “sex appeal” was ipso facto a bad book or picture. This is just casting hypocrisy. Half the great poems, pictures, music, stories, of the whole world are great by virtue of the beauty of their sex appeal. Titian or Rembrandt, the Song of Solomon or Jane Eyre, Mozart or “Annie Laurie” – the loveliness is all interwoven with sex appeal, sex stimuli, call it what you will. Even Michelangelo, who rather hated sex, can’t help filling the Cornucopia with phallic acres. Sex is a very powerful, beneficial and necessary stimulus in human life, and we are all greatful when we feel its warm, natural flow through us, like a form of sunshine.

Then what is pornography, after all this? It isn’t sex appeal or sex stimuli in art. It isn’t even a deliberate intention on the part of the artist to arouse er excite sexual feelings. There’s nothing wrong with sexual feelings in themselves, so long as they are straightforward and not morose or sly. The right sort of sex stimuli is inviolable to human daily life. Without it the world grows grey. I would give everybody the gay Remanneau stories to read, they would help to shake off a lot of grey self-imposed, which is our modern civilization disease.

But even I would censor genuine pornography, in almost always underworld, it doesn’t come into the open. In the second, you can recognize it by the insult it did, invariably, to sex and to the human spirit.

Pornography is the attempt to insult sex, to do dirt on it. This is impermissible. Take the very lowest of instances, the picture postcard sold underhand, by the underworld, in most cities. What I have seen of them have been not an ugliness to make you cry. The insult to the human body, the insult to a vital human relationship? Ugly and cheap they make the human nudity, ugly and degraded they make the sexual sex, trivial and cheap and nasty.

It is the same with the books they sell in the underworld. They are either sc ugly they make you ill, or so famous you can’t imagine anybody but a cretin or a moron reading them, or writing them.
Pornography

It is the same with the dirty limericks that people tell after dinner, or the dirty stories one hears commercial travelers telling each other in a smoke-room. Occasionally there is a really funny one, that redresses a great deal, but usually they are just ugly and repulsive, and the so-called "humor" is just a trick of doing dirt on sex.

Now the human nudity of a great many modern people is just ugly and degraded, and the sexual orientation of modern people is just the same, merely ugly and degrading. But this is nothing to be proud of. It is the celebration of our civilization. I would like to see the modern church, even the Roman, have showed such a vast proportion of ignominious and degraded nudity, and ugly, repulsive sex. Because no other civilization has driven sex into the underworld, and made it the W.C.

The intelligent young heaven, seem determined to alien in these two respects. They are reasoning their young necessity from the study, pornographical hold-and-curse underworld of their elders, and they refuse to speak about the sexual relations. This is a change the elderly gray case of adult degeneration, but it is in fact a very grand change for better, and a real revolution.

But it is amazing how strong is the will in ordinary, vulgar people, to do dirt on sex. It was one of my fund illusions, when I was young, that the ordinary healthy-seeming sort of men in railway carriages, or the smoke-room of an hotel or a pullman, were healthy in their feelings and had a wholesome rough duellist-care attitude towards sex. All wrong! All wrong! Experience teaches that common individuals of this sort have a disgusting attitude towards sex, a disgusting contempt for a disgusting desire to it. If such fellows have intercourse with women, they triumphantly look to feel that they have done their dirt, and now she is lower, cheaper, more contemptible than she was before.

It is individuals of this sort that tell dirty stories, carry indecent picture postcards, and know the indecent books. This is the great pornographical class - the really common man-in-the-street and women-in-the-street. They have as great a hate and contempt of sex as the greatest Puritan, and when an appeal is made to them, they are always on the side of the angels. They insist that a film-beauvian shall be a neuter, a senseless thing of washed-out purity. They insist that real sex shall only be shown by the villains or villainesses, low lust. They find a Titan of Religion indecent, and they don't want their wives and daughters to see it.

Why? Because they have the gray disease of sex-hatred, coupled with the yellow disease of dirt-love. The sex function and the excrementary functions in the human body work so close together, yet here they are, so to speak, utterly different in direction. Sex is a creative flow, and excrementary flow from its direction, de-creation, if we may use such a word. I the really healthy human being the distinction between the two is instant, our profoundest instincts are perhaps our instincts of opposition between the two flows.

But in the degraded human being the deep instincts have gone dead, and then the two flows become interfused. This is the secret of really vulgar and so pornographical people: the sex flow and the excrement flow are the same to them. It happens when the psyche deteriorates, and the profound excrementary instincts collapse. Then sex is dirt and dirt is sex, and sexual excitement becomes continued with dirt, and any sign of sex in a woman becomes a dose of her dirt. This is the condition of the common, vulgar human being whose name is legion, and who lits his voice and it is the Van gosh, our Del. And this is the excuse of all pornographer

Opinions

Male exotic dancing has become one of the hottest new crazes in the 80's. With the popularity of this form of entertainment at places like the Sugar Shack, in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, the fascination has spread across the U.S. like wildfire. Next week the flames will even reach our own campus.

A controversy has risen. The Student Government Association (SGA) does not approve of the UAB's choice of fund-raising programs and the SBA finds itself unable to hinder UAB's choices and decisions. The question the SGA raises concerning this issue is the morality and decency of providing exotic dancers (male and female) for a college-age crowd.

By the time young people enter college, they have been given the right to choose to do what they will, within reason. To participate in such a degrading "sport" as stripping, which is basically what exotic dancing consists of, in my opinion, is rather vulgar and extremely gauche. Additionally, the audience consists of college-age men or women or senior citizens. Is it going to occur anyway, but don't people have anything better to do with their time? Whatever happened to cultural or intellectual stimulation? And it's not a sexless issue, in my eyes either. I am embarrassed for men and women who choose to undress themselves in front of strangers, for whom I am also embarrassed.

Is nothing left for the imagination in the privacy of the bedroom? Is nothing sacred?

What's next? Will we be viewing men and women partaking in sexual intercourse on stage in the next decade? It's up to you - and your imagination.

by Greg Sinner

There used to be a time when all it took for people to get excited was to have the circus come to town. Today, trapeze artists and elephants just won't do the trick. We need exotic dancers to sell the popcorn. Yes folks, the exotic dancers are approaching on November 30th, UAB will feature the dancers. Following this Marid Gras, a panel discussion will commence - get this - "Pornography." Phil Donahue would be proud! Not only do we finance frivolity, we intellectualize immorality!

What's that? "Immoral" you say? How dare you, Jerry Falwell! Don't you know we're entitled to this? It's college! Have an open mind! Shut up and jump, trooper!

Surely someone one wonders how many students want their tuition dollars to fund this portion of the annual fund-raising programs. The SBA presents an educational value there is in having a touch of Tarzan come out of the jungle, only to be dominated by discussion! One wonders as we can go. What's next - an example of arson, fol lowed by political drama! Where's the match? Get any gasoline? Now, let's talk!

Before the First Amendment purists and the ACLU-satirists come knocking doors, this red neck is putting up the "On Vacation" sign. I'll head for the woods, where even the trees shed their leaves for free. On vacation, maybe I'll take my Visa - just in case...
Two Game Sweep

The UWSP Hockey team swept a two-game series this weekend against UW-Superior at the R.B. Williams Arena.

On Friday, the Pointers found themselves down by one when Superior scored on a powerplay when Paul Vanavary scored at 5:29 in the first period.

The Pointers came back to lead 3-1 when Mike Stabell, Ralf Baraban and Monte Conrad each put one in the net to end the first period. The second goal was scored on a powerplay and the third with the Pointers down a man.

Penalties hurt Superior in the second period when UWSP put five goals, all of which were on powerplays. Craig Paranzino, Mike Ruck, Paul Caufield, Shawn Wener, and Mike Stabell all scored, with the end of the second period, 8-3, Stevens Point leading.

The third period was a scoring exchange with both teams putting three in the net. Paul Caufield scored two to give Paul a hat-trick and Tim Hale scored his first of the game. The final score was 11-4.

Saturday’s contest was a bit closer. The Pointers came on strong with two quick goals in the first period with Ralf Baraban and Mike Stabell scoring one a piece. The rest of the period remained scoreless as Superior improved its defensive play. The only goal scored in the second period was when Superior put a goal in to come within one point of tying the score.

Superior came back to the score with the first goal of the third period when Ron Evans put one in the net. The Pointers then took the lead with two quick goals by Ralf Baraban and Mike Waldron with his first of the game. Superior came within one after Jake Euse put one in to end the game with the Pointers up one, 4-3.

Swimmers Split

By Andy Connolly

Contributor

Red Blair, the head coach of the swim team at UWSP, was very positive about the team after this past weekend. He believes that, with the team working very hard, his new program in its second year, of circuit training combined with the traditional training regimen is working out very well.

Parent’s Weekend went very well for the Pointers Swimming and Diving team. The Pointers made their parents proud with many exciting and impressive swims. The swimming and diving team had two swim meets this past weekend. Both the Men’s team, the Dogfish, and the Women’s team, the Angelfish, came away with one defeat and one victory. On Friday the team was opposed by the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle and on Saturday by UW-Whitewater.

The Dogfish and Angelfish were both defeated by the Chicago Circle team which was a talented Division I team. The Pointers’ performances were not bad but 50-34 and Angelfish lost 60-34. Although it was not a victory for either Pointers team, the swimmers had many good performances and times which were quite fast for this early in the season.

First place finishers were Kein Parham in the 50 freestyle; Terry Calzetta, 50 and 100 freestyle; and Janet Gelwitsch, 200 butterfly. The Pointer men and women both managed to keep Chicago Circle’s incomplete by capturing the final event, the 400 freestyle relay. The Dogfish relay was comprised of Parham, Jamie Weigel, Sam Siegel and Andy Connolly. The Angelfish team included Ann Benson, Meg Meister, Darcey Hennessey, and Calchera.

In the second meet, the Angelfish and Dogfish both calmed the Whitewater team for their first conference win. The Angelfish showed their superiority in the conference meet by finishing in the top ten in the 1,650 yard freestyle relay.

Red Blair noted that although the team’s main objectives are to do well at conference and Nationals, it gives the team a mental boost to have a victory along the way, especially against a conference team. He is glad to have Ken Drumhough as his assistant this year as Ken had taken on many of the pressure off him. Blair also noted that Scott Thoma’s performance in the diving was especially noteworthy as his only coaches are Brendan (Tom) and Tricia Wentworth, the women’s diver who is presently coming back from an injury.

Points Earn Trip to Nationals

La Crosse—An outstanding performance by the Pointer men’s cross country team in the tough NCAA Division 3 Regional has sent them to the NCAA Nationals in St. Louis.

“Too say that we are excited would be an understatement of the year,” said coach Rick Witt.

“We had a goal all year of getting our team to the Nationals, and we accomplished just that,” said Witt.

The Pointers ended up fifth in the competitive 29 team field. “We were in the strongest regional in the country with 8 teams ranked in the top 15,” said Witt.

North-Central won the regional with 36 points, followed by UW-Oshkosh with 51, UW-La Crosse 83, Augsburg 104, UW Stevens Point 115, UW-Whitewater 170, Washington 183, Carroll 228, Wheaton 256, Lawrence 271, Illinois Wesleyan 343, North Park 393, Chicago 394, Millikin 403, Illinois Benedictine 421, Knox 493, Elmhurst 495, Principia 568, Millikin ICG and Webster INC.

“I know that every guy who put their all and that was enough to get us to a trip, even though I know we can run better,” said Witt. “For some different reasons, while we had a great team effort, we did not all have our best performances.”

“Two guys that I really think were instrumental in our going to the Nationals were Bob Spendhau and Rick Havlin. Bob works with our diving and they worked with each other throughout the race and caught almost 10 people each in the last mile to get it to the meet. As a matter of fact all of our people made big moves the last mile to overtake both Whitewater and Washington who were beating us at the time.”

Leading the Pointers to their fifth place finish were Eric Fosun and Rodger Garcia, who placed eighth in 25:37 time and third in 24:44, clocking, respectively.

“Fosun and Garcia both ran well, but can run better and have to at Nationals. Both of them have to be a little more aggressive and be right with the leaders rather than falling in behind them.”

Rob Spendhau was the next finisher for the Pointers coming in 31st with a 27:39 time. Indy Glassberg was 32nd with a 27:32 finish and Rob Kowalski was 22nd place finish and a 27:07 time.

Other finishers include John Benson 36th (27:50), Tim Olson (28:38), and Bill Desi (28:27).

“Cojplin, Olson, and Dawn were our next finishers and we were just so happy that we did what we could to get us to the Nationals. Celeste has asthma and has a hard time in cold weather, while this was her first real cold in cold weather. Celeste has been ill and is still not back to par, but he gave all he had.”

“It has been a year of ups and downs, but we have a good team, and they are a good team and deserve a chance to do it at Nationals, as we set our sights on a top 30 finish. I am very pleased with the entire team at the nationals and the other men on the team who didn’t run there to cheer us on.”

The Pointers will end their season this coming Saturday, November 19, at St. Louis, Mo. at the Nationals.
Pointers' Win Silver and Gold

The Pointer Wrestlers were victorious in last weekend's Tombstone Open, capturing nine placements in both the silver and gold divisions.

The Gold (open to both freshmen and upper-classmen) placements were held by Bob Koehler (118 lbs.) who received a 2nd, Bob Hervais (134 lbs.) placing 3rd and freshman, Steve Dibble (145 lbs.) also placing 3rd.

A Look At The Fourth Annual Tipoff Tournament

One of the strongest fields ever has been entered for the Fifth Annual Tipoff Tournament, sponsored by Premium Brands and Coca-Cola.

Joining the Pointers of UW-Stevens Point are Huson College of North Dakota, Kearney State College of Nebraska, and Mount Saint Mary.

The "freshlook" Pointers under the guidance of second-year coach Bob Parker, are young and loaded with potential. Parker and his staff had a hambound year, bringing in 10 freshman to UWSP.

The starting lineup is speckled with experience. Senior Captains Michael Lehrman (2.3 points, 2.9 rebounds in 1987-1988) will start at center with sophomore Chis Pronschincke (5.2, 6.9) and redshirt junior Scott Anderson at guard. The forwards will be freshman Jon Julius and Mike Hatch.

The Pointers opening round foe will be Mount Scenary. Last season the Saints were 35-13 under fourth year head coach Mike Schumacher. This season Rain's team is a favorite in the Upper Midwest conference after post-strings, wrested in the toughest weight class, beating the 2nd place title holder in NCAA and other college seniors.

"The Pointers did very well considering we're in the division III, and competed against wrestlers in division titles 1 and II," Coach Loy stated.

The silver (open to freshmen) were held by many (118 lbs., placing 3rd, Dan Heinze (126 lbs.) placing 3rd, Mark Huizer (134 lbs.) and Chris Kollman (145 lbs.) also placing 3rd. In the 134 lbs. division, Eric der-son placed 4th.

The next meet will be November 26 in Madison at the UW Field House, where the Pointer's will be competing against the best teams in the nation, as well as Olympic Class wrestlers. Loy commented on the Northern Open as being the biggest tournament in the midwest.

The wrestlers will hit the mat at 9 a.m. with finale beginning at 7 p.m., Loy was impressed at last weekend's turn-out and hopes to see Pointer pep in Madison as well.

How Much Is Too Much?

STRIKING OUT

by Timothy Bishop

Is there a conspiracy going on among the National Football League?

Several times this year, when a team has had the ball within their opponents five-yard line, looking to score a touchdown in a half, the defense has been penalized, a fumble results, and another touchdown is scored.

Laws of football are made to penalize the infraction, however, sports writers and critics may be the only people penalized for this.

Other penalties may be added, the defense may be penalized for the infraction, and the offense may score a touchdown from the line of scrimmage.

That is what happened on Sunday as the Green Bay Packers lost to the Indianapolis Colts, 34-21.

Green Bay had the ball at the 17 yard line in the fourth quarter with only six seconds left in the game and trailing by a touchdown. A moment of time for two playings passes.

On the first play, the Colts were penalized when a defensive back held the intended receiver and a personal foul was called. The Pointer ice hockey team is for real! After opening the season by sweeping UW-Fond du Lac, the Pointers raised their record to 6-4-1 after taking a pair from UW-Superior. The Pointers are favored to win the Northern Collegiate Hockey Association, and they have proven that they are worthy of that consideration.

The Badger Hockey team has opened its season with an impressive 7-0 record. Madison used the power play to pick up a sweep over the University of St. Thomas last weekend, the Badgers had been undefeated and unbeaten with the exception of two victories.

On to college basketball, the Badgers actually won. Yet, you read that right, that right turned the corner on Minnesota

Meanwhile, the Pointer football team blew any chance it had of making it an NCAA playoffs, falling to UW-Platteville. The Pointers had been tied for second in the WWC and embarked into the NCAA Division II, dropped in both ends of an opening round doubleheader.

The Pointers opened the season with a 28-20 win over the Tomahawks in the season opener.

Another game, the Pointers were defeated by Minnesota State, Mankato, 35-24.

The Pointers were led by quarterback Dennis Donohue, who passed for 246 yards and a touchdown.

The Pointers are scheduled to play against the University of Wisconsin at 1:00 PM on Saturday, November 26, at the UW Memorial Field House.

The Pointers will attempt to improve their record to 4-1 and continue their winning streak against the Badgers.

The Pointers are currently ranked 11th in the nation and are looking to move up in the polls.

The Pointers, who come into this game ranked No. 20 in the NCAA III National Poll, are fighting for a chance to play in this season's NCAA III National Playoffs. The Pointers can become the NCAA III Champions if they can defeat the #16 ranked UW-Oshkosh on Saturday, November 19th, in the last home game of the season.

The Pointers are currently 4-4 in conference play and need a win to become eligible for the playoffs. The UW-Oshkosh Titans are 5-3 in conference play and need to win their last two games to secure a playoff berth.

The Pointers have been led by quarterback Kurt Sodenberg, who has completed 185 of 323 passes for 2,361 yards and 17 touchdowns. The Pointers' defense has allowed only 12.6 points per game.

The UW-Oshkosh Titans have been led by quarterback Don Moehling, who has completed 181 of 319 passes for 2,380 yards and 15 touchdowns. The Titans' defense has allowed 20.8 points per game.

The game is set to begin at 2:00 PM on Saturday, November 19th, at UW-Oshkosh. The winner will move on to the NCAA III National Playoffs while the loser will head into the off-season.

Lady Pointers Come Up Short In Regionals

La-Crosse Five points was all that separated the Pointers' women's cross country team from the NCAA Nationals. It was, however, not a total loss as Jenny Schick qualified individually for the NCAA III National meet on November 19th in St. Louis.

"The outcome of this meet was really hard to take," said Coach Len Hill. "We ran well and all seven runners did an excellent job."".

Waukesha, WI: The Pointers women's cross country team finished fourth at the NCAA III Regional meet held at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse on Saturday, November 19th.

With a score of 67, the Pointers finished just behind the top three teams: St. Cloud State (57), Wisconsin-La Crosse (60), and Minnesota-Crookston (62).

Jenny Schick led the Pointers with a time of 22:14.5, qualifying her for the NCAA Nationals.

Other finishers for the Pointers included: Emily Johnson (23:20), who placed 37th; Jacquie Seitz (23:26), who placed 39th; and Claudia Meyer (23:46), who placed 46th.

The team was coached by Jennifer Kopp, and the meet was held at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

The NCAA Nationals will be held on November 29th in St. Louis, Missouri.

Hunting Safety Urged

Department of Natural Resources

RHINELANDER — A successful deer hunt should be gauged on more than the act of shooting a deer. Wisconsin's long deer hunting tradition often centers on the value of a family activity done together, the comedy of the hunting shock, nine days set aside each year to return to the woods. But all of those meaningful values can easily be lost away because of a serious accident or injury during the hunt.

DNR North Central District Safety Specialist, Bob Tucker, reminds firearm deer hunters that every gun must be treated as if it is loaded. There is no excuse such as "I didn't know it was loaded." Always point the muzzle in a safe direction.

"The muzzle can always point an expert. He doesn't point the muzzle anywhere else. "A good hunter treats it as if it is loaded. If someone asks if it is loaded, they should say "yes." He never shoots anything except what he wants to hit."

As always, hunters should check prior to the opening of the season to insure all hunting equipment is in good working order. Blaze orange safety garments should be bright and visible when worn, and not faded. A faded jacket can be made visible by wearing a new blaze orange vest. Head gear must be blaze orange material.

Around tree stands and ground blinds, blaze orange ribbons may be used to aid alert other hunters of your presence above or on the ground. Tree stands should be anchored securely to the tree, and hunters should use safety straps or a harness to prevent falling from the tree. Similarly, guns should be unloaded on the ground and pulled up a tree stand with a rope, while firearms should be unloaded and lowered to the ground by a rope before attempting to climb out of the tree stand.

Safety during the Wisconsin 9-day deer season is really a matter of common sense, Tucker insists. Good sense in the fields and forests of North Central Wisconsin this season will help to insure the quality hunting experience that has become a Wisconsin tradition.

A veto of a wilderness bill last week by President Reagan was defended by the White House. They said the veto was needed for a variety of economic and environmental reasons. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd (D) of Montana disputed that. He says the decision to not designate 1.6 million acres of Federal land in Montana as wilderness was "petty politics."

"The White House argument was part of the decision they were still part of the old "Keep America dry and clopping crew."

The Safe Energy Consumption Council (SECC) released a study this year that outlines the efficiency of conserving and using energy. The SECC compared conservation, efficiency, and renewable resource usage sustainable agriculture is a hot topic right now. The drought and high prices for fertilizer and equipment power is making it look to less petroleum- and energy efficient laws on the books and good and necessary to continue programs. They also say the rollback is the result of Detroit's failure to keep up with foreign producers.

Door County Winter

By Stacy Heyer

Commentator

"Another popular event is the "Fish Creek Winter Games" held February 4-10. At this time, the ice-covered Bay of Green Bay will hold an enormous tent for activities. There are ice hockey matches, cross country skiing, cherry pit spitting contests, ice sculpturing, ice skating, ice swimming, an arts and crafts fair, snow baseball, a traditional Door County fish boil, a parade, sleigh rides and an ice/water/wave snowmobile races."

The winter activities in Door County are not restricted, however, not limited to these two popular events. It is a place ideal for those vacationers who enjoy sitting before a cracking fire at one of the county's fine inns, sipping a mug of hot apple cider made from local apples. On crisp, sunny winter days, one can either take long walks through the village streets or Fish Creek or take a horse-drawn sleigh ride, offered daily, from the White Gull Inn.

Door County is also the place that offers the most celebrated fish boil's, which continue throughout the winter months. Make Door County your winter vacation place.

The difference in the organic farm uses no petrochemicals to fertilize, treat or condition soils or animals on the farm. Proponents say this way of farming is more sustainable than the way farming has gone the last 30 years.

Tropical forests are under siege from many fronts, but the World Bank has a chance to help stem the tide. $500 million in loans to Brazil to build hydroelectric dams in the Amazon basin and elsewhere are up for approval. These projects are usually more trouble than help because of water-quality problems, cultural extinction of indigenous peoples and poor engineering. The U.S. representatives in 1986 voted on similar loans. Opponents of the loans say energy conservation could remove the need for more power production.

Energy efficiency in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union is one-half that of the West. Output of gross national product there also produces twice the acid-rain-causing nitrogen dioxide as the West. Environmentalists have called this an environmental disaster and it may be the biggest obstacle in the path of economic reform in the East.

The situation is getting so bad that official tolerance of public environmental groups is growing. It's apparent that Eastern economic growth cannot occur without environmental concern. New East/West cooperation may be spurred by environmental degradation in Europe. It may be cheaper for Western countries to help Eastern countries clean up at the source rather than clean up in the recipient country. Mikhail Gorbachev of the Soviet Union has stated that Europe is our common home. The coming economic unity of Western Europe will also help cross-border efforts to improve environmental conditions there. The decline in the idea of individual authorities and the growth of cooperation bodes well for the future.

Hunters Beware!
Lyme Disease

As its name implies, the deer tick (also called a bear tick) is often found in white-tail deer. Hunters who will be handling carcasses in the field need to know, says Kearby, that the deer tick is "an aggressive little bug, and it will bite anything it finds."

Symptoms of Lyme Disease include a rash that develops from 3 to 33 days after a person is bitten. Other symptoms include headache, chills, nausea, fever, aching joints, and fatigue. The symptoms of the disease may disappear and then reappear later.

The best way to avoid Lyme Disease, points out Kearby, is to be careful. "Bug sprays are very effective in warding off the deer ticks. It's also recommended that individuals thoroughly check themselves for tick bites after going outside." When a tick bites, it injects a substance that deadens pain, so the person being bitten will not realize the tick's presence unless he looks for it. It takes several hours before a tick can infect a person with Lyme Disease, so removing it is a good way to avoid the disease.

HUNELANDER - If they are not careful, deer hunters could bring home more than they bargained for this hunting season.

Bites from a tiny insect called a deer tick threaten the health of unsuspecting hunters, according to DNR North Central District Entomologist, Bill Kearby. "The deer tick passes a bacteria to its victim that causes Lyme Disease, an illness that can cause problems with heart, joints, and nervous system."

Outdoor Report

MADISON—With the gun deer hunt under a week away, rut signs are plentiful in the woods; it’s a good time to get out and look for them in your favorite hunting spot.

Wet, heavy snow has settled leaves on the forest floor in the north, providing excellent conditions for bowhunters. Many larger deer were taken last week, including a 10-point, 248-pound buck in northern Iron County. With the rut in full force, bowhunters in southern Wisconsin are having great success too. A ten-pointer was taken near Benton in Lafayette County.

This should be a bountiful year for deer gun hunters; there is a projected near-record harvest in the north. Successful hunter’s choice recipients should be getting their permits in the mail. The increased movement of deer during this rut period usually means more reports of car/deer accidents on the highway. Caution is urged when driving at night. Bald eagles have been seen feeding on car-killed deer along the roadkills in the Woodruff area.

Along Lake Michigan, anglers are getting some nice catches of walleyes at the mouth of the Fox River. Lakes Wausawga and White are producing a few panfish. In the southeast, perch fishing is good at Milwaukee’s Summit∩lark grounds, with some anglers reporting catches of 30 to 35 fish. Rainbow and brown trout are providing plenty of action off Racine’s north pier.

In Kenosha County, shore anglers are catching some chumfish, salmon and rainbow trout in the harbor near the best sign; the Pike River is also producing some good catches of salmon and rainbow trout. They’re catching walleyes on the Wisconsin River below the Sauk City dam.

Remember—now’s the time to set out your bird feeders and mud if you haven’t done so already. And keep your feeding stations stocked and clean throughout the winter season.

loaded weapon is an accident waiting to happen and when someone cleans a loaded gun (be it a target to check first), or sends his loaded rifle up into a tree stand, that person is a prime candidate to be on the 10 o’clock news, not for his success, but rather for his carelessness. Another example of the failure of safety is the hunter who is not sure of his target before taking his shot.

A popular hunting catalog advertises camouflaged toilet paper. This sounded like a novelty item to me and I found it rather humorous until it was pointed out to me that it was something that could save your life during an inadvertent target.

Imagine … there you are, covered in bright orange. There is just no way anyone could mistake you for a deer. But then, Mother Nature calls and you break out your trusty white Charmin. Where you are using it is suddenly void of its orange marking and suddenly you have a little white tail. Meanwhile, the rest of your orange is out of view as you are bending over. Good old Larry (you remember Larry) comes along and spots that beautiful white tail …

Basically, what it all boils down to is one phrase, common sense.

Common sense is that which does not come from wisdom and experience, but is something contained by every hunter in the woods. Thinking before you do anything and staying away from the alcohol before and during the hunt can make deer hunting a little safer for everyone.
To Smoke Or Not To Smoke

by Lori Schmitt

The U.S. Surgeon General states "smoking is the chief, single most preventable cause of premature death and disease in America." The American Cancer Society informs us that there are 300,000 deaths every year in the U.S. caused as a direct result of smoking—about 50,000 Americans were killed in the Vietnam War!

As of this year, 30 million Americans have kicked the cigarette habit. You can join in the celebration also!

The following are a list of the harmful effects of smoking and the benefits you will receive once you decide to "quit" smoking.

There are more than a few harmful gases found in tobacco smoke, of which many smokers are unaware of. Examples include: carbon monoxide, hydrogen sulfide, hydrogen cyanide, and arsenic.

Carbon monoxide enters the bloodstream of both smokers and non-smokers through the inner surface of the lungs. It robs the body of needed oxygen, resulting in headaches, dizziness, and lack of energy. For example, smoking ten cigarettes in a closed car generates carbon monoxide levels of 40 parts per million (ppm). This amount of carbon monoxide can potentially drive down a driver's reaction time. Even non-smokers should be aware of the effects of "secondhand" smoke. The American Lung Association reminds smokers and non-smokers that "secondhand" smoke can increase a non-smoker's heart beat, blood pressure and carbon dioxide levels! In addition, 34 million Americans have respiratory conditions which are worsened by exposure to people who smoke.

Hydrogen cyanide, a highly active enzyme poison which is used in gas chambers, is also found in cigarette smoke. The concentration of this gas in cigarette smoke is typically 1.8 ppm. Long-term exposure to 10 ppm is considered dangerous.

Hydrogen sulfide, which is responsible for the odor of rotten eggs, is found in cigarette smoke. Cigarette smoke also contains arsenic, a poisonous substance used in pharmaceutical preparations, glass, and insecticides. Acrrolein, acetone, ammonia, and nitric oxide are among the other gases which smokers willingly inhale.

Nicotine (not a gas), contains blood vessels, not allowing an ample amount of oxygen to the needed cells and, therefore, impairing circulation. As a result of the blood vessels becoming smaller in diameter, the heart has to pump harder, consequently resulting in hypertension (high blood pressure) and other equally serious physical disorders.

When one smokes, one also consumes tar. In one year, the person who smokes one pack of cigarettes per day consumes one cup of tar. When you smoke, your breath is filled with chemicals and tar, which can not be expelled. As a result, there is a high probability that many types of cancerous cells may begin to develop. Emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and sinusitis are other types of serious diseases that can occur.

C.L. Dale, a pathologist at Hinsdale Hospital, states "there is increasing evidence that nicotine and other gases found in cigarette smoke enhance the deposit of fatty material, mainly cholesterul, within the inner walls of the arteries." Arteriosclerosis and other cardiovascular diseases cause 50 percent of the deaths in America today; these deaths can be cut in half if one behavior could be eliminated—smoking!

Individuals who are able to quit smoking will be surprised by the numerous benefits they will experience, even within a short amount of time. Within 23 minutes of the last cigarette, blood pressure and pulse rate will decrease, and circulation to hands and feet will increase. Within 24 hours of the last cigarette, carbon monoxide levels will begin to decrease, along with the chances of having a heart attack. A lower amount of carbon monoxide in the air allows the vessels to dilate, and within two weeks, lung functioning will improve and energy levels will improve. Even more encouraging is that within ten years the death rates of ex-cigaretttesmokers areapproximately as low as those who never smoked before, however; all of the previous benefits listed above will be lost if an ex-smoker goes back to smoking just one cigarette per day.

The Great American Smoke Out

By Jeff Miller

The seventeenth of November is just an ordinary weekday for many, but to others it's a day of abstinence. For on Thursday thousands will put aside their cigarettes and honor the Great American Smoke Out.

This will not be an easy day for many who crave this heaven sent weed. It has taken more than half a century to prove finally and indisputably that the chemical nicotine is an addictive substance.

The attitude of the American public about smoking has changed dramatically during the past decade. This has been due mainly to major medical studies supporting the fact that smoking truly does cause lung cancer and heart disease among other things.

Up until this time smoking was thought to be glamorous and pleasurable. During the period of WWII over 50% of all Americans smoked. This high rate was probably due to their ignorance of its harmful side-effects. The phrase "I'll walk a mile for Camel" was known to all, and popular brands of non-filter cigarettes including Lucky Strike and Chesterfields were preferred by the majority.

As people became more educated about the harmful effects of smoking, "cold turkey" became the mood of many a smoker. In 1982 NIDA director William Pollin formerly testified before Congress that nicotine was an addictive drug. Then finally in May of 1988 Surgeon General Evertte Koop gave the report on the findings. The warnings have made their way to the cigarette packages themselves.

So why do people continue to smoke? It is difficult to put aside a habit of years with an easy non-chalance. nicotine in tobacco can hook a smoker as easily as heroin does a junkie. This one day out of the year may give someone the courage to get the monkey off their backs.

Hey! All of you Pourdarnik fans! So no can get you all of your favorite Kyle White cartoons in the book, Pourdarnik (and that's about it...). Watch out!

Attention White-tailed deer enthusiasts: There is a 24hr white-tailed deer seminar being conducted at the Jordan deer yard, located 8 miles east on Hwy. 66. Your instructors are two mature does, about to come into heat, and a magnificent 10 pt. buck, whose hormones are raging to the point where he doesn't need to wear beer goggles to decide who his mate will be. Take particular note to what he does when the does become alarmed and what the does do when they are approached by the young stud muffins. It is obvious to see he is rip roaring and ready to romp. A great deal of knowledge can be learned here and I recommend it to all who are interested in the white-tailed deer.
