Male rights activist Roy U. Schenk, Ph.D. is a long time women's rights advocate. Last May Schenk sent a "Dating Contract" to many campus organizations. Schenk argues against inequality in dating by contrasting the significant money involved in sex as this woman agrees to do violence against men. Dr. Schenk said in an interview, "In the United States, basically a violent response to the violence that women do against men."

As long as women do violence against men, men will have to live with the notion of in the United States. Dr. Schenk argued that "Date Rape is rape, unwanted intercourse with a person you know.

The Dating Contract would be signed by both parties prior to

Dating Contract

PREAMBLE: This contract is entered into by the man and woman involved, whose signatures appear below, in order to eliminate any possible misunderstandings concerning sexual involvement during of following a date.

It is the understanding of this contract that equality between the sexes is an important objective and desire of both parties. To that end, there is no expectation that either party will expect significantly more money or effort than the other person without commensurate compensation. Since sexual pleasure is one of the important things that men and women share with each other, this is acknowledged as such a compensation, and this contract is designed to establish a fair agreement on the subject. To that end.

IT IS MUTUALLY AGREED THAT:

1. It is the understanding of this contract that in most dating situations each party will pay their own way, and that transportation will be provided alternately by each party. When this occurs, it is the clear understanding of both parties that no contract has been established to become involved sexually; and neither party has any right to pressure the other person to be sexual.

2. An agreement for one party to pay for this date and the other party to pay for the next date is acceptable. In this situation it is understood that the woman will pay for the first date and the man will pay for the second date. This is recognized as a necessary compensation since traditionally the man has paid for the date.

3. In the event that the man pays for the date, except as described in item 2 above, she has the right to determine if there will be sexual involvement during of after the date, and the woman hereby agrees to this agreement. It is further agreed that the man is responsible to provide and to consume for safety.

4. In the event that the woman pays for the date, again except as described in item 2 above, she has the right to determine if there will be sexual involvement, and the man hereby agrees to this agreement. However, once such involvement is started, the woman may choose to cease such activity without reason or without giving such notice. In this situation, both parties will assume responsibility to provide relief, though it is presumed that only the man will be responsible for using them.

5. In the event that a date goes poorly, the parties may mutually agree to terminate it. In any case, the non-paying party may unilaterally withdraw by reimbursing the paying party for the costs of the evening.

6. This contract applies to this and to any further dates between the parties involved.

Contracting can eliminate "Date Rape" by Roy U. Schenk, Ph.D.

Date Rape? There's a lot of furor, especially on university campuses, about men's response to the ambiguity of women's "NO's" when involved in sexual situations. In practice, she likely has said NO about 195 times by the time sexual intercourse occurs, if it does, since Warren Farrell (author of Why Men Are The Way They Are) estimates that there are many steps from the start thus collus. Certainly most men are vividly aware that most women will say NO regularly along the way, and then assume the "obligation" to their Spouse.

Why do women say so much, even when they evidently don't really mean it? Simply put, it is because they have been socialized to protect their reputations and to let men take all the responsibility. But they have also been socialized to protect their identities. The United States, a woman still feels she was the only person involved.

Schenk is not the only researcher who may well develop a state of arousal that has an intense positive feeling or even the experience of Intercourse Syndrome (IPMS). Let's call this Pre-Coital Stress Syndrome (PSS). It is sex to condom men who respond inappropriately under conditions of PSS and not condemn at least the equally woman who participate in getting them there, and for that matter, not condemn men who consent violence under the stress of PSS. In other words, if women do not wish to proceed to sexual intercourse they should avoid becoming involved in sexual foreplay.

Is our campus unprepared?

College presidents are urged to take immediate action to reduce the incidence of sexual assaulting on campus and to protect the rights of student victims. The report, published by the Rape Treatment Center of Santa Monica, California, cites many cases of campus rape in which victims have been re-victimized by their aggressors. The report recommends major new policies and programs to remedy this problem.

Rape Treatment Center director and reporter co-author Gary Abrahanel states, "We're facing an epidemic. A recent national survey found that one in every six college women had been a victim of rape or attempted rape during the preceding year."

"Date Rape" has been defined as any non-consensual sexual experience forcing one person to engage in sexual activity against their wishes. The report defines "Date Rape" as any non-consensual sexual experience that is not a result of consensual activity between two willing parties. The report also stresses the importance of education and prevention in reducing the incidence of sexual assault on campus.

The report calls upon colleges to:

1. Adopt and send to every student an official policy that continues on page 4.
Dear Editor,

I was required to walk through the Museum of Natural History as an assignment for a biology class. What I saw there upset me and gave me a great sense of sorrow for mankind. I remember when we respected human lives, as we no longer do. What has happened to us that we think as little. Through life that we display the corpses of our children? Even in a museum I'm obviously referring to the reproduction display in the museum.

Oh, I know these kids are everything that makes them human, including a functioning brain and heart. We can human brain develops and grows all during their childhood years, is it not human until it has stopped development? The college learning experience, the developing of our brains, are we not yet human?的发展 of the species is what makes us human, when we die, do we become less human?

I have seen students reply how late and unrealistic this display seemed to them. They thought the exhibit appeared too pale to be real. Somehow I wondered how realistic it would look after being picked in a jar of formaldehyde or embalming fluid. We have the capability to make models that would serve the purpose much better than these babies do, so why are we still doing it? Can we at least give these children the dignity of a final resting place?

I want to tell you about the last exhibit in this gruesome display. Seeing him is what really did me in. On January 19, 1969, I had a stillborn child. He was the same size as this last "fetus." Oh I didn't check the exhibit to determine the sex of this baby. I couldn't see well through my tears anymore. My son never received a proper burial. The doctors double-teamed me in the recovery room and I signed some kind of a release form that I too doped up to understand. When I asked for the body for burial, it was too late. My child had been removed to someplace where he would be used for teaching purposes. I have six more and a nephew that were born smaller and weighing less than my son, but yet he wasn't even entitled to a funeral. I never buried him, but I neither can, nor will I ever forget him.

Last week I saw my son here, in this display. The next time you go through the museum, look close at this display. When you get to the last jar, I want you all to look close and see my son. He has a name, John Allan Drake. He was born and died on January 19, 1969. Had he lived he might have been walking beside you on this campus. Perhaps he would have been a brother, friend, or lover.

Had things been only a little different, he might have been you. Join me in the sorrow, that this life that never lived, was never allowed the burial he was entitled to.

I don't know who is responsible for this reproduction display, I only know that it should not exist on this or any other campus. If those of you who are responsible have any respect for human life please change this gruesome exhibit and give these children, whoever they may be, the one right that no one should be able to take away from us. The right to a death with dignity and a proper final resting place.

Thank you,
Allen C. Smith

Letter to The Editor:

At a recent American Red Cross blood drive held at UWSP Oct. 18, 19, and 20th, 600 people came to donate blood. These donations could not have come at a better time, with the supply being particularly low the last few weeks. Thanks to all the generous people who donated their healthy blood, all those in need of lifesaving transfusions will be provided with a new lease on life.

In addition to the blood donors, there were several other blood volunteers that worked together to ensure the success of the blood drive. University students worked together with people from the community by volunteering their time to help in the various positions at the blood drive.

Behind the scenes were University Center Associate director, Jerry Lindenberg, and student manager, Dale Rentfrow who planned and implemented one of the most organized blood drives at UWSP. Several local businesses donated the food and supplies for the canteen section of the blood drive.

The next blood drive will be held at the Elks Club in Stevens Point on December 7 and 8. Please make time to donate blood.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Wenzke

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, would like to take this opportunity to commend a good friend of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, Senator David Helbach.

During his ten years in the Legislature, Dave Helbach has demonstrated a strong commitment to quality education. He has been especially helpful to the College of Natural Resources (CNR), giving the extra mile to make sure that projects such as Treesheaves and the new Paper Science Building became realities. In addition, his work on groundwater legislation and other key natural resource issues earned him the 1994 NRCS "Environmentalist of the Year" Award.

We at UWSP are indeed fortunate to have an official of Dave's caliber representing us in the Legislature. Please join us in supporting his bid for re-election this fall.

Sincerely,
Daniel O. Trainer

A Ride to the Polls
Of Toons, the Homeless and You
by Kyle L. White

In a few days we will vote for the 41st president of our county. We are students who will vote for Michael Dukakis because we know the issues. We see that if George Bush is elected it will be impossible for the middle class to receive financial aide. Bush has cut spending on education drastically during the past eight years. Currently, only three cents out of every dollar tax goes toward education. George Bush is bad for education.

Michael Dukakis has programs that will aide our educa­tional system such as S.T.A.R. (Student Tuition and Repay­ment), and the National Teach­ers Excellence fund. Dukakis is aware of the needs of the stu­dent. Dukakis is good for educa­tion.

We are Business students who know that the American econo­my is not a healthy one. There is a trade deficit that has grown drastically under the Reagan-Bush administration. We have a 2,000,000,000 dollar deficit that has grown larger than it has been before. Mike Dukakis, has cut taxes 5 times and bal­anced 10 budgets. Mike Dukakis knows the meaning of the healthy economy.

We are C.N.R. students that are concerned about our envi­ronment. Dukakis has one of the toughest anti-polluting laws on the books. Dukakis makes polluters pay up to 80% of clean up costs to date. He has started to clean up Boston Harbor even though the Reagan-Bush administration cut off federal funds to aide the clean up efforts. Mike Dukakis is a friend of the environment.

On November 8 we will vote for Michael Dukakis because George Bush is a deceiver of the electorate. Bush won't give up any answers about the Iran-Contra scandal. He tries to make Dukakis appear to be soft on crime and against guns. Crime has gone down in Massa­chusettes while crime has gone up across the country. Bush is the one with questionable con­nections to the drug running Norwegia. Dukakis supports the right of every hunter to bear arms. Unlike Bush, Dukakis is against giving machine guns to inner-city youths so they can support their drug habit.

If we listen to the issues in­stead of the lies the Bush cam­paign is putting out, we will vote for Michael Dukakis. The campaign is going to be close so every vote will count. Please get out to the polls and vote for Michael Dukakis. If you need a ride to the polls contact Mar 342-1777.

Election ’88-Who’s to blame for the choices?
By Barry Radler

Many people are disgusted with Campaign ’88 and uncom­mitted to Election ’88. Who’s to blame for such a limited choice? Charles Dickens said “My faith in the people govern­ing is, so the whole, infinitely less than my faith in the People governed is, on the whole, infinitely more.” Where’s the blame?

First and foremost, as usual, the press bears much of the public’s chastisement. After all, the media’s purpose is to honestly inform the American voter of the candidates’ policies, views, and character. Right? But why feed democracy some­thing it doesn’t want to eat? The American appetite for dirty laundry ranks wth its obsession with drugs. The people gov­erned have pulled out the skeleton from the closets. The peo­ple governed are the gossiping husband who believes an extra­marital affair is so much more compelling than clean air.

Contrary to the beliefs of some, the television, radio and newspaper conglomerate have done their best to get serious positions statements from politi­cians, as evidenced by four jour­nalists during the recent vice presidential debate who chose to scrap the arranged format of the debate and ask unscripted questions, trying to get gut re­sponses, not memorized an­swers. They will never be in­vited to an orchestrated debate again because they pried their trade in the trust, correct way. The journalists won the debate, not Bentsen.

Thusly the blame falls on you and me, Democrats and Repub­licans, conservatives and libe­ralists. You want to use military — or drug trafficking — or endorse legislation. Demo­crats increase spending for so­cial services, Republicans cut

Of ‘Toons, the Homeless and You

So, what’s the problem Kyle. Why don’t you just put down your pen right now? Well, yeah, it was fantastic to give dough to some hussin’ folks, but why do we pat ourselves on the back so proudly?

The problem is that we think it’s such a special event when we give and we think of ourselves as such good boys and girls when we do. We wonder when giving to others in need will become so natural and so ordinary that we won’t need pri­mes and free pizzas as incentive, which is usually the case.

People are dying, starving, and in pain and that should be incentive enough. Do you agree?

I realize we are busy. I real­ize we are not rich men and wom­en. But in our little, comfort­able, “bubble-worlds” of dorm rooms, Dinner’s, chemistry ex­ams, and wondering if we’ll be able to “... wang chung tonight-...” we are deaf and blind.

Thursday night, after the de­nial spots went up in the hall, I wandered around to see how the money was coming in. I knew it was only the first night, but I was, honestly, a lit­tle disappointed.

Why? Well, I know there are plenty of good excuses why the donation cards weren’t over­flown. Continued on page 2

STD/CONDOM QUIZ

The first three hundred UWSP students correctly answering this quiz and presenting it to the Health Center reception desk will receive ten free condoms, packaged in a brown paper bag. Quiz must be presented in person at the window or by campus mail. One entry per person. If you need help answering the questions see "Sexually Transmitted Diseases: Should You Be Concerned?" and "Sexual Roulette," on page 6 of this issue.

1.) The three most commonly diagnosed sexually transmitted diseases in UWSP students are:
   a. AIDS/HIV Virus Infection
   b. Chlamydia
   c. Human Papilloma Virus (HPV, Veneral Warts)
   d. Gonorrhea (GC)
   e. Pubic Lice

2.) If you choose to be sexually active, you or your partner may use a method to prevent pregnancy such as birth control pills. To prevent getting a sexually transmitted disease from a sexual partner a _________ is the best protection.
   a. Condom
   b. Cervical Sponge
   c. Diaphragm
   d. Jogging

3.) The surest way to prevent getting a sexually transmitted disease is __________.
   a. Condoms
   b. Abstinence
   c. Birth control pills
   d. Aloe Vera

4.) You can tell if your partner is infected with a sexually transmitted disease such as Chlamydia, HPV (veneral warts), or HIV (AIDS virus) because he/she will have:
   a. Oozing sores
   b. A rash over their body
   c. A wart on their nose
   d. There often is no way to know unless they are examined by a health professional and have laboratory tests, or have never been sexually active

5.) For each person with AIDS in the United States there are approximately __________ people who asymptomatically carry and can transmit HIV to others by sexual contact.
   a. 5 to 10
   b. 50 to 100
   c. 500 to 1000
   d. Flip a coin

6.) The three main risk factors in the United States for the spread of the HIV virus that causes AIDS are:
   a. Males who have had unprotected sex with other males
   b. Intravenous drug abuse
   c. Unprotected sexual intercourse with prostitutes
   d. All of the above

7.) Chlamydia infections in women are a common cause of Pelvic Inflammatory Disease (PID or uterine tube infection). A common complication of that infection is:
   a. Cancer
   b. Infertility
   c. There are no complications
   d. Hair on your palms

8.) Veneral wart (HPV) infections of the genitalia are the most commonly seen STD. It is linked to which of these problems?
   a. Cancer of the cervix, vulva, penis, rectum
   b. Infertility
   c. Severe itching of your teeth
   d. Mental retardation

9.) HIV infection can be spread by both unprotected homosexual and heterosexual behavior.
   a. True
   b. False

10.) The safest way to have a sexual relationship with someone were safer sex practices do not need to be strictly followed is:
   a. Your partner tells you that he/she is "clean"
   b. He/she is from your home town
   c. A monogamous long term loving relationship
   d. He/she doesn't have any symptoms

11.) What is the most common factor impairing the ability of students to make rational decisions regarding sexual behavior?
   a. Alcohol abuse
   b. Alcohol abuse
   c. Alcohol abuse
   d. Alcohol abuse

12.) Who is ultimately responsible for the protection and well-being of your reproductive health?
   a. The reliability of your current partner's sexual history
   b. You
   c. The Wisconsin Division of Health
   d. C. Everett Koop, M.D., ScD.
Sexually Transmitted Diseases: Should You Be Concerned?

By Jena Nordlund

Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) are on the rise, and epidemic proportions on our campus and there is a growing need for students awareness of this problem.

An STD is a sexually transmitted disease passed from one partner to another during intimate sexual contact. STDs are very common on a campus where students are sexually active and are a growing problem here at UWSP. It is estimated that 80% of male and 70% of females who have had sexual relations have had more than one partner.

Anyone who is sexually active runs the risk of contracting an STD. Three of the most common STDs diagnosed at the health center are chlamydia, venereal warts (HPV) and public lice. Studies indicate that as many as 15%-18% of the sexually active population have chlamydia, a bacterial infection infecting the reproductive system and a frequent cause of infections in both men and women. Venereal warts or Human Papilloma Virus (HPV) is a viral skin infection that causes warty tumors to grow on the genitalia of men and women and is a common cause of cancer of the cervix, vulva, rectum, and penis. Public lice are among the most unsanitary conditions that can live on the skin and surface of the body.

The STDs that they present to us for care can be anything from genital warts to gonorrhea. The consequence of STDs have never been higher. There have been 36 cases of AIDS reported in Wisconsin as of Oct 1, 1985. You should realize that for each person with AIDS there are 50 to 100 persons who are infected with the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV). That means 18,000 or more people in Wisconsin who can transmit the virus to others, and most of them don't know they are infected. The risk of living with this variety of sexual roulette is less, HIV infection is still one of the more uncommon STDs, but the stakes can't be higher.

The most common STD, venereal warts, is caused by the Human Papilloma Virus (HPV). When groups of sexually active women are studied, as many as 35% are found to be infected with this virus. HPV is an opportunity infecter, men also get it. Since reliably effective treatment is not available, HPV is for most a lifetime infection resulting in increased risk of genital cancer and the possibility for infection of future sexual partners.

Prevention becomes particularly critical when disease treatment is ineffective. For people who wish to be sexually active outside of a monogamous-condom relationship, they are the best option. However, you must accept some risk-condoms can be imperfect, break off. Proper and careful use can minimize the risk, but not eliminate it, that risk of acquiring infection.

To paraphrase Surgeon General C. Everett Koop. Weeworthy to have sex with someone, you are also responsible for attending another person's previous partners. The old sterotype of promiscuity associated with STDs is not entirely accurate. Many of the people I care for have had only one or two sexual partners in their life. But one of those partners previously had one or more other partners and unknowingly acquired an STD. I see the recent losses of sexual roulette everywhere. They are not higher.

The sexual history of your partner may be as reliable as that partner's honesty, one study revealed 90% of men and 99% of women interviewed had previously lied to a partner about their sexual history in order to obtain another person's agreement to have sex. We often hear from students that alcohol had clouded their judgment and led to sexual relations, STDs, and pregnancies.

The best approach for people anticipating the sexual relationship is for both to be examined for common sexually transmitted diseases. STDs are often asymptomatic.

Ultimate responsibility rests with you for safe sex. Don't be another victim of sexual roulette.

Spirits around the world by Blair Cleary

This Friday and Saturday, Nov.4 and 5, the International Club and Foreign Students Office are sponsoring the International Festival of 198. This festival, which occurs every three years, has many multinational forms of entertainment, demonstrations, and course food. This weekend's event will be held in the P.B.R. room of the U.C.

The theme of this year's International Festival is 'Spirits around the world.' Al Song, a student from South Korea, said that the theme was chosen because the festival fell close to Halloween this year. She added that a program on various alcoholic drinks from different countries will be presented on Friday and Saturday.

An International Film Festival is part of the weekend's events. Films from around the world such as a piece on Sumo Wrestling, Spain, Singapore, Korea, Hong Kong, and Malaysia will be shown in the Encore and Community Room of the U.C. Demonstrations and exhibitions are also part of the event.

International Festival to be Held at U.C.

An International Festival sponsored by the Foreign Student Office and the International Club, will be held from Friday, a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 4 and 5 at UWSP.

The event in the University Center's Program Room will be dedicated to all students. Pianist Larry and wife, Helen, for their continued support of the Foreign students program on campus. UWSP currently has 271 students from other countries enrolled—the highest number ever to attend the university.

The public is invited to attend the programs free of charge. Hong, one of the event coordinators, said, "We solicited more on purchase of food or souvenirs."

The International Cafe will feature foods such as delicious egg rolls, fried rice and moo- zien, almond jelly, poppad, hook-la, a Malaysian dessert, and Chinese tea.

Highlights of the weekend will include an International Cafe, exhibitions and sales of imported crafts, demonstrations, films and carnival games. This is the fifth festival held at UWSP since 1979.

On Saturday, Nov. 5, free cultural films from several countries will be shown in The Encore of the University Center. On Friday, films will be shown in the Communication and Program Rooms, and on Saturday, films in the Communication and Program Banquet Rooms. All of the films will begin at 11 a.m. and close at about 1 p.m.

The program on Friday will begin with an opening ceremony at 10 a.m., followed by demonstrations of special foods such as African hair styling, Indian concept makeup, traditional costumes, food preparation, holiday customs, Japanese paper folding, dancing and similiar.

On Saturday at 10 a.m., a demonstration of the Angktong, a Thai native dance, will open the schedule of activities which will run through the day and close with a ceremony at 5 p.m.

A fair, featuring free games of chance and prizes, will add a carnival atmosphere to the festivities.

Linda Lee from Hong Kong, Al Long from Singapore, and Duong Duong, an American student from Cambodia, are coordinating the festival.
Democratic Presidential nominee Michael Stanley Dukakis, 54, was born November 3, 1933, in Boston, Massachusetts, and raised in nearby Brookline.

His father, Panos Dukakis, was 15 years old when he came to America from Greece in the spring of 1912. His mother, Euterpe Books, was just 9 when she arrived the following year.

Panos worked in the mills of Massachusetts, toting at night to complete high school and college. In just 12 years, he became the first Greek immigrant to graduate from Harvard Medical School.

Euterpe worked her way through Bates College in Maine, graduating Phi Beta Kappa. After facing rejection for teaching positions because of her foreign birth, she was accepted as a high school teacher in New Hampshire.

Panos and Euterpe were married a month before the stock market crash of 1929. For 50 years, Panos Dukakis practiced medicine in Boston, working six or seven days a week until he was 82, and delivering more than 4,000 babies.

Michael began his political career in the third grade, as president of his class. Known for his brilliance as a student, he graduated at the top of his class at elite Brookline High. He played varsity basketball at Brookline, ran cross-country, and was captain of the tennis team.

At Swarthmore College outside Philadelphia, Dukakis abandoned his pre-medical studies after receiving a "D" in physics, shifting to political science. He played baseball for Swarthmore, hitchhiked across country, and wrote for the school newspaper, "The Phoenix."

While an undergraduate, Dukakis learned Spanish when he won a fellowship for a summer at the University of San Marcos in Lima, Peru. He also spent a semester in Washington, D.C., at American University.

Immediately after graduating, Dukakis was drafted into the Army. He served much of his 21-month stint in Munsan, Korea. In 1957 he entered Harvard Law School, where he graduated with honors, 71st in a class of 468.

Dukakis won his first public election, becoming a town meeting member in Brookline, in 1959. A reform Democrat, he was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1963.

He lost as a candidate for lieutenant governor in 1970. After serving as host for public television's "The Advocates," Dukakis returned to politics and was elected governor of Massachusetts in 1974. Shortly after his election, he found Massachusetts near bankruptcy.

Dukakis cut social expenditures sharply and raised taxes to stem a huge deficit. In 1978, he was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor. After serving on the Harvard faculty, he again won the governorship in 1982 and was elected to a third term in 1986.

Republican presidential nominee George Herbert Walker Bush, 64, was born in Milton, Massachusetts, on the southern edge of Boston, on June 12, 1924.

His father, the late Prescott Bush, served as U.S. Senator from Connecticut from 1952 to 1962.

Bush attended Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts, graduating in June 1942. On his 18th birthday, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy Reserve. Bush received his wings and commission while still 18, becoming at the time the youngest pilot in the U.S. Navy.

From August 1942 to September 1945, Bush was on active duty. He flew torpedo bombers in the Pacific from the USS San Jacinto, receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross and three Air Medals for his service.

After World War II, Bush attended Yale University, graduating Phi Beta Kappa in 1946 with a B.A. in economics. He was captain of Yale varsity baseball team.

Following his work for Dresser Industries as a trainer and salesman in Texas and California from 1948 to 1950, Bush was co-founder of a small oil royalty firm, Bush-Overby Oil Development Company in 1951. In 1953, he co-founded Zapata Petroleum Corporation and one year later, at age 30, he became president and co-founder of Zapata Offshore Company, which pioneered in offshore oil-drilling equipment.

In 1964, Bush was defeated in a bid for the U.S. Senate. His run for the U.S. House of Representatives from Houston in 1966 was successful and he was re-elected to this post in 1968.

In 1970, Bush lost the race for U.S. Senate to Houston businessman Lloyd Bentsen. Senator Bentsen is currently the Democratic nominee for Vice President. In 1971 and 1972 Bush was President Nixon's Ambassador to the United Nations. After serving nearly two years as Chairman of the Republican National Committee, Bush was sent to China, where he served as chief of the U.S. Liaison Office. In 1976 he was named Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. After leaving the CIA, he taught at Rice University in Houston.

This January will be the 20th anniversary of WWSP 90FM, our campus radio station. This year may prove to be the most successful in the history of the station.

90FM has been working closely with many campus organizations to give you up-to-date information on what is happening at your University. In the past, 90FM labeled itself the "music alternative." Although this label is no longer used it is still very much the case. WWSP provides the campus and community with various programming that is not often heard on other radio stations. They offer music from up-and-coming bands and musicians such as Tommy Convell, Hunters and Collectors and Edie Brickell.

These bands and performers are on the College Music Journal's charts and have been consistently for the past few months. The students of UWWSP have been given the opportunity to hear these bands before they hit many of the national airwaves.

WWSP 90FM offers programming for almost any taste. A few of these include a folk music show, a women's show, funky sounds, Shonky Pete's Illusion Cafe, jazz music, and a block of main programming. The main programming consists of new artists and their music, classic rock and performers. 90FM also offers album and cassette giveaways daily.

The reality is that so-called date rape is not just a male problem. It is equally a female problem. So let’s be honest and open on this subject and just put it bluntly: Women, don’t let the process start unless you intend to let it proceed thru all 15 steps! Alternatively, if actual consent is not acceptable because your “honor” is important to you because you cannot rise above your socialization, negotiate an alternative such as mutual masturbation before beginning.

With all the talk about the importance of equality in other areas of our lives, why is this serious question being ignored? Why aren’t women taking their share of the responsibility for initiating sex? The answer is quite simple. Women are insisting on maintaining their superiority attitudes and the power that goes with their control, rather than accepting equality with men in this area. This is sexism that is on a par with any macho posture by men.

In short, it’s time we men begin demanding of women that they give up their control by always being the ones who have the choice to say NO, and instead that they begin doing their share of the initiating, coming down off their sexist pedestal of being above being actively and honestly sexual.

Another incredible phenomenon in this age of “equal pay for equal work” and “affirmative action” is that women are still, to a large extent, expecting men to pay for dates. This custom made sense in the days when men were the sole wage earners. Can it be that women still believe that men should pay just for the honor of their presence on a date? That certainly carries a message of the superior value of women, and is sexism. Actually, if a woman just lets a man pay for dates, one of her implicit, silent but obvious messages is that she should be compensated more for his work as he can afford to pay for the dates.

I think we should be quite open and honest about this. When a woman expects a man to pay for their dates, she prostituting herself. She has used her sexuality to gain something of significant monetary value. That is a reasonable definition of prostitution. And therefore, the only fair thing for her is to be an honest prostitute. Unless there is a contract at the start that the woman will pay for the next date, the only honorable thing for the woman to do is to deliver on the implicit contract.

Actually, there may not be a second date, particularly if the woman knows she will have to pay for it. So if one or the other is to pay for the first date, let it be the woman. This seems like the only way to avoid making the contract. Alternatively-tot each pay for their own share.

This will save a lot of misunderstandings. Thus if a man and woman negotiate that they will each pay their own way, the contract is only for an evening together with nothing sexual implied. If the woman pays, she can decide later if she wants more to happen — still recognizing that the contract doesn’t start what one is not ready to finish. And finally, if the contract is for the man to pay, the man should bring condoms along to assure that the contracted sexual encounter will be safe. The exception to this would be the rare occasion when the man or woman is truly giving a gift to the other person as on the celebration of a birthday, a special event, etc. But that only works if both women and men give such gifts.

A safety valve is needed here, of course. Sometimes a date goes badly. In such a situation, the parties may mutually agree not to be sexual. What if a woman, or man for that matter, backs out of the contract? Obviously a respect for the other person’s dignity as a human being makes forced sex unacceptable. However, the offending partner should be seen as lacking in honor and trustworthiness, and should be avoided in the future. Alternatively the partner could reimburse the other for the cost of the date.

With this kind of clear understanding between men and women, so called date rape can be relegated to a rare occurrence by either man or woman. In addition, the relations between men and women should dramatically improve because a major source of misunderstanding will be eliminated.

Hans Meyrowitz said, “Time is charged with ‘significance’ for men because human life is live under the shadow of Time, because he cares about what am I; makes sense only in terms of what have I been... The past cannot be ignored because it refuse to go away. It is the essence of self in all of us—the past—for image and ego are dictated by it. By contrast, the future is a risk worth taking, and we gamble using retrospection. Thusly, concentrate on ‘Just for Today.’”

My third and last interviews with Pete took place at the restaurant he manages. During it, he discussed how his life has changed for better or worse. The details are true and would be share. I, will not play on your imagined ignorance (if the purpose of news is to inform, then a reporter must assume the public is unaware and uninformed). I will tell you Pete is clean and decent, and narrow—just for today, I will quote Pete’s erudition for you: ‘What really matters is that just for today, I am straight. I can’t say that tomorrow I will be. I don’t know where I will be a year from now.? Has anyone ever, Pete?”

Editor’s note: Due to circumstances beyond the control of mortal men and women, Stud Weasel was not able to write his usual editorial column this week (he was sent on special Pointer assignment to cover the southern migration of the once trapped California whale). In his place, out of the goodness of his heart, Stud arranged to have Paul Hardy interview him (Paul Hardy is a senior majoring in conservative radio).

Harriers Take Fourth At WSUC Championships

By John Gardner

UWSP Sports Information

OSHKOSH-A feeling of disappointment remains throughout the minds of the Pointers men's cross country team after ending up fourth in the conference championship meet.

"We, and I mean the entire team, were disappointed with our fourth place finish," said Coach Rick Witt. "We have expected more and when you do not achieve more you are disappointed."

A fourth place finish may sound dismal, but considering that the Pointers had some key people missing, this position wasn't so bad. "We knew going into the meet that we would be at less than full strength," said Witt. "We had a lot of illnesses in the last two weeks as we had to run with two of our top runners in Bill Dean and Craig Staub, and Rod Garcia and Tim Olson had been both ill and not quite at full strength."

La Crosse won the WSUC Championship with 27 points followed by Oaklawn with 39, Eau Claire 56, Stevens Point 121, Whitewater 140, Platteville 170, River Falls 190, Stout 200, and Superior 275.

"The WSUC is so tough that you had better be at your best, as we had five teams ranked in the top 15 in the country," said Witt. "The three teams that beat us were ranked higher than us, but I still feel that if we had all run up to our capabilities we could have been third."

As far as individual performance, coach Witt seemed quite happy. "We had some excellent performances from some of our young men which speaks well for the future, as we had two freshmen, two sophomores, and one in the top five," said Witt.

Rod Garcia topped the Pointer attack as he finished 12th in a 25:37 time. Eric Possom both ran well and gave us the guys up front that we needed. Rod had been ill and really ran well at less than 100 percent. Eric is a senior and is really mentally tough. He wanted to run well and did when it counted," said Witt.

The 28th placing of Rich Bruyere, who was clocked at 26:08, was more than just noticed by Coach Witt. "The one man who really came through for us was Rich Bruyere. He is a freshman who just ran his best time by 30 seconds. He is very mature for a freshman and is really going to be an excellent runner. I was figuring to be our 6th man and if he had been our 6th man in 28th places, we would have been in good shape."

Finishing 37th, 36th and 39th respectively were Rob Sparhawk, John Cepina, and Tim Olson, whose times were 36:17, 36:19 and 36:23 in that order.

"Cepina, Sparhawk and Olson ran the first half pretty well and will need to close the gap between Dem and Possom and Garcia since if we are to earn another trip to the Nationals. Olson has been having some muscle problems and Cepina has been ill so I know they will run much better in two weeks. Sparhawk just has to get aggressive and run like I know he can."

Other Pointer finishes included Kurt Lepak in 48th (26:45), David Jackson in 52nd (26:45), Shawn Meinke, 53rd (27:39), Rich Meinke, 68th (27:29), and Chris Jones in 76th place at 28:22.

"I was very pleased with Kurt Lepak and Shawn Meinke as both of them ran the best times of their lives. Lepak not extremely talented, but just stuck in there and gives his best in every race. Meinke is an other freshman who has continued to get better each meet and is going to be a good one."

"I have to take a lot of the blame for us maybe not finishing in the third position. I had our guys go out a little more conservative than usual and we were not able to make up the ground we gave away in the first half," said Witt. Continued on page 11

UWSP has invited 15 different universities, both 25 to 300 wrestlers to our campus.

"Recruiting is our strongest point this year," Loy stated as he spoke of his top recruits, Joe Hamney (two-time state champion), Mark Point (three-time state champion, high school All American career record setter), and Bob Bercose (three-time state champion, who transferred to UW-Michigan, where he was second in NCAA Division II).

Returning team captain, John Malczak, who wrestled varsity last year, is a weight class above his normal class to benefit the teams record, will be wrestling at his normal weight, making the team stronger.

The Pointer wrestlers are encouraging spectators to spectate and get involved. They've created a "Redshirt Hall Day" that will be held on January 21. Last year over 1,000 students participated, so we have free t-shirts and wisdom of the sport. This year hope the number will double.

UWSWP could not muster a substantial drive the remaining first half and only defeated UW-Stevens Point, 24-22 in their game. An excellent third down pass to Blanco setup another yard down the middle for Maris with only nine seconds remaining in the first half, giving the Pointers a 17-10 halftime lead.

It took Point just over a minute to make it 23-22, and UWSP tied the game back up for the second half and proceeded to move the football 45 yards and score a TD. This TD was scored a 36-yard pass completed to Moehling, after Baumgartner completed a key three-down-and-five situation by throwing the ball to Todd Bonlender for a 41-yard pickup.

Some life came back to the Titan side to the field when the evening kickoff was returned 90 yards for a touchdown and the two point conversion was also successful to make the Pointer lead only 34-24 with almost the whole second half still to be played. The next two possessions of the football by the Pointers only resulted in one first down, but on the Titan second possession of the ball burnt up 98 yards for a touchdown by Baumgartner that set a school record for the longest interception return for a TD and helped to dishearten the Titans, as they had just drove the ball down to the 1 and probably thought they were back in the game. It was the third of a school record tying three interceptions of the game for Burns and gave UWSP a 3-0 advantage.

The Pointers' first offensive drive on this sump but chilly day saw Baumgartner complete four of five passes (two were to Theo Blanc who caught all passes for 122 yards on the day) driving the Pointers down and scoring a touchdown when Jim Maris, who had 63 yards on 22 carries for the day, ran one yard up the middle and into the end zone. UWSP added a 36-yard field goal, by Dave Schneider, to make the score 10-0.

"Right now we're just worried about us," said coach John Loy, driving towards the circumstances surrounding our football teams' chances of making the pay-offs.

Miech believes UW-Stevens Point will be invited to the NCAA Division II play-offs if the Pointers win their remaining two games. The Pointers find themselves in sole position of second place in the WSUC with a 4-2 record, but unfortunately UW-Oshkosh, UW-LaCrosse and UW-River Falls all have a 5-1 record. Point travels to UW-River Falls this Saturday, and a victory would be a good first step in the attempt to make the playoffs.

The Green Bay Packers, who had played outstanding football for two weeks and had won against Washington, fell back to the mediocrity, which the team displayed during the first five weeks of the season.

The Pack fell to the Buffalo Bills, 28-6, last Sunday in a game in which the Packers should have been beaten by even more.

About the only bright spot was the play of the Packers defense, which did not give up any points in the second half (Buffalo did score two touchdowns on turnovers by the Green Bay offense). Buffalo has experienced an upsurge during the last several seasons, and for the last five years, in five seasons, the Bills are guaranteed at least a .500 season now at 9-1.

Chicago Bear quarterback Jim McMahon and his other major injury Sunday in the first quarter marred the Bear's 36-7 loss to the hapless New England Patriots. This time, the much overpublicized QB hurt a knee and, while surgery is not expected, he will be out the next four to six weeks. Perhaps, like an injured farm horse, it is time to take him out back and shoot him to put him out of his misery and everybody else's misery.

The Badger football team remained firmly entrenched in last place in the Big Ten following Saturday's 9-4 loss to Purdue. Madison, however, did improve following the previous embarrassment at the hands of New Mexico.

The Badgers do have a chance to improve their standing in the conference Saturday as they travel to 1-4 Ohio State. (What happened to OSU's dominance of the Big 10 during the 70's?).

The annual civil war of Pointer hockey was held last Saturday night, but it wasn't the blue and the gray, but rather the Purple and Gold Game. Pointer coach Mark Mannolini unseated his 1984-85 squad, which appears to be a powerful aggressive team. The team appears to be up to the selection as the favorite going into the Northern Collegiate Hockey Association season.

Tomorrow night, the Pointers travel to UW-Eau Claire to open their Wisconsin Intercollegiate Conference and NCHA season. Saturday afternoon, Pointers host Eau Claire for a 7:30 p.m. game at the K.B. Willett arena.

In the National Hockey League, the Los Angeles Kings continue to show the fire of superstar Wayne Gretzky. I.A. is now one point behind division leading Calgary while Gretzky's former team, the Edmonton Oilers, continues to founder at 5-4 following Sunday's 7-2 loss to the Chicago Black Hawks.

Baseball predictions (continued from last week):

National League Championship Series (Chicago Cubs vs. Los Angeles Dodgers)-A tough, even match, the NLCS goes the full seven games, with Chicago taking advantage of the home field advantage. In game seven, Dodgers ace Orel Herschiser gives up only one hit to the Cubs, but not enough as Chicago's Rafael Palmeiro puts it somewhere near Sheridan Road and the Cubs win, 1-0.

American League Championship Series (Milwaukee Brewers vs. Minnesota Twins)-As a contrast to the NLCS, Milwaukee dominates Minnesota throughout, sweeping the series in four games and ousting their opponent, 7-2. The only Minnesota run comes in the sixth inning, when the Beer Boys from Milwaukee see sorry for their hapless opponents.

1989 World Series-First ever "Lake Michigan Series" is plagued by bad weather. After Game Four, the series tied at 2-2, the entire laketruck is hit with the worst snow storm in history, and the remainder of the series is cancelled. Attempts to move the series by moving the championship to Detroit are cancelled due to lack of funding. Instead, Herb Kohls vows to build a domed stadium in Milwaukee, only to move it to Kalamazoo, feeling it is more profitable there.

The continued poor performance by the Badger football team has shown its results at the box office in dwindling attendance and putting the finances of the entire Madison University program doubt, but this is far from a national trend. Northwestern University has had a much longer dry spell than the Badgers (since 1962) but the Wildcats still pay be respectable crowds and a football program that is self-sufficient. The same goes for Columbus, who recently broke Northwestern's record losing streak.

Meanwhile, Penn State's football program continues to show tremendous support despite the Nittany Lion's worst start in years. All three of these instituions have had support from their fans while keeping their records of academic integrity sparkling. These are all examples of what college athletics are all about--an addition to, not an exemption from, academic achievement.

Our Dame moved into the top position in the college polls following the Fighting Irish 25-7 win over Navy. Meanwhile, last week's number one UCLA is unranked Washington State, 34-3, on a last minute touchdown.

The remainder of the approximately 20 minutes of the game saw the Titan's quarterback intercepted three more times (twice by Troy Pride and once by Jeffery native Tom Gasz) and the Titans closed the gap to 36-34 with less than 10 minutes remaining in the fourth quarter.

Mara, who gained 159 total yards on the day, made the final score 36-14 when he caught a pass for 64 yards and then, for the third time in this game, ran up the middle form one yard out into the end zone.

Women's CC Third at Championships

Oshkosh—A hanged-out Pointer women's cross country team ran excellent and captured a third place finish this past weekend at the Oshkosh County Club in the 11th annual Wisconsin Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Championships.

The final standings show that Oshkosh took first with 29 points followed by La Crosse with 40, Stevens Point 78, Whitewater 8, Eau Claire 114, River Falls 178, Stout 181, Superior 317, and Platteville did not have a team score.

"I can't say enough about how the team ran," said Hill. "It was a battle for third for Oshkosh and La Crosse were expected to win, and I was surprised that we came that close to La Crosse with all of our injuries."

"We had to beat Whitewater and Eau Claire," said Hill. "First we needed to beat White-water upfront, second we needed to work our pack, and third we needed to give us running extremely hard." By Scott Baumann

Swimmers Dive Into Another Year

The season has started for the members of the men's and women's swimming team with a very hopeful outlook. Dry land workouts started September 13 and water workouts started October 3.

The Pointers toughest team for both men and the women this year will be Eau Claire. The team is coached by Red Blair with Kevin Brambaugh as his assistant coach. Both men have been involved in six practices a week and optional practice on a week end if there is time given in the mornings. All of this work will hopefully make for a good showing at the national meet in Milwaukee March 4.

The men's team is made up of 16 participants. There are eight returning swimmers and five of them are returning as All-Americans. The team will be aided by five new swimmers this year. Ann Benson is also returning after taking a year off and Coach Blair is expecting her to pick up some of the load. The captains for this year are Stephanie Bass and Debbie Hadler. Coach Page lost a couple of returning All-Americans, and last Blair had recruited eight new swimmers this year, but only seven will be swimming this season.

The UWSP Athletic Department is sponsoring THE GREAT THANK YOU GIVEAWAY at the Pointer football game, Nov. 12, against UW-Platteville. At full semester tuition for a "repeated fees will be awarded to the (I) lucky student chosen as the "winner at the Pointers' home finale." The game is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

Be sure to be there to claim your free tuition payment and then spend the cash you have set aside on Spring Break.

- an old tradition that has continued from year to year. The Pointer football team has traditionally given a "THANK YOU" gift to its fans at the end of the season.

"Oh no, young man, if this attempt succeeds here and now, you can pack your bags and peddle you butt out of town," said Coach Blair.

"I assure you, or anyone you know has had a similar experience, please contact the baffled Chillingsworth at the 6:00 pm. If you're at 7:00 pm. On your way home, or ...

The Grant

The UWSP Women's Cross Country team is looking to add to their recent success. Coach Blair has high expectations for this season and is hoping to see some improvements in the team's performance.

With the men's team looking strong, Coach Blair is focusing on the women's team. The team has shown improvement in recent meets and is hoping to continue this trend.

The Pointers are coached by Red Blair with Kevin Brambaugh as his assistant coach. Both men and women have been involved in six practices a week and optional practice on a weekend if there is time given in the mornings. All of this work will hopefully make for a good showing at the national meet in Milwaukee March 4.

The men's team is made up of 16 participants. There are eight returning swimmers and five of them are returning as All-Americans. The team will be aided by five new swimmers this year. Ann Benson is also returning after taking a year off and Coach Blair is expecting her to pick up some of the load. The captains for this year are Stephanie Bass and Debbie Hadler.

The women's team is comprised of 18 swimmers of which eight are returning from last year. Out of that eight, there are six returning All-Americans, Last year Blair had recruited eight new swimmers this year, but only seven will be swimming this season.
This week's question:
Which presidential candidate do you plan to vote for and why?

Heavy Metal Music

By Molly Rae
Features Writer

Steven Point's own metal band, Paris, really rocked the crowd last Thursday night in the Encore Room at the new infamous TNT, sponsored by Alternative Sounds and Concerts committees of the University Activity Board.

The band was tight, professional and overall extremely impressive. If you were one of the few unfortunate to miss their show, don't worry. Paris, along with another university favorite, Gemini, is scheduled to open for the Slave Raider concert December 1 in the UC Program Banquet Room.

Slave Raider, the hottest metal band around, is from Minneapolis and has recently released an album titled, "Take the World By Storm," which is exactly what they are doing. They released a video which is being opened for major acts such as Twisted Sister, Poison and Ratt. They have also been featured in numerous national magazines including Creem and Metal Hammer.

Keep December 1 open on your calendar and look for more information coming soon on this main event brought to you by the UWS Music Coalition.

Your AlcoholIQ

The stars tackle a number of questions about alcohol, offering their best guesses about the answers. As each star answers, an expert then gives authoritative answers.

"Your Alcohol IQ" teaches about how alcohol affects the body, gives tips about how to consume alcohol responsibly and examines various family and societal influences that shape attitudes about drinking.

The program is being made available at no cost to video stores nationwide through J2 Communications, one of Holly- wood's premier video producers and distributors. It is anticipated that video stores will in turn provide "Your Alcohol IQ" as a free rental to customers.

For more information about getting video material on "Your Alcohol IQ" contact the educational program director, Allyce Gibbs of "L.A. Law" video production entitled "Your Alcohol IQ."

In fact, "Your Alcohol IQ" is the latest in a series of efforts to urge the public to drink re- sponsibly," said Michael J. L'Monica, senior vice pres- ident-industry affairs for Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. "We would especially urge college students to take the program. We believe their attitudes about alcohol are changing during the college years, and we think "Your Alcohol IQ" could be a healthy influence during this time.

Alcohol Abuse

by Peter Teska

Is alcoholism something you should worry about?

Without a doubt, alcohol abuse is, and will continue to be, a problem for our society. But how big a problem is it? Some estimates claim that as much as 16 percent of the adult population are, or are on the way to becoming alcoholics.

But, to the average college student, what does it mean to be an alcoholic look like? The most obvious sign, getting drunk all of the time, represents only a small fraction of the problem drinkers. The best general definition is anyone who whenever they drink, can't control their behavior will be after they've started drinking, is probably on alcoholic. If it's every night or only once a year, this is the key to asking whether that's ridiculous, think again.

Watch out for these people.

Give Blood

by Kelly Berg

"Give blood." Just the sound of those two words sends chills down my spine.

Some people enjoy watching the blood flow out of the arm and then being shown to a little room where a bunch of egg salad sandwiches, cookies and juice. They smile, knowing that they were doing something good for the population at large.

I gave blood. Once. Four years ago. And again last week Wednesday. After screaming nerv- ous again on that day four years ago (I don't remember why), I was surprised at how easily I was persuaded this year.

I showed up at my scheduled time, noon. I had an interview at 1 o'clock, and a meeting with a teacher, whose class I was about to fail, at 2 o'clock. No problem.

First, I wait a while very typical of my name wrong on a form; three times. Ten minutes later, I am at the next station waiting to make sure my form is filled out cor- rectly, I hope it doesn't include spelling errors.

Another station, another 10 minutes, and at last I get my blood pressure checked. "Step down to the next station please," and the friendly volun- teer. The next stop is where they prick my arm to get blood out. This isn't so bad. Then I am sent to the next ta- ble to pick out my very own plastic bags and needle. Here, I fill out a card asking ways whether to transfuse or not to transfuse my blood. Why would I give if they couldn't use it?

Those who tell you all week how they are looking forward to getting drunk, have a problem, as do those who drink to relieve stress, or combat other personal problems. People who suffer blackouts, drink alone, or lie about how much they are drinking, are even further along.

Alcoholism is as much a be- havioral disorder as it is a physical addiction. Some sup- port programs claim that stop- ping drinking is only about 5 percent of alcohol's prob- lem. The attitude that each person has towards alcohol plays a big role in the process. It is complicated, it doesn't control your life. If it is controlling you, or if you want to learn more about coping with alcoholics around you, call X21 and get a free approach- ment with the counseling staff in DeSalle Hall.
Rock... and more

Interface, a five member group from Madison, invades the Encore room Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. Together for over two years, they have released a debut single titled, "Long Lonely Nights," and are featured on Madison's forthcoming Home town Album due for release in November.

Interface does a variety of cover music from contemporary heavy rock such as Def Leppard and Moby Drive to classic rock like Led Zeppelin and Deep Purple. They also throw in some danceable originals.

Tonight's TNT, sponsored by UAB Alternative Sounds is the Squash Muffins!!! Also from Madison, they are a young and energetic quartet who play originals as well as some cover music. (And you can pick up a "free" Squash Muffin today in the UC Concourse at the Alternative Sounds booth display.)

Roulette, a central Wisconsin band who was featured at last year's Riverfront Rendezvous celebration here in Stevens Point will be playing in the Encore next Friday night, sponsored by the Music Coalition. Look for more of them next week.

What did you think of the Cheap Trick/Femme Fatale show? Watch for reviews, pictures and interviews next week.

...to have to twist the needle because the blood's not coming out right.

I must have yelled "don't," because she's telling me to be quiet, it won't hurt. Now, she says, squeeze the ball. I am. Squeeze harder. Lady, I can't squeeze any harder until that throbbing goes away.

Twenty minutes later, as I try to wipe the tears out of the corners of my eyes, I'm done. I'm really late. It's 1:30.

Needle is out. I'm feeling fine. Needle's out, my arm is in the air. I'm applying pressure. I'm feeling sick. Wait, I never feel sick. Then again I rarely ever cry. Nurse seen I'm turning green. I'm about to tell her not to help me. Just stay away, when all of a sudden I'm flat on my back. People are bringing me water. I'm starting to feel better. She tells me my blood donor card will arrive in three months or less. I want to tell her she shouldn't bother.

Sit up, slowly. To the little room. Eat little sandwiches and drink more water. I hear people all around telling how good they feel, they wish they could give blood every day. I put on my little sticker that says, "Be Nice To Me, I Gave Blood." Then I think, I better save it to stick on my test tomorrow. Put it in my pocket and stand up to go.

On my way out, I see a sign that says, "Give Blood."

Midnight Blues
By Timothy Rechner

As the wind blew and the night fell on Halloween, three disguised children crossed Division Street at the corner of Ellis and Brawley.

A worse nightmare than seeing a gho st happened in the middle of Division Street when a large bag of candy one of the children was carrying broke in the middle of the southbound lane.

Tanya Nichols, Alex Pieterowski and Kris Eitzen were spotted running from the curb, trying to salvage the candy motorists were carelessly crushing as they continued to drive.

"I saw the unfortunate happening from a window of a friend's house while watching the Sunday evening football game. I went out to aid in the recovery of the lost treasure and to make sure their black robed bodies were not crushed as was the candy, by the autos."

Prairie Chicken Land Proposal

RHINELANDER, WI.—The Department of Natural Resources will propose to the DNR Board in November that 7,196 acres of land in Portage and Adams Counties be purchased by the State. The land is located in the Portage County town of Grant, Pine Grove, Flower and Buena Vista. 260 acres of land in the Adams County town of Lennox will also be purchased.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is concerned about the survival of the endangered species, the prairie chicken. The DNR is proposing the purchase of this land to help ensure the survival of the prairie chicken.

The prairie chicken is found in the northern Great Plains and is a ground-dwelling bird. The DNR is proposing to purchase this land to provide a suitable habitat for the prairie chicken.

The prairie chicken is considered an endangered species, and the purchase of this land is a step towards ensuring its survival.

Outdoor Report

MADISON, WI—Bow hunters are having greater success now that the white-tailed deer have begun their breeding season in earnest. Deer that are in the woods and are being observed more often in forest openings, farm fields and along the roadsides. Consequently, registrations are up.

Ruffed grouse hunting is generally slow in central Wisconsin at this time of year due to the nearby hunting pressure. Several hunters and guides report that the ruffed grouse population is declining in central Wisconsin.

Raccoon hunting and trapping pressures are down to low levels this year. The trapping season for raccoon is coming to an end and mink should be productive in the north due to low water levels.

In the northwest, hunters may experience greater success in Lincoln and Celina counties. Northern woodcock have moved into Iowaco county, providing good hunting. Pheasant hunting in southern Wisconsin is good on public hunting grounds, but not as good as in years past due to the presence of the blackbird.

Goose hunting opportunities are very good in the Ludolph/Courtland area of Columbia County; large numbers of geese continue to use the Mead Lake area. There are also plenty of geese remaining in the Eau Claire and Jackson counties. Hunters are reminded to ask permission before hunting on private lands. Fall fishing in the northwestern counties continues to be good for the few brave souls that venture forth. Island lakes in the Brule area are producing good catches of brook trout; many anglers are fishing for these small fish.

Walleye fishing is picking up around the Woodruff area. Anglers have been catching trout in lakes, but many are not aware that fishing on the "most" lakes in the northern lakes. The lakes that have both warm and cold water fish species remain open to fishing until March first.

In the southeast, fishing is generally slow in Sheboygan and Oconomowoc counties. Pier and shore anglers at Milwaukee's Summertime grounds are getting good catches of perch and some limit catches of chub and rainbows. Racine County shore anglers are finding good action inside the harbor on the north side of the road leading to the harbor. The Root River is producing good to excellent fishing from Island Park upstream to the dam. Pier and shore anglers are catching chub and rainbows near the mouth of the Pike River and in Kenosha harbor.

Fishing on the Pike River is excellent at times. Walleye fishing on the Wisconsin River has dropped off. Some nice smallmouth and largemouth bass are being caught in Pools 10 and 11 on the Mississippi, and they're getting two-to-three-pound walleyes and sauger below the Dubuque dam. Walleye activity is picking up on Lake Wisconsin and there's good walleye action in the Eau Claire area.

P. Scott Fitzgerald once said, "the test of a first rate intelligence is the ability to hold two opposed ideas in one's mind and still retain the ability to function." Instilling this idea among the UWSP student body is the primary goal of the recently established Social Issues Forum.

As a social issues committee, one of our main objectives is to increase the student's awareness of what is going on in the world around them. On campus and in Stevenson Point alone, there are a number of controversial issues that warrant the attention of college students, but tend to go unnoticed by them. Our second main objective is to encourage students to seek out information on both the left and right sides of an issue and determine where they fall along the issue's continuum based on that information.

We plan to focus on five major social issues throughout the 88-'89 academic year by combining speakers, programs and events in attempt to heighten social issues awareness. Our Oct./Nov. issue, "Vote 88," has already been planned and implemented. For our Nov./Dec. issue, we are in the planning stages of increasing the awareness of pornography. We expect and hope to create a lot of controversy among students with this issue. As with all our issues, we will try to program both pro and con information concerning pornography. Like F. Scott Fitzgerald, we believe that an informed decision is an intelligent decision.

The social issues committee is composed of students who are representative of various organizations on campus. Currently, we have representatives from Association for Community Tasks, University Activities Board, Students Government Association, Young Democrats, College Republicans, the Women's Resource Center, and the Pointer. But there's always room for new faces. If you or a member of your organization is interested in joining our team, call Maurie Kim or Marie Brooks at X540 in the Campus Activities Complex. We'd love to hear from you.

broadcasting). And now, this week's column: You know the news, now it's time for the rest of the story.

He was born in Stevens Point, Wisconsin in November of 1928. His parents, Mary and Herb Doolittle, were recent immigrants to the United States. In their wildest dreams, Mary and Herb could never have imagined what was to become of their only child: he was to become one of the most respected and revered individuals of the twentieth century America.

As a boy, he worked on two different paper routes - one in the morning and one in the afternoon. After high school, where he graduated first in his class (he also lettered twelve times in four different sports), he went on to study at the Wisconsin State University in Stevens Point.

While studying communications and acting, he worked at three different jobs - seventy-five hours per week. Over the course of the three years it took him to graduate, he carried an average load of twenty-nine credits per semester.

After graduating with honors, he took a job as a D.J. and reporter at a country radio station. He worked diligently, but he could not deny his one true dream: to become a famous television celebrity.

But then, the fickle hand of fate slapped him and his dreams, never have he been so close, so near to reaching the heights of his ambition.

What would become of him? Would he have to give up a baseball bat or a doormat? It was a nebulous question he found himself pondering.

He gives us a voice in the Legislature and makes sure that voice is heard. UWSP students should be doing all we can to see that Dave Helbach is re-elected by a wide margin.""
JESSICA CHEVALIER

"I've worked with Dave Helbach and watched him in action, both here and in Madison. You won't find a harder working Senator. And he's always there when we need him."
KEVIN SHIBILSKI

"David Helbach is one of the most effective proponents of higher education in the Wisconsin Legislature."
GENE JOHNSON

"Each time we have gone to Dave Helbach for help, he has stepped right in and fought for UWSP's needs. A case in point was the physical education addition, which faced elimination from the State Building Commission's project list. Dave met with each Commission member to fight for the new facility."
