HEY BABE?

The theme for this year’s homecoming at UWSP is “Take a Walk on the Wild Side.”

The lyrics to the song by Lou Reed, 1972, “Take a Walk on the Wild Side,” with a personal interpretation to follow...

WOLLY CAME FROM MIAMI Y.L.A.
HITCH HIRED HIS WAY ACROSS THE U.S.A.,
PLUCKED HER EYESHADOWS ON THE WAY,
SHAVED HER LEGS AND THEN HE WAS A SHE.

SHE SAID “HEY BABE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE.”
SHE SAID “HEY BABE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE.”

AND THE COLORADO GIRLS GO, "DO, DO, DO, DOOOOOOOG..."
LITTLE JOE NEVER ONCE GAVE IT AWAY.
EVERYBODY HAD TO PAY AND PAY
A HUSTLE HERE AND A HUSTLE THERE.
NEW YORK CITY IS THE PLACE WHERE THEY SAID.

"HEY BABE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE."
I SAID “HEY JOE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE.”
SUGAR PLUM FAIR CAME AND HIT THE STREETS,
LOOKING FOR SOUL FOOD AND A PLACE TO EAT,
WENT TO THE APOLLO,
SHOULD OF SEEN HIM GO GO GO.

THEY SAID “HEY SUGAR, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE.”
JACKIE IS JUST SPEAKIN’ A WAY,
THOUGHT SHE WAS JAMES DEAN FOR A DAY.

THEN I GUESSED SHE HAD TO CRASH,
VALUM WOULD HAVE HELPED THAT RASH.

SHE SAID “HEY BABE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE!”
I SAID “HEY HONEY, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE.”
AND THE COLOROED GIRLS SAY DO, DO, DO, DOOOOOOG...

The way I see it Lou Reed is talking about some pretty radical issues of the 70s. In the first stanza he talks of transvestites. Later he discusses prostitution, drugs and homosexuality. Even interjects some racial issues in the line “...and the colored girls go.”

This is not an appropriate theme in this day and age where there is so much emphasis on the issues of “Just say No... (to drugs),” promiscuity and AIDS. We want to become a more moral society and we are being told to “take a walk on the wild side?” Although this theme may heighten the excitement and raise the number of participants in the 1988 Homecoming, it could have reflected the push for higher morality of our society or more specifically our University.

I fail to see the relationship between the theme and the 1980s. James Dean, a hero of the 1950s is mentioned. However, he is an illusion of the effects of drugs on a character in the song.

The University has chosen a theme which is in poor taste and I resent the poor judgment used in choosing the 1988 Homecoming theme... Do, do, do, dododo... .

Nature Photography Museum Gallery
An exhibition of 42 color photographs by Doug Moore will run throughout September in the gallery of the University’s Natural History Museum.

A photographic technician at UWSP’s Educational Media Services, Moore, who holds a degree in natural resources, has a longstanding interest in natural history and geology. He has photographed the Great Lakes region for the past 30 years.

All of the prints featuring the natural beauty of Wisconsin and Michigan are for sale with part of the proceeds going to the museum.

Moore teaches one-credit courses in nature photography through the Division of Continuing Education and Outreach. He leads a beginning class at the Schenckie Reserve each summer and an advanced class at Trebehn Field Station in the spring. He also will lead a non-credit workshop on three Wednesdays during October, sponsored by the University Activities Board.

Moore holds a bachelor’s degree in natural resources from the University of Michigan and has done graduate work at UWSP. He has studied with nationally prominent photographers, including Larry West and Rod Placek. Before coming to campus in 1984, he worked at a nature center in Midland, Mich.

Moore has shown his photographs at UWSP’s annual natural resources dinner and his work has been included in about two dozen publications. He has led week-long workshops for Elder hostel participants at Trebehn and at Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in Michigan. He also has won first prize in a nature photography competition in Michigan.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Moore, 1406 Lapine Ave., Jenison, Mich., he is a 1989 graduate of East Grand Rapids High School.
Federal agencies go metric

A professor at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point believes the federal government's decision to adopt the metric system for all business in the United States will have a significant impact on education and public policy. It is inevitable that the federal government will continue to lead the way in adopting the metric system, he says.

The decision to go metric was announced by President Reagan in a speech in 1982. The goal is to make the United States a world leader in the use of the metric system by the year 2000. The Department of Commerce is responsible for overseeing the implementation of the metric system in the United States.

A seminar on the metric system is being held at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point on Monday. The seminar will be open to the public and will feature a panel of experts on the metric system. The seminar will provide an opportunity for individuals to learn more about the metric system and its potential impact on their lives.

The seminar will cover a wide range of topics, including the history of the metric system, the benefits of using the metric system, and the challenges associated with adopting the metric system. The seminar will also feature a Q&A session where attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions of the panelists.

The seminar will be held from 7:00 PM to 9:00 PM in the University Center. Admission is free and the seminar is open to the public. For more information, please contact the Department of Commerce at 608-736-6000.

William Gable, mathematician, urges people to begin learning metric.

Pepsi Cola War

Contracts for services on campus such as vending machine operations are required by state statute to be rebid every five years. Beverage Bottlers of Wisconsin Rapids, an arm of Pepsi Cola of Oakbrook, received the contract to operate soft drink machines, offering to return 69 percent of its income to the university. Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of La Crosse Inc., Flower Branch, ranked second in the bid with an offer to return 37 percent.

With the Coca-Cola/Pepsi Cola war raging, third-party bidders were effectively eliminated from the process, thus allowing Coca-Cola and Pepsi to increase their bids knowing they would gain the exclusive sales advantage. This ultimate-by resulted in Pepsi Cola gaining the vending contract. However, Coca-Cola products will be the predominant products available in the Food Service areas. Ace/Canteen Foods of Milwaukee was awarded a five-year contract to manage UWSP's snack machine business.

New contracts for vending machine operations at the university are expected to generate nearly half a million dollars in commissions to the institution in the next five years, doubling what had been received under the old five-year contract which expires in August.

According to Jerry Liedberg, associate director of the University Centers, one of the most positive parts of the beverage contract is the reduction in price. At campus request the canned soda has been reduced from 25 cents to 30 cents per can. With more than a third of a million cans of soda sold annually at UWSP, this reflects a savings of approximately $16,650 per year to consumers.

Commissions from the vending machine sales are distributed on campus to areas which generate sales, helping to defray some ongoing expenses and also to pay for special projects and services without significantly increasing costs to the students. Recipients include the housing, athletic, academic affairs and University Centers operations.

It was a dreary day, this past Saturday, when the Pointers lost to conference foe UW-Whitewater. Dreary in a figurative manner of speech because the Pointers could not get their offense to effectively move the ball, and their defense did not play up to their potential.

The Warhawks of UW-Whitewater outstruck the Pointers 277 yards to 31, and more than doubled UWSP in total offensive yardage 429 yards to 213. By gaining 31 total yards against St. Norbert on September 17, the versatile Theo Blanc was named District 14 player-of-the-week, and was also chosen by Don Hansen in Football Gazette as his player-of-the-week. But on this dreary day even Blanco was dropping passes.

The Pointers’ first possession looked promising as Kirk Baumgartner completed three of five passes, and Jim Mares (who would rush for a defense on 18 carries during the game) ran for another 19 yards as the Pointers advanced into UW-Whitewater territory. On fourth and two, though, Baumgartner was sacked (the first of three times) and the Pointer threat was stopped on the Warhawks 24 yard line.

The Pointer defense also started the game on a promising note as they forced punt and punt for the Warhawks. The Warhawks never did have a sustained drive during the game, but managed to defeat UW-Stevens Point on three big plays.

The first big play came at the 4:14 mark of the first quarter when Warhawk running back T. Talbot ran to the left of the scrimmage line and dashed 54 yards to give his team a 7-0 lead. A completed pass from Baumgartner to Don Meisling, who led the Pointers in reception yardage with 71, set up our team’s first score. With less than a minute expired in the second quarter Mares powered his way up the middle for the touchdown; the extra point was missed, and the score was 7-0 UW-Whitewater.

Neither team threatened the rest of the first half, but each team did manage to move the pigskin into its opponents portion of the field once during the third quarter, but it was all for naught. Bob Bostad from Pardeeville and Kevin Dietz from Merrill were the leading defensive players for the Pointers, and because of their and the rest of the Pointer defense the Warhawks did not increase their lead for over 40 minutes of game time.

The second big play for UW-Whitewater came with less than 10 minutes remaining in this low scoring game when the Warhawk quarterback completed a 52 yard pass to his receiver, and gave his team a first down on the Pointer’s 23 yard line. Four plays later the Warhawks led 14-0.

The Pointers quickly advanced the ball 56 yards on their next possession, but with a first and 10 situation on the Warhawks 21 yard line the drive was stymied by four incomplete passes. Rick Roth, from Stevens Point Area Senior High, recovered a fumble on the Warhawks 17 yard line two plays later, and the Pointers determined to score in this time. The Pointers did score, with a little help from a pass interference penalty, when Mares scored from 3 yards out. The Pointers converted the two point try, and with 6:35 remaining in the game the score was 14-14.

The third big play for the opposition came on their very first play after the evening kickoff. A 65 yard touchdown run by the Warhawks dampened the Pointers’ spirits, but because their opponent missed the extra point the Pointers didn’t lose faith as the score was now 10-10 UW-Whitewater.

The Pointers would not rally to victory, though, as the Warhawks rushed Baumgartner relentlessly on the Pointers’ next three possessions which saw him reduced to seven incomplete passes—many of which were catchable. The Pointers did not start play in the WSUC as they had hoped, but they got non-conference opponent Valparaiso next, and will be home in a week to face UW-La Crosse to try to even their record in WSUC play.

Badger State

by Timothy Rechner

It was announced at a new conference at Rib Mountain Ski Chalet that the Badger State Games will expand the games to include four winter sports.

The Badger State Games which include members from ages 7-75 years, now are including downhill and cross country skiing, ice hockey, curling and an exhibition sport being figure skating. These winter games will be held in the Wausau area February 3, 4 and 5.

The summer sports, have in the past four years, been held in Madison. Wausau was chosen for the location of the winter games because it is centrally located and to expand participation throughout the state.

Participation in the Badger State Games who finish in first place in the state go on to compete against the finalists of the thirty other participating states. These finalists compete in the Pan-Am games.

The expansion and promotion is being done through Dick McKee of Wausau Badger Ski Touring under Gov. Tommy Thompson. Matt said, “Our goal is to expand the games to all the cities of Wisconsin.”

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has renewed its accreditation of UWSP with a commendation for the school's "high-quality academic programs." The association's report was accepted Friday in Madison at the September meeting of the UW System Board of Regents.

After studying a report that was in the making during the previous year and visiting the campus, a six-member team of scholars from across the country recommended full accreditation at the master's degree-grading level for the next 10 years.

The institution has shown an ability to deal constructively with concerns and is clearly organized and administered in such a way that the team has confidence that it can continue to deliver high-quality academic programs during the accreditation term," the university was informed.

Ten major strengths of the institution were cited:

-UW-Stevens Point's select mission statement is appropriate and "consistent with resources and emphasis of the faculty."

-The campus possesses "adequate" resources to accomplish its purposes (although additional resources are desirable and could be constructively utilized).

-The institution took seriously, and effectively addressed (within resource limits), the 21 concerns identified in NCA's 1978 report.

-Faculty at UWSP are competent, well-qualified and stable, administrative leadership is likewise of generally high quality. The NCA team especially praised the strong "sense of community" evident at UWSP. Faculty governance is perceived to provide faculty a real role in decision-making and an atmosphere of mutual respect exists between faculty and administrators.

-The campus has built an outstanding information systems network (ISN) that makes microcomputing accessible to every faculty and student; and its association with AT&T has permitted this development at a reasonable cost.

-UWSP is an attractive campus, well laid-out and maintained. The Student Union is particularly impressive and all areas are now accessible to the handicapped.

-Despite sincere faculty concern over workloads, many classes remain small and most credit hour loads are normal. A genuine devotion to teaching is universally recognized as a top priority at UWSP.

-The campus offers a number of outstanding, nationally-prominent academic programs; e.g. wellness and health promotion, natural resources, writing emphasis (impressively supported by a highly regarded Academic Achievement Center).

-The campus also provides exemplary student life programs; e.g., Student Government, High School Relations, and Career Planning and Placement offices. Especially notable are the innovative Dial-A-Job service and the 97 percent employment rate of graduates.

-The university houses strong auxiliary programs, e.g., American Suzuki Institute, National Wellness Institute.

The 1983-84 men's basketball team of UWSP was comprised of John Bechard of Stevens Point, Keith Ponderman of Racine, Craig Hawley of Fond du Lac, Steve Hidden of Rockford, Ill., Mike Janse of Green Bay, Scott Koepnick, of Ripon, Tim Lazarick of Gaye Mills, Tim Naggeli of Racine, Terry Porter of Tremont, Drs., Keith Kulas of Schofield, Kirby Kulas of Stevens Point, Dave Schlandt of Franklin, Brad Soderberg of Dubuque Iowa, Coach Dick Bennett of Green Bay, Assistant Coach Rod Popp of LaCrosse, Assistant Coach Jerry Gotham of Stevens Point and Student Manager Joe McGuiness of Soutisville, Texas.

The team shared the State University Conference further, won the NAIA District 14 tournament and went on to lose the national title game, 68-66 in overtime to Fort Hayes State of Kansas. The Pointers established 27 school records, including nine individual and 16 team records.

(Tutor) Who needs them? Many students do.

Are you having problems with and assignment and you find it hard to keep up with the concepts being presented? Do you need help no one seems to understand your assignment? You are not alone. There are many of us in the same situation.

The UWSP Tutoring Center is available to help you. The center is located in the Memorial Student Center, Room 306A. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday.

First, and foremost, using a tutor is not a substitute for studying or attending classes. It is another opportunity to go over the material covered in class. Tutoring can also provide group discussions with others with the same subject.

Second, there is nothing attached to using tutoring services. Using a tutor is like using any of the other resources on campus. Tutoring is a tool you can use to help you through the academic rough spots. Not taking advantage of this resource makes as much sense as typing papers on your manual typewriter in the computer lab.

Third, don't have to plan it all out. Simply sign up for a tutor. If you have any problems with and assignment, sign up early in the semester you will be able to keep up with the class rather than having to try to catch up later.

Finally, tutoring is not a bail-out service. Don't wait until the last minute.

If you are having problems with and assignment, try to get tutoring early. If you are having problems with and assignment, try to get tutoring early.

Walk on the wild side

Although David Bowie, who produced "Walk on the Wild Side", had already opened some doors with his sexually ambiguous Ziggy Stardust character such subjects as oral sex, antiphonite use and transvestism were still a bit extreme for commercial radio. But Reed now plays down the shock value of his song. "In novels, this would be considered nothing," he says. "It's not a scary song. The Brothers Karamazov is scarier than that song. People's view of rock 'n' roll is so incredibly narrow."

Herbie Flowers, a London session musician, doubled the memorable bass parts on upright and electric guitars.

The barefoot-sax solo at the end was played by Ronnie Scott, Bowie's saxophone technician.

Not surprisingly, "Walk on the Wild Side" wasn't originally considered for release as a single, but when a British DJ played the song, listeners reacted so enthusiastically that RCA decided to take a chance. It reached number sixteen in the U.S. in an edited version. "I could have written a 'Son of Wild Side,' but I didn't," says Reed. "The record company thought I might do it again, but of course it was just a fluke in the first place."

Andrew Lloyd Webber's musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," will be one of five mainstage productions during the 1986-87 theatre and dance season at the UWSP.

The schedule of productions to be staged in the Jenkins Theatre of the Fine Arts Center in the first place."

Fall from grace

REVIEW-OF-THE-MONTH

Fall from Grace, by Shelley Ross. (Ballantine, $9.95)

Sex, scandal, and corruption in American politics from 1780 to the present.

Political misdeeds are older than the republic. Throughout history an aggressive news media has been interested in exposed irregularities and illegalities on all sides - helping to shape our perceptions about politics and politicians.

This fact-filled book names the names and sets the scenes - from almost every presidential administration - letting loose history's best-kept secrets and most infamous scandals.

Drawing comparisons between modern scandals gone by and today's simmering scandals, Fall from Grace demonstrates how our intriguing if imperfect system manages to stay afloat.

DNR approves Walleye release

RHINELANDER, WI - The Department of Natural Resources has approved the application of the Trout Lake Property Owners Association to release walleyes into Trout Lake. The transfer of walleyes from area lakes into Trout Lake was scheduled to take place Sunday, September 28, 1988.

DNR Woodford Area Fish Manager, Lloyd Andrews said the permit to allow the relocation of walleyes into Trout Lake came as a result of a cooperative effort between the Department of Natural Resources and members of the Trout Lake Property Owners Association. "We have agreed that anglers may stock healthy walleyes into Trout Lake under controlled conditions." All state hook and line fishing regulations will apply.

In order that no selected lake be adversely impacted, it is recommended that anglers limit their annual placement to walleyes of 10 acres of water. "Over the entire 23 lakes, that equals a maximum of 2.9 acres at 5th that may be caught and, in turn, placed into Trout Lake," DNR biologist John Lautt explains.

Schmeeke Reserve

Imagine a quiet place. A place to listen to the wind moving through stands of aspen or the cracking of natural litter underfoot or to hear the songs of nature. A peaceful place to absorb the last rays of summer sun or watch the changing colors of fall.

This scene is missed by many college students who become overwhelmed with classes, tests, and noisy dorms or apartments. This need not happen with University of Wisconsin students. Just a ten minute stroll from most parts of campus is the perfect natural getaway, the Schmeeke Reserve.

In the United States Reserve you can walk or jog on four miles of trails covering a variety of natural communities including grasslands, wet prairies, maple-pines, and jackpine forests. Boardwalk protect fragile species of plant life as well as young children and people of limited mobility. A 1.18 mile station fitness trail combines physical activity with the peace of a natural setting.

"The United States Reserve is an excellent place to go alone or to visit and observe the reserve wildlife such as hawks, owls, and bald eagles. The lake was never stocked by the university, but local anglers took it upon themselves to remedy the situation." Fishing is allowed with a current Wisconsin fishing license.

While the Schmeeke Reserve is an important part of student recreation and recreation, it offers a wide variety of natural communities for the student interested in natural resources to explore. It is a place to escape from the hustle and bustle of daily life and to enjoy the peace and serenity of nature. Relaxation, study and observation can take place here.

The Reserve functions as a lab for university students studying everything from natural resources to art. It is also a place to conduct environmental research and to monitor environmental quality. A variety of educational programs are offered by Reserve staff and volunteers who are also responsible for trail and sign maintenance, construction and exhibit development.

Much of what the Reserve does and what it will be able to do in the future depends on student participation and support. We always welcome new, enthusiastic volunteers, so if you'd like to be a part of the Reserve you are encouraged to take part in volunteer activities.

Dr. Earl Sparrenberg
New AWRA Member

UWSP Information Services
Directors of the American Water Resources Association have voted to give Earl Sparrenberg of Stevens Point the distinction of member at large.

Sparrenberg, a professor of forestry and water science at UWSP, has been a member of the association since joining it in 1971. Besides serving on committees, he has been an association director for two terms and newsletter editor for three terms.

The professor was instrumental in founding the association's Wisconsin State section, serving successively as president, vice president, and returning to be the current president.

At UWSP, Sparrenberg's chapter was the first of its kind on an American campus, and he was its founder and continues his involvement as an advisor.

Deer permits contain errors

Also on the application, a description of the land is asked for that includes only 69 acres. The applicant must own at least 50 acres. In order to make the description of the property simple, a 46-acre parcel with the proper town, range and section is used.

Individuals are encouraged to make sure they meet these eligibility requirements. Applicants should check license applications for errors, as each individual applicant is liable for information provided on each license. At the end of the 1987 hunting season more than 1,900 cases of license fraud were found in landowner preference applications for Hunter's Choice permits.

Thirty percent of the Hunter's Choice permits available for a particular year are non-transferable to landowners. If there are more landowner preference applications than permits available, the leftover landowner preference applicants are put into the "no preference" group.

Wildlife management indicates that there might be more non-transferable Hunter's Choice permits available in 1988, there are 33 management units where there might be potential bonus permits available.

In another correction, one hunting zone was omitted from the turkey license application. The zone omitted is IA in Vernon County. All other zones 1 through 32 are correct. Directions call for circling the zone choice. Zone IA can be written in on the application and circled.

MODELS NEEDED

At Smith Corona, simplicity is the mother of invention.

Our engineers racked their brains so you won’t have to.

We started out with a very simple idea.
To make electronic typewriters and word processors that have lots of great features but are very simple to use.

So simple you don’t have to keep one eye on your typing and one eye on the instruction manual.
So simple you don’t need a degree in computer programming to operate them.
So simple they can even make a confirmed non-typist comfortable at the keyboard.
Call it human engineering if you like. Or call it ergonomics. Or call it plain old inspiration.
What we came up with is a line of remarkable typewriters that are sophisticated without being complicated.
In fact, they’re unlike any other typewriters you’ve ever seen before...or used before...or muttered at before.
Take our new Smith Corona SD-700. (Lots of people are going to)

We call the SD 700 the Memory Typewriter. You just may call it the simplest typewriter in memory.
It features a 2000 character editable memory you can access with the mere flip of a switch.
Combined with the 16 character LCD display, you can proofread, correct and make changes before you ever put anything down on paper.
Of course, should you want to

We make the simplest typewriters in memory.

Type into Memory

Give your typing a screen test.

We’ve reformed the correction system.

Add features like a Spell-Right™ 50,000 word electronic dictionary, WordPrint, WordEraser, Full Line Correction and much more and you’ve got a typewriter that’s not just incredibly simple to use, but simply impossible to pass up.
Of course, the same goes for every other Smith Corona typewriter and word processor as well.
Which is why we recommend that you hurry to your nearest store and try our machines yourself.
Obviously, they won’t come to you.

Yet.

To the editor,

Who is Dan Quayle? The upshot over his use of family influence to avoid military service is "a Vietnam in obsessably other defects in his background. Quayle’s close friends and family acknowledge his glaring lack of intellectual ability. Theodore Bendall, Quayle’s family attorney, recently said that if there was one thing he could change about the Indiana senator it would be to “increase his IQ. He is not an intellectual.” Quayle’s father freely admits that his son’s main interest in school was “broad and boose.”

Dan Quayle’s mediocre academic standing in high school apparently prevented him from applying to major universities. Instead he went to little De-Pauw University where his grandfather was a member of the board of trustees and a major contributor.

In college Quayle had a reputation for being a poor student, frequently drinking to excess and dating many women. A former professor says Quayle received mostly C’s and got a D in at least one course in his major, political science. His looks and nonintellectual image led some classmates to nickname him derisively an “ace man.”

Clark Adams, a former classmate, said, “He was not a guy to take a position on anything except who his date was on Friday night and where to get drunk on Saturday night.” Another classmate, Joseph Wirt, said Quayle majored in “girls, golf and alcohol” at De-Pauw.

Quayle’s college record was so spotty that a favor appealed in 1982 when the college announced it would award an honorary doctor of laws degree to Quayle. The faculty secretly voted 22-24 against awarding the degree.

Despite Quayle’s assertion last week that “I was interested in joining the National Guard because it enabled me to go to law school as soon as possible,” he did not go to law school right away. He did not meet the academic requirements of Indiana University’s law school. “They wouldn’t take him in,” his father, James Quayle told the Washington Post. A year later, “Somehow he got in, he talked his way in” and attended night school, James Quayle said.

Although Quayle said that he sought to bypass the military because of his intense interest in becoming a lawyer, there is no evidence that he accomplished anything substantial as an attorney. Quayle’s friends in the legal profession cannot remember any cases that he handled. Almost immediately after opening his law practice, Quayle told his father he wanted to do something else and became assistant publisher of his father’s newspaper.

His grandfather, Eugene Bendall, who headed the most powerful newspaper empire in Indiana, was famous for blantly mixing right-wing politics and newspaper journalism with impunity. Quayle’s father, James Quayle, was a member of the ultracconservative John Birch Society in the 1960s.

The financial and editorial backbone of his father got Quayle elected to the House in 1978. With the strong backing of his uncle’s Indianapolis newspaper he became a U.S. senator in 1980.

Voters have an opportunity to beat Bush and bag Quayle in November. Dan Quayle is another example of the intellectually bankrupt yuppie scum who is obscuring the country club Republicans are trying to foist on the American public as a poor excuse for leadership. The voters can see through their goody-two-shoes facade and trite cliches. We should not have a vice president who has to use his penis for a brain.

Jim Senyazyn

ROTC Students

To the editor,

Another election is upon us and as usual, the war is in a shambles. The economy and environment continue to walk on eggshells, and we face foreign policy crises on at least four continents. So naturally the hottest issue in the campaign is Vietnam.

The whole story is getting a bit old, so I won’t re-rehash Dan Quayle’s past. (But it has been fun to watch the Republicans tripping over the flag they’ve been waving in our faces.) But the real importance of Quayle’s candidacy has been ignored.

It’s not the fact that J. Danny Quayle the XCVII is a young, handsome version of Jesse Helms, a bone thrown to the Pat Robertson wing of the party—even though that’s a potentially critical issue.

No is the issue “draft-dodging.” Going to prison for refusing induction or going to war for sincere reasons can be defended as acts of conscience. Quayle can claim no higher principle than self-preservation. Sadly, hypocrisy is a trait we’ve come to expect from our leaders.
