A ball was had at the UWSP Mardi Gras

By Jodi Ott
Staff Writer

The second annual Mardi Gras Ball, sponsored by the UW-SP Music Department on February 3 turned out to be a tremendous success.

"I don't know if I can give exact figures, but I know that attendance was up from last year. Where there were some rooms that didn't seem very full last year, there were royal houses that were crowded this year. I can make a general statement that attendance was much improved over last year by a third possibly," said Donald Greene, chairman of the music department.

All proceeds from the event go to sponsor music scholarships. UW schools have a similar event, UW-Dane County and UW-Milwaukee both hold a Viennese Ball.

"Ours is a little different because it's a Mardi Gras. They do theirs in April, but we're all trying to raise scholarships to attract quality music students," said Greene.

The music department hopes to attract students that play instruments that aren't so common and also attract the best singers. Both help to improve the quality of the entire program.

"We were more concerned with having it succeed than we were concerned that we made a lot of money. We would like to make money, we need it for scholarships," said Greene. "We spent a lot more on decorations and it paid off because it was a high-class affair that people really enjoyed."

Greene feels that more college students will want to attend in the future because they don't have much opportunity to go to a fancy dress ball.

The Ball provided a variety of entertainment for listening and dancing acceptance. An alcohol bar was open and party snacks were served.

Big Band Express, a jazz group comprised of 18 students and directed by Mike Irish, was one of the acts for the evening. Besides performing in concerts on and off campus, the group had toured Europe last summer.

Smile, a professional variety show and dance band from central Wisconsin, also performed. This band consists of members who graduated from UWSP about 15 years ago.

The John Radd Trio was an ensemble with Radd on piano, Bob Kase on trumpet and Jeff Eckles on bass. Eckles per formed on Public Radio every Saturday morning on "Michael Feldman, What Do You Know Show."

The Dixieland All Stars made up all of the faculty, has performed and off for years. They will be the opening act for the Four Tops Friday, Feb. 9, at the Holiday Inn. Members of the group are Radd, Greene, Kase, Brian Martz, Robert Rosen and Eckles.

The Mid-Americans, a 10 member vocal jazz ensemble performed under the direction of Charles Reichle. The group also had toured Europe last summer.

Green looks forward to next year's Ball which will be held February 9. He says they will even be more variety of entertainment.

"I want it to be an bigger and better success and we hope more students will take advantage of it," said Greene.

Point Bock run scheduled

By Greg Lavine
Contributor

The Point Bock Run kicks off this year's St. Patrick's Day celebration on Sunday, Feb. 18. The race will start at the Ben Franklin Junior High at 1 p.m. and finish at the P.J. Jacobs Junior High.

There will be an after-race celebration at the P.J. Jacobs Junior High with refreshments, an award ceremony and music provided by WSPT Port -A-Party.

The Point Bock Run was created in 1981 by the Point Brewery in conjunction with the Stevens Point Area Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the distribution of Point Bock beer that is brewed in the spring of each year.

Participants in this year's race are expected to number between 450 and 500 people including, not only local competitors but people from across Wisconsin and neighboring states. The contestant number has leveled off slightly in the last couple of years, but is still growing slightly to gain interest in the winter running schedules every year," commented Pat Roberts, chairman.

Entry forms may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce Building at 600 Main St. or the day of the race. Registration will be held from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. at Ben Franklin Junior High.

Fewer students suspended

High retention complicates enrollment cutback plan

The University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point had fewer students leave in December because of the lower grades that the UWSP is indeed attracting better students, Registrar David Eckholm said. But, as he adds, it poses a problem at a time when the university is unable to accommodate all of the prospective students seeking admission.

The number of students not making the grade in their last fall dropped to 235 or about 2.6 percent of the total enrollment. In recent years the suspension has been in the 3.5 or 4.5 percent range. The high retention rate of students complicates the process of making further cuts in the total campus enrollment this fall, Eckholm explained.

Because it does not have a large enough budget to serve all of those who wish to gain entrance, UW-SP is among several other institutions mandated to be part of a UW-System Enrollment Management Program. Reductions in student population have been made in each of the past several years.

Last September, a total of 8,878 were admitted. This fall, that number will be trimmed to 8,600.

To meet its targeted cuts last fall, the university accepted about 440 fewer students than the previous year. However, much of the progress made at that time in its reduction plan was offset in December because far fewer students than expected were suspended.

Proposals outlined by Planning Committee

"By the mid-90s, we can be an undergraduate university of national repute, serving our students and Central Wisconsin better then at any time during our 100-year history," predicted Chancellor Keith Sanders upon receiving a list of priorities for the 1990s from a UW-SP strategic planning committee.

The committee called for curriculum enhancement, program review, faculty and staff development and capital partners with schools, business and industry. The recommendations are from 90 faculty, students, alumni and community representatives who have been at work since November on a strategic planning committee.

The committee's most recent exercise was a two-day retreat in which the members proposed seven priorities for action:

- Curricular enhancement toward the goal of providing students with knowledge and skills which are highly relevant to the '90s and a new century.
- Review of all programs, academic and non-academic, and placement of each in one of the following categories: enhancement, maintenance, reduction or elimination.
- Development of external partnerships involving relationships with schools in the area, business/industry and the public.
- Faculty/staff development, covering a broad range of issues from compensation to the vigorous recruitment of teachers at a time of declining numbers of scholars pursuing PhD degrees.
- Cultural diversity development in the curriculum, faculty/staff and student body.
- Enhancement of UWSP's image.
- Fund raising, particularly from private sources.

Students Welcome at conference

Special to the Pointer

UWSP students are welcome to attend the 1990 Wisconsin Governor's Conference on Tourism which will be held on Wednesday, February 14th at the Holiday Inn Stevens Point.

Students will be allowed to attend all of the speaker sessions at no charge. The speakers at the Conference will discuss such things as Working with various state agencies, such as the Director of Tourism, the WV market and its impact on Wisconsin, and group tours market.

In addition to this, there will be a special "Governor's Night Finance," which will be held at Sentry World at 8 p.m. that evening. Speaking at the banquet will be Governor Tommy Thompson who will discuss tourism. The Heartbeat of Wisconsin, the Governor's banquet will most students $25 who will cover the meal. Pre-registration for the Governor's Night Banquet is required by 2 p.m. Friday. Pre-registrations can be made by calling (608) 567-6703.

Wellness institute exporting to Japan

The National Wellness Institute, of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, is preparing to export its professional expertise to Japan. The institute has announced today that it will be used in the development of a health and wellness program for a group of universities in Japan.

Institute director David Emmerling announced today that the institute is seeking a new account in Japan. This is an example of the kind of challenge our organization is looking for," Marver commented.

Emmerling unveiled some of the plans the organization has for the second semester.

We plan to attend a public relations conference at the Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill., February 23-25. It should be an enjoyable event and a perfect opportunity to make some contacts in the business," he said.

Dibelj also mentioned PRSSA is always looking to recruit new members and is also trying to attract underclassmen. He feels they can learn and benefit in their later years at UWSP from PRSSA.

More efforts will go to the new health and wellness centers. The meeting was attended by about 25 new members. She started out with a brief introduction and then presented the board members for the second semester. Marver also went over the highlights of last semester which included a convention in Dallas, Texas, attended by about 1,000 students.

"We have broken into many subcommittees to work on these new accounts. We feel this will make our organization much more efficient and productive," she said.

Richard Dubiel, faculty advisor to PRSSA, commented on why he thinks it’s important for a public relations or advertising student to be involved in such an organization.

"Experience is the key in getting a job after graduation. Experience you get from an organization such as PRSSA will set a candidate apart from the competition in the job market. We have a great board and are looking forward to a lot of activities," Dubiel said.

Why not let women serve in combat?

by Blair Cleary
Editor-in-Chief

The recent US invasion of Panama brought to light a problem of the military that has been a cause of debate for some time now. The debate is over the issue of whether women should be allowed to be in combat.

Currently, women are not allowed in combat. Many of their jobs are more administrative or support-oriented. Women should, however, be allowed in combat, for several reasons.

First off, combat is no longer fought with mere brute strength. Wars today are fought more with technology. Swords have been replaced with missiles and clubs by fighter-bombers. Strength just isn’t as important as it was 500 years ago. Perhaps if wars were still fought with swords, such an argument would be valid but today with technology it isn’t.

Secondly, Vietnam, Beirut, and Panama have shown that people in support roles are often in as much, or perhaps more, danger than the combat troops. Warfare is no longer two armies in trenches fighting across no-man's land. Guerrilla wars and police actions are what constitute modern conflicts. In the recent Panama invasion, the military police were still being shot at by snipers long after the actual "battle" was over. Some of these military police were women.

The armed forces have many more examples of how support personnel have dangerous jobs. Look at pilots who fly the big refueling planes. These planes refuel fighters in mid-air, thus extending their range and usefulness. If an enemy jet were to come upon one of these planes, which is possible since they refuel planes coming from or going to their targets, it would be a simple matter for a MIg to blow one into dust killing all on board.

Look at the navy as another example. Women serve aboard and even command tankers and supply ships. These ships could well be blown away by anti-ship missiles. Being classified as a "supply" ship is no protection. During the battle of the Coral Sea in World War II one of the first American ships to be destroyed was a fleet tanker.

What would happen if a long range missile hit a rear area command post? Women would die. It seems that we aren’t protecting women by keeping them out of combat. And when did they ask for protection anyway? It seems pretty dumb not to let women fight, all things considered.

Jacobins target wrong people again

By Timothy A. Bishop
Pointer Business Manager

The latest issue of The Jacobin hit the sidewalks around campus yesterday and, as usual, it contained its usual quota of mindless nonsense directed against people who do not deserve it.

This week’s victim is the entire idea of financial aid and the secretaries at the financial aid office.

Mr. Madison and the rest of his compatriots at the Jacobins seem to feel that the secretaries at financial aid are the root of all of the financial aid problems.

First of all, it is clear that fault for inability to get an appointment with a financial aids counselor does not start with the secretaries. Rather, there is only a limited number of counselors for the students and they only have a limited number of hours available to spend with the students. The answer to that problem lies not with the secretaries, but rather with state government.

And about those problems that get taken to them? Well, I’ll bet that the majority of the problems that those secretaries have to work through stem from that fact that the student did something wrong. I’m not saying that just Mr. Madison makes mistakes when it comes to financial aid (I’ve made my share myself and had my aid delayed because of them), but rather that we have to keep this in mind when we go into there.

As far as financial aid form is concerned, does Mr. Madison just expect people (the federal and state governments) to just give him money, just for the asking, and with no concern for need? If that was the case, there certainly wouldn’t be much financial aid to go around.

The form serves to single out those who need money for school apart from those who should be able to afford it.

And as far as the $6 is concerned, the people who process the forms are a private company working for you and applying for the grants for you. They don’t work for the government.

As far as the loans (which Mr. Madison claims you don’t know you have to pay back), I have yet to see a loan form which doesn’t say you have to pay it back. Usually, the words "Promissory note" at the top serve as a hint, as does the word "loan." If you don’t bother to read that part, then it is your own fault that Vito and his badge show up at your doorstep in a couple of years.
Hunger cleanup comming soon

To the Editor and the Student Body:

I would like to draw your attention to an exciting event that will take place on our campus this spring: the HUNGER CLEANUP. On April 21, UW-Stevens Point will be joining other university campuses across the nation to fight hunger and homelessness and help clean up the community. The Hunger Cleanup is like a walk-a-thon except that instead of simply walking to raise funds for the hungry and homeless, we will be helping our community. For example, volunteers will work for three hours cleaning a campus recreational use area, giving the community a more pleasant environment.

All of the funds raised will be used to fight the problems of hunger and homelessness here in Portage County as well as abroad. Last year over 100 students form UW-SP participated in the Hunger Cleanup and $900 was raised.

Interested individuals and representatives from organizations that would like to be involved are welcome to attend the first Hunger Cleanup planning meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 14, at 4 p.m., in the Turner Room of the University Center. More information about the Hunger Cleanup can also be obtained by calling the Association for Community Tasks (ACT) at 345-2260. Please join us. Working together, the UW-SP community can take strong action against the problems of hunger and homelessness.

Marijuana should be legal

To the Editor:

Nearly 60 Americans will die this year from accidents or illnesses related to alcohol or tobacco. Marijuana is no killer. In fact, medical evidence indicates many foods we commonly consume pose a greater danger to human health than marijuana. Still it remains illegal—containing over $5 billion of our nation's money for law enforcement each year. If it is regulated, marijuana sales would generate $10 to $15 billion in annual tax revenue.

If you enjoy occasional recreational use of marijuana, you owe it to yourself and society to be aware of the facts about marijuana usage. In over 85% of the states you can still be sent to prison for possessing marijuana. In another 30 states you can be refused employment on the basis of your marijuanna use.

Whether you smoke marijuana often, occasionally or not at all, you should be aware of its prohibition and write your Congressman and demand that marijuana be made legal.

Police blow it again

To the Editor:

In the midst of last Saturday night's "Arrest Me," at 10:30 p.m., I was attending a party a few blocks from campus. It was quiet, private, going away party held by team members of an assistant coach at UW-Stevens Point. Everyone was exclusively attended by the team. Everyone was socializing and saying their good-byes when someone noticed people scanning the property outside with flashlights. I walked outside and found they were police following the tracks of the driver of a car that did some property damage a few blocks away.

Apparently, I was running over a curb nearby and knocked down a couple of parking meters in the process. Two sets of tracks were left as the driver and passenger fled the scene leaving a car behind. The police followed the tracks to the location of the party.

After returning from checking out the matter I assured the members of the team there were no problems and the officers were looking for someone who did the property damage with a car.

Seconds later, an officer appeared at the top of a set of interior steps from an entrance not used by the tenants. He demanded money.

"Is there a "John Doe" here," he asked.

I was not replied and this angered the officer.

"If John Doe does not step forward, I can radio more officers and start checking ID's and giving breathalizers," he threatened.

Someone finally said that everyone knew everyone else and no one had come or gone for a few hours. We convinced him the person he was looking for was not on the property.

Jacobins two-cents better spent elsewhere

Dear Editor:

Last semester the LAQ was a hot topic on the UWSP campus. Unfortunately, there was a lack of accurate information available to students. The Jacobins DID throw in their two-cents worth; but their $.02 on "newsletters" would have been better spent elsewhere. So save the dittos guys, we have plenty of university-issue tissue to keep your tissues clean till Spring of '92.

The article "LAQ: A Plus or Minus" provides accurate information even a small quantity of the Questionnaire and the individuals who developed the document over 15 years ago. The main goal of this article is to better familiarize the students with the LAQ - how it came about and what its main goals are. Also, if a change is in order (in the document specifically, or some aspect of Health Services in general), we may work toward bringing about that change.

The Jacobins argued that incoming freshmen should not have to fill out a questionnaire. Apparently, there was a "committee" to investigate the LAQ and its effects. We have not heard from them since, but it would be interesting.

I still have a few questions about the questionnaire, and I would like to address those in the future. One of the concerns about the LAQ is whether or not some of the questions are relevant. But I think they are. Throughout my four years in the Health Promotion-Wellness curriculum, I've learned there is a lot more to promoting healthy life-styles than telling people to eat right, exercise and to stop smoking, drinking...

By addressing a variety of questions the LAQ covers several dimensions of our lives, from social and spiritual to intellectual and physical. Every one of these areas is impinged upon by the development and maintenance of good health.

Maybe I'm looking at only the positive side of the LAQ and skipping over the negative. But my research has shown me that there is a lot to be positive about.

A few students may fear what the questionnaire might reveal, or the possibility of this information getting into the wrong hands. I hope this article will show them that there really is nothing to fear. If there are remaining questions about the LAQ, or a discrepancy arises regarding the validity of the questionnaire, I hope students will make that information known.

Though neither is perfect in any sense, nor do they claim to be, this university, including Health Services, does a pretty good job. And it looks like the LAQ is here to stay. So if you don't like it, and have a suggestion for improvement, let's hear it. Here is what I found, it's up to you to decide; is the LAQ a plus or a minus?

Stone speaks

To the editor:

As corporations evade taxes, then buy out competing businesses and companies. They will then sell off the assets, fire the workers, sell stimulants and recreational use products and use the old brand labels to deceive the consumers into believing they are still buying trusted and known brand products. These companies exist only on paper in reality, their profits are as extinct as the dinosaurs. This is since Reagan became president and still no anti-crime laws have been enforced on courts.

Our military is used today to protect corporations' investments worldwide. The governments proved this when they sent our navy to protect oil going to Japan. To produce products they then sold here. Another ex ample is in Kuwait, when Bush sent our troops to Panama to protect businesses, there recently.

The reason here in America we cannot get rid of our criminals in office, as the people did in Romania, is because here the church is tied in with the government. In other words, the religious organizations not only evade taxes, but profit from the sale of weapons that come to countries deadly chemicals sold and put in our food and from the filthy and violent programs aired on T.V.

we make it happen!!
Icefishing for northern pike

Brian Leaby
Outdoors Editor

The late icing season isn’t for everyone. For some, the ice is too thick to warrant drifting for pike. For others, it’s just not thick enough. So what??

The issue of what to do when the ice is just too thin to allow for safe fishing is one of the most common questions of the winter. It would be easy to say that you should just wait until the ice is thick enough to support your boat, but that would be ignoring the fact that some pike are going to be available even when the ice is thinner.

One of the main reasons that the ice is too thin is because there isn’t enough snow cover. This can be due to a number of factors, including the location of the lake, the amount of snowfall, and the amount of wind. In some cases, it may be possible to wait until the ice is thick enough to support your boat. In other cases, you may have to wait until the ice is thick enough to support your boat and the pike you want to catch.

In conclusion, there is no one-size-fits-all answer to the question of when the ice is too thin to fish. You should consider the location of the lake, the amount of snowfall, and the amount of wind when deciding whether to fish on thin ice or to wait until the ice is thicker. If the ice is too thin, you may want to consider fishing on a nearby lake or river, or you may want to wait until the ice is thicker. If you are not sure whether the ice is thick enough to support your boat, you should always err on the side of caution and fish on a nearby lake or river.
Wisconsin outdoor report

Ice anglers in the Park Falls area are finding some good bluegill and crappie action; the Dairyland Flowsage is still producing some nice walleyes - a few in the 10-pound range. The Spread Eagle Range in Florence County is another good spot for panfish. In the Woodruff area, there have been some good catches of perch reported, along with some nice crappies and bluegills. The ice is eroding where currents are present, particularly under bridge pilings, in channel areas and near inlets and outlets. Some lakes have pockets of deep slush.

Fishing has been good at Fish Haven, Chauveaur's (Clay County) Dock and Sugar Creek in Door County. Anglers have been getting a lot of perch on the hay off Kewaunee County.

New snowfall has improved cross-country skiing and snowmobile trail conditions in the north, as well as in central Wisconsin, where all trails are now open and snowmobile traffic is reported quite heavy.

Trails in the Mercer area are in excellent condition, with a snow depth there of about 18 inches. Cross country trails in the Woodruff area are in excellent condition, while snowmobile trails are adequate. In northern counties, where the wind has an opportunity to move snow around, conditions vary considerably.

Skii and snowmobile trails in the Black River Falls area are also good, and in good condition. There's also some pretty good cross country skiing in Shawano, Manitowoc, Waushara and Oconto counties. In the south, most snowmobile and ski trails are in poor condition, bass have been taken on lakes Poygan and Winnebago.

The Wisconsin River has opened up below the Dela dam and anglers are catching decent walleye. River water levels are low, if you're using a boat, expect a little more maneuvering and watch for ice flows. Walleye fishing on the Castle Rock Flowsage has been good, with some nice fish being reported.

Cavefish and bass are being taken on Lake Columbus, and Lake Parkway is a hot spot for northern pike. In the west, Lake Wissaota anglers are having fair to good success with walleyes and panfish. Crappie fishing is taking place on all lakes in the Eau Claire area.

As the days grow longer, many of our resident and migrant wildlife are feeling the gentle nags of nature reminding them that spring and the renewal of life aren't far away. Great horned owls, long-eared owls, winter wrens, Canada geese, and American kestrels are feeding on insects and small rodents that are emerging from winter hiding places. Beverages are becoming restless in their ice-covered world of stream and pond. Raccoons, oppossum, and skunks are becoming visible again.

As many as eight bald eagles can be found roosting at the Thousand Islands National Park in Kaukauna. Eagles have also been sighted along the Menominee River in Menominee County and in the Green Bay area of Sheboygan County. In Wisconsin's 66 state parks and nine state forests battle with more traditional campers during the summer, the campground offers solitude and quiet snow falls during the winter, as well as unique access to snowmobile and cross-country ski trails.

"We usually get a group of Boy Scouts camping in tents each winter," said Dave Clise, Yellowstone Lake State Park superintendent. "But the majority of our winter campers come in RV's and take advantage of the electrical hook-ups.

"Over the winter, we have about 100 campers using our backcountry sites," said Penny Keedy, Northern Highlands State Forest recreation supervisor. Multi-colored domes of nylon and canvas increasingly dot snowy forests across the state as winter camping in state parks catches on with outdoor enthusiasts.

Nelson to receive award here March 10

Former U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson will receive the "Environmentalist of the Year Award" at an annual recognition program March 10 sponsored by the University Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

In addition to being honored, Nelson will give a speech following a noon buffet luncheon at the Holiday Inn.

Faculty members in the UWSP College of Natural Resources voted that Nelson receive one of the top citations they give each year to outstanding students, teachers, alumni, advocates of their programs and leaders in environmental protection.

"He's one of the strongest advocates for environmental viability we have in the country today," said Alan Haney, dean of the college.

It is appropriate, Haney continued, that the recognition be given this year because it is the 20th anniversary of Earth Day, established by Nelson. "That was a tremendous achievement and will be a phenomenal event this year with more participation than ever."

Nelson championed environmental causes as Wisconsin's governor, later during a 24-year span as a member of the United States Senate and most recently as a leader of the Wildlife Society.

During a social hour that will precede the luncheon and program, more than $50,000 in scholarships will be given to about 100 students from donations by businesses and organizations and endowments that donors have established in the UWSP Foundation.

Members of the public may attend the event. Tickets for the buffet are available by calling the dean's office in the College of Natural Resources at 346-4617.

ASE plans its Earth Week activities

Eric Meyer
Contributor

On January 31, the Alliance for a Sustainable Earth (ASE) met in the Red Room of the University Center to hold its first meeting of the spring semester. The group elected two new officers for the positions of Vice President and Secretary and made plans for Earth Week.

Filling the opening for the position of Secretary filled by Richard Bellcock, the group elected Vicki Beavers, the current secretary of the group. In addition, Mike Keeler, who is a Geography major, will take over for Christopher Snowden a Resource Management major. She will replace Vicki Beavers, the current secretary of the group. In addition, Mike Keeler, who is a Geography major, will take over for Christopher Bellocool as the new vice president. Both officers introduced themselves to the new members and expressed excitement and enthusiasm for their new responsibilities. In addition to an election the group also discussed Earth Week.

Molly Shallop, president of the organization and editor of the Alliance Newsletter, conducted the meeting and helped the group plan for Earth Week. "Our organization is really looking forward to Earth Week (March 19-25) and we hope everyone will participate in making positive environmental change," said Shallop. This means that During Earth Week the group will go to area grocery stores and apply green stickers to those products that are especially earth friendly.

Says Shallop, "We're concerned about making global environmental change here. We want to alleviate people's feelings of helplessness by informing them about things they can do to help the environment. Our motto is: Think globally act locally.

Last semester ASE sold crafts at the UW-SP International Bazaar to raise money for environmental projects. This semester they hope to further educate the group with speakers from the Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission, and the International Timber Wolf Center, among others.

The ASE meeting is at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 20, in the Red Room.

Tribe releases fish quota balance

Recent action by the St. Croix Tribal Council releasing the balance of its 1989-90 wall-eye harvest allocation will increase ice fishing bag limits on 14 lakes in three northwestern Wisconsin counties, DNR fisheries personnel announced.

By letter, St. Croix Tribal Chairman Eugene W. Taylor told DNR Secretary C.D. Beadsby that all fish remaining to the St. Croix Chippewas would be released. That included fish from 17 lakes in four counties. Because of the number of fish already harvested, the bag limits did not change on three lakes.

"I know that the state anglers appreciate the commitment by the St. Croix tribe in releasing fish that they no longer plan to harvest," Beadsby said in announcing the new bag limits.

"The Department appreciates the prompt response to our inquiry." Bag limits will be posted at the affected lakes in Barron, Burnett, Douglas and Washburn counties.

The Lifestyle Assessment Questionnaire: everything you always wanted to know but were afraid to ask (part I)
by Thomas Wyote
Contributor

The Lifestyle Assessment Questionnaire (LAQ): "What is it? "Why should I take it?" Those questions probably ran through your mind as you stared impatiently at the four-page questionnaire. To you it looked more like another blasted SAT, ACT, W2... But you swallowed your complaints and proceeded to attack the 200-plus oval dots, turned with #2 regulation lead.

To your surprise it turned out to be a painless procedure: fifteen minutes of reflecting on your life-style familyhistory, and a few areas of your physical and emotional health.

You got your report back with results, comparison, and recommendations. There it was, probably for the first time ever... a report which revealed a few things about your lifestyle, the choices you make today that will determine our wellness/illness in 20 years from now.

To be truly healthy, we must strive for a balance in every area of our lives. The LAQ addresses the six dimensions of wellness: social, intellectual, spiritual, physical, emotional, and occupational; each of these areas affects the other and together determine our overall wellness status.

The LAQ promotes awareness and understanding of the lifestyle behaviors and risk factors in your life that may lead to sickness or even death. By taking the LAQ and reviewing the data provided in your personal profile, you can pinpoint those areas of your life where an improvement could increase of your life where an improvement could increase of your life where an improvement could increase individual wellness and chances for living a longer, more satisfying life. For this reason, the LAQ will remain an important part of the entrance requirement at UWSP and other universities.

The LAQ presents an important role in helping students identify areas of self-improvement which will lead to higher levels of health and well-being. The National Wellness Institute states the following as the purpose of the LAQ: "This assessment tool and the analysis it provides are designed to help you discover how the choices you make each day affect your overall health."

According to Fred Leagren, EdD., the LAQ does several things: one, it is a way of assessing present wellness levels, so you get information about how well you are. By the time you answer all the items in that section, you may have an understanding of what wellness is. Leagren describes the LAQ as both an assessment and an education about wellness. "You get a feeling for maybe I'm not living as well of a lifestyle there as I might," Leagren said. "You get information back through the health risk appraisal section (HRA), for instance, you can identify life expectancy and things that you're presently doing that you could change to increase life expectancy."

The LAQ doesn't just give you specific lifestyle behavior changes that you could make to increase the potential of your longevity and good health.

In addition, there is a section that asks you to identify areas in which you would like specific information or assistance. That gives us the opportunity to provide you with resources within the University and community; courses that address those topics, organizations, books and other materials or sources that are available to students." There are 43 such items to choose from, in the "topics for personal growth" section that students may request information about.

"College students often make unwise lifestyle-related decisions and bear the responsibility for those decisions," said Susan Lipnicki, PhD, a researcher who studied knowledge and use patterns of health resources. Her findings indicated that a college student's decision of whether or not to utilize available resources continued on page 12

Valentine's Day origins explored
by Catherine Busch
Contributor

On Valentine's Day romance is in the air. Cupid sends his arrow to spark new love and to reignite old loves. Although the myths and traditions connected with Valentine's Day abound, no one is certain whose character was or how the traditions of the holiday began. The early list of Christian martyrs says that there were at least three Valentines. The most ancient legend concerns a Valentine who was imprisoned for his beliefs. This myth helps to explain the romance connected with the holiday. The story says that while Valentine was in captivity he cured the jailor's daughter of blindness. Valentine fell in love with her and sent her a letter signed (as you may have guessed) "From your Valentine." Out of legend deals with the Valentine box of France. Maid and bachelors would draw from a box to determine who their swain would be for the year. In the 16th century, St. Valentine's Day was attempted to be a day of celebration on February 14. Why shouldn't humans do the same? As you can see, the beliefs and practices connected with Valentine's Day have changed drastically since the Middle Ages. However, the meaning of Valentine's Day has remained unchanged. Whether it is seen in the words of a Hallmark, gift of roses, or a simple "I love you," Valentine's Day is a time to show our loved ones how much we really care.

UAB lists scheduled February events

The University Activities Board has scheduled several programs, including films, bands and comedy, this month at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

The films will be at 8 p.m. on Wednesdays in the University Center's Encore. Admission at the door is $2 for the public and $1 for UWSP students. The schedule of films is as follows: --February 14, Say Anything --February 21, Heathers --February 28, Moby Python-Live at the Hollywood Bowl.

On Saturday, February 10, "After You," a Stevens Point-Wausau band which plays classic rock and Top-40 dance tunes, will perform from 8-11 p.m. in the Encore. Admission at the door is $3 for the public and $2 for UWSP students. On Saturday, February 17, Comedy Sportz from Madison will present improvisations and stand-up comedy at 8 p.m. in the Encore. Admission is $3 for the public and $2 for UWSP students.

On Friday, February 23, "Axis," a band from Eco Classic, will play classic and hard rock from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Encore. Admission is $3 and $2.

FASHION POINT
by Susan Studler
Contributor
Hi Pointer Readers, I'm Susan Studler, a fashion merchant and manager. This week I am beginning a fashion column to keep you informed on the latest trends and to answer your fashion questions. Any questions or suggestions you have can be left at the Pointer office. Hope to hear from you!

Paris, New York? Of course not, this is Stevens Point. But we don't need to be that far from these fashion capitals of the world. Especially in winter, one needs to make sure to dress properly for warmth - and you can look fashionable in the process. There are always the traditional sweaters, wool sweaters and down jackets in subdued colors. But the technology of the 80's has brought us more advanced insulations and vibrant colors.

One of the fastest growing insulations this past decade was Thinsulate. This material is made of microscopic fibers which have the warmth of down in about 1/4th of the space. Solar Alpha is an insulation which reflects body heat back to the wearer, and also retains heat wearer. These insulations work from the sun to warm the well in dry conditions, but work best in wet conditions when paired with a water-repellent or waterproof fabric. Specific fabrics are waterproof (Gore-Tex) and other fabrics can be treated with a finish (Schockguard) to make them water resistant.

Colors are another aspect of winter wear you want to consider when dressing for the elements. Neon colors are hot in the cold weather this year (A far cry from the fashion colors of the early 1900's - tan and brown). There are even fabrics which change color when exposed to temperature change. Many of these vibrant colors and color changers are found in ski clothing, but don't hesitate to wear them outdoors.

These insulations, fabrics, and colors are available in jackets, pants, gloves and hats. So when dressing for the great outdoors remember wool sweaters, insulated jackets and gloves, and hats in bright colors. Oh! If it is really cold out, you can also wear long underwear - wool, polypropylene, or silk if you dare!

Campus Activities to present abortion forum
by Steve W. Schmidt

The search is on! UW-Stevens Point students have begun their quest for off-campus housing for the fall semester.

This is a hectic event which most traditional students choose to participate in at least once during their careers as university students.

It's a madhouse out there," one female student announced upon returning to her residence hall after several hours of feverish house hunting. "I can't believe how many places are already taken for next semester," she said.

Fact is, that most landlords have already rented out about 80 percent of their available housing for next semester, and with the latest housing lists released on February 6, the outlook can only get worse.

Most houses are renting for $600-$700 per person for one semester, while apartments vary greatly in price depending on size, condition, and whether or not the unit is furnished. Nonetheless, apartment rent appears to be in the same ballpark.

In any event it pays to use caution when looking for a place to live. According to one junior who has recently been searching for a place to reside, some of the available houses are real "dive." "I walked in one place, and it looked like the Munsters lived there. There were mouse traps on the kitchen counter and when I asked the landlord if he had a mouse problem, he said he didn't. He told me that only about three mice a month got into the house," said the student.

Another factor which should influence your decision upon renting is the attitude of the landlord. Good landlords should be honest and honest instead of the typical slumlord which is a source of endless promises that never occur. It is also important to determine the cost of the unit and to carefully read the lease contract. Many college students have been burned by roommates who slip out on joint-lease contracts and refuse to pick up their part of the rent.

Do not be afraid to ask questions. If a landlord seems reluctant to answer important questions, he is probably covering up something about the condition of residence.

So be careful out there, and do not wait around too long because off-campus housing is facing extinction.

UAB sponsors Spring Break '90!
The University Activities Board Travel and Leisure Area is once again sponsoring SPRING BREAK TRIPS to Daytona Beach, Florida and South Padre Island, Texas. These two destinations are the "HOT SPOT" for COLLEGE SPRING BREAK Fun and Excitement!!

The Daytona Beach Trip is offering high quality oceanfront accommodations for seven fun-filled nights at THE CLARENDON PLAZA - "The Center of Attraction on the Daytona Beach Boardwalk. Luxury Motor Coach Transportation is also provided, if needed, from UWSP to Daytona Beach. About the same time, Hettler said, a new idea was starting to emerge in this country; that it made more sense to do a detailed lifestyle analysis and medical history on everybody and not require a physical. "Datamation developed a product to do that," Hettler explained. "It was called the Data Automated Student History (DASH)." Universities bought DASH to use in their entrance health process. Doc Johnson, Director of Health Services at that time, met with representatives from Medical Datamation. He and the staff at Health Services liked the idea.

In the early '70s, the UW Stevens Point Board of Regents gave Health Service permission to do a pilot project with the DASH form. Students filled them out as part of the admission process. They sent these forms to Medical Datamation, a company in Ohio, where they were processed. An individual report was returned to each student with a detailed report of all the data. "At that time, 2000 students were spending between $35-50 in a yearly physical," Hettler continued on page 17.

Berceu looks to repeat as national champion

At 134 pounds, soft-spoken senior Bob Berceu would not stand out in a crowd. Get him on a wrestling mat, though, and he’ll come out head and shoulders above the rest.

The Luxemburg-Casco native has put up incredible numbers throughout his wrestling career. At 24-8-1 this season, he is beginning to make his push toward defending his Division III national title. Last year, his first at UW-Whitewater, he finished 29-13 and became the first Pointer to make it to a national championship.

"I was surprised at how tough the competition was at the Division III level," he said. "It is difficult to get there and to repeat it will be a huge challenge."

At Luxemburg-Casco High School, Berceu made a name for himself by winning three state titles at three different weight classes on the way to a 106-12 career mark.

This Friday night, the Pointer’s leader will face all-American and WSUC champion Tony Schaff. The two have met seven times, with Berceu winning four of the last five meetings. The match will be just one of several outstanding battles when the Pointers meet the No. 6 rated Warhawks of UW-Whitewater.

"I’m looking forward to wrestling Tony," said Berceu. "He is tough and we always have great match when we meet."

Berceu, who swept three matches last weekend in LaFayette, Ind., says he is intensifying his workouts. "We need to get it up," he said. "We are one month away from nationals and the intense is coming. My goal is to repeat my championship and become a Division I all-American (must finish in the top 8 at the NCAA I Meet)."

Though he has his own personal goal, Berceu also likes the look of the Pointer squad. "We look good. If we beat Whitewater we would get favorable seeds throughout the conference tournament. From there anything is possible."

The senior take-down specialist, the first National Champion in Pointer history, credits head coach Marty Loy with bringing fun back into the sport for him.

"When I went to Northern Michigan, the sport lost its fun and I stayed because of the scholarship. Coach brought the fun back for me and I really am enjoying this season.

A national resource major, Berceu is the son of Peter and Theresa Berceu, Luxemburg.

Lady Pointers continue to roll, set school records

by Jeremy Schabow Sports Writer

The Lady Pointers’ women’s basketball team has had a powerful season thus far—winning 13 of 14 games, improvements and team spirit. Under the guidance of head coach Egner, the Lady Pointers have shown consistent, powerful basketball team.

At January 31, UW-SP challenged Whitewater and came out on top for the in-state rivalry, winning 72-65.

"We had them by a 17-point lead and lost our cool by the end of the game," said Egner. "We didn’t execute as well as we needed to execute, but enough to pull out the win. This was a big game for us through and through."

Two days later, the Lady Pointers were pit against Stout in an outstanding game that ended in UW-SP’s favor, 77-76.

Egner comments: "Another huge game in terms of who’s where in the conference was this game against Stout. They were tied with us. Stout is a very good ball team, they like to push the ball up the floor. We didn’t want to run with them, but got caught up in a little bit. Then we settled down, played our game and the result was victory. My girls were once again proud of themselves and deserved it."

The following day, February 3, UW-SP completely crushed their opponent, Superior, in a game that was really never even close. Final score was 102-50. Eacsty and self fulfillment entered into the Lady Pointers, their fans, and of course, coach Egner.

"Everyone scored, everyone rebounded, everyone did a super job! All must be congratulated for this win, they put time into practices and worked extremely hard to achieve this."

A big hand must be given to a few of the athletes however, for exceptional and excellent playing on the court. Deb Shane resigned as the leader for assists (8) while the supreme scorers are Kate Peterson, Tricia Fekete and Amy Felsauer. These last three have shown consistent, terrific ball handling, using their sensational skills to the limit in the games.

Another triumph that the Lady Pointers made was over former UW-SP teams. They beat two school records, shooting 25-25 from the free throw line (Stout) and scoring 102 points (Superior).

A characteristic or attribute that Coach Egner also tries to enforce is that of good sportsmanship and conduct. If the team has played its absolute best and still gets beat, then they do not truly deserve to win, for the other is better. Instead, take a defeat willfully and not grudgingly.

"I am proud that we are still getting better, but accept it.

The Lady Pointer overall record is now 7-4 and the chances of the team coming in second or third in the conference are very good. Their next games are against St. Scholastics on February 9 (home) and then St. Norberts on February 14, (away)."

Points to wrestle Whitewater, attendance record

by Beth Klug Contributor

The Pointer wrestling team is urging all UW-SP students and faculty to come and cheer on the team as they take on UW-Whitewater and attempt to set a new NCAA attendance record. The match will take place Friday, Feb. 9, at 7 p.m. in the Quandt Fieldhouse and the team is hoping that at least 2,000 screaming Pointer fans will help them set the new attendance record.

The match promises to be an exciting one with both teams undefeated (5-0) in the WSUWC and the fact that they are both ranked No. 6 in the NCAA and the Pointers No. 10. Also, this will be the final home match for returning NCAA champion Bob Berceu who will be wrestling Whitewater’s returning All-American and WSUC champion Tony Schauff.

Come and cheer on Bob and the rest of the Pointer wrestlers in their last home conference match of the year and help them set the new attendance record. They need all our help in killing the Warhawks and in showing that great Pointer spirit.

Snolympics are back

by Dawn Evans Contributor

The 1990 UW-SP Snolympics will be in full swing from February 11-February 14. This annual event, held by the Residence Hall Association, has been an enormous success in the past, bringing the Residence Halls together in the true Olympic spirit.

Beginning Sunday, Feb. 11, at 7 p.m., scavenger hunt lists will be distributed in the North Rental, students are encouraged to bring their friends and family. A tourist representative, the Warhawks are No. 6 in the NCAA and the Pointers No. 10. Also, this will be the final home match for returning NCAA champion Bob Berceu who will be wrestling Whitewater’s returning All-American and WSUC champion Tony Schauff.

Come and cheer on Bob and the rest of the Pointer wrestlers in their last home conference match of the year and help them set the new attendance record. They need all our help in killing the Warhawks and in showing that great Pointer spirit.

Private Dining room of Debor’s lower level. The next day, Saturday, February 12, these lists will have to be handed in. On Tuesday, Feb. 13 there will be snow sculpture judging at 3 p.m. Snow volleyball will be the main attraction on Wednesday, Feb. 14, at Allen and Debor volley ball courts. On Thursday, Feb, 15, there is an opportunity for students interested in skiing to do so at Rib Mountain. Lift tickets are $15 per person or $15 per couple. Rental for skis, however, is not included in the lift ticket price. Students will be transported to Rib no extra cost. Sign up now for the ski trip at the Campus Activities complete at Allen or Debor food lines.

At the culmination of the events, there will be a dance in the Encore on Friday featuring the dance band, Gerard, from 8-11 p.m.

RHA representative from Neale Hall, Stephanie Martin, said: "After the long break, Snolympics brings the halls back together. It is almost like a second semester homecoming, with a lot of friendly competition.”

Spring Break News

South Padre Island, Beautiful and Fun! Spring Breakers Love It, Return Year After Year!

Spring Break News is the only publication in the country written specifically for the student and working breaks. It's your one-stop source for Spring Break news and information. Whether you're looking for a place to stay, things to do, or just need a little inspiration, Spring Break News has got you covered.

Cancun and South Padre Island Top Choices for 1990

South Padre Island is the perfect place for a spring break, with beautiful beaches, clear waters, and plenty of activities to keep you entertained.

Cancun is also a popular destination for spring break, with its warm weather and vibrant nightlife.

Spring Break News is the ultimate guide to spring break, with everything you need to know to have a great time.
Cancun is extraordinary. This sparkling new resort is a sun worshipper's dream come true and a broken's paradise. The beaches are some of the best in Mexico, and the waters are crystal clear and inviting. The hotel is surrounded by beautiful lagoons, the Caribbean Sea, and the Riviera Maya. The hotel offers a wide range of activities, including snorkeling and body surfing.

As a resort, Cancun is only 12 years old, yet there is more to see and do than you can fit into one week. You will love it!

Cancun is officially recognized as one of the best beach destinations in the world (next to Hawaii). Over the last two years, Cancun has more than doubled its number of hotels, which have flooded the market with rooms and driven down prices! Now it is possible to stay in a 4 or 5 star hotel on the beach (with multiple pools, restaurants, TV, bars, nightclubs, etc.) for the price of an inland 'bog bag' hotel in the Bahamas or Jamaica. These bargains won't last forever, so the time to experience Cancun is now!

The Layout

Cancun is actually a one-quarter mile wide, 14 mile long L-shaped island connected to the mainland by bridges. The hotel area is bordered by two lagoons, the Caribbean Sea and the Riviera Maya. The hotel offers a wide range of activities, including snorkeling and body surfing.

...there is more to see and do than you can fit into one week.

What People Say...

The University of Iowa is honored to carry on a positive business relationship with your firm. We could not rely on you for personal service, affordable prices, well-planned activities, on-location representatives, and elite, top of the line accommodations.

UNIVERSITY TRAVEL

...just a note of thanks for CBC's fine performance during Spring Break. As you know, CBC did most of our rental business the last few years of Spring Break and handled its thousands of clients most professionally. Sand Dollar wholeheartedly supports your efforts with young adults and your upcoming programs. We all look forward to seeing you soon.

Emily Parker, President
Sand Dollar Beauty & Management

The success of our sales is definitely linked to the 'first class' service that you have been giving to Greg and me. I appreciate the professional, yet personal way you have been handling all the questions and problems that I have had for you, and I also really appreciate all the ideas that you constantly have been coming up with to help us successfully market the trip packages.

Sports

Water sports top the list of daytime activities. There are four miles of sparkling white beaches to bask in the sun and you have the doubly dazzling choice of fresh or salt water for swimming. Most major hotels have water sport centers, jet skis, motorboats, sailboats, hobie cats, parasailing and snorkeling. You can sign up for snorkeling, scuba diving or deep sea fishing excursions and fishing on the island where there are endless shops, restaurants and markets.

Campus Beach Club is designated "The Student Connection" for Breakers This Season

In a recent surprise move, South Padre Island Central Reservations signed an exclusive agreement to offer its resort properties to Campus Beach Club (CBC) for Spring Break, 1989. In a previously released announcement, Travel Service International announced Campus Beach Club as its Spring Break marketing and sales representative for Cancun. As a result, Spring Break on the island should have a higher degree of continuity for a greater number of students and properties than ever before, remarked Kirk Riley, V.P. of CBC. Since CBC specializes in collegiate travel (both groups and individuals), the general consensus is that CBC can effectively pass on the best value to the students and still offer the widest variety in lodging and activities in both Cancun and South Padre Island.

The Pointers are able to finish with Kent State and finish off with 100 goals scored in the season. The Pointers are now 19-7-7 and 15-2-2 in the NCHA with a chance of getting their second consecutive title.

Pointers, still running at 4.4, have a chance to set a new school record. The Pointers, still running at 4.4, have a chance to set a new school record.

The club's specialty drink is the Black Mamba, consisting of several unidentified beverages. Bermuda is considered by some to be the birthplace of the first Spring Break trip.

Another must-see club is Campus Live, which offers free wine and cheese every Thursday evening. This club is often described as the place to see and be seen. The atmosphere is relaxed and carefree, with students enjoying music, dancing, and socializing.

The South Padre Island Spring Break trip is a great opportunity to experience a vibrant and exciting atmosphere while enjoying all the island has to offer. Whether you're a first-time visitor or a returning guest, there is something for everyone to enjoy. Make sure to take advantage of the many activities and attractions that make South Padre Island a popular destination for Spring Break.

Transportation

How to get there: South Padre Island is located in the southern part of Texas, accessible by many means of transportation. The island can be reached by car, bus, or airplane. Many airlines offer flights to Brownsville or Harlingen, Texas, which are the closest airports to South Padre Island. Rental cars are available at these airports, as well as at the island's airport, which is located in the town of South Padre Island. If you prefer to drive, the island can be reached via the Padre Island Bridge, which connects the mainland to the island.

Using public transportation, you can take the Island Explorer, a shuttle service that operates throughout the island. The shuttle service is convenient and affordable, making it a popular choice for visitors.

In addition to these options, you can also consider chartering a private vehicle or even a private jet to get to South Padre Island. These options are more expensive but offer greater flexibility and personalized service.

If you're planning a trip to South Padre Island, it's important to consider your transportation needs and budget. With so many options available, you're sure to find the right mode of transportation to suit your needs.

Classification

Addison T. Gilmer, writing in The New York Times, described the South Padre Island Spring Break trip as "an organizational marvel." The trip is organized by student groups, and the logistics are handled by a team of dedicated volunteers who ensure that everything runs smoothly. The trip is known for its affordability, offering a wide range of activities and experiences at a reasonable price.

Given the popularity of the South Padre Island Spring Break trip, it's not surprising that the island has become a top destination for Spring Break. With its beautiful beaches, crystal-clear waters, and bustling nightlife, South Padre Island is a perfect place to let loose and have a great time with friends.

For more information on the South Padre Island Spring Break trip, visit the trip's website or contact the organizers directly. Whether you're planning a trip with friends or as a solo traveler, the South Padre Island Spring Break trip is an experience you won't forget.

Getting Around

Getting around Cancun is easy if you "Know your techincal". Experiences are plentiful and taxis are extremely reasonable. The most important aspect of catching a taxi is knowing how much to tip them. Drive when you depart. The easiest way to get information is to ask the Bellhop at your hotel or look at the taxi rates posted in the lobby of most hotel lobbies. Then when you get in and take off, don't even ask the fare; just look at the driver the fare, which you can be accurate. This will save you on aggravation and pesos!

Shopping

Cancun offers an amazing array of "shopping" destinations - Cancun and the South Padre Island, so we do them well and deeply.

Entry Requirements/Departure Tax

It is U.S. citizens must have proof of Mexican citizenship, which is either an original birth certificate, a certified copy of your birth certificate, a passport, or a notified affidavit of citizenship. Non-U.S. citizens should consult the Mexican Consulate for entrance requirements. Also, a departure tax (US$100 per person) is required prior to departure and no checks, charges or travelers checks are accepted. If you decide you will fly to Cancun, please consult the U.S. government for all U.S. government requirements.

Men's basketball get fourth in a row, look to clinch WSUC third
dby Kevin Crary
Sports Editor

The Stevens Point men's basketball team continues to improve and play very good basketball as they close in on the end of the 1989-90 season...time of the year when things can really get exciting.

"We are playing very good right now," said head coach Bob Parker. "Our team is getting better each time out on the floor because of the confidence we have in ourselves. Our team is something to be about.

Point has won six of its last seven games, including a four-game winning streak to boost their record to 9-3 in conference and 17-4 overall...placing them third in the SWC standings behind Platteville (9-1 and 22-2) and Oshkosh (9-2 and 22-3). Oshkosh is fourth (6-4 and 13-7), followed by Whitewater (5-5 and 14-6), River Falls (5-6 and 12-10), Stout (4-7 and 10-11), La Crosse (2-9 and 8-12), and Superior (0-9 and 4-17).

Parker believes that the at-titude of his players is the main reason for Point's recent suc-cess.

"The players are now at the point where they believe in themselves and the team," Parker commented. "The players are saying about playing, they've adopted an 'I can't wait to get out there and play' at-titude.

The Pointers came up with three wins this past week against River Falls (51-57), Superior (104-72), and Stout (85-66). Point player caught up against River Falls on Friday night as they found themselves down by as much as 11 in the first half and nine at intermission. The Falcons came out flying early in the second half and increased the lead by fifteen with 17:06 left, forcing Point to call a time out.

The Pointers went on a 22-7 run within the next nine minutes, with the help of 11 Andy Boario points including three three-pointers, to tie the game at 50 apiece. Two Troy Fischer free throws with 7:15 remaining put Point up for good.

Boario led all Point scorers with 17 points. Mike Hatch added 15 and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Hosting Superior the next night, Point got out of the blocks early and built a 20-point lead in the first 12 minutes of the game. From there Point continued to race away from the Yellowjack-ets, building as much as a 41-point lead with 6:04 remaining on a Hatch lay in.

Six players finished in double figures throughout the game before bat-tling to a 4-4 deadlock at the end of regulation play.

The Falcons grabbed the vic-tory with 2:03 remaining in the OT period on a goal by Joe Lago, giving them their 12th win of the season.

"We played very hard and physically we're an average team," said Mazoloni. "It was important that we didn't lose any more momentum and the guys came out and did what they had to do." The Pointers jumped to a 4-0 lead before River Falls was able to get on the board.

"We made some changes in the line-up and adjustments in our system that the team responded very well to on Saturday," stated Coach Mazoloni.

Senior Ralph Barbazon opened the scoring just 3:41 into the game when he picked off an errant River Falls pass and beat a surprised UW-Eau Claire goalie Mark Tyszka.

Wheeler tapped off the first period scoring at the 7:45 mark on his first of three power play goals for the evening when he knocked in a rebound of a shot by Marshall.

The Pointers made it 3-0 when Senior Joe Butcher blasted a shot passed Tyszka just two minutes into the second period. Wheeler followed at the 5:32 mark with his 16th goal of the season and second of the night, vaulting the Dogs to a 4-0 lead.

River Falls finally came alive during the third period, taking three unanswered goals past Pointer net-minder Todd Chin. The first of which came just 2:42 into the third period when Joel Troje took a pass from the right corner by Dan Laoska, beating Chin for a 4-1 score.

River Falls added two more goals by Chad Hanson and Eric Gustafson, closing the gap to 4- 3 with 9:24 remaining in the game.

But the Pointers answered less than three minutes later when freshman Marshall took the rebound off a shot by Paul Caufield increasing the Falcons deficit to two goals.

Wheeler slammed the door by knocking home his third power play goal of the night, tying our school record, with just 2:43 remaining in the game to give Stevens Point a 6-3 victory.

Chin made 27 saves while in-consecutively winning his 10th straight game for us and the seniors showed the younger players what had to be done.

The Pointers, who are now 19- 3-2 overall and 15-2-2 in the NCHA, need just one point to capture their second consecutive conference title.

River Falls is currently in fourth place in the NCHA with a record of 13-9-2.

The Pointers will travel to Bemidji State on Friday and Saturday.

Point skaters stumble on conference title path

by Steve Rebe
Sports Writer

The UW-Stevens Point hockey team stumbled out of a little, but didn't fall, on their journey to capture the Northern Collegiate Hockey Association title last weekend.

The Pointers have found the going a little tougher in the last three weeks as they split a weekend series with UW-River Falls. The series split was the third in a row for the Dogs, with previous losses coming to Alabama-Huntsville and UW-Superior.

The Pointers first lost at K.B. Willett Arena this season came on Friday night as they were out-matched by the Falcons 5-4 in overtime.

"We played pretty hard, but we were not doing the little things that we needed to win earlier in the season," stated head coach Mark Mazoloni. "We were killing ourselves with mental mistakes, unfortunately, led to excellent scoring oppor-tunities for River Falls.

The two teams traded goals throughout the game before bat-tling to a 4-4 deadlock at the end of regulation play.

"We had excellent leadership on Saturday," stated Mazoloni. "It was a crucial game for us and the seniors showed the younger players what had to be done.

Point runners battle flu bug

by Kevin Crary
Sports Editor

The UW-Stevens Point men's and women's track teams, com-peting in the Oshkosh Invite Saturday, had to battle more than just their opponents...they had to fight the bugs.

"This meet was a disaster for us before we left Stevens Point," said head coach's coach Rick Witz. "The flu bug has hit the team and we left ten to fifteen people at home and we probably should have left even more.

"Many of the people who did per-form were not at 100 percent and some of the others who ran were coming down with the bug.

"That bug also made a hopeful women's team a short-handled and frustrated one.

"We thought we had a pretty good team going into this meet," said head women's coach Jenn Len Hilt. "However, after the meet started I had to pull three ath-letes from the meet because of the flu. I had a couple of others who did compete but com-plained of dizziness and head aches after they ran.

"We had to scratch our 4 X 220 yard relay team as we just didn't have anyone to substitute. The frustrating part about this meet is that we had so many athletes with the flu.

"Despite the battle with the bug, some fine performances were turned in by Point runners.

Amy Veigl earned Pointer per-former-of-the-week honors for track events with first place finishes in the 300 yard and 400 meter races. Matthew Mazzoloni finished first in the shot put with a "lifetime" best throw of 44' 8".

Third place finishes were turned in by Colleen Sheehan (field event performer-of-the-week) in the high jump along with Jenny Schoch in the 3000 meters.

The 4 X 400 yard relay team of Nancy Knapp, Tami Langton, Marrie Sullivan, and Maureen Seidl added a fourth place finish with a new school record.

"It was a crucial game for us and the seniors showed the younger players what had to be done.

The Pointers, who are now 19- 3-2 overall and 15-2-2 in the NCHA, need just one point to capture their second consecutive conference title.

Men's basketball

The Titans beat Point 80-73 the first time around so the Pointers are excited about meeting up with them again.

"We got off to a bad start the first time we played them," said senior co-captain Anderson, "and even though we made a good comeback we were unable to come out of there with a win."

But even though there is a feeling of revenge, a win will give the Pointers more than just the satisfaction of a payback.

"There's definitely a revenge factor," added Anderson, "but it's mainly a big game in the standings for us -- if we win this game we'll clinch third place in the conference."

And Anderson admits that fan support can do no harm to the Pointer performance.

"To see and hear Quandt rockin' just gives us that much more of an advantage. A fired-up and enthusiastic crowd can do nothing but help us in a game as important as this one."

If Pointer fans are half as excited about Pointer Basketball as the players are, expect nothing less than a rockin' Quandt comeback this Saturday night.

Intramural notes

meet behind Whitewater (80 1/2) and Oshkosh (128 1/2), but coach Witt feels the runners should not hang their heads.

"While this meet was a disappointment, I hope the athletes will not get discouraged. We were about (half) strength and we are a very young team that is going to take some lumps as we strive to improve."

The only first place finish was turned in by Pointer runner-of-the-week Chris Larson in the 220-yard hurdles. Scott Johnson (600 meters), and Dave Rupp (triple jump) added second place finishes, while Rich Menke (800 meters) and Dean Bryan (long jump) were third. Fourth place finishers went to Matt Hamilton in the 1500 meter and Kevin Schellbauer in the high jump. Other Pointer performers contributing to the scoring with fifth place finishes were Tony Biolo (60 yard dash), Larson (60 high hurdles), Rupp (long jump), John Czepka (1000 meters), and the 880 yard relay team (not given).

said, "That was a lot of money going to individual doctors, money that was not showing up on campus."
A study on a group of college students had just been conducted. The results, presented at the American College Health Association, suggested that a large percentage of those physicals were useless.
"Of all the physicals that were done for entering college students," Hettler explained, "One-third of the time, the doctors never even saw the patients; they simply filled them out from their records. Another third of the time the student had a very cursory exam; the doctor might have looked in his mouth and ears and taken a urine sample."
"Finally, the other third had a complete exam but 99% of those exams did not find anything they didn't already know."
In other words," Hettler said, "this is a time in peoples lives when they are physically as healthy as they're ever going to be. And if they had any congenital problems they would have shown up by now. It was pretty clear that it was a waste of money."

Where does revenue from the LAQ go?
In 1976, Hettler proposed to Student Government that the DASH form be dropped and UWSP institute their own LAQ. "By fall, '77 Medical Data-ation was going to charge $12.50 for their DASH form," Hettler said. "For the LAQ we would charge $7.50 out of which $5 would go into a separate pot. Initially, that money went to set up an institute (the National Wellness Institute). Students would decide how to spend the remaining funds. SGA unanimously supported the switch. Now, that money goes to the UWSP Foundation and is used in programs that the students are involved with.
