Debot unveils new changes

by Chris Stebnitz
New Editor

For students who were here last year and witnessed the over 53 million metamorphosis that occurred at the Debot facility, the changes are remarkable.

Debot recently opened its newly developed convenience store where students are able to not only purchase the groceries they need but they are now able to get a reasonably priced, hot meal too.

Jerry Wilson, director of Food Service commented on the changes that have happened to Debot and their effectiveness on the efficient flow of students by saying, "We are very proud of what we've done to make this facility a much more desirable place to eat and work."

Along with the new Convenience store, Debot has changed its inside layout. With new coolers and freezers and a dishwashing area that enables workers to do the required work all on one floor, working efficiency has increased, according to Wilson.

"We did everything in order to make things run smoother and make Debot a better place to eat," said Wilson. Debot has also increased their working area for things like office space and for a bakery where most of the baked goods that Debot uses are made.

Debot has also added a conference room, remodeled their computer lab and added a new hairstyling shop in its basement.

Wilson also said that the new entrance to Debot has made it easier for students on the cold, wintry days. "We tried to make it as convenient as possible for the students when they come to eat and every little thing helps," said Wilson.

With all the additions Debot has made, the continuing problem of the log-jam of students at 10 minutes to five, still exists. Wilson said that if students would space themselves out and not all try and eat at 5:00 p.m., things would run much smoother. "We are open from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and if students would utilize the times we are open, we would have very few problems," Wilson said.

Convenience store hours are: Monday – Wednesday 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Thursday – Saturday 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The voter registration booth is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 10, on the University Center Conference room. Information will be available on voting rights and regulations.

There will be a panel discussion about foreign policy, the economy, health care, and environmental issues. This event will take place in the Nicotelli-Marquette room in the University Center at 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 10.

The panel members addressing these issues are Dennis Riley and Richard Chrissofer-son, both from the political science department, Susan Brewer from the history department, and Gary Lichtowitz from the sociology department. The audience will have a chance to ask questions.

On Wednesday, Feb. 12, Representative David Obey will be addressing the issues of federal aid for college students. This will be in Room 116 of the CPS building at 3:00 P.M.

On Friday, Elliot Madison, Shared Governance Director for United Council and former UWSP student, will be addressing students about the Student Bill of Rights and freedom of speech on college campuses.

Kathy Kingery, Legislative Director for United Council, is having a program on how to find out who your representatives are, how to contact them, and what they can do for you. The location of these last two events has not been determined. For more information watch the Daily or call SGA at 346-4037.

P.C.: Debating Political Correctness
A political tug o' war

by Barry Radler
Contributor

The ideological freedom which students in the 90's are enjoying is a relatively novel concept on universities in this country. In the University of Wisconsin system, the student body operates under something called "shared governance," which guarantees the right of a student voice in all decisions concerning students.

Twenty years ago, most university administrations operated under the idea "in loco parentis," that the school should act as surrogate parents in their absence. The politically correct movement existing and progressing in the 90's is an indication that there is still a strong regard for and interest in the indoctrination of the leaders of tomorrow.

Some sort of political indoctrination has always taken place at universities. The process, examined under the light of P.C., is now being made overt as conservatives and liberals choose our academies as the ground on which to do battle. One reason for the desirability of this choice is found in the current examination of the basis for objective and contingent knowledge.

"When discourse is responsible for reality and not merely a reflection of it, then whose discourse prevails makes all the difference," says Jane Tomkins, a feminist scholar. "The net result of this epistemological revolution is to re-politicize literature and literary criticism.

The new critics of Western thought suggest that the very ideal of objectivity is a mirage. It follows that it is perfectly legitimate for teachers to impose their politically preferred ideas on students. In essence "license is given for un inhibited ideological proselytizing," according to Dennis D'Souza.

The philosophies which have given rise to this fundamental questioning of objective truth include such liberal modes of deliberation as semiotics, Marxism, feminism, and deconstructionism.

This troubles the conservatives, especially when it is pointed out by such authors as Continued on page 9
IN THE REAL WORLD

by Chris Steinhauser

The real world and reality gawd will be in the face of our country and its legacy of being a safeguard for those who are politically repressed and seeking shelter in the US. The US sent home 360 Haitian refugees Monday and to send as many as 1,000 home.

The Haitians were denied political asylum in the US because the Bush administration says they are fleeing poverty, not political repression as asylum cases require.

More than 14,000 Haitians fled after a military coup Sept. 30 ousted President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, Haiti’s first freely elected president.

The plight of the boat people, as they are referred to as, has been a matter of national concern outside Haiti, but has received little to no attention outside the country until recently, where for most people it is a daily struggle to keep alive in the Western hemisphere’s most impoverished country.

The economy showed yet another sign that it is in a weak and meager state. Construction spending dropped 9.3%, its deepest slide in 47 years, the government said Monday. This decline is the first to occur since the recession in 1982, when spending fell 4%. The government said spending in 1991 totaled $404.9 billion, down from $446.4 billion in 1990.

Analysts attribute the drop to the recession, which has left many vacancies due to a glut of commercial buildings and the effects of the Persian Gulf War at the beginning of the year.

The decline is the steepest since 1944 toward the end of World War II, when spending had plummeted, dropping 26.6%.

Although spending in the nation has dropped, the government tried to rectify the situation, the only way they know how, by increasing their spending by 5% and bringing the total up to $109.2 billion.

Serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer started another week of trial and testimony across Wisconsin and the Midwest, where his front pages with the gruesome testimonies of those who were involved.

The defense has mounted a strategy built on Dahmer’s sanity at the time of his killing spree. Fred Berlin, a psychiatrist at John Hopkins Medical Center in Baltimore and the founder of its Sexual Disorders Clinic, said that the disease that drove Dahmer to kill was as severe as the psychiatric profession is likely to ever see.

Dahmer, according to Berlin, suffers from necrophilia, a sexual attraction to dead bodies and said, “In my opinion, Mr. Dahmer was out of control and was becoming more and more dangerous every time he was going to stop it. He was going to have to be stopped by some outside force, which is inevitable how it was stopped.”

Testimonies by psychiatrists and doctors will continue through this week and into next week.

Mike Tyson has been in the courtroom for the past couple of weeks also.

Yesterday through, a fire spread through the hotel that the judges were staying at. Three are reported dead.

Tyson has been charged with rape, confinement and criminal deviate conduct, when a beauty queen contestant said that he snatched her as she walked with her front, stripped her, raped her and laughed while she cried in pain and begged him to stop.

Testimony has been halted until the court decides what the next step in the trial will be.

Baldwin Hall’s efforts pay off

The sound of keys tapping and printers printing will soon be heard again in the Baldwin Hall computer lab. The efforts of Baldwin residents to get back their computer lab paid off and the students look forward to having access to the computers again.

As the fall semester started, residents of Baldwin Hall were upset to discover their computer lab was closed. More than a few tempers flared. Bob Elko expressed his disgust, “They should be in by the Housing Contract. UWSP is in breech of the contract.”

According to Randy Alexander, the Housing Contract Director, the computer lab was closed. More than a few residents expressed their computer lab should be back in the Housing Contract, but there was no plan to reopen it. “It’s being done as we speak,” he said.

Rental housing lists for fall 1992 are now available in Delzell hall, and are being distributed in conjunction with area landlords and the Student Affairs division of UWSP.

The housing list is arranged alphabetically according to the landlord’s last name. The list includes the address and distance from campus, the number of single and double rooms available. Rental prices are given by month or by semester and may include utilities.

“Being that the two RA’s will be co-workers, the system will offer residents a choice of two different people to go to,” said Residence Halls Association (RHA) Assistant Advisor Melissa Potter.

Radical environmentalists reveal depressing future

by Larry Roberts

Editorial

Environmental degradation is a serious problem here and around the world. Issues such as air and water pollution, soil degradation, deforestation, and species extinction are at the heart of the problem. What's worse, society is characterized as being too complacent in adopting stances which balance the needs of individuals and the planet.

As a society, we are beginning to take these problems more seriously and are seeking rational solutions. The reason is that the world is not a healthy place for living. If you plan to cremate, the incineration of your corpse will pollute the air. If you plan to burn the garbage that you've gathered, the fossil fuel will contaminate the earth, the land, the worst of environmental issues.

7) Do Not Breach. You are too old, it is very important. Every time you exhale you exhale means not only alcohol, but also the residue of cigarette smoke. Although the recycling of drink containers is now a commonplace, aluminum must still be mined to meet consumer demand. Aluminum mining is raping the land, the worst of environmental issues.

8) Do Not Quench. This is a tough one, but it is very important.

The world is not in a pretty state. There are a lot of people who take environmental issues to the extreme, and leave the world in a pretty state.

This is the world in which we live. Description is required for the report of all materials presented in this issue. The Pointer reserves the right to edit letters if not suited for publication. Vote early; Vote often

Dear Editor:

I am an adult now. I’m in college and making my own decisions. I decide which classes I take, how much I study, when I go to bed, where I hang out, how much I drink, and who I sleep with. But more importantly, I make decisions about what I will be doing in the future—job opportunities, investments, travel plans, and lifestyle.

Now all I need is my elders making plans for my future time, money, career, and surroundings. But they do, because I’m Joe Student, and I don’t vote.

Fact: old fogy votes. Fact: Wealthy people vote. Fact: Poor and lower-middle class people vote in lowest numbers. Fact: 18-21-year-olds vote in the lowest numbers of all age groups. (Hint: watch for a correlation here).

Fact: The drinking age has been raised to 21. Fact: Ronny and George’s “Tinkled On” songs I mean “Trickle Down” economics are screwing me as a middle class American and as a student—and I didn’t even get a kiss.

Fact: My own state government is pandering to big business instead of schools. Fact: My elders have led the good life and left me with a debt of over $11 billion dollars, and they’re making my debt bigger every year.

Fact: I probably won’t vote this year because I don’t see the use. Whoa! Big brakes! Errrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrr

Professor Thomas to speak on women and the outdoors

An advocate for more involvement of women in wildlife fishing will present an illustrated program that will focus on a recent elk hunt in Idaho on Thursday night. Feb. 6 at UWSWP. The presentation by Christine L. Thomas, associate professor of resource management, will be at 7 p.m. in Room 112 of the Natural Resources Building.

There is no admission charge.

Women's Natural Resource Coalition, a student organization at UWSWP, will sponsor the program.

Thomas will detail her adventures during a nine-day hunt in the Selway-Bitterroot Wilderness Area in Idaho. In addition to discussing her pursuit of elk, she will explain preparations for a guided hunt and discuss resource management issues in the Selway and in nearby Hamilton, Mont.

Thomas has a Ph.D. in land resources from UW-Madison, an active interest in hunting- and angling-related issues. Recently, she served as secretary of the controversial Ethics and Fair Chase Study Committee, which submitted a report to the Wisconsin Natural Resources Board on hunter and angler ethics in the state.

Thomas also has pioneered the concept of fishing-hunting and other outdoors advocacy for women. Last September, she conducted a workshop at Treehaven Environmental Field Station that drew more than 100 female participants.

Bottle Biology?

A "Bottle Biology" Teachers' Workshop will be hosted at Treehaven, the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point environmental field station near Tomahawk, on Saturday, Feb. 1, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Funded by a National Science Foundation grant and developed at UW-Madison, "Bottle Biology" is a classroom-tested approach to hands-on biology studies using plastic beverage containers and other throwaway items.

"Bottle Biology" offers a low-cost way to create classroom experiments and life science explorations. The process gives students a better understanding of ecosystems, local environments and the scientific process.

According to Treehaven, a $15 workshop fee includes materials, instruction, and lunch at Treehaven. For information and registration, call Treehaven at 453-4106.

Draw-down at McMillan

Users of McMillan Marsh Wildlife Area, should be aware that the water control structure on the Reservoir flowage will remain partially open this winter due to a damaged gate within the water control structure.

Replacement of this structure, which was initially installed in the 1940's, will be necessary. The District is exploring all available options. Complete drawdown of the reservoir will be required through at least next August.

The reservoir was drawn down during the summer of 1991 to facilitate repair of the emergency spillway and to benefit wildlife habitats by encouraging aquatic vegetation establishment. Fish populations during the drawdown were confined to the old river channel.

The present winter drawdown will have limited negative impact because a fishery has not yet been established. Wetland wildlife species will be negatively impacted and production levels in 1992 are expected to be significantly reduced.

The effects will be short term though, for it is hoped that the structure will be replaced by the fall of 1992. The replacement structure will be more efficient and flexible water level controlled and will benefit both fish and wildlife populations.

Endangered Species Act endangered

by Wendy Wagner Kraft

The humon spotted owl, Black-footed ferret, and California condor are all endangered species. Soon the act that protects these creatures may become endangered itself. On September 30, 1992 spending reauthorization for the Endangered Species Act expires.

Controversy is already brewing over what should be reauthorized and what should not. This year the environment is up against an economy in recession.

Currently, three bills for reauthorization have been introduced in Congress. Representative Gerry Studds (D-Mass.) has introduced a five-year plan which includes a marked increase in Federal loan funds for local habitat conservation planning, mandated deadlines for recovery programs, and a multispecies approach with emphasis on candidate species preservation.

Representative William Dannemeyer (R-Calif.) has moved for a business-mined package.

 Dannemeyer proposes that recent listings be suspended pending a business mined analysis. Representative James Hansen's (R-Utah) bill is a business backer too. Hansen also wants economic impact analysis, along with Justice Department review of federal regulations to minimize private property damage.

There are a number of groups supporting the two business-minded bills. These groups want to see more social and economic factors included when making species ranking decisions.

Some of these key groups are: the American Forest Resource Alliance, a timber industry group; the U.S. Chamber of Congress; the National Home Builders Association; Nationwide Public Project Coalition, local officials interested in water and highway projects; and the National Endangered Species Act Reform Coalition, a group representing farmland and rural districts from out West.

Venison Swiss-Steak

The following recipe is good for especially tough venison. While it works best on steaks, other cuts of meat can be substituted.

Venison steak(s)

Fingng Peppers

Two cloves of garlic (optional)

One can of stewed tomatoes

Olive Oil

Blot dry venison steak with a paper towel and tenderize liberally with the wooden mallet; let your mom used chase you around with. Dredge the steak in flour and craked pepper. In a Dutch oven, heat up some olive oil and garlic until just smoking. Add the steak and brown on both sides at a high temperature. Remove from heat and cover the steak with one can of stewed tomatoes. Place in a preheated oven and cook at 325 degrees for two hours, adding moisture as necessary.

I've found that cooking venison in this manner can tame the toughest, shoe-tanned steak imaginable.

This last recipe is the fruit of years of experimentation. It's simple, healthy, requires few ingredients and is a nice variation to the typical fish fry. The method works especially well on walleye.

Act

There are those in government that back the ideas of these economic minded reformers such as Manual Lujan Jr. in 1990, Lujan Jr. was quoted as saying that the act is used as a "sword" by those who want to halt development.

But remember, this comment is from a man who as Secretary of the Interior did not care to know there was a difference between one species of squirrels and another. Not all in government agree with Lujan Jr. as you see with the Studds' bill.

Supporters who are more environmentally minded than economically minded include groups such as the National Wildlife Federation and the Endangered Species Coalition. These groups, along with others, are currently lobbying to protect the act from its own extinction. As Wisconsin's the outcome of reauthorizing the Endangered Species Act directly affects us for one of the act's key listings can be found in our state—the Eastern wolf, one of three gray wolves listed. There are 29 animals estimated to live here in Wisconsin, along with 10 in the Upper Peninsula and up to 1,750 in Minnesota.

In order to prevent the Endangered Species Act from appearing in its own listings it needs your support. How? Write. Write to President Bush and your local congressman. Remember, your pen is the most powerful wildlife and habitat management tool of all.

Walleye fillets cut in chunks
Light soy sauce
Rice wine vinegar
Chilli paste with garlic
Sesame oil
Cooking oil
Silvered almonds
4 celery stalks (sliced cross-grain)
1 chopped green onion

In a medium non-metal bowl blend 3 tablespoons of light soy sauce with a small dollop of chilli paste and a dash of rice wine vinegar. Soak fish in this mixture for 15 minutes while preparing other ingredients.

Coat a wok or skillet with cooking oil and a few drops of sesame oil and heat until simmering. Add chunks of fish and save marinade. When the fish is thoroughly on one side, flip it over, add the remaining marinade, celery and green onion. Cover and allow it to simmer.

In a small pan toast almonds in a little butter while trying desperately not to burn them.

When fish is cooked through, serve over rice and top with toasted almonds.

Roger Kimball in his book "Tenured Radicals," that "if the undergraduate population has moved quietly to the right in recent years, the men and women who are paid to introduce students to the great works and ideas of our civilization have by and large remained true to the emancipationist ideology of the 60s."

Annette Kolodny, a former Berkeley radical and now dean of humanities at the University of Arizona, echoes, "I see my scholarship as an extension of my political activism."

Neoconservatives view this political shift oppositely and feel the cohesion of society and reason itself are under fire at our universities. President Bush, speaking at the University of Michigan's commencement last spring, said of PC, "Although the movement arises from the laudable desire to sweep away the debris of racism, sexism, and hatred, it replaces old prejudices with new ones."

All other manifestations, aside, the term "political correctness" has become a part of our vocabulary and as such may soon become a component of our national psyche. However, it is up to tomorrow's leaders to decide, and the decision will be best made in an atmosphere and forum of understanding and reason. Such an opportunity is available to UWSP students Monday night at 7:30 in the Program Banquet Room at the University Center. Judy Goldsmith and Dinesh D'Souza will be debating the issue of political correctness.

Conformity to the PC movement has prompted some to compare the atmosphere in universities with that of Germany in the 30s, the McCarthyism of the 50s, and even of the Cultural Revolution in China during the 60s.

Liberals and multiculturists argue that the attack on PC is another phase of the Reagan-Bush era which has stacked the courts in their favor, privatized the economy and now wishes to neutralize one of the last bastions of ideological and cultural nonconformity--namely the university--by discrediting it.

The dean of the graduate school at Rutgers, Catherine Stimpson, says, "Under the guise of defending objectivity and intellectual rigor, which is a lot of muckmuck, they (neoconservatives) are trying to preserve the cultural and political supremacy of white heterosexual male."

The Carlsten Art Gallery seeks entries for its Annual Juried Exhibition of Student Art to be held between February 23-March 14, 1992. E. Michel Flanagan, Director of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Art Museum, will be the juror.

Goldsmith vs. D' Souza on P.C. Benefesting nature debate to tackle controversial issues

A former president of the National Organization for Women and the author of the best-selling book "Illiberal Education: The Politics of Race and Sex on Campus" will debate Monday night, Feb. 10 in the Program Banquet Room of the University Center.

Judy Goldsmith and Dinesh D'Souza will address the proposition, "Resolved that political correctness threatens free speech on our nation's campuses." There will be no admission charge.

Goldsmith, who now serves on UWS's administrative staff, said it was decided that the university would host the debate "because it's a hot topic-wide-­discussed and of vast concern, something that has captured prime space in all of the nation's top news magazines and papers, something the President has expressed concern about in speeches, an issue that has so generally captured the public's awareness."

D'Souza is a research fellow at the conservative think tank in Washington D.C., the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research. His best-selling book, now in its sixth printing, contends that preferential treatment admissions policies for minorities, mainly blacks, women and Hispanics, weaken educational standards and foster separatism and racial tensions on campus.

He has argued that university policies designed to foster enlightened harmony are, in fact, promoting ignorance, intolerance and racism.

In 1987 and 1988, D'Souza was senior domestic policy analyst at the White House for President Reagan. Prior to that he was managing editor of Policy Review.

Goldsmith joined UWSPE one year ago as a special consultant to the chancellor for equity and affirmative action. At that time, she was director of communications for the National Center for Policy Alternatives and a professional speaker on issues related to women, the aging, children, families and the inter-generational movement.

Goldsmith had been in the national limelight during her tenure from 1978 to 1985 as executive vice president and national president of the National Organization for Women, the largest feminist organization in the country.

The debate is being sponsored by the university's chancellor's office, affirmative action office, SGA, and the departments of philosophy, history and political science.

The University Activities Board (UAB) admits that spring may be far away, and good pointers should be concentrating on classes rather than planning how to boogie down for a good cause this spring. But, after years of programming, they've discovered one thing: A good event takes time, a great event takes months. So, in the spirit of making Benefest '92 better than ever, we've already begun making plans.

For those of you who haven't heard, Benefest is a one-day annual event that combines entertainment and lectures to raise awareness of a social problem that affects our community and nation. Benefest started in 1989 as "Jammnesty," an all day concert to raise awareness and money for Amnesty International. The idea carried over into 1990 and became Benefest.

In the two short years since it is creation, Benefest has tackled problems like homelessness and domestic violence. Benefest '92 will be dedicated to the environment, and donations received at Benefest will support the Nature Conservancy.

"Why choose the environment?"

"I feel the death penalty should be re-instated for all. Jeffery Dahmer is beyond any sort of mental help available and should not be given the chance to go back on the streets.

He is dangerous for society and should be sentenced to death for all the pain he has caused."

"I think that there should be a death penalty in WI, but it should depend on the severity of the crime.

In the Dahmer case I feel that imprisonment would be a waste of taxpayers money and that the death penalty should be a proper punishment."

"Never, Mr. Dahmer needs serious psychological help. Something must have been terribly wrong with his life (not that this gives him an excuse). I believe the ever increasing violence in our society is due to our habit of looking the other way when we suspect child abuse or neglect. If we murder him, he will bring ourselves down to his level."

"In some ways yes and some no. Sociologists would say that to say "yes" would be nothing more than revenge, but we have to also think of the (victims) families. I really have no place to answer yes or no. One way or another he will get what deserves. I have to believe that."

"I believe that the death penalty definitely has a purpose and in this case it seems more than appropriate. Honestly, I think that the family members of his victims should be given a gallon bucket of rocks and clear throwing line."

Well, aside from the obvious interest UWS has in environmental issues, it's a real threat that we can do something about.

That's where The Nature Conservancy comes into play.

The Nature Conservancy is an international nonprofit conservation organization that actively protects the environment by buying and setting aside land for preservation or making agreements with landowners to protect our natural resources.

The Nature Conservancy has more than $75,000 members. Since 1951, The Conservancy has helped to protect millions of acres of important natural ecosystems and habitats in the United States, Latin America, and the Caribbean. The nearest example of this is Dewey Marsh in Portage County. Nature Conservancy preserve, however, exist across the state from Whitefish Dunes in Door County, to areas of the Baraboo Bluffs in Sauk County and the Waubesa Wetlands near Madison to name just a few.

Benefest '92 will be Saturday, May 2 from noon to 10:00 P.M. The details are just being plotted out. If you or your organization would like to help make Benefest happen contact UAB at 346-2412 for information.

The Pointer Poll: In light of the Jeffery Dahmer trial, should there be a death penalty in WI? (Compiled by Julie Apker and Al Crouch)

"I don't think that there should be a death penalty.

I think the idea that a human can commit such a crime defies imagination. It is absolutely ridiculous to think that we as human beings need such a punishment."

"I think that we should have a death penalty because if they have a death penalty then people who commit such crimes won't do it."

"I feel that we should consider a new law that will make the death penalty the last resort."

"I feel that the death penalty should be reinstated in the United States. If we really want to end crime we should install the death penalty."

"I feel the death penalty definitely has a purpose and in this case it seems more than appropriate. Honestly, I think that the family members of his victims should be given a gallon bucket of rocks and clear throwing line."

Wilson offers food for thought

by Kelly Leeker

Food service director by day, basketball star by night, Jerry Wilson has the best of both worlds. Wilson has a love for food and basketball and that has reflected on his priorities and the basketball team.

"It was the Pearl" Monroe and outscored the former basketball team he plays on for a Stevens Point city league boasts a perfect record. To keep in winning form, Wilson works out in his weight room at home.

"I'm still very big on athletics," stated Wilson. "If there's a sporting event, J.W. is there."

Wilson's first job as a food service director was at Piedmont Bible College. During his tenure there, Wilson also developed the college's first sports program.

"I went to school for agriculture, said Wilson. But after working in a factory for awhile, I decided that food service was the place for me to be."

While attending the University of Richmond, Wilson was very involved athletics and was named an all-star athlete in football and basketball. In addition, Wilson has had the opportunity to play basketball against "Earl"

Hunger Cleanup 1992 will be Saturday April 25, from 10 am to 1 pm. This is a chance for you to get involved, have fun and help out in our community.

Hunger Cleanup functions as a work-a-thon where UWSP students volunteer their time to help cleanup our community through assigned work projects. Pledges are taken for the hours worked and then half of the total funds raised are donated locally to Operation Bootstrap and the other half to the Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness, which distributes funds across the nation.

"A new twist to this year's Hunger Cleanup is a visit from the 'King of the Hobos". T

$2,000. This years goals are to have more than 250 volunteers and raise more than $2,500 to help fight against hunger. You can help the Association of Community Task (ACT) fulfill that goal by giving some of your time to help the hungry and homeless.

At the present time there are several opportunities to get involved in the planning process. Three coordinators are needed for fund raising, publicity, and planning picnic. All three positions are great resume builders and don't require a large time commitment. Along with the need for coordinators there is also a need for individuals who may not have as much time, but would like to be involved in these committees.

Also, team leaders are needed to organize teams of students to participate on Saturday April 25, perhaps an organization you belong to. The goal is to get involved, or a wing in your hall. If you are interested in being a part of the team, a team member, have questions, or want more information, call the ACT office at 346-2260. We can all work together to help build civic pride and community spirit while fighting against hunger.

What a difference two weeks makes. Just two short weeks ago, the UWSP hockey team found itself five points out of first place. That was then, this is now.

Thanks to a seven game winning streak in the NCHA and some help from Mankato and Bemidji State, the three time defending national champs now sit atop the NCHA and hold the number one ranking in the latest NCAA Division III polls.

“You can’t always count on help from other teams, but this time we were lucky enough to get some,” said Pointers Head Coach Joe Baldarotta. “Now we are in a position to control our own fate down the stretch.”

Pointers escape Oshkosh victorious

Ranked #10 in NAIA Division I polls

by Mark Gillette

Sports Editor

The Pointer men’s basketball team overcame a hot shooting Oshkosh team on Saturday to escape Oshkosh with a 87-84 victory.

Oshkosh sizzled offensively throughout the night, making nearly half of their three-pointers (14-30), and challenging Stevens Point to one of its toughest games of the year.

“They were ungodly hot. I don’t think I’ve ever seen a team shoot that good from three. It was a great shooting performance by Oshkosh. They certainly deserved to win the game. Fortunately for us, we played very well on the offensive end in a game we needed to perform well offensively,” explained UWSP coach Tom Weaver.

Half of the crowd of 2000 UWSP faithfuls saw Point jump out to an early 5-0 lead and go up by as many as six points (9-3). Oshkosh responded with a 21-10 run in an eight minute span in the middle of the first half to lead 24-19. UWSP went 10-12 in this week’s NCHA Division I Poll, maintaining the lead and went up 45-39 at halftime when Andy Chin turned away plenty of tenders raising the ir play a notch...

The Pointers had their biggest lead in the second half at 67-57. The Titans then reeled off 13 unanswered points to go up 70-67. Kurt Woelfel was unstoppable from three-point range during the Oshkosh scoring run, hitting three in that span and 8-14 for the game with a game high of 28 points.

“"We’re looking forward to coming home to a packed Quandt Fieldhouse and take on a very dangerous Stout team,” - Coach Parker

The Pointers tied the game at 70 on a “Boomer” Harrison three-pointer and recovered their lead on a Boario lay-up. UWSP extended their lead to 80-74, but Oshkosh did not give up, bringing the game to a dead-lock at 82, before the Pointers took the lead for good on two Jack Lohtha free throws.

Parker felt that a big reason why the Pointers came out of the game victorious was the inside play of the 7’0” Lohtha.

“Hes possesses the finest touch of any big man I’ve seen in a long time. He’s got an excellent shooting touch,” claimed Coach Parker.

Lohtha shot 6-6 from the field and 7-8 from the free-throw line to finish the game with 19 points. He also had four blocked shots.

Boario made two of three free throws after he was fouled attempting a three-pointer at the buzzer.

After a Jon Julius field goal the Pointers took a 70-67 lead, with 1:05 left in the game.

"... They certainly deserved to win the game. Fortunately for us, we played very well on the offensive end in a game we needed to perform well offensively. " - Coach Bob Parker

"Right" view on Bush's address

Dear Editor:

George Bush's State of the Union speech last month was a review of the administration's successes, a little hoopla and a brief outline of the President's plan for the future. All State of the Union speeches, Democrat or Republican, are nothing more than this.

This is the point that was missed in last week's Editor's column, once again complaining about George Bush and his policies.

Complaining about political leadership is a right in this country that gets clouded when the issues are not understood or deliberately distorted. The entire picture should be considered when someone is privileged enough to have a column.

Some of the issues from last week need to be clarified.

Bush's decision to halt regulation for 90 days was criticized because it would include potential DNR or EPA regulations that could "save an acre of rainforest or a species of animal on the verge of extinction." It fails to consider the burden of more regulation heaped on small business owners, homeowners, or your own wages.

The Congress and especially the President, do not have arbitrary powers to save a Brazilian acre of rainforest.

And if the small-darter becomes extinct because of a 90-day freeze, it was doomed to begin with.

This constant action of a few people who claim the high moral ground as they place selected environmental issues ahead of our own citizens is deplorable. A 90-day freeze would allow hard-working people a chance to catch their breath.

The issue of capital gains tax was botched in last week's column as well. It was misinterpreted because it was misunderstood.

The issue should understand that this tax hits a vast amount of people who earn less than $50,000 annually. This tax takes from someone's modest profit on selling a home or business.

The capital gains tax and luxury tax are ways that the political left has attempted to lock it to the rich. But this vendetta has such tunnel vision that it fails to see the fallout on the middle class.

People misunderstand these issues because all they watch or read is the pop media dominated by liberalism. The issues like excessive taxes on the middle class and proliferation of welfare, receive little media criticism because liberalism needs a certain amount of people dependent on the state.

If you are self-sufficient you don't need to vote for a liberal. It's simple strategy on behalf of the left.

Discussion can bring solutions, rather than simply sitting back and complaining that your President only makes "empty, rhetorical re-election promises that will evaporate into thin, cold air as soon as November '92 rolls around."

us feeling borderline suicidal but those extreme viewpoints are often times what it takes to get people to notice the fact that a problem actually exists.

In many instances, pressing environmental issues would take the back burner if they weren't addressed by 'radical' individuals, and pushed into the social issue limelight where they force others to take notice and act.

Still needs a lot more game points into the third period. We'll after a shaky first period, but hot from the blueline past Mike McKersie.

The Blugolds battled back with goals by Adam Swanda, Mark Hicks on the powerplay, and Mike Riiter, to hold the 3-2 lead after one period of play.

The second period was dominated by powerplays, but neither team could convert and McKersie made 22 saves alone in the second frame to send the Pointers into the third period, still down by one goal.

"McKersie always plays tough against us, and that really showed in the second period. David Ketola also responded well after a shaky first period, but alas was the kind of game we needed to get David into as he still needs a lot more game experience," said Baldarotta.

The Pointers again controlled the third period and Al Bouscher tied the score at three at the 8:26 mark when Jeff Marshall worked the puck in front to the streaking Bouscher.

Five minutes later, the Pointers got the game winner from Bouscher after Sean Marsan worked the puck to Bouscher, who in turn beat McKersie with 5:43 left in regulation.

The Blugolds had one last opportunity at the 16:50 mark when Grant McDonald took the penalty box on an interference call. The Pointer penalties came up big once again, preventing the Blugolds from tying the score and holding on for the 4-3 win.

"These are the kind of wins that you really look back upon to gain some momentum from," said Baldarotta.

McKersie finished with four saves in absorbing the loss, while Ketola turned in a strong second and third period and finished with 18 saves for his fifth win on the season.

The Pointers take a week off from NCHA action as they travel to Winona, Minnesota on Wednesday, February 5, to take on the Cardinals of St. Mary's College in a non-conference tilt. They return home on Friday, Feb. 7, for game one of a home series with Lake Forest College. Game two of the series is Sunday at 2:30 in Lake Forest Illinois, all games can be heard on WWSP 90-FM.

Swimmers fall to Madison, top Stout
by Debby Pullmer

The UWSP swim team had split results in their two meets last week. Both the men and women lost to UW-Madison on Wednesday, Jan. 29 with scores of 135 to 79 and 130 to 86 respectively.

At UW-Stout on Saturday, Feb. 1, however, both the men and women were victorious scoring 115 to 62 and 109 to 59 respectively.

"When I schedule meets against teams like Madison, Georgia, and Louisville, I'm not concerned with wins or losses, merely that we swim hard against quality opponents," said Head Coach Red Blair.

The "best efforts" of the Madison meet were seen by Jon Wilson (200 and 500 free), Bill Jetzer (200 IM and 200 breast), John Pearson (200 free), Julie Pausch (200 free and 200 back), Mary Meyer (1000 free, 200 fly, and 500 free), Tracy Beier (100 free), and Amy Halin (100 free). These tough swimmers are what make us stronger in the long run. I feel we swim pretty darn good down there especially after the intense weekend of our Invitational," stated Blair.

The WSU and WIAC Nominations for Conference Swimmer of the Week (from UW-Stout meet) were Steve Hesley for his season best swim in the 200 fly (2:10.90) and Debby Pullmer for her lifetime best swim in the 200 fly (2:31.12) respectively.

The Stevens Point swim team will travel to UW-LaCrosse on Saturday, Feb. 8.
