Gang activity discussed

by Pamela Kersten
News Editor

Representatives from the Stevens Point Police Department and the Sheriff’s Department spoke with University Center staff and various other concerned people about gang activity on campus at 6 p.m. in the Nicotle room of the U.C. Wednesday.

Sgt. Robert Barge, SPPD, and Deputy Ken Tschudy, Sheriffs department, were asked to speak following a gang related break-in December 29 to the University bookstore and the discovery of gang graffiti in the Fine Arts building.

Jason Wiese, U.C. Head Building Manager, organized the event.

“I think that gangs are around more than we think and people should be aware of it,” he explained.

Barge and Tschudy, who gave various informal talks about the gang community, began by explaining the beginning of gangs in the area to the crowd of approximately 30 people.

“We began seeing an influx of students about 18 months ago,” he said. “Members of the Black Gangster Disciples from Green Bay came to find warm beds.”

“Wa-sha-bees” described by Barge, are those who are interested in joining the group.

Those who join the gangs are usually those who come from a dysfunctional family, suffer from low self esteem, and are underachievers in school.

“Gangs give them identity,” he stated.

There are three main gangs in the Stevens Point area at this time, The Black Gangster Disciples, who are the main gang in Stevens Point, the Asian Knights and the Vice Lords, who are mainly in Plover.

Barge stressed that graffiti on campus is a sign that the gangs “marking their territory.”

While discussing whether or not any UWSP students were gang members, he said, “Without any doubt there are members of the student body who are gang members, but to our knowledge, none of them are active members.”

Barge feels that graffiti on campus is a sign that the gangs are “marking their territory.”

“They pick safe areas that they can call their own,” he explained. “They like an area where they want to be.”

Several questions were asked during the meeting, dealing mainly with the “wanna-bes” and how to avoid involvement with a gang.

Continued on page 6

Thefts plague U.C.

Two burglaries occurred in the University Center over the weekend resulting in the loss of approximately $370 of merchandise/revenue.

According to Don Burling, director of Protective Services, 38 roses valued at $4.50 each were removed from the floral display case next to the Information Desk and $194 in quarters was taken from a video game in Recreational Services.

“Whoever entered the game knew what they were looking for,” said Lineberger.

“The investigation can only continue if someone comes forward with a lead,” Burling stated, urging anyone who has any information to come forward.

U.C. plagued by weekend thefts

“Wanna-bes” described by Barge, are those who are interested in joining the group.

Continued on page 6

"Tempest" to take mainstage

"The Tempest" could be described as a dramatization of one man’s mid-life crisis, says director Thomas F. Nevins about his forthcoming production of Shakespeare’s comedy.

The play opens Friday at 8 p.m. and will continue at the same time on Feb. 20 and 25-27, and at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 21 in the Jenkins Theatre, Fine Arts Center.

Prospero (William Bolz of Baraboo), the Duke of Milan, accompanied by his young daughter, Miranda (Kelly Kor-nack of Oak Creek), is banished from power and cast adrift on the sea by his scheming brother, Antonio (Daniel Kelm of Oostburg).

Antonio has been plotting Prospero’s overthrow with Alonso, King of Naples (Nicholas Burilini-Price of Stevens Point).

Prospero, who has studied the “magic arts,” wrests control of a desert island from a witch, her monstrous son, Caliban (Dan Kasula of Brookfield), tries to seduce Miranda, but is caught and relegated to slavery.

With the assistance of a spirit named Ariel (Kari Boldon of Ontario), Prospero conjures up a horrifying storm and shipwrecks all of his enemies on the island.

Though tempted to revenge his wrongs, Prospero uses his art to heal old wounds and bring about a match between his daughter and Ferdinand (Thomas John Houfe of Edger­ton), his enemy Alonso’s son.

When the story begins, according to Nevins, Prospero is a “50-year old neurasthenic,” immersed in his studies and unaware of his impending doom.

Following his overthrow, the events on the island cause Prospero to set new priorities and evolve into a wise and powerful leader, who vows to go home again to resume his rightful role as duke.

“This play has such a wide range of elements—revenge, love, hate, magic, politics, espionage, good versus evil—it has been open to several diverse interpretations. With this production, I have tried to stick closely to the original story line, and create a feeling that’s not ‘musty’ but entertaining and very human,” said Nevins.

He describes his cast, newcomers as well as more experienced actors, as dedicated and hard-working.

“They came back from break a week early just to get a jump on preparing their roles,” he said.

Other members of the cast are: Jason Hall of Oakshosh as Trin­culo, a jester to the king; M. Scott Taulman of Sun Prairie as Gonzalo, a servant who assists

Continued on page 6

The theft of money from Recreational Services occurred "somewhere between Friday and Monday" according to Lineberger.

"The lock towards the bottom of the game was cut off with a bolt cutters and the coin box was removed," he stated.

Unless you looked underneath the game, Burling said, you wouldn’t know anything was missing.

It is believed that a group of kids stood around the game while one underneath removed the coin box.

“Whoever entered the game knew what they were looking for,” said Lineberger.

“The investigation can only continue if someone comes forward with a lead in the case,” Burling stated, urging anyone who has any information to come forward.

FEBRUARY 18, 1993 UW STEVENS POINT VOLUME 36 NO. 18

Please Recycle!
The city & students: recycling
Proposed site denied by Council

by Michelle Neinst
Outdoors Editor

Perhaps the largest roadblock for recycling in Stevens Point has come to the surface just recently.

Due to mandatory state regulations coming up in January of 1995, Stevens Point needs a new recycling facility.

The current facility has the capacity to recycle those items that are mandated by current state laws, or ships them to where they can be recycled.

However, no current facility has the capacity to recycle the new items which will be required beginning in 1995.

To help solve this problem the Portage County Waste Board proposed the Materials Recovery Facility (MRF—pronounced "murf.")

The proposed site for the MRF was in the Stevens Point Industrial Park.

This is where the problem came to a head. A number of businesses in the industrial park, the largest being Woodward Governor, began to complain about locating the MRF in the industrial park, due to garbage and environmental concerns.

Woodward Governor even claimed they would cancel any planned expansion in the industrial park if the MRF was built there.

The decision was made possible by Ron Loeber, the campus telephone controller, who has decided that the telephone support office should give long distance revenue back to the campus telephone procedure.

Support Office, the current flat rate for local calls is nine cents per call. Next year rates will be available.

The decision was made possible by Ron Loeber, the campus telephone controller, who has decided that the telephone support office should give long distance revenue back to the campus telephone procedure.

According to Adam Goodnature, the campus telephone controller, who has decided that the telephone support office should give long distance revenue back to the campus telephone procedure, to benefit students, staff and faculty.

That loss in revenue given to University Housing has resulted in the decision to provide free calls to students.

Continued on page 18

Cold freezes campus

A UWSP student grimaces at the cold Wednesday afternoon. (photo by Chris Kelley)

Housing to charge for local calls

by Adam Goodnature
Staff Writer

Starting next fall, residence hall students will be required to pay for all local calls (as well as long distance calls) due to a change in the campus telephone procedure.

In the past, students have paid for local calls in advance as part of the room and board charge, regardless of the number of local calls a student made.

Next fall, however, students will be charged accordingly for each local call they make, so students end up paying exactly what they owe, not one group sum.

"In the past, all local phone calls were counted together," Randy Alexander, University Housing director explained.

That number of calls were then divided amongst all residence hall students. The difference is what each student paid as part of their board charge.

University Housing has decided to go with this program to benefit students, so some students don’t pay what they otherwise wouldn’t owe in local phone calls.

According to the Telephone Support Office, the current flat rate for local calls is nine cents per call. Next year rates will be available.

The decision was made possible by Ron Loeber, the campus telephone controller, who has decided that the telephone support office should give long distance revenue back to the campus telephone procedure, to benefit students, staff and faculty.

That loss in revenue given to University Housing has resulted in the decision to provide free calls to students.

Continued on page 6

A plan to operate a mega-casino in the Milwaukee area with half of the profits going to the state for property tax relief was recently proposed by Wisconsin Indian leaders.

The plan, in its preliminary stages, is in effort to stop an amendment that would limit gambling to games currently in place.

The Common Council of Stevens Point has reversed the previous decision to approve building the recycling facility in the Stevens Point Industrial Park on Monday.

Alderman Elbert Racock stated that when he made their first decision in August there were several unconsidered aspects that have now caused them to reverse their decision.

A man accused of operating a vacation scam in Wisconsin in 1987 is reportedly again selling vacations under similar circumstances.

Offering inexpensive trips to Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, Las Vegas and Florida, Bill Kegley of Atlanta, Ga., is working through an intermediary in Cedarburg.

Opponents of doctor-assisted suicide are trying to speed up the momentum that will go into effect March 31 to revive the American economy.

"It is a giant red flag that has pulled me out of my complacency," said Leslie Wilson, about the book issue.

Parents of students were allowed to speak first in front of the concerned community members.

"When a book is removed from the reading list, he and other parents felt the book was intended to family and private life along with conduct of political duties. They even were allowed to ban people from public events on moral grounds.

Hersley Smolny organized the petition and the book removed from the reading list. He and other parents felt the book was inappropriate to be taught in the classroom.

"Please do not make it required or recommended reading," pleaded one parent.

President Clinton gave his first prime-time address from the oval office Monday promising to revive the American economy through tax increases and spending cuts.

According to the leader of Italy’s anti-mafia party, the mob is trading heroin for weapons-grade uranium and arms in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union.

The weapons are being sold to leaders like Iraq’s Saddam Hussein through contacts in the former Soviet republics.

A UWSP student grimaces at the cold Wednesday afternoon. (photo by Chris Kelley)
EDITORIALS

Going to the chapel—only alone!

by Kevin A. Thays
Editor-in-Chief

Murphy’s Law: Whatever can go wrong, will go wrong. I ran to the mailbox the other day with hopes of finding a belated Valentine’s Day card. I was greeted with a card asking—it was a wedding invitation.

Yes, the air is frigid in Stevens Point, but the chapel is warm and the wedding season is knocking on our doors before the Valentine’s Day flowers are overdue.

And as you might guess, I’m not speaking about my flowers because I wasn’t that lucky. But the Hallmark holiday is nothing in comparison to the ultimate shabang of all shabangs—marriage.

Saying “I do” is hardly imaginable at this point in my life, but I realize I am a complete exhibition at this point in my life, waiting all their lives just to say “Kevin, cut the crap.” Therefore I’ll take a more rational approach to the wedding thing so as not to offend people who have those big plans for each other.

Weddings are a happy thing for most people. They signify the start of a new life, hopefully one that is full of love, laughter and deep friendship.

Love and friendship are very important because they power a strong relationship. But let’s not forget laughter because there is enough seriousness in the world.

Wedding receptions are full of funny moments, well at least for those people who go as couples. Single people are usually part of the humor.

There is nothing more humiliating at a wedding reception than to be a single person who catches the bouquet or garter.

"There is nothing more humiliating at a wedding reception than to be a single person who catches the bouquet or garter.*"

Iduck when a bouquet comes my way because I know that I catch the damn thing people will laugh at the remote idea of me being the next to get married. Let them laugh at the little kid who catches it.

The dollar dance (you know, the dance to raise money for the newlyweds) is also a little far-fetched for me. It’s just another pleasant reminder of how little an editor makes and how lonely bachelorhood can be. Why else would I pay a dollar to dance with a married woman? I must say, though, that the food is always good for a single person. It’s free, excluding the admission price of an appropriate gift (a card is quite thoughtful, except at my wedding).

And nothing can beat the chance to juggle flowers. Maybe that’s why the kiss often loses its spark after marriage—people are not as lucky.

A single person needs to entertain themselves at weddings, maybe not always at the cost of other people, but celebration is what it’s all about, right?

Murphy thought he was all right, but he never left us with a solution to his law. So naturaly I’ve added it to and renamed it to fit this circumstance.

Kevin’s Law: What can go wrong will go wrong, but less will go wrong if you don’t worship your mailbox.

---

Grocery stores brighten college life

by Lincoln Brunner
Contributor

I hear a lot of comments (some of them out of my own mouth) about how drab and dull college life can become.

This is my third year in a post-secondary penitentiary, and if I’ve learned one thing (which is questionable), it’s that sometimes you need to let the entertainment come to you.

So, being low on good cheer and groceries, I took a drive to our local County Market on Monday, not guessing how many real-life things are just downright stupid.

I walked along the first aisle, checking out the sale items, when I saw that Spam was on special this week. Only it wasn’t call Spam. Hormel has the lock on that prestigious name.

No, this was a Spam Competitor. It’s called “Treet.” Now, gimme a break. What foolish children are going to believe their mother when she tries to pass pressed piggy parts off as a “Treet”?

"Ya, right, lady. If we don’t see a Dairy Queen in four seconds, we yell child abuse." Walking down to the real meat aisle, I caught a glimpse of a sale on bacon. On the back of the packages are little fold-up flaps so you can get a preview of your pick.

On the side it says, “Lift flap to view representative slice.” What’s a representative slice? Does each package of bacon elect their won spokespiece? How could a piece of nitrate laden fat and meat possibly have anything constructive to say? Way over my head.

Right square in the middle of the store is a display I predict will be there until at least 2004. It’s a stack of chicken noodle soup cans about six feet high and almost as wide. Every single one is chicken noodle, too. There’s either an inattentive demand for salty broth in central Wisconsin, or something very wrong happened down at the ol’ factory.

"You what? I asked for two chicken bullion cans, you moron! Not two billion cans! How do I know what to do with ‘em? Send ‘em to Stevens Point!"

I made my way down to the frozen juice section, and of course looked for the cheapest stuff. What I found is beyond cheap. It’s vile.

Instead of coughing up the extra 20 cents for real juice, some people support a market for imitation breakfast beverages.

One of these no-juice-added synthetic atrocities contains citric acid to provide tartness and potassium citrate to regulate tartness.

I’m telling you. Any mother that’s serving a beverage with a chemical regulator to keep their kid’s face from puckering to a fine point needs to look for a new beverage.

If it would have been Saturday, I would have been making the rounds of the free sample booths.

There, little old ladies who know everything about their product except its market value in Bangladesh stand with their hotplates and steamers, poking toothpicks into everything from Cajun fire sausage to little pieces of cheese with carrot seeds in them. It’s great.

Ever wonder why Saturday is the only free sample day? Because on Saturdays, all the greedy students sleep until noon.

By that time, all the housewives who forgot to eat breakfast that morning have bought themselves and their hungry kids to the store and cleaned everything up.

Then, the little old ladies don’t have to listen to, "I know this is my fifth time around, but I really don’t have anything else to do." Who says college life has to be dull?
Deadline for

- Editor-in-Chief
- Business Manager
- Advertising Manager
- News Editor
- Features Editor
- Outdoors Editor
- Sports Editor
- Photo Editor
- Copy Editors
- Typesetters
- Ad Design, Graphics, and Layout Editor

Paid positions for next year are now available at The Pointer. Pick up your application from the Editor, in 104 CAC.
THE UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES BOARD PRESENTS:

THE CULT
PEARL JAM (LIVE)
KINGS X
L.A. GUNS
AC/DC
THE DOORS
NIRVANA
SKID ROW

Friday
February 19th
8 p.m. the Encore

$2.00 W/UWSP ID
$3.50 W/O UWSP ID

Personal Points Accepted
Get Your Club UAB Card

SKI RIB MOUNTAIN
Saturday
February 20

ONLY $15 Transportation and lift ticket included!
Plus
S7.27
Rentals at Recreational Services
SIGN UP AT THE CAMPUS
ACTIVITIES WINDOW

BURNT TOAST & JAM
Saturday
February 20

8pm the Encore

$2.00 W/I
$3.50 W/O

TAX WORKSHOP
February 23
March 2
PBR 7-9 pm
FREE WITH UWSP ID
$1.00 WITHOUT

On Your Own • • • • • With Our Help

SURF'S UP
PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA
SPRING BREAK TRIP GIVEAWAY

NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE

MUST BE PRESENT AT VENTRILOQUIST DAN HORN FEBRUARY 27TH AT 8PM IN THE ENCORE OFFER AVAILABLE TO UWSP STUDENTS ONLY!
TURN IN COMPLETED FORMS AT THE SPRING BREAK BOOTHS IN U.C. CONCOURSE
OR IN ENTRY BOX AT VENTRILOQUIST DAN HORN FEBRUARY 17TH
COMPLETE RULES AVAILABLE IN THE UAB OFFICE

PLEASE RECYCLE!
Recycle
Continued from page 2

She continued, "The reasons for the complaints about litter before were because the old plant wasn't designed to handle that kind of volume and was simply too small. The new plant will be specifically designed for that volume."

The city council voted on the proposed site Tuesday night and decided against letting the MRF into the Stevens Point industrial park.

Because the research and planning for the MRF had already been done for the originally proposed site, researching and replanning for a new site means a significant increase in spending on the MRF.

More importantly, finding a new site also means a great time delay in building and starting up the MRF. The original calendar called for groundbreaking in April, and having the plant running by the end of this year. The delay has already been indefinitely and the new site also means a great inconvenience to some students who normally make more off campus phone calls than what is included in the room and board charge.

Barge feels however that "no policy is going to completely stop it."

Phone
Continued from page 2

in the board rates for students being raised by university housing for next year, even though the board rate we pay won't cover a local phone call charge.

Students, however, can have some advantage of a 10% discount offered by the telephone support office if students pay their telephone bills in full by a certain unspecified date.

According to Losterter, this will be an advantage to most students who in the past have been charged for calls they didn't make.

This can also be a disadvantage to some students who normally make more off campus phone calls than what is included in the room and board charge.

Losterter feels this is a better and more suitable system for students, who will now be responsible only for the local calls they have made, not for what they "would've made."

GRIME WATCH

February 6-13, 1993

(2) students arrested for underage drinking
(3) thefts-personal property
(1) female student reports being harassed and followed by male student
(1) incident of hit & run to vehicle - Lot Z
(2) vandalism to state property
(1) theft of state and personal property taken from UW-Stout basketball team
(1) unauthorized presence in U.C.

* Information provided by Protective Services*

University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point
ESCORT SERVICE

$1.00-A-DAY

MELTS THE FAT AWAY
(While Eating Regular Foods)

Patented Fat Burner Lets You Lose Weight Without Dieting or Exercise!

* Increases Energy
* Increases Stamina & Endurance
* Reduces Sugar Cravings

Distributors Wanted
Your Satisfaction 100% Guaranteed
A Months Supply Is Only $29.95

For More Information
New Beginnings, Ltd.
Katherine Cook (715)341-7833

Recycle
Continued from page 1

where they can blend and mix in."

Barge, after talking to many gang members, said that they love going to the U.C.

"The Recreation Center is a major hangout for them," he said. "Nobody gives them trouble here and it's about time they did."

Jerry Linzberger, U.C. associate director, asked with concern, "Do they consider it (the U.C.) their territory?"

Barge simply replied, "Basically, yes."

Barge and Tschudy feel the only way to encourage them to stay away from the U.C. is to make it as inconvenient as possible for them to stay in the building.

Asking to see student I.D.'s was suggested as a possible solution.

Barge feels however that "no policy is going to completely stop it."

Tempest
Continued from page 1

Prospero and Miranda; Travis L. Stroessenreuther of DePere as Stephano, drunken butler to the king; Greg Stillwell of Downers Grove, Ill. as Schas- tian, the King's brother; and Steve Martin of Ripon, Paul B. Gregg of Racine, Alison Laundrie of Green Bay, Erin Cooley of Grafton, Lisa Ellen Kazar of Marietta, Jessica Bea Lanius, Holly Lynn Walker, David Lundholm of Waukegan, Ill., Tamara Stud- niski of Avon, Minn., Vy Duong of Stevens Point, and Morgan O'Brien of St. Paul, Minn.

Working with Nevins are stage manager Amy P. Perrara of Delafield, costume designer Lisa Parkel of Stoughton, set designer Peter Windsgard of Stoughton, and sound designer Kurt Schmuel of Oregon.

Faculty members involved with the production include Gary Olsen, lighting designer and special effects, and James Woodland, composer and musical director.

Former UWSP student Jodi Kobyck of Stevens Point, a teacher at Turning Point Academy, choreographed the dance pieces.

Tickets are on sale at the Arts and Athletics Ticket office Monday through Friday.

Complete - Professional Resume Service

• Laser masters ready to proof in 24 hours.
• Same day service is available with small RUSH fee.
• Professional design, composition and layout.
• Persuasive formats and styles.
• Over 20 different quality papers to choose from in a variety of colors and textures.
• Executive Class silver/gold border papers...
• No appointment or coupons needed.
• Cover letters (individual or repetitive) are also available with or without addressed envelopes.

Ask about the Job Hunt Scrapbook, a place to organize and track your job search related information. Only $1.25.

Full Service Resume Dept.  Full Service Copy Center
1992 boaters safer
DNR aims for ’93 record

State boating safety instructors are gearing up for a major challenge in the months ahead: how to improve on the 1992 boating season, the safest in state history.

However, a summary of 1992 boating accident statistics illustrates both significant progress and room for new initiatives, according to Bill Engfer, Boating Law Administrator with the Department of Natural Resources.

Engfer said a 54 percent decline in accidents involving personal watercraft played a major role in improving water safety in 1992.

While personal watercraft, commonly called jet-skis, account for just one percent of the watercraft registered in Wisconsin, they have been involved in 20 percent of the boating accidents reported on average over the last four years.

"Personal watercraft owners received a strong message last year when the Legislature approved new laws covering personal watercraft use," Engfer said.

"It's a good illustration of what you can do with well-crafted laws designed to address specific safety issues."

Engfer added that publicity surrounding the new law, flyers mailed directly to personal watercraft owners, and an aggressive public service announcement campaign contributed to the effort's success.

Copies of the regulations covering personal watercraft use are available at local DNR offices.

Engfer was also pleased to note a decline in the number of duck hunters who drowned as a result of falling from their boats.

Through much of the duck season, the department aired a public service announcement encouraging duck hunters to wear life jackets.

"If we save a single life by talking about the importance of wearing a life jacket, we've done well," Engfer said.

"It's a message more people need to hear, especially hunters and anglers who may not consider themselves boaters in a traditional sense," he said.

Engfer explained 14 of the 23 boating fatalities recorded last year might have been avoided if the victims had been wearing life jackets.

Engfer pointed to other department sponsored announcements focusing on the dangers of operating a boat without running lights after dark.

A 33 percent reduction in night boating accidents last year helps illustrate the importance of creative informational approaches, he said.

"We also tried to shift some of our boating enforcement efforts to reflect the increase we've seen in accidents during evening hours," Engfer said.

This has taken some real dedication on the part of our wardens and local law enforcement agencies. They should be pleased with the results," he added.

The bottom line, Engfer said, is that boaters are doing their part. Along with fewer accidents, boating safety patrols encountered fewer violations in 1992, resulting in 1,000 fewer citations than were issued in 1991.
Archaeologists offer field school

Thomas Jefferson’s Poplar Forest and the Division of Continuing Education of the University of Virginia are sponsoring their fifth annual summer field school in historical archaeology from June 21 to July 17.

The course, which is open to college students, history and social studies teachers, and interested adults nationwide, is designed to teach the method and theory of fieldwork in historical archaeology, and offers instruction by staff and outside specialists.

Students will participate in 40 hours of instruction per week, with most of that time spent on-site during excavation. Strenuous daily activity will require physical endurance and excellent health.

Laboratory experience will include learning to process and identify artifacts from the Jeffersonian period through the 19th century. Participants will learn to use a state-of-the-art computerized database system containing both the archaeological catalog and a complete inventory of more than 1,000 historical documents relating to the property.

The course is April 16. For more information, contact Barbara Heath, Ph.D., director of archaeology, Poplar Forest, P.O. Box 419, Farmville, VA 24551, (804) 525-1806.

Bear season a huge success

Good hunting conditions during the 1992 bear hunting season resulted in high success rates for bear hunters with a harvest of 1,464 bears.

The bear season was held September 12 through October 9, 1992. The highest harvest was in Price County, where hunters took 152 bears, followed by Bayfield County, where hunters took 141 bears.

Other leading counties included Ashland and Iron (91), Douglas (85), and Taylor (81). Hunters in Bear Management Zone A harvested 1037 bears, while hunters in Zones B and C took 291 and 136 respectively.

"Weather conditions were good during much of the season," said Natural Resources District Manager Pat Douglass, "but there were a lot of bears visiting baiting stations during the season. The poor bear crop probably also contributed to a record number of nuisance and damage complaints throughout the summer and fall."

A total of 1,347 complaints were filed in 1992, compared to 546 in 1991.

Hunters reported seeing more bears and larger bears than in past years, Wallenfang said. "Many of the bears harvested this year were larger bears, including several weighing over 500 pounds," he said.

The 1993 season for those hunting with dogs in portions of Zones A and B begins September 11 statewide, while the season for hunting over bait begins September 18.
Preparations made for UWSP's annual Eagle Walk

by Kelly Leeker
Features Editor

Eagle Walkers began preparing for their 200 mile trek across the state in order to increase environmental awareness.

A group of 27 dedicated environmentalists will spend their spring break walking from Stevens Point to Eagle Valley to raise money for land preservation and endangered species protection.

Walkers will travel an average of 22 miles a day in order to reach their destination by the end of Spring Break. They will take with them on this journey boots, a 15-23 pound backpack, and many blisters.

"It's hard, but if you decide you can do it, you can," said Jennifer Paust, coordinator of the event. "People usually decide by the second day whether they're going to make it or not."

Participants will depart at 8 a.m. on March 12, following an elaborate opening ceremony which will include a visit from the chancellor and the mayor. The walkers will travel the same route as in the previous 11 years. Town halls, community centers and church basements will serve as night shelters where the walkers can sleep for the evening. These small towns through which the walkers pass welcome the visitors and treat them kindly.

"Most of the towns provide meals for us," said Paust. "Woodman, a town of about 103 people, even gives us a potluck dinner, where many of the town members offer us different kinds of food."

According to Paust, the group also eats at many small restaurants and cafes or buys groceries to eat along the way, leaving money in the communities to thank them for their hospitality.

The walkers can only take two showers on their nine-day journey, although there are sinks at every stop in which the group can wash and feel refreshed.

There is one place with a swimming pool and a whirlpool," said Paust. "That's a favorite stop for the walkers."

The final destination for the walkers is the Eagle Valley Nature Preserve, where the group will spend approximately 24 hours, getting a chance to explore the preserve before returning home.

Continued on page 13

Eagle Walker tells tall tales

by Michelle Neinast
Outdoors Editor

UWSP second year senior, Tim Gehaus, is an experienced Eagle Walker. This year will be his third Eagle Walk.

Tim is a Natural Science Education major with an Environmental Education emphasis.

He became involved with the walk three years ago through word-of-mouth.

When asked about why he thinks the walk is such a great idea, he stressed, "I feel very strongly toward the Nature Conservancy. It is probably one of the best organizations as far as land preservation goes, and they manage their money very well."

Tim has an extensive reserve of memories from his past two Eagle Walks. He said, "My favorite part is getting into the driftless area. The hills of Southern Wisconsin are just beautiful."

Not all of his experiences have been good, however. His first walk was definitely the worst." I didn't have proper boots that worked for me. My feet were hamburger," he explained.

The weather does not seem to cooperate either. His first year, it was 90 degrees by the last day of the trip, and last year they finished walking in a blizzard.

He doesn't complain though. Rather, he raves about all the good times. Like last year when they decided to out-piss a mile-long hill and raced to the top in 12 minutes.

One of the funniest things he remembers is keeping a list of quotes from the walkers along the way. "When you walk that far everyday you become delirious and giddy," he claims.

He recalls one girl asking, "Why do I walk when I limp," while he stared at her in incredulously.

His best experiences have been with the people he's met. One of the most important things he's gained, he said, is that, "I've gotten some very good friends."
Famous dancer coaches UWSP performers

Nationally known dancer and choreographer Victoria Uris will discuss her video work and coach a performance of one of her pieces this weekend at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

A member of the dance faculty at Ohio State University, Uris will give a lecture/demonstration at 3:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 19 in Room A005 Fine Arts Center. Uris will also work with UWSP faculty member Robin Moeller and student dancers on Friday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., on Saturday from noon to 3 p.m. and 5 to 8 p.m., and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. in studio 154 of the physical education building.

Moeller is reconstructing Uris' 'Three on a Match' for the annual Danstage production at the college, Dean Gerard McSween, Department of Theatre and Dance and the Dance Notation Bureau of New York City.

Uris "Three on a Match" is being restaged by Moeller from a Labanotation score. The work was choreographed in 1982, performed in New York, Philadelphia and Ohio, and noted in 1991 at Ohio State by Virginia Doris. Like the script of a play, Labanotation symbols are recorded on a page so an original work can be authentically reproduced in other places at other times.

The presentation is part of the College of Fine Arts Spin-off Series, "a cross-fertilization for contemporary thought" involving arts and communication students.

Uris' residency is sponsored by the college, Dean Gerard McSween, Department of Theatre and Dance and the Dance Notation Bureau of New York City.

Uris’ "Three on a Match" is being restaged by Moeller from a Labanotation score. The work was choreographed in 1982, performed in New York, Philadelphia and Ohio, and noted in 1991 at Ohio State by Virginia Doris. Like the script of a play, Labanotation symbols are recorded on a page so an original work can be authentically reproduced in other places at other times.

The scores which contain directions for lights, costumes, music, cast, etc. are housed at the Dance Notation Bureau. As Moeller reconstructs the work at UWSP, she will be checking the notations to find out how they translate into actual performance and Uris will monitor Moeller's reconstruction and work with the dancers when she comes to campus.

Set to music by Bradley Sowash, the piece explores the relationships in a dysfunctional family. Performing the roles at UWSP will be Kristanne Deters of Menasha, Adriane Fang of Greendale as the father; and Aaron Thielen of Spring Grove, Minn., as the mother; Christine Rapp of Menasha as the daughter. Adriane Fang, 1700 Church St., Stevens Point and Jessica Hallam of Madison are the understudies.

The lecture/presentation on videodance will include information about choreography for television and music videos, which is a relatively new field in the arts.

Uris, who holds degrees from Ohio State and New York University School of the Arts, began her dance training as a teenager, attending Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival for three summers on full scholarships.

In 1975 she joined the Paul Taylor Dance Company and in the mid-1980's she joined forces with ballet choreographer Jill Eilhorns Bahr and collaborated on many works for their New York-based Uris/Bahr & Dancers, as well as for many other companies.

Since 1981 Uris has created more than 60 works for her own groups and for other companies around the country. She has taught master classes at various regional festivals and has been a guest at several universities.

The reception of many grants for her choreography and videodance work, Uris also has been awarded individual artist fellowships for 1991 and 1993 from the Ohio Arts Council. Uris' three major videos have won numerous awards and have been broadcast on cable and public television stations. This spring, she will present a concert of her choreographic and video works in Columbus. She is a founder and co-artistic director of 5 Minds, Inc.

Christine Rapp, Aaron Thielen and Kristanne Deters prepare Victoria Uris' piece "Three on a Match." Uris will coach the dancers this weekend.

---

Poll Results

Did you vote for Bill Clinton?

- Yes: 73%
- No: 23%
- Didn't vote: 4%

Do you think you will have a better chance of getting a job after graduation with Clinton as President?

- Yes: 19%
- No: 50%
- Not sure: 31%

Do you think President Clinton can reduce the deficit in four years?

- Yes: 55%
- No: 35%
- Not sure: 10%

Are you in favor of lifting the ban on homosexuals in the military?

- Yes: 46%
- No: 44%
- Not sure: 8%

Should Hillary Clinton play an active role in determining U.S. policy?

- Men: 24%
- Women: 59%

What do you think are the most important election issues?

- Economy: 27%
- Education: 20%
- Societal Problems: 17%
- Environment: 15%
- Health Care Reform: 14%
- Foreign Policy: 10%

What advice would you give to President Clinton?

- "Stop campaigning, start working."
- "Inhale next time."
- "Pay more attention to the issues and less to playing the sax."
- "Get a haircut."
- "Stop trying to make everyone happy. You can't please everybody."

* 100 UWSP students were surveyed
Groundhog, gore top movie selections
Seeger finds gems in mountain of disappointing winter films
by Dan Seegers

The clock lazily clicks over to 6 a.m. and the radio blares to life. On the other side of the room, Cher classic rock hit "I Got You, Babe." Thus begins February 2, the day Bill Murray is forced to Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania to "Groundhog Day." Murray plays an observant, egotistical T.V. weatherman who travels to the small town of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania to cover his least favorite news event: a big, furry rodent pops out of his hole and supposedly informs the world on the timing of winter's end. After a freak blizzard strands Murray in the tiny town, he awakes the next day to find that tomorrow has never come. He is once again living through February 2, meeting the same people, having the same conversations and covering the same exact insipid news non-event.

No matter what happens to Murray during the course of the day, it is seemingly erased when the clock hits the same time the next morning. He is continually reawakens to face the day, it is seemingly erased when the clock hits the same time the next morning. He is continually reawakens to face the same people, having the same conversations and covering the same exact insipid news non-event.

This intriguing premise is bursting with comic opportunities and writers Harold Ramis and Danny Rubin utilize them brilliantly. Murray is initially thrilled by the prospect of being able to do whatever he wants without feeling the repercussions of his actions. Rather than settle for a wild joyride though, the film also explores Murray's frustration in being unable to escape the endless cycle of this single day and the heartbreak he feels when he falls in love with his producer (Andie MacDowell), but she forgets his affections as soon as the day starts over.

The comedy is inventive and very funny as the filmmakers seem to be taking great delight in exploring the multitude of opportunities the storyline presents. The film succeeds with the big jokes and also with the small details, such as Murray's tabid pleasure in using his intimate knowledge of the day's episode of "Jeopardy"! to impress a roomful of people (he can provide the proper response before the clue has even been read). The entire cast (which also includes "Late Night" alumnus Chris Elliot) is terrific, filling their roles with wit and charm. Even if the film occasionally begins to drift or meander a bit too much, the inspiration of all the smart, money-saving ideas.

The comedy is inventive and very funny as the filmmakers seem to be taking great delight in exploring the multitude of opportunities the storyline presents. The film succeeds with the big jokes and also with the small details, such as Murray's tabid pleasure in using his intimate knowledge of the day's episode of "Jeopardy"! to impress a roomful of people (he can provide the proper response before the clue has even been read). The entire cast (which also includes "Late Night" alumnus Chris Elliot) is terrific, filling their roles with wit and charm. Even if the film occasionally begins to drift or meander a bit too much, the inspiration of all the smart, money-saving ideas.

"Fright Night" was a terrific vampire film that treated its subject with respect and refreshing wit simultaneously, and "Child's Play" made a tiny killer effective by knowing how and when to not treat the subject too seriously. Now, with "The Temp" Holl and has crafted a fast, frothy thriller about a secretary from hell that succeeds in all the same ways. Lara Flynn Boyle is the temporary secretary assigned to Tim Hutton during a frantic time at the dessert company for which he works. She proves to be a marvel of the workplace, organizing his office into perfection and coming up with smart, money-saving ideas.

Boyle is also aggressively climbing up the corporate ladder and Hutton suspects she is knocking her chief competitors clean off the rungs in the process. "The Temp" is willfully trashy and is more interested in playing with the audience than telling a reasonable, coherent story, but those aspects are exactly what make it such great fun. An added stroke of brilliance is establishing that Hutton's character is recovering from a series of mental problems that included nasty paranoia. So when he begins to suspect that Boyle is trying to frame him at one point, the movie invites us to believe that it's just Hutton's misperceptions running loose again.

The film is marked by other notable events, including Lara Flynn Boyle's aggressive climbing up the corporate ladder and Hutton's suspicion that she may be knocking her chief competitors clean off the rungs in the process. "The Temp" is willfully trashy and is more interested in playing with the audience than telling a reasonable, coherent story, but those aspects are exactly what make it such great fun. An added stroke of brilliance is establishing that Hutton's character is recovering from a series of mental problems that included nasty paranoia. So when he begins to suspect that Boyle is trying to frame him at one point, the movie invites us to believe that it's just Hutton's misperceptions running loose again.

The movie is uncommonly well made, as directors for the events. "We are asked to bring a donation or a dish to pass. "It is important that we celebrate the true histories of people of color, because they are not always accurately represented and recognized for their accomplishments," said SGA President David Kunze.

Kunze explained that an important part of Black History Month is educating people on the achievements of colored people. On February 26, area black people are invited to attend a get-acquainted family social at the Holiday Inn from 7 to 9 p.m. The gathering will include free refreshments.

Specialist speaks on African literature

Month honors black achievers

Julie Dietche, a specialist in African literature, discussed "New Voices from the Dark Continent" last Thursday, a presentation given in honor of Black History Month.

Dietche, an English professor, sparked an interest in Africa after she worked there as a peace corps volunteer. She has since done extensive research on African literature and currently teaches a course in English herself at universities in Africa.

The professor describes Somali novelist Nuruddin Farah as "speaking out in a voice filled with power and urgency. He has long years of strength through long years of resistance and current work within and against a vicious apartheid regime."

Dietche joined the UWSP faculty in 1976. In the mid-80s she spent two years working with English teachers and teaching English herself at universities in Africa.

"The events this year were well attended and we were very pleased with the outcome," said Hogenboom, who has been teaching English at UWSP for 18 years. "The events this year have been very well attended," said John Holmes, one of the coordinators for the events. "We are very pleased with the outcome."

Black History Month was marked by other notable events, including the performance by university students dedicated to all the black achievers who died in the past year.

Harington, a coming together of peace, included reviews of African history and inventors and a look at some musical greats.

The show ran last Friday and was presented by the Black Student Union. Members of the community and the Black Student Union hosted high school and gospel choirs from Milwaukee and Chicago. The choirs sang in Michelsen Hall last Saturday.

Another event planned to celebrate the month is the annual Soul Food Dinner, to be held at the Wooden Spoon on Saturday. Participants are asked to bring a donation or a dish to pass.

"It is important that we celebrate the true histories of people of color, because they are not always accurately represented and recognized for their accomplishments," said SGA President David Kunze.

Kunze explained that an important part of Black History Month is educating people on the achievements of colored people. On February 26, area black people are invited to attend a get-acquainted family social at the Holiday Inn from 7 to 9 p.m. The gathering will include free refreshments.

BRUISER'S

Tuesday Ladies Drink Free

Wednesday Non-Alcohol College Night $5.00 Includes free Soda all nite

Thursday 25¢ Taps, 50¢ rails and soda, 50¢ off all shots, 75¢ off everything else. (Come before 9:00 for additional savings!)

Friday and Saturday DOORS OPEN AT 8:00, 4:00 FRIDAYS BRUISER'S DOWNTOWN STEVENS POINT 2 for 1 • 8-10 PM No Cover before 10PM (Two good reasons to come early)
Greetings from China students

UWSP students learn Chinese traditions

At East China Normal University in Shanghai, China, every day is a new episode for our group of seven students from UWSP and group leader Professor John Messing.

Since we arrived in time for the Spring Festival (the lunar New Year), we experienced first-hand some of the traditions and customs most cherished by the Chinese people.

"The tradition of festivals emphasizes the unity of family, friends and culture."

The Chinese are very proud of their culture and heritage. Studying the origins of their festivals and being fortunate enough to participate in the Spring Festival is the best way to understand and appreciate their society.

The Spring Festival is the most important celebration in China, therefore our experiences have been most rewarding.

First, the abundance of food available at this seaport city included various types of fresh fruits, vegetables, seafood, and meats.

It’s unusual to watch people shop for food in the open street markets. The people choose their animals, then watch as the seller slaughters the animal to be taken home for the final preparation of the New Year’s Feast.

The dinner is an important part of the celebration. As guests in a friend’s home, we soon realized the more we ate the happier our host would be.

This wasn’t the time to ask if what we were served was cow’s stomach, squid, or jellyfish (delicacy of the Chinese cuisine).

The highlight of the festival was the explosion of firecrackers over the entire city at midnight. This is a tradition that began as an attempt to frighten off human-eating monsters.

"The tradition of festivals emphasizes the unity of family, friends and culture."

The noise from the firecrackers was intense; the number going off all at the same time was amazing.

In the city streets, the hustle and bustle reminds us of a westemized city. Although the city is quickly developing with its skyscrapers, hotels, grocery stores, and shopping centers, the people hold on to tradition and culture unlike many other developing countries.

We experienced this though the people’s genuine hospitality and generosity.

The tradition of festivals continues to be the most important part of the people’s lives; emphasizing the unity of family, friends, and culture.

...and all that jazz

The University Jazz Band performed for Mardi Gras last weekend in the University Center (photo by Karen Mattoon).
Environmental programs offered

Individuals and families will combine recreation with lessons on the wonders of nature and environmental concerns this year when they participate in a series of camps and programs at UWSP's Central Wisconsin Environmental Station.

Natural Resources Career Workshops have been operating for more than a decade and are again co-sponsored by UWSP and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

The three one-week workshops for individuals 16 years and older focus on career possibilities and give participants a wide range of field experiences in the areas of natural resources and environmental protection.

Natural resources professionals will help participants explore opportunities in forestry, fish and wildlife management, water quality, land use, park services, law enforcement and environmental education/interpretation.

Workshops are scheduled for June 6 through 11, June 27 through July 2, and August 1 through 6. The cost is $190.

"Spring Magic" is the title of the first of three Sense of Wonder Family Weekends open to the public at the Central Wisconsin Environmental Station. "Magic" will be held March 5 through 7.

Participants will join other families in seasonal environmental awareness, recreational, and family-related activities led by parent leaders and naturalists. All family types are invited.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and concludes with the noon meal on Sunday. The cost is $75 (adults), $55 (ages 3 through 12), and $25 (ages 1 through 4).

Family weekend held for the first time "Spring Magic" is the title of the first of three Sense of Wonder Family Weekends open to the public at the Central Wisconsin Environmental Station. "Magic" will be held March 5 through 7.

Participants will join other families in seasonal environmental awareness, recreational, and family-related activities led by parent leaders and naturalists. All family types are invited.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and concludes with the noon meal on Sunday. The cost is $75 (adults), $55 (ages 3 through 12), and $25 (ages 1 through 4).

"Spring Magic" will be held March 5 through 7.

Applications available Feb. 22 at the Health Center. Deadline March 26

How about it? Gain valuable experience, make friends, challenge yourself!!
"Well, Douglas!... I noticed during the exam your eyes weren't exactly rotating this way and that."

"Oh, man. There you go again with another one of those hiss-and-tell books."
Nicaragua Partners right here in Stevens Point

The Central American regional director of the National Partners of the Americas was among the special guests during the opening of the Wisconsin-Nicaragua Partners of the Americas state office at UWSP on Friday, Feb. 12.

Executive Director Sherin Bowen, a resident of Stevens Point who was appointed to the position last fall, staffs the new office in Nelson Hall, Room 315.

Regional director Barbara Bloch, Washington D.C., partnership representative for Wisconsin-Nicaragua, attended as did Stevens Point Mayor Scott Schulz and university administrators.

"We're really excited to have the state agency in Stevens Point," said Bowen, who has been involved with the organization for about four years. "It's a great opportunity to get local people involved in international development work."

Wisconsin and Nicaragua have been sister states for about 28 years, and UWSP has been actively involved in that liaison since the mid-1970's.

Stevens Point's partner city in Nicaragua for the past three years has been Esteli, which is located about as far north of Madison, and has a population of 80,000.

Fredman Perez, who is president of the Esteli committee, also participated in marking the center's opening. Stevens Point is one of 14 partner cities in Wisconsin.

The Partners of the Americas, a non-profit organization, was established in 1964 by President John F. Kennedy in an effort to foster cooperation and understanding between the United States and Latin America. It is a non-political private and voluntary organization/relief agency which carries out assistance to Central and South American countries.

UWSP forestry professor Hans Shabel introduced Stevens Point to Esteli when he visited the Nicaraguan city there a half year ago, and with the help of Bloch joined the two communities as partners.

Shabel currently serves on the state's board of directors and is an active member of the two cities partnership.

As the executive director, Bowen has set many goals to strengthen the Wisconsin-Nicaragua relationship. "I'll be working to establish more partnerships with other cities in Wisconsin and Nicaragua as well as setting up projects that deal with reforestation and environmental education," he stated.

Bowen recently returned from visiting 12 of the 14 cities and said, "every one of them expressed concern about the deforestation. We believe we have the technical expertise in this area that we can lend to the south. We have much to gain from the Nicaraguans as well. They have a rich culture that our people need to experience; their family ties are strong."

While Partners of the Americas is not a campus organization, there are 10 to 12 students who are participating in the organization's activities. "Students are more than welcome to involve themselves," Howard said. "The more people, the better."

Former UWSP vice chancellor John Ellery, now of Stoughton, served on the board of directors of the organization for many years. He worked with several Latin American universities and governments as a specialist in administration, health training and educational development during the 1970's.

Additionally, Ellery helped establish the International University in Jarabacoa, Dominican Republic. His current role in the organization is that of an "elder statesman," according to Howard.

"We hope that our interaction with Nicaragua will provide opportunities for interaction on the grass roots level allowing our countries to establish better relations in the future," Bowen said.

We take our sandwiches seriously, even with a name like this.

Gourmet Subs

All Only $2.80

#1 The Comet Morehouse

Maple River smoked ham, Wisconsin provolone cheese, lettuce, mayo, and tomato.

#2 The Halley's Comet

Prime roast beef, lettuce, tomato, and real Heilman's mayonaise.

#3 The Borkn

A tun salad sub made with California tuna, celery, onions, and mixed in our incredible sauce - topped with lettuce, tomato, and sprouts.

#4 The Boney Billy

Real turkey breast accompanied by fresh alfalfa sprouts, ripe red tomato, and mayo.

#5 The Tappy

A truly Italian experience - made with Genoa salami, Capicola ham, provolone cheese, lettuce, tomato, and our own oil & vinegar dressing.

#6 The Jacob Bluelinger

A vegetarian sub with two layers of cheese, alfalfa sprouts, ripe red tomato, crisp lettuce, and of course, Hellmann's mayo.

#33 The Geeter - Only $3.25

A mix of seafood and bacon topped by lettuce, tomato, and real mayo.

Giant Clubs

All Only $3.80

Three slices of home-baked honey wheat bread separated by piles of fixin's.

#7 The Shortcake

Thin shed Maple River ham, tomato, and mayo-topped by provolone cheese and crisp lettuce.

#8 The Comet Candy

A roast beef and ham delight with cheese, djon mustard, lettuce, and ripe tomato, and mayo.

#9 The Flash

A spicy Italian club made with Capicola ham, Genoa salami, and tomato topped by smoked Virginia ham, cheese, onion, lettuce, mayo, and our own oil & vinegar dressing.

#10 The Tulius

Double the amount of medium rare roast beef, topped with a taste of onion and topped with provolone cheese, tomato, lettuce, and mayo.

#11 The Girl

Lightly smoked ham, cheese, lettuce, and mayo on the top; real turkey breast, ripe tomato, and mayo on the bottom.

#12 The Narmer

Turkey, avocado, and cheese covered with crisp lettuce, ripe tomato, mayo, and alfalfa sprouts.

#14 The Pudder - Only $2.25

For choo choo lovers; we have combined creamy FF principle butter and banana cream in a crispy buttery celery or strawberry jam with our fresh baked bread. Guaranteed to put a smile on every face.

We Deliver Delicious to Your Door!

812 Main Street
341-SUBS
Stevens Point, WI

Ask about our other locations - Limited Delivery Area

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK.
Women host three Swimmers defeat Wheaton College

by Mark Gillette

Led by seniors Jerry Curtin (Beloit), Kevin Gelwicks (Normal, IL), Tim Lehmann (Sheboygan), Deby Fullmer (Waukesha) and Tiffany Hubbard (Rochester, MN), the UWSP swimming team sunk Wheaton College. This was the kind of meet Coach Red Blair hoped would precede the upcoming conference championships February 25-27.

The Pointer men won the first six events of the meet defeating Wheaton 110 to 91. The women won only five of the 11 events, but took those five convincingly to win 113 to 91. "Both teams had a great meet, one that we needed for our confidence," Blair said.

Curtin notched first place in the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:04:04, in front of teammate Juan Cabrera's time of 2:05:94.

Gelwicks' top at 2:14:11 in the 200 breaststroke edged out Christian Boyse's time of 2:15:06.

Also contributing first place finishes to the men's victory were Geoff Morris in the 1650 freestyle (17:31.03), Jon Wilson in the 200 freestyle (1:48.84) and Jay Buckmaster in the 200 butterfly (208.04).

Cabrera, Gelwicks, Curtin and Neuenfeldt teamed together to win the 400 medley relay event by over 19 seconds with a time of 3:58.87.

While Fullmer did not turn in a first place performance for the Pointers, she swam her career best in the 200 butterfly with a time of 2:28.30, good for third place.

Her time of 2:12.05 in the 200 freestyle, which was fourth best in that event, was a season best for her.

Hubbard was the second of four swimming on the first place 400 medley relay team along with Julie Pausch, Nan Werdin, and Julie Laughlin.

The four completed the event in 4:14.26, only .11 faster than Wheaton.

The team of Pausch, Beck Gleichener, Amy Hahn, and Laughlin came in first in the 400 free relay with a time of 3:48.73.

Individually, Pausch, Werdin and Vicki Dana crossed the finish line first for the women as well.

Pausch won the 200 backstroke in 2:17.24, while Werdin placed first in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:11.70; and Dana finished first in the 1500 freestyle with a time of 19:32.90.

This Saturday at 1 p.m. UWSP in the women's 200 medley relay and Taper meet at the Health Enhancement Center Pool.

The winter season concludes on February 25-27, the Pointers will try to accomplish one of their main goals.

Continued on page 18

--

Pointers end regular season at River Falls

by Tom Weaver

Contributor

In the final series of the regular season, the UW-Stevens Point hockey team fought off a tough River Falls team to take three of four possible points to end the regular season.

The Pointers, ranked #1 in the latest NCAA Division III hockey poll, finally win the regular season at 20-2-2 and will take this weekend off before they start the post season as the #1 seed in the NCHA Post Season Tournament.

UW-STEVEN'S POINT 3 UW-RIVER FALLS 2

The Pointers and Falcons met in game one without the worries of playoff seedings and postseason matchups. The series was still very important, especially in the eyes of the NCHA. The three game series commit­ted that makes the West Region Poll.

"Without the NCHA receiving an automatic bid to the playoffs this season, it was very important that we finished strong against the Falcons," said Pointer Head Coach Joe Baldarotta.

Tempers dominated game one as the two teams combined for 92 minutes in penalties, but they also played some great hockey. "It was a great game for the fans, it had a playoff atmosphere and both teams wanted to win in the worst way," commented Baldarotta.

Mike Zambon got the Pointers on the board with 4:25 left in the first period, but the lead didn't last long as Greg Joyce knocked things at one just a minute later. Mare Strapon gave the Pointers a 2-1 lead at the 3:19 mark of the second period with a power-play goal, but once again the Falcons refused to go away.

Aron Arf tied things at 2 with a power-play goal of his own. Sean Marsan spotted the Pointers their third lead of the night when he took a beautiful pass from Jeff Marshall from the far boards. The senior winger then slipped the puck past Ron Guillet for their 3-2 lead.

Brandon Ferraro completed the third Falcon comeback when he beat Dave Ketola with 9:50 remaining in regulation. Neither team could dent the scoreboard in the final minutes of the third period, or in the five minute sudden death period to finish the game in the 3-3 deadlock.

"Both teams had their chances, but couldn't take advantage of them," said Baldarotta.

"River Falls is a good young team, they just need to take things a step forward to learn how to win."

"We definately had our chances, but we have to learn that it's games like this that make the West Region Poll," said Egner.

"It's games like this that make the West Region Poll," said Egner.

"Without a doubt it was the best Pointers their third lead of the night when he took a beautiful pass from Jeff Marshall from the far boards. The senior winger then slipped the puck past Ron Guillet for their 3-2 lead."

Brandon Ferraro completed the third Falcon comeback when he beat Dave Ketola with 9:50 remaining in regulation. Neither team could dent the scoreboard in the final minutes of the third period, or in the five minute sudden death period to finish the game in the 3-3 deadlock.

"Both teams had their chances, but couldn't take advantage of them," said Baldarotta.

"River Falls is a good young team, they just need to take things a step forward to learn how to win."

"We definately had our chances, but we have to learn that it's games like this that make the West Region Poll," said Egner.

"It's games like this that make the West Region Poll," said Egner.

"Without a doubt it was the best
Chris Kittman (Sr, Verona) at 167, Dave Carlson (Jr, Maple Grove, MN) at 177, Travis Ehen (Jr, Cameron) at 190, and Dennis Aruprille (Sr, Kewaunee) in the Heaviest weight division were also among those victorious against Eau Claire.

"We wrestled aggressively and it showed in the matches," said Head Coach Marty Loy. "Jere Hamel filled in for Carl Shefchik who was injured and did a great job. He had to make up two weight classes and filled in impressively."

Friday night the Pointer grapplers, ranked number three in the latest NCAA II wrestling poll, lost to number one ranked College 24-12 in what was billed as "The Clash of the Titans." Loy was disappointed in his team's effort. "I was disappointed. I felt that we didn't..."

Continued on page 18

Brian Stamper wrestles intensely against his Augsburg opponent during Friday night's competition (photo by Chris Kelley).

Men fall to Eau Claire, but defeat Superior

by Bob Weigel

The weather set for another showdown between the WSUC's perennial powers UW-Stevens Point and UW-Eau Claire was set for another thriller last Thursday night.

Eau Claire was focused emotionally and physically to a fever pitch with a mission to correct their earlier one-point loss to UWSP this season.

The Blugolds have been playing the best basketball in the WSUC as of late, as they would demonstrate in textbook fashion against the No. 5 ranked NAIA Division II team in the country.

The Blugolds, who had won their last seven games, astonished the Pointers by coming back from a 17-point deficit to win, 72-50, with only 2:20 left on the clock.

"It was like a four-headed serpent out there. Every time we cut the head off one another one rose up," commented Parker.

That aside, the Pointers used their 14-4 spirit in the final four minutes to open up a 39-21 halftime lead.

Track meets intensifies

by Mark Gillette

In one of its tougher meets of the indoor track season, the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point track and field teams competed very respectfully and fairly against the Eastern Invitational.

The men finished first among 10 teams while the women were tied third out of 10 teams.

The men were 16 points better than runner-up UW-Eau Claire. For the women, Rich Witt seemed pleased with the outcome, but sensed that his team needed a rest.

"We ran well, but not spectacular. I think the team is a bit tired. I hope to relax a little this week so they don't get too tired come conference championship time in a couple of weeks.

In the track events, Craig Hueblman performed well for the Pointers in the 55 meter race.

He came in first in the third heat (.06.72) and second in the finals (.06.68), only .10 from first place.

Jeremy Johnson was second in the 5000 meter with a time of 15:39.00.

Chris Larsen participated in the 55 meter hurdles and took second in both the second heat (58.08) and the finals (58.04).

Parker Hansen finished second in the 200 meter hurdles and was part of the 4 x 400 meter relay team of Hueblman, Andy Valia and Dean Bryan that finished first in the Eastern invitee race record time of 3:22.09.

Blair Larson carried the men in the field events with an Eastbay invite record of 16:20 meter throw in the 35 pound weight throw.

In the shot put, he threw 14.09 meters, good for another first place.

The women tied for third with UW-Eau Claire with 53 points.

We did not score as many points (as the last two meets), but I was very pleased with how the team adjusted to the intensity and the level of competition," said women's coach Len Hill.

The only first place finish for the Pointer women in the final events came from Jessie Bushman in the 400 meter race.

Her time of 58.79 was a Eastbay Invite Record.

Debbie Olsen took first in heat one of the 55 meter race with a time of 7.73.

In the finals she dropped to third, despite improving her time to 7.07.

Marnie Sullivan finished second in the 1500 meter in 4:47.18, a time Hill said was "very good for this time of the season."

Mandy Rasmussen also notched a second place finish with a time of 1:41.43 in the 600 meter.

Kaye Damm and Olsen each took fifth place in the shot put (12.60 meters) and long jump (4.91 meters) respectively.

This Saturday, Feb. 20, both teams go to Oshkosh to compete.

Wrestlers split weekend dual meets

by Scott Zuelke

For the UWSP wrestling team, Valentine's Day weekend began with some broken hearts against Augsburg (MN) College and ended with a massacre of UW-Eau Claire.

On Saturday night the Pointers held Seniors Night and dismantled UW-Eau Claire 38-6 by winning every match but one.

However, that match was won by the Blugolds after Point's Dennis Schmit (Sr, Hartford) injured his ankle and was unable to compete.

Those who were victorious for UWSP included Dan Kalved (Fr, Maple Grove, MN) at 118, Brian Stamper (Fr, Shawano) at 126, Jeff Bartowski (Sr, Germantown) at 134, Mark Poirier (Sr, Bloomsburg) at 142, and Jere Hamel (So, Wisconsin Rapids) at 150.

Chris Kittman (Sr, Verona) at 167, Dave Carlson (Jr, Maple Grove, MN) at 177, Travis Ehen (Jr, Cameron) at 190, and Dennis Aruprille (Sr, Kewaunee) in the Heaviest weight division were also among those victorious against Eau Claire.

"We wrestled aggressively and it showed in the matches," said Head Coach Marty Loy. "Jere Hamel filled in for Carl Shefchik who was injured and did a great job. He had to make up two weight classes and filled in impressively."

Friday night the Pointer grapplers, ranked number three in the latest NCAA II wrestling poll, lost to number one ranked College 24-12 in what was billed as "The Clash of the Titans."

Loy was disappointed in his team's effort. "I was disappointed.

I felt that we didn't..."

Continued on page 18

HIT THE SNOWBEACH! Spring Break Special

from $3025 Per Person Per Day Quadruple Lift & lodging

Valid Mon.-Wed. or Anytime Mar. 21-Apr. 11

Call For Chalet Rates

INDOOR POOL

HEALTH & ACQUAT CLUB

CALL 1-800-3-INDIAN

Ask for the College Special

Indianhead

MOUNTAIN RESORT & CONFERENCE CENTER WAKEFIELD, WI 53086 (906) 226-5951

PLEASE RECYCLE! PLEASE RECYCLE! PLEASE RECYCLE! PLEASE RECYCLE! PLEASE RECYCLE! PLEASE RECYCLE!
Swimming
continued from page 16
when they compete for the WSUC/WIAC Championship at Whitewater.
"We've been working so hard to get ready for the conference meet and this meet showed us we're ready," said Blair.
"It was a nice way for nine seniors to go out, and it was with a lot of pride." "We did not allow excuses to get in the way. We went out and played a fine ballgame," continued Parker.
Firing at a blistery 60 percent from the floor, the Pointers played with intensity.

Freshman Brad Hintz led the way with 14 points by shooting 5-9 as well as 3-5 from the line.

All 12 players that made the trips were able to score, five of them in double figures.
The Pointers will conclude their conference season this Saturday as they do battle with UW-LaCrosse in Quandt Gymnasium.
The cannons will sound at 7:30 p.m.
It is all up to seniors Jack Lothian, Scott Frye, and Justin Freier at this point.

Someone must lead the way, or the season that began with hope and anticipation will end in utter despair.

Book
Continued from page 2

After a long evening of testimony from both sides, the board voted unanimously to put the book back on the shelf and return it to the reading list for 4th grade students with the condition that parents receive a reading list describing all recommended books' contents.

Wrestling
continued from page 17

wrestle like we were capable of. They were a better team than us," said Loy.

Winning their matches for Point were Poirier at 142, Carlson at 167, Colin Green (Jr, Westby) at 177 and Ebner at 190.

Even though he lost, Loy praised Kaltved for his performance in his match.
"Kaltved took his opponent, a two time all-American, into the Tombstone Open." They were a better team than us," said Loy.

Freier at this point.

Senior to go out, and it was with a lot of pride."

Athletic Dept. Presents: ALL-STAR WRESTLING, 7:30PM (QGI)
UAB Visual Arts Presents: TED GEBOREK, Tarot Card Reader, 8-10PM (Encore-UC)
Faculty Recital: ROBERT KASE, Trumpet, 8PM (MH-FAB)

Hockey, NCHA Tournament Quarterfinals
Wrestling, WSUC Championships, 7PM (Whitewater)
Mainstage Production: THE TEMPEST, 8PM (JT-FAB)
UAB Concerts Presents: LIXX, 8-11PM (Encore-UC)
Piano Recital: KATHLEEN THEISEN, 8PM (MH-FAB)

Hockey, NCHA Tournament Quarterfinals
Wom. TR, Titan Invitational, 11AM (Oshkosh)
TR, Notre Dame Invitational, 11AM (Notre Dame, IN)
Cultural Diversity SOUL FOOD DINNER, 5PM (Framont Terrace-UC)
Wom. Basketball, UW-LaCrosse, 7PM (T)
Mainstage Production: THE TEMPEST, 7PM (Whitewater)
UAB Visual Arts Movie: BOYZ 'N THE HOOD, 8PM (Encore-UC)

The Week in Point
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18 - WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1993

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20 - Continued
Mainstage Production: THE TEMPEST, 8PM (JT-FAB)
Central Wis. Symphony Orchestra w/PAUL DOEBLER, Flute, 8PM (Sentry)
UAB Alt. Sounds Presents: BURNT TOAST & JAM, 8-11PM (Encore-UC)

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 21
Edna Carlsten Art Gallery- JURIED STUDENT EXHIBITION
Through 3/12 (Art Gallery-FAB)
Planetarium Series: SPRINGTIME OF THE UNIVERSE, 2PM (Planetarium-Scl. Bldg.)
Central Wis. Symphony Orchestra w/PAUL DOEBLER, Flute, 8PM (Sentry)
Mainstage Production: THE TEMPEST, 7PM (JT-FAB)

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22
Performing Arts Series: PETER PAIN, Musical, 8PM (Sentry)

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23
UAB Issues & Ideas: FREE TAX SERVICE, 7-9PM (PBA-UC)
Basketball, Marian, 7:30PM (Fond du Lac)

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24
Student Recital, 4PM (MH-FAB)
Wom. Basketball, St. Norbert, 7PM (H)
Jazz Ensemble Home Concert, 8PM (MH-FAB)
UAB Visual Arts Movie: BOYZ 'N THE HOOD, 8PM (Encore-UC)

For Further Information Please Contact the Campus Activities Office at 346-4343!!!
WANTED

Experienced guitarist seeking musicians to jam with. If classic dance Rock-n-Roll, Top 40 or upbeat Country trips your trigger than give me a call at 345-9983. Ask for Kevin. Please leave a message if I'm not home and I'll call right back.

Summer Leasers Needed: 2 bedroom apartment at the Village Apartments available for summer and fall. Nicely furnished, community center, pool, and many extras. Call 345-9773. Rent negotiable.

Houses for Rent for next school year. For groups of 4-6. Call Erzinger Real Estate, 341-7906

2 bedroom, close to campus. Heat and water included, only $150/ month per person. Call 341-2120.

OFF-CAMPUS HOUSING

Student House
Two open levels, one house, four girls/level. Need 1-2 girls. Call 341-5992, ask for Kathy.

Summer Camp Jobs
North Star Camp for Boys, Hayward, WI has openings for Overnight Trip Leaders; Cabin Counselors and Swimming and Sports Instructors. Also need Swim Director and climbing wall instructors. June-August. Good pay. Call collect or write Robert Lobey, 7540 N. Beach Drive, Milwaukee, WI 53217, 414-332-5001.

Housing
Next school year. Groups of 4, near campus! Nicely furnished, energy efficient, value-priced. 341-3158.

OFF-CAMPUS HOUSING

Summer Housing
2-3, or 4 bedroom, close to campus. Nicely furnished apartments and homes, excellent locations, well maintained and managed. Single rooms. Rent includes all utilities. Call 341-3158.

Summer Housing
Two open levels, one house, four girls/level. Need 1-2 girls. Call 341-5992, ask for Kathy.

Summer Camp Jobs
North Star Camp for Boys, Hayward, WI has openings for Overnight Trip Leaders; Cabin Counselors and Swimming and Sports Instructors. Also need Swim Director and climbing wall instructors. June-August. Good pay. Call collect or write Robert Lobey, 7540 N. Beach Drive, Milwaukee, WI 53217, 414-332-5001.

Housing
Next school year. Groups of 4, near campus! Nicely furnished, energy efficient, value-priced. 341-3158.

OFF-CAMPUS HOUSING

Summer Housing
2-3, or 4 bedroom, close to campus. Nicely furnished apartments and homes, excellent locations, well maintained and managed. Single rooms. Rent includes all utilities. Call 341-3158.

Summer Housing
Two open levels, one house, four girls/level. Need 1-2 girls. Call 341-5992, ask for Kathy.

Summer Camp Jobs
North Star Camp for Boys, Hayward, WI has openings for Overnight Trip Leaders; Cabin Counselors and Swimming and Sports Instructors. Also need Swim Director and climbing wall instructors. June-August. Good pay. Call collect or write Robert Lobey, 7540 N. Beach Drive, Milwaukee, WI 53217, 414-332-5001.

Housing
Next school year. Groups of 4, near campus! Nicely furnished, energy efficient, value-priced. 341-3158.
FEBRUARY MADNESS

Try our new extra crispy thin crust!

Hours:
- Sun.-Wed.: 11:00 a.m. - 1:30 a.m.
- Thurs.: 11:00 a.m. - 2:00 a.m.
- Fri. & Sat.: 11:00 a.m. - 3:00 a.m.

Thin Crust

$4.99

Medium Pepperoni

Extra Crispy Thin Crust

We will gladly substitute your favorite topping for pepperoni.

- Expires 3-4-93
- Not good with any other coupon or offer
- Tax not included

Bread & Salad

$4.99

Twisty Breads

Large Garden Salad

Get one large garden salad along with any twisty breadsticks with sauce for dipping and 2 cups of coke (classic or diet) for only $4.99.

- Expires 3-4-93
- Not good with any other coupon or offer
- Tax not included

Large Original

$6.99

Large Pepperoni

Original Style Handtossed

We will gladly substitute your favorite topping for pepperoni.

- Expires 3-4-93
- Not good with any other coupon or offer
- Tax not included

Small Original

$3.99

Small Pepperoni

Original Style Handtossed

We will gladly substitute your favorite topping for pepperoni.

- Expires 3-4-93
- Not good with any other coupon or offer
- Tax not included

---

DOMINO'S TWISTY BREAD

99¢

DOMINO'S TWISTY BREAD

With any pizza purchase.

- Expires 3-4-93
- Not good with any other coupon or offer
- Tax not included

---

FOR FREE DELIVERY CALL

345-0901