Foreword

THROUGH the coming years may this Iris of 1929 recall happy memories! May it also stimulate a realization of the truth,—“The best is yet to be”; because the memories kindle an inspiration and a hope that lead the reader on to achieve the dream of college days.

To the Seniors of 1929

"Iris," the name of our school flower and of our annual publication is a word that symbolizes at the Central State Teachers College, beauty in life and in art, —a beauty that springs from purposeful work and recreation.

At Central College, four year courses have been open to you in Home Economics, Rural, Secondary and Elementary Education. Preliminary courses have been given, looking to the establishment of a nursery school for the study of pre-school years and parental education,— the supreme importance of which is recognized largely through the research and experimentation of Dr. Arnold Gesell, an alumnus of the school.

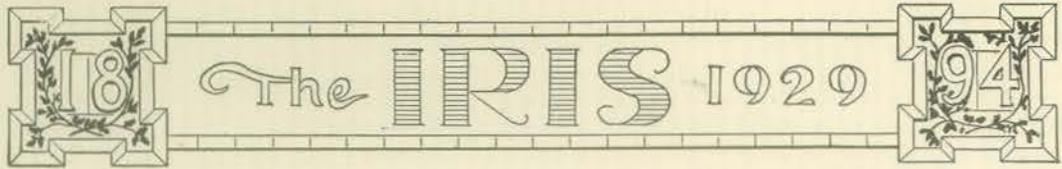

As a member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, your Alma Mater receives a high rating and special commendation for ideals of service and scholarship. For the same reason C. S. T. C. has won recognition and confidence from state and national leaders in government and in education.

As alumni, we shall continue to strive to prove that Education is an investment that produces not only higher standards of life but also economic prosperity.

As graduates of Central State Teachers College, may you render a service distinguished by the skill, the scholarship, the noble purpose that have characterized the world's immortals.

ELIZABETH C. MALONEY, '15

Class of 1929

These few years, now drawing rapidly to a close, under Alma Mater's fostering care have been blessed and fruitful years. Some earnest work, much gladsome play; some fast friendships, many attractive acquaintanceships; some serious facing of life's responsibilities, much care-free taking of its generous bounties—all of these, and more, are rapidly entering into that hallowed perspective which we term memory.

Thus you will cherish them ever more affectionately as time runs on, not living in the past, as age is wont to do, but rather drawing from these gracious experiences of college years the inspiration which will spur you on to new heights in your life's work, friendships, and responsibilities. College years have not fallen to the lot of all: for one reason or another almost ninety per cent of your fellows have not achieved that happy estate. Insofar as you have thus become better equipped to meet life's responsibilities, to that extent we have a right to, and we confidently do expect that you will share your minds and hearts, your very selves, with those whose lives will revive and brighten at your kindly, steadying touch.

Alma Mater's pride in you is not alone in what you are, but also, and to an even greater degree, in what she has tried to help you to become—proof positive of America's national faith in public education. That you will match this pride with your persistent purpose she can entertain no reasonable doubt, since loyalty to Alma Mater is both the bounden duty and the priceless privilege of her every son and daughter.

Very sincerely,

ROBERT DODGE BALDWIN

Dean of Women

Miss Hussey, who is gifted with such personality that makes girls understand and realize that she is here to be our friend and helper in solution of many problems, serves as our dean of women. She lives with the girls at Nelson Hall and one realizes that through much effort and time, spent on her part, it is a happier and better place.

Miss Hussey takes a very prominent part in Y. W. C. A. work, and with her spiritual guidance Y. W. C. A. has grown to be one of the most influential organizations on the campus.

Miss Hussey's ever increasing interest in the welfare of Nelson Hall girls has encouraged and enabled the girls to purchase a new player piano, which indeed will attract the girls who are to be future residents of Nelson Hall.

Miss Hussey's ability to understand girls and realize problems which they have to meet, makes the girls feel at liberty to discuss with her the problems confronting them.

Her marked fairness in treating and dealing with girls is dominate in all her undertakings and the girls all say "In her we have a fine, true woman."

Dean of Men

The young men who have attended C. S. T. C. have left their Alma Mater with a multitude of happy incidents subject to mental recall. Not the least of these enjoyable experiences has been their acquaintance and friendship with the Dean of Men, Prof. H. R. Steiner.

Prof. Steiner invariably impresses the young men, with whom he comes in contact, as an adviser carrying the attitude of a companion. No fellow has ever hesitated to bring matters to him for consideration; no fellow has misgivings as to the advisability of consulting him when troublesome incidents have arisen.

He has always examined cases from the standpoint of the young man himself; he has passed judgment after the same fashion. No more certain evidence of his youthful point of view is existent than the fact that he confidentially recounts his own collegiate pranks and projects.

Deans who play and joke with the constituent members of their group are by no means all prevailing; it is extremely fortunate that C. S. T. C. is able to boast of a companionable and exceptionally efficient adviser for its young men.

The Training School

The purpose of the Training School is to make the students who practice in it a group of very efficient school teachers, and to present practical class room problems for solution by the student teachers.

The new training school building has been started, and will be ready to accommodate the entire training department in September, 1929. It will be a two-story structure. On the ground floor will be a large gymnasium which will also be used as an auditorium. The kindergarten, the manual arts and the home economics rooms will also be on this floor. The second floor will be given over to the junior and senior high school practice rooms, science laboratories, and a library.

The new training school under Mr. Herrick's supervision will be able to raise the already high standing which our school has. Our graduates will be able to cope with the problems confronting them when they go out to teach, and our students will have the opportunity to put into practice the theories and principles of education expounded to them in their classes "upstairs."

Home Economics

Home Economics is very rapidly growing throughout the land. As a vocation it has quite successfully established its prominence.

Our Home Economics Department is one helping to broaden the Home Economics field. Its previous graduates show their appreciation and realization of the value of the work for their teaching career, as this is the trend of the aims of our department, by returning to get a B.E. degree and a wider scope of knowledge.

It is a purely degree course now, although there have been a two year and a three year course offered in previous years. There are these graduates who have received their diplomas, but come back for degree work. From here they take up responsibilities all over the state and even in other states.

Under the kind and experienced guidance of our Director, Miss Allen, our department is striving to finer standards. To her we owe many of our ideals and standards which will be more fully appreciated later in our lives. We also owe much to Misses Wilson and Church for their helpful direction.

We are hoping that we can go out and show with our best efforts due appreciation of all concerned.

Rural Department

During the past year the Department of Rural Education has had an enrollment of nearly one hundred students. About sixty of that number have been preparing for positions in one room rural schools; the others have been enrolled in the course for state graded school principals or in the rural supervisory course. We are particularly proud of the young men and women who make up our membership, since they reveal a hearty enthusiasm, a splendid co-operation, and a keen interest in their chosen field.

The Department is most ably headed by O. W. Neale, who is completing his fourteenth year as Director of Rural Education here. By training and experience Mr. Neale is most admirably fitted for this particular type of work. He knows the rural school situation and is both practical and progressive in his efforts for its improvement.

Mr. Neale endears himself to the student body because of his deep interest in young people and his genial and optimistic personality. One is not long a member of the Department before he is also a personal friend of the Director, and we know the friendship is real and lasting. We feel that, at all times, he is ready to help us with his advice, and that we may call on him as freely after graduation as before.

We, the graduating class of 1929, deeply grateful for all that has been done for us, and for the happy atmosphere we have spent the past years, extend our thanks to the Department and to Mr. Neale.

High School Department

Again the High School Department is the largest in the college. Under the new degree system many students have returned to complete their courses. Organized in 1916, the Department has made rapid progress. Originally the course consisted of two years; later it was found necessary to add a third year. In 1928 the Department was given the power to grant degrees to four year students.

Under the capable guidance of Mr. Smith and Miss Jones, the High School Department has carried out the idea of the Roman forum in its monthly meetings.

This Department is well represented in the activities of the school; many teachers have carried the spirit and teachings of the Forum into their work throughout the state.

To Mr. Smith we owe a debt of gratitude for his kindly counsel and willingness to help. Ever ready to encourage us, he has kept alive the fire of determination which has guided us onward to our goal.

Grammar Department

The Grammar Department has grown from a single course for the training of teachers for the upper grades until now we have five courses divided into three sub-departments. There are the three year and four years courses for Junior High teachers, a two year course for upper grade teachers and a four year and a two year course for intermediate grade teachers.

Our Department is well known for the good material which it puts out. Appreciation of the satisfactory work done by grammar graduates is shown by the fact that superintendents all over this state and in other states come back year after year. Our graduates are now filling many responsible positions.

Through our departmental club, the Round Table, we have taken a leading part in all school activities. Members of the Department are found on all athletic teams, in all musical organizations and on the debate team. Besides we boast the girls champion basketball team and the champion orator of the school. Through our club we have had many good times and learned to know one another much better.

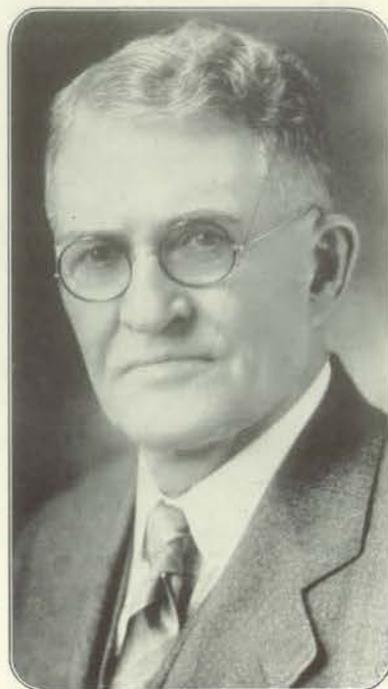

Primary Department

The Primary Department is composed of girls who are interested in, and naturally adapted to the teaching of grades one, two and three. The school offers a two-year course which makes efficient teachers of the girls. It offers also a four year course which gives the graduates a B.E. degree.

This Department has been headed by Mr. James E. Delzell for several years. He is a great friend to all of the pupils in the Department, and helps them in many ways. After having taken this course one need have no fear of not being able to cope with teaching problems. Thanks to the undying efforts of Miss Tobias, Miss Brown, and Miss Bizer, many practical teaching problems are presented and solved. Helpful suggestions are made as to various ways of dealing with problems in order to get the best results.

The very latest and best methods are presented to the students and they are kept in touch with new developments in their field.

The members of this Department realize that they are here for business as well as pleasure and they make their Department one of which the school is proud.

The Sophomore Class entered college in September with an enrollment of one hundred and twenty.

The class of '31 has displayed their due share of college pep and spirit through actual participation in all important activities. It has several members who will leave a lasting impression upon the life of the school. Smith, Marshall, Cheserown, and Fors proved to be veritable stone walls in football this season. Our varsity debating squad was well represented by the Sophomore class; Clarence Teske and Clarence Theis have made great strides in debate. Dorothy Oleson and Edward Vetter were chosen by plebiscite vote by the school for queen and king respectively for the Mardi Gras.

Mildred Steinke won distinction by being editor-in-chief of the college annual, The Iris.

It is impossible to enumerate all the members of the class, but let it be remembered that each is worthy of recognition and is anticipating the advancement of the standard which it has maintained during the past year.

Vice President	ROUNDS METCALF
Secretary and Treasurer	DOROTHY KUHL

Under the new classification of students all first year students are considered Freshmen, making this a large group. This year this group came to school earlier than the old students in order to get together and get acquainted before the regular session began.

For the big Homecoming bonfire, it was the Freshmen who gathered the wood; they also did their part in preparing a fitting float to represent their class in the parade.

The annual Christmas party which has usually been given by this class was postponed because of the influenza epidemic; instead the Freshmen entertained the school at a party to celebrate George Washington's birthday.

Forum

President	ELIZABETH COLLINS
Vice-President	MADGE FOATE
Secretary	ELIZABETH ROGERS
Treasurer	NEAL PRECOURT

The members of the High School Department have carried out the idea of the old Roman Forum in their meetings.

Under the direction of Elizabeth Collins, entertainment of an educational and enlightening nature has been offered.

With the addition of the degree course, many students have come here to enroll in the course offered in high school teachers' training.

Through the faithfulness and untiring devotion of our leaders, Miss Jones and Mr. Smith, we have continued to play our part in the affairs of C. S. T. C. "Naught our loyalty can alter, nor our spirit of, 'I Will.'"

First Row: V. Carley, M. Barnum, M. Quarne, S. Buhl, M. Lea, R. Hand, F. Johnson, E. Baker, L. Andrew, A. Jeselun, H. Larson.

Home Economics Club

All the members of the Home Economics Department are joined together into a group of friends by the organization known as the Home Economics Club.

During the past year the club has been under the efficient guidance of the presidents, Misses Loretta Wichser and Sadie Storzbach.

You have seen the Home Ec. girls "doing their bit," by taking part in other activities as well as in those of their own organization. These are basketball, volleyball, and glee club. Social activities are right in their "line of work" and it is there the girls show the influence of their Home Economics training.

The Home Economics Club has bound the girls more closely together by friendly co-operation.

Grammar Round Table

All students in the Grammar Department are members of the Grammar Round Table. The purpose of this organization is to foster good-fellowship among its members. Meetings are held the first Monday of each month. Each meeting consists of a business meeting and some kind of entertainment. We have had many enjoyable and worthwhile meetings this year.

The Grammar Round Table is noted for its activity in school affairs. This year we took part in the homecoming parade. We sponsored the first movie given in the college assembly and on April 19 gave a very successful dancing party for the student body. The Grammar basketball team won the championship and was well supported by the Round Table.

Rural Life Club

The Rural Life Club is an organization made up of students and faculty of the Department of Rural Education.

The purpose of the organization is to foster and promote a lively interest in rural life and education, to give students an opportunity to work in groups and to carry on meetings in a business-like manner, and to furnish the social life for the Department.

The two outstanding social events of the club were the dancing party on St. Patrick's Day and the annual picnic.

Primary Council

The Primary girls, under the able leadership of Dorothy Cawley, president, have enjoyed an active Council life. Many educational, as well as enjoyable, programs have been staged.

The Primaries have excelled in sports this year, getting second place in the basketball tournament, and participating in hockey, volleyball, and tennis.

Several belong to the Girls' Glee Club, and others are active in the forensic work of the school.

Mr. Delzell is very proud of his proteges and will back them to the very last. They in turn, have a great liking for their adviser in whom they confide their joys and sorrows.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association is composed of women interested in Christian living as inspired by Christian Fellowship.

The purpose of this organization is threefold: the spiritual, the intellectual, and physical welfare of every member and the extension of these benefits to everyone in the community.

Another purpose of this association is the fostering of fellowship among members through active service and friendship so that the life of the college student may reflect Christian ideals more strongly.

Loyola

The Loyola Club is an organization for the Catholic students enrolled in the college.

The activities of the club for this year opened with the annual reception given by the local branch of the Knights of Columbus in their club rooms.

During the year we have been very fortunate in having many of our friends among the clergy appear on our programs. Club members have appeared on programs presenting the lives and activities of heroes of the Church. A test will be given at the close of the year on the material thus presented. Prizes will be awarded the members who make the highest scores.

Margaret Ashmun Club

President	JOHN A. PRALGULSKI
Vice-President	RICHARD MARSHALL
Secretary and Treasurer	KATHRYN THOMPSON

The Margaret Ashmun Club is an honorary society composed of students and faculty members who are interested in English, dramatics, journalism, or speech work.

The club, during the present year, has met regularly on the second Wednesday of each month. Faculty members, students, authors, and dramatists have appeared to make the programs varied and interesting.

The club elects two groups of pledges each year and then initiates them, informally and formally, as members. Faculty members have, from time to time, been elected as honorary members.

Each year the club conducts a short story contest. The winners are awarded prizes which are donated by Miss Margaret Ashmun. The winning contestants, if they are not members of the organization, become eligible for membership.

An elaborate banquet and program, during which function the new officers are elected, closes the club activities for the school year.

First Row: W. Rosengren, F. Hebal, W. Wasrud, A. McVey, M. Mollen, M. Stephenson, M. Quarne, M. Disrud.

Science Club

President	T. A. ROGERS
Vice-President	FRED SCHMEECKLE
Secretary and Treasurer	MISS EMILY WILSON

The Science Club, started in 1920 by Dr. G. E. Culver, consists of the instructors of the science courses, and students excelling in scholarship who have shown a special interest in the development of science.

At the meetings held every month, topics of scientific interest, such as X-ray, contagious diseases, "dry ice," and nutrition are given. After the presentation of the topics, a general discussion by the members of the club adds to the interest.

The Culver Memorial Fund, for the upkeep of the Culver Memorial Library, is sponsored by the club. Up-to-date scientific books are placed in this library for any student seeking information on scientific subjects. The club has purchased a bronze plate to be placed under the picture of Mr. Culver, stating the purpose of the Memorial Library.

First Row: A. Sparks, I. Thurber, W. Wasrud, L. Andrew, J. Pralgulski, L. Sprague, P. Budahl, L. Scott.

Pep Club

President	LEOTA ANDREW
Vice-President	MILDRED BARNUM
Secretary and Treasurer	ROUNDS METCALF
Cheer Leaders	ROUNDS METCALF, WILLIAM MARSH

The Pep Club is an organization whose purpose is to instill pep and enthusiasm at college football and basketball games.

It is largely through the efforts of the Pep Club that we have our annual homecoming celebration. This event begins with a snake dance and bon-fire in the evening and continues the next day with a big parade, followed by the big game, and winds up with the dance, which is always a success.

It is during this time that the Pep Club has its annual luncheon at Nelson Hall.

First Row: A. Hougen, E. Groh, A. Hendrickson, E. Sippy, M. Marsh.
 Second Row: E. Riley, E. Maes, I. Cleaves.

Women's Athletic Association

This year the Girls' Athletic Association, which was started four years ago, was organized under a new constitution as the Women's Athletic Association. It is one of the peppiest and most active associations in school, sponsoring picnics and hikes in the spring and fall, and various athletic events during the winter months.

A large number of girls are proud possessors of the "S" which is the symbol of membership. This year Ethel Maes was the only member to receive a bronze pin.

Officers for this year were: Ethel Maes, president; Alice Hougen, vice-president; Elizabeth Rogers, secretary; Vernice Behnke, treasurer. At the end of the first semester Ethel was graduated, and Vivian Culver was elected president for the second semester.

The Iris

This year the Iris staff has had the honor of trying to portray some of the beauties of our college city in the year book. We have tried throughout the book to emphasize those places and scenes which are familiar to all of us; so familiar that some of their beauty is lost to the eye that is not always consciously seeking beauty. We wished to picture as well as possible these places in such a manner as to enable the students to keep them and refer to them in the years when college life is just a memory.

A special effort was made this year to secure a staff that would work together harmoniously. Last June at a class meeting, the "seniors to be" expressed their preferences for positions on the staff; as a result only such people as were interested in the activity for which they wanted to serve were chosen.

For the past two years an effort has been made to standardize the Iris. Both an understudy editor and business manager are appointed to work with the staff and to take up the work of editing and managing the book the coming year. This has proven very successful as it gives these people a working knowledge of their task. Sadie Espeseth and Clarence Teske are in charge of the Iris for next year. We wish them success with the Iris of 1930.

The editor wishes to take this opportunity to express personally her appreciation to the members of the staff, student body, and faculty who have considered it worth their time and consideration to aid in the building of this book.

The Iris staff would like to thank the many persons who have co-operated in the production of this book. We are especially grateful to: Mr. Rogers who has been our guide and given us valuable advice and supervision; Mr. A. C. Hunting and Mr. D. T. Sutte of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company for thoughtful suggestions and helpful services; Mr. Davidson for his help in taking pictures; Kathryn Wunsch for securing the cartoons used in this book; the Pointer staff for the publicity and co-operation they have given us.

The Pointer

Originally, the college paper known as The Pointer was published bi-monthly. Later, however, due to increasing importance and interest shown, a change was made to a weekly publication basis.

This year an effort has been made to make this paper of special personal interest to the student—stressing especially the news and feature items such as the Hall of Fame, El Duce and the Whirlpool.

Near the beginning of the first semester, a canvass was taken among the student body to ascertain in what particular features of The Pointer they were most interested. The results were a keynote to the staff in helping them to make the paper just what the student body wanted.

The Pointer also takes upon itself the task of advertising the school. The last two years special issues have been put out for this purpose. They contained scenes of the campus, athletic teams and views representing other activities. Special articles were written about each organization and club in the school and about extra-curricula activities.

Coach Eggebrecht

Coach Moll

The athletic season at Central was opened by Coach Carl Eggebrecht. It was Carl who worked hard with the boys to put the Pointers on the top in conference football. It was largely through his efforts that our team as a body had enough of the fighting spirit in them to make it 1000%. He developed our boys into strong and real characters; making friends of all who came to know him.

Coach Moll, successor to Eggebrecht, came to C. S. T. C. shortly after our basketball season had started. He was handicapped because he had had no opportunity of learning of the individual abilities of the team before he took full charge of his duties for the rest of the season. In spite of this he worked exceedingly well with the boys, causing the results of the season's playing to be very much higher than those that were anticipated. He is a very enthusiastic worker and is very much interested in his work. Coach Moll deserves much credit for the good work he has done thus far for old Central.

The Football Season

Stevens Point State Teachers College was represented on the football field by the finest group of fellows ever brought together at this school. The team was lead by Benny Weronke, the best center in the state and a member of several all-state teams. He will be lost to C. S. T. C. for further competition on the gridiron. Ben's bullet passes from center were accurate; Charlesworth, the stellar guard on our championship team, has also played his last game here. We remember Greg best for the good work he did in the Eau Claire game.

Jack Rezatto, the fast stepping halfback, makes the white chalk lines look like a picket fence. John has played his last for the purple and the gold.

Dagneau is the hard tackler and the boy who blocks them hard. The Pointers who return next year will have the pleasure of watching this boy perform on the gridiron.

Ferm at guard played on the strongest side of the Pointer's line. It was Ferm who stopped many plays over center and guard.

Tiny Bannach, the tackle, was the boy who made the holes in the lines and stopped them on the line. We shall remember Tiny at Stout when he stopped them with one inch to go.

White, end, gets down under the punts as fast as any of the best of ends.

Neuberger, end, spears passes like a hunter does ducks. It was Ollie who was on the receiving end of many passes.

The IRIS 1929

Fors, tackle, did his share in making the Point eleven, champs. Fors stopped many a gain through our line

Schroeder, halfback, was the smallest and pluckiest man on the squad. He was known as captain of the second squad.

Alberts, halfback, made the first score of the season at Northland by a dash off tackle. This is Alberts' first year at the college. Watch him step next year.

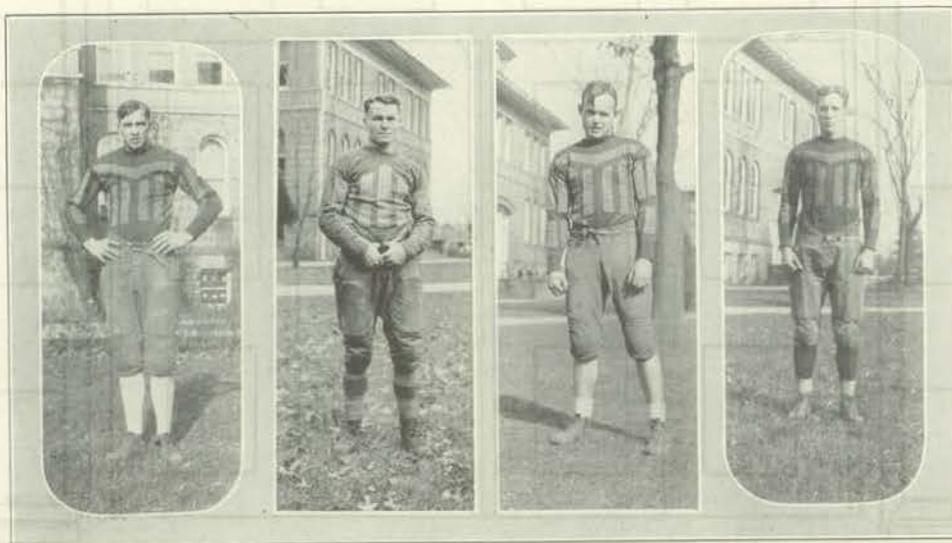

Albrecht, guard, played for three years for the purple and gold and will be lost to the squad for further competition.

Laabs, fullback, the side stepper and one of the best ball carriers of the conference, was instrumental in making the Pointers champs.

McDonald, when there was a need for a gain, was the old reliable. Scotty was always on the job. Offense or defense, it was Scotty who featured in every play.

Vrobel, fullback, is another good ball carrier who plays the game hard and clean.

Fleetham, tackle, pulls the surprises. It was he who kept Stout from scoring at a critical time.

18 The IRIS 1929 194

Chvala, halfback, plays a wonderful offensive game and is a hard man to stop.

Chesrown, end, plays a wonderful game of football for his size. He is one of the lightest men on the squad.

Marshall, tackle, played for the first time and played well.

Smith (captain-elect), tackle, has a man's size job to fill next year. Let's go, Smith! Let the good work go on.

Mainland, guard, surely showed his stuff when he got going. Good luck to you next year.

Kolka, tackle, was always ready to fill in at tackle and a good man was he.

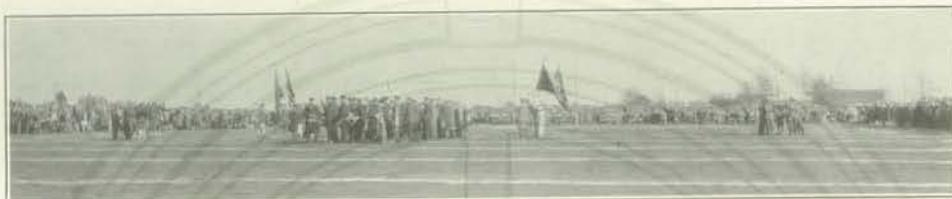

Klappa, end, did his job up right every time he was called on to fill in at the end.

Winters, center, was a plucky boy at the center. He always did his best and was ever reliable.

Frater was good wherever he was placed in the line and a sticker to the end.

The IRIS 1929

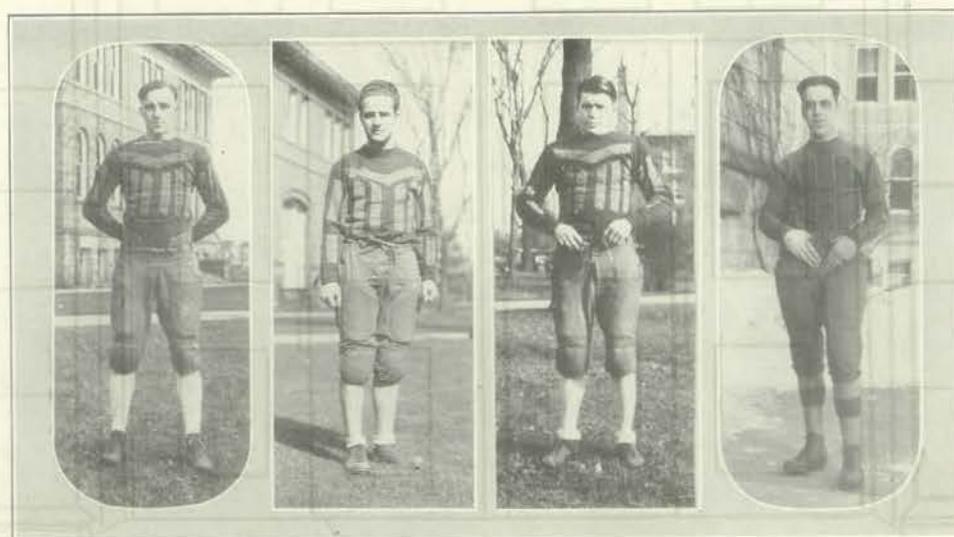

Trebatoski, tackle, was a hard man to block out. He had lots of punch and had the fighting spirit.

Kitowski is a good all around man and a willing chap. Always rarin' to go.

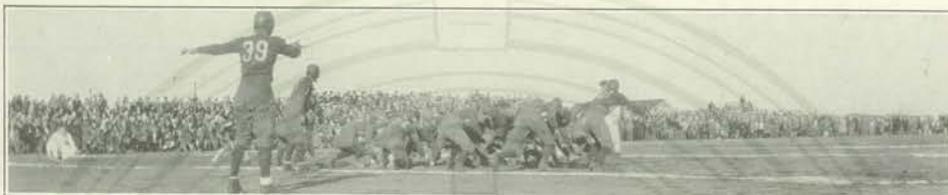

The first struggle of the season was a victory for the Pointers. The entire contest was played in a downpour of rain and the coldest of weather. Time after time the Pointers failed to score and it wasn't because of Northland College, but Ole Man Weather himself. The field was so wet and slippery it was almost impossible to move about. The Pointers took Northland into camp by a score of 18-0.

The second triumph added to the list was won over Marquette, Michigan. This game was a battle from the start to finish. In this game the Pointers showed their strength by coming up from behind at the beginning of the third quarter, scoring two touchdowns to sew up the game for Stevens Point. The final score was 18-7.

Pointers displayed their powerful defense in the first game at home. Eau Claire was the third victim. Eggebrecht's men displayed some of the finest football of the season. From the time the gold clad eleven appeared on the field until the final play, it could be plainly seen by all present that the determination to avenge for the stinging 6-0 defeat handed the Eggebrecht clan last season was uppermost in the thought of every Point player and the score tells the tale, 25-0, which makes the revenge sweet.

Captain Weronke and his men won their fourth straight victory at Stout. Although Stout was entertaining their old grads at Homecoming, the Pointers did the entertaining on the gridiron by trouncing the Stoutonians to the tune of 25-7. This was one of the hardest fought battles of the season, although the score does not indicate it. This is the game in which every Pointer came upon the field with tears in his eyes and fought for his team.

Homecoming: The Purples ran wild on the field before the grads. They played before one of the largest Homecoming crowds to witness a game on the local field in recent years. The Pointers romped over Platteville to a 38-0 score.

Although the score was one-sided this is not evidence of the fight that the southern eleven put up. Platteville proceeded to throw a scare into the Pointers by completing two long passes for thirty-five yards. The Pointers then got a-going and stopped the Southern Staters' advance and, by good, hard football playing, the Pointers began their scoring.

18 The IRIS 1941

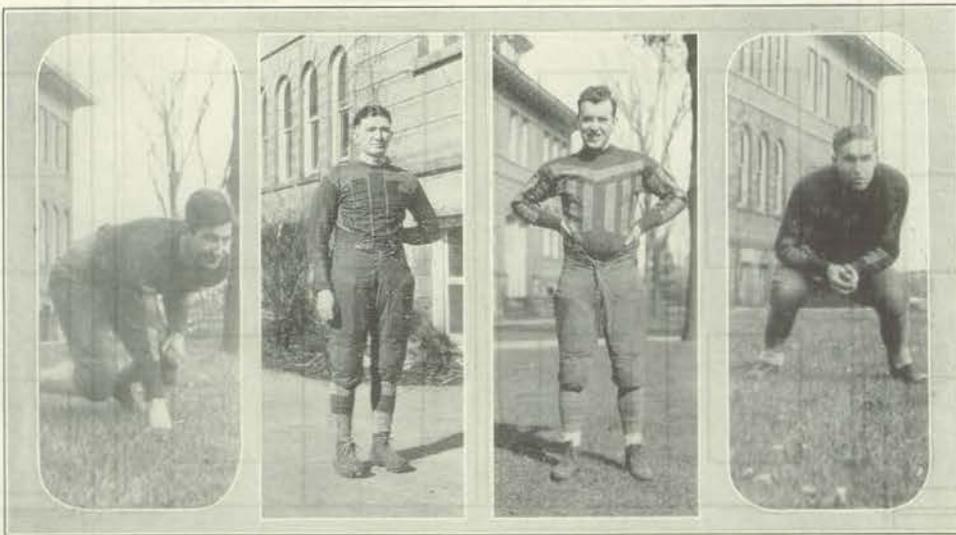

The last game of the season played with Oshkosh for the state title was the greatest battle ever staged on the local field. The Pointers outplayed the Sawdust city both right and left. The Point line was working like a stone fence, holding the Sawdusters to one first down, the first half.

The Pointers had a chance to score the first period but failed. In the second period the Pointers made a touchdown but failed for the extra point. The third period neither team did any scoring. Oshkosh had the ball up to the eight yard line but failed to put it over. Here they met a stone wall that turned them back. Losing the ball on the downs the Point punted out of danger.

In the fourth quarter lady luck played a part. On a fumble, Oshkosh was able to score which tied the knot which wasn't broken during the last minutes of the game.

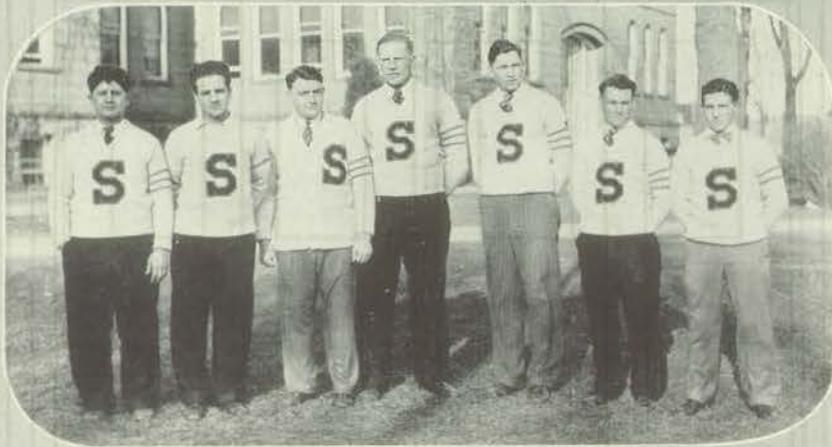

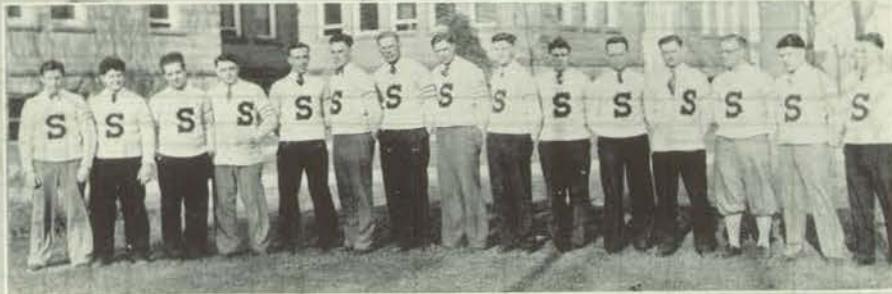

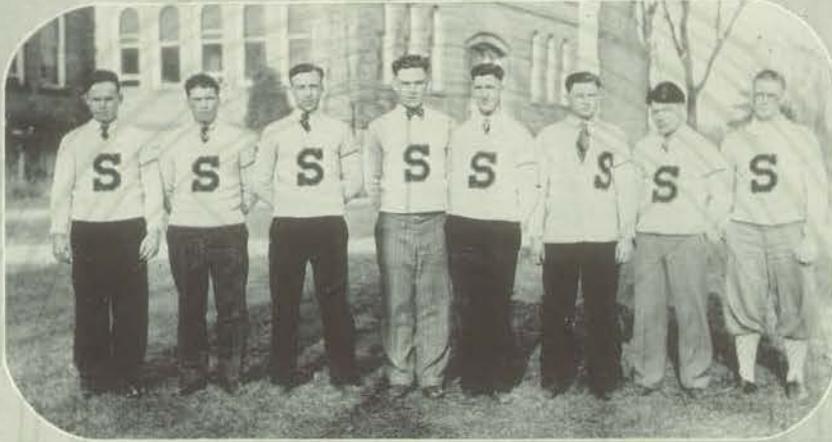

It was a fitting ending for the collegiate grid careers of Scorry McDonald, Greg, Charlesworth, Bill Albrecht, Captain Ben Weronke, and Tiny Bannach.

This is undoubtedly the best record made by any football team that has ever worn the Purple and the Gold on the gridiron for C. S. T. C. Thanks to Carl Eggebrecht and the hard efforts he put forth to make our team a 1000%.

The Athletic Board

Professor F. J. Schmeeckle acts as manager of the athletic board, assisted by Professors H. R. Steiner and E. F. Roberts.

These men deserve a great deal of credit for the success of our teams. They have devoted much of their time in making athletics at Central State Teachers College good, clean and wholesome sports. These men enjoy working with boys, and all of the boys who have had the privilege of coming in close contact with these men like them and keep them as life long friends.

BASKETBALL

First Row: Neuberger, Kubisiak, White, Marshall, Laabs, Coach Moll
Second Row: Charlesworth, Schroeder, Weronke, McDonald, Chvala.

The Basketball Season

At the beginning of the basketball season the outlook was very bright. Several of the regulars were back and with a number of new men from other schools to strengthen the squad things looked promising for C. S. T. C.

Coach Eggebrecht started his men off with some very intensive training to prepare them for the hard schedule which was to follow. The men showed up very well in good passing, many good plays, and good team work.

Coach Eggebrecht was relieved from duty after the first conference game of the season. This was a hard blow to the team because of the new style of basketball that was introduced by our present coach, Mr. Moll. Had either coach had the squad at the beginning and carried them through the season, the results might have been better. But we can consider that C. S. T. C. had a very successful year at basketball.

JANUARY 8, 1929

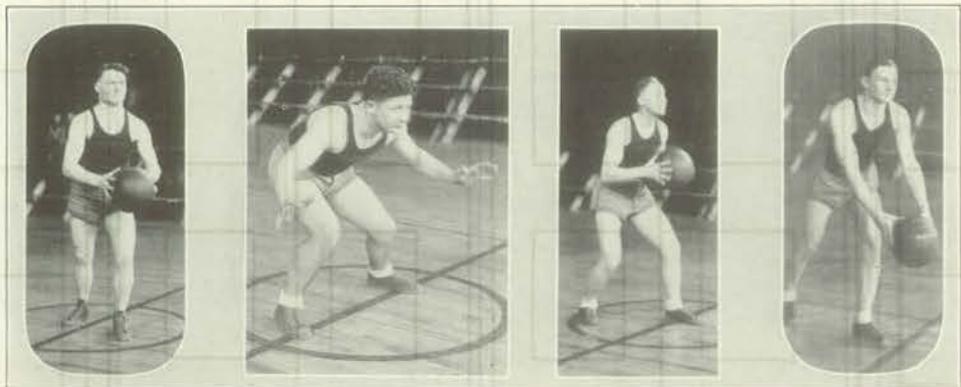

Stevens Point played their first conference game at home which resulted in a decisive victory for the Pointers. Eau Claire furnished the opposition. Central 34, Eau Claire 21.

JANUARY 11, 1929

The Pointers traveled to Oshkosh and were defeated by the Sawdusters. Central 17, Oshkosh 23.

JANUARY 19, 1929

The second game played at home resulted in another victory for the Pointers. Stout furnished the opposition. This was a fast battle although the score does not indicate it. Central 42, Stout 20.

The third home game was played with Milwaukee. Our boys were at their best. The Milwaukee boys had very little chance with our gang of "Dead-Eye-Dicks." Central 41, Milwaukee 24.

FEBRUARY 7, 1929

Pointers traveled to Eau Claire to return with the bacon. The Pointers had a hard game because the Eau Claire gang wanted revenge. Central 25, Eau Claire 18.

FEBRUARY 9, 1929

The fifth victory for the Pointers occurred at Whitewater. This game was played at home and was one of the fastest games played on the local floor. Central 37, Whitewater 32.

FEBRUARY 16, 1929

The Pointers traveled to Whitewater and were defeated by the Whitewater boys. Central 25, Whitewater 32.

FEBRUARY 22, 1929

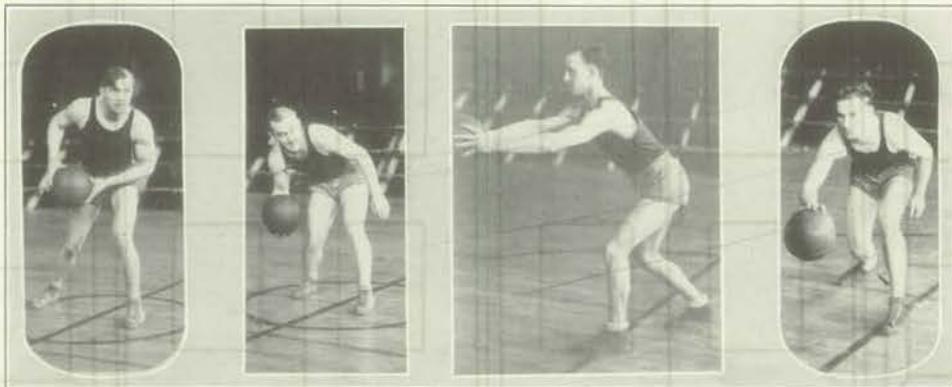

Pointers traveled to Stout Institute and defeated them for a second time. Central 19, Stout 16.

MARCH 1, 1929

In one of the hardest and fastest games played on the local floor the Pointers were again defeated by the Oshkosh gang. Oshkosh is sure the Pointers' jinx. Central 24, Oshkosh 28.

The basketball season can be considered a very successful one indeed. The Pointers won six of the nine games played.

Next year should be a good one on the basketball floor because the Pointers lose only three players: Weronke, McDonald, and Charlesworth.

The B Team

The second team of basketball usually receives very little credit for the work it does for a college. After all it is this team that is largely responsible for the success of the varsity. Many hours of hard practice, hard knocks and bruises are the rewards that fall to the men on the "B" team. But that is what makes good, successful basketball teams.

Central's "B" team played several games at home and a number on foreign floors with success.

Baseball

W. A. A. Activities

This year a great change took place in the organization and promotion of women's athletic activities in the school. The institution of four year courses prompted the change from departmental to class activities. This brought the girls of several departments together and enabled them to become acquainted and show more co-operation.

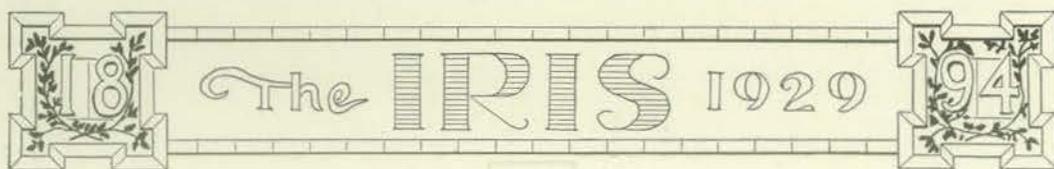

As soon as school commenced in the fall, girls could be seen out on the hockey field, some learning the game, while others were limbering up idle muscles. The Freshmen turned out in full force trying to earn points toward their letter "S". A hockey game between the "Yellows" and the "Whites" the morning of Homecoming was the culmination of the hard work the girls did in practice.

The fall tennis tournaments were played, with the girls showing real skill as racquet wielders. A ladder tournament for beginners was won by Ann Jeselun, while Eunice Riley was the winner of the elimination tournament for intermediates. There was keen competition in the final matches which were held the morning of Homecoming.

The spirit characterizing all of our fall sports was, "play the game for play's sake."

When the weather man turned us all indoors, regular practices for volleyball took place twice a week in the gym. A very large number of girls took part. Since volleyball was a prerequisite for the playing of basketball there were some keen games during the season.

Basketball, the "King of Winter Sports," followed close on the heels of volleyball and soon after Christmas seven teams were organized. This year there were two tournaments, both conducted on the "Round Robin" style of tournament play. One tourney, which contained four department teams of no mean skill, was won by the Grammar Department. The other was a "color" tournament containing a "Red," a "Purple," and a "Gold" team, all of which were made up of people from all departments. The "Red" team won after a very good showing of basketball prowess.

The IRIS 1929

At the end of the tournaments a basketball "spread" was held in the gym with the Grammars and the "Reds" as guests of honor. The girls all reported an enjoyable evening.

This year there was a very great increase in the number of girls out for sport and much emphasis was placed on year round participation in activities.

The all year sports of hiking and skating, both roller and ice, were in full swing throughout all of the seasons. On any sunny afternoon you could see a large or small group of girls leaving school, ready for a hike in the woods or on some country road.

The all year championship based on the number of girls of the four classes participating in the activities, has had some keen contenders but by all appearances the Freshmen have the best opportunity of winning the cup which will be presented by the W. A. A.

At the time this book goes to press a Field Day is being planned. This takes place the latter part of May and includes, besides all track and field events, the finals of the spring tennis tournaments. As a final culmination there is a picnic at Horseshoe Bend where the girls who take part in the meet can spend a few hours at the end of a successful and profitable year.

The W. A. A. slogan adopted and carried out is:

"Sports for all
All for sports."

Forensics

Central State Teachers College holds a prominent place in the forensic activities of the state teachers colleges. In the last eight years we have always secured places in the oratorical and extemporaneous contests, with one exception, when we failed to place in the extemporaneous contest.

We have not been satisfied with a mere place, but have secured three first places in the State Oratorical Contests, and received one first and tied for one first place in the Inter-State Contest. In the extemporaneous contest we won one first place in the State Contest, and tied for a first place in the Inter-State Contest.

These honors have been brought to Central State Teachers College under the direction of Mr. Burroughs, who has been at the head of the speech department for the last nine years.

Play production is also an important phase of the work in the public speech department, and the plays produced this year have added credit to the school and to their coach.

Extemporaneous

Since the introduction of the State Extemporaneous Contest, which is held in connection with the State Oratorical Contest, our school has always entered a contestant.

This year Mr. Allen McVey was chosen to represent the school at the contest held at LaCrosse, March 15. Miss Kathryn Thompson was this year's alternate.

The Kellogg Peace Pact was the subject chosen for this year. "Would the Kellogg Peace Pact have prevented the World War had it been in existence in 1914?", was the topic drawn by Mr. McVey.

By an able presentation of this topic, Allen placed fourth at the State Contest and we are justly proud of Allen and the record of the school which has been so ably upheld.

Oratory

The honors of Central College were upheld by Leonard Sprague at the State Oratorical Contest this year.

With his oration, "Preserve Our Heritage," Leonard won second honors in a contest which was outstanding for the high grade of orations, and the excellence shown in delivery. While we wish Leonard might have secured first honors, we are proud of his record and have again shown the other colleges that Stevens Point is a formidable rival in the field of oratory.

Mr. Walter Wasrud furnished Mr. Sprague some keen competition in the local contest, and went to LaCrosse as alternate, where he represented the school at the business meeting.

As both Leonard and Walter are leaving this year, we must pass the standard on to others, and we hope that it will be held as high in the future as it has been in the past.

Debate

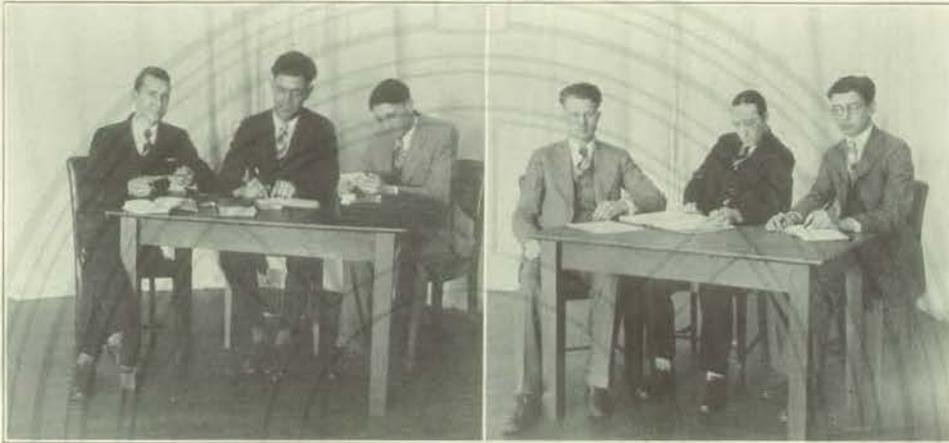

Debate is the one form of forensic which offers the opportunity for many students to participate.

The question for debate was: Resolved, That the public shall retain and develop the principal hydro-electric power sources which it now owns. As this was a question of public interest it made the work of the debate teams very interesting.

The teams this year were fortunate in having four veteran debaters. The affirmative team was composed of Allen McVey (Captain), Walter Wasrud, and Carlton Lintner. Clarence Theis (Captain), Frank Lasecke, and Clarence Teske upheld the negative case.

The IRIS 1929

Several practice debates were held before the conference debate. On December 14 the affirmative team met Marquette University at Milwaukee in the non-decision debate. On February 8 the negative team debated with St. Norberts College here, in a non-decision debate.

Besides the two non-decision debates, both teams travelled to several nearby high schools and gave their debates. The high schools so favored were Amherst, Weyauwega, Waupaca, Milladore, and Marshfield.

On March 4 we met Oshkosh in a dual debate. This was the first conference debate. As both teams received a negative decision the debate season for the year was brought to a close.

"Applesauce," the second of the two plays given by the speech department, was, like "The Famous Mrs. Fair," a success. The play was like its name, just full of flattery which Allen McVey deftly handled. One could hardly call him the hero, yet his "applesauce," his clever and subtle flattery did save the day. "Spike" Engels as his adoring Hazel made a charming wife and added much to the success of the play. Ma and Pa Robinson or Eleanor Worzalla and Walter Wasrud, kept the audience roaring with their perfect interpretation of a quarrelsome married couple. Sylvia Brickson as the gossiping complaining neighbor, left nothing to be desired. Clarence Teske as "the other man" showed his ability to change from an easy going person to one who was hard, sarcastic, and money grasping. The part of Uncle Mac, a hardened politician, was played by Lucile Hyland, who with her white hair and deep wrinkles, nearly succeeded in making the audience believe she was the tough old character she depicted.

Besides being an actor Miss Hyland also had the job of student coach of the play. She was assisted by Mr. Burroughs, the head of the English department.

"The Poor Nut"

The senior class of 1928 selected "The Poor Nut" by Nugent and Nugent as their class play. This is a typical college play and every line is filled with genuine enthusiasm and college experiences. In its present form, this play is published only for reading purposes, but during the last year it was released for school production.

It is a comedy of abundant youth, based in a most amusing way on the "inferiority complex," and shows how a victim of it rises above himself. The part of the Poor Nut was presented by Melvin Donner of Merrill. The class repeated the performance during the summer term.

Music

C. S. T. C. is indeed very fortunate in having a man such as Mr. Percival as its leader in music. Besides having much work to do in the college and training department, he has found time to write many articles on "Rural School Music" which have been published in magazines such as the "Musical Currier." Last year Mr. Percival was elected treasurer for the next two years of the Music Supervisor's National Conference. He was in charge of the High School Music Contest held here last year. National Music Week is observed here, and Mr. Percival was elected local chairman for the National Music Week of Stevens Point. His work centers not only in the city, but also in the state, and the nation. Mr. Percival has charge of a program for Rural School Music in central Wisconsin. He looks after a number of the concerts given here under the auspices of the Music Department such as the Ripon Glee Club and the Rhondda Welsh Singers. He takes care of all music methods for all departments, and he gives much time to music in the training school. The training school will give its annual operetta here under the auspices of the Music Department. Besides all this Mr. Percival has various organizations in the college such as Girls' Glee Club, Girls' Quartette, Men's Sextette, Orchestra, and community singing in assembly. Mr. Percival has certainly accomplished a great deal in music for this college, and it has come to play a vital part in the life and activities of our school.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is one of the most interesting organizations that we have in school. It is a credit subject, and meetings are held regularly every week. Class work in glee club consists not merely in singing songs, but it also includes exercises in breathing, tone production, sight reading, study in appreciation and some music memory work. It is of distinct benefit as well as a source of enjoyment to all its members. This club has often sung at assemblies, and already this year its members have carried on three very successful concerts. It has been the custom every year for the Girls' Glee Club to sing at the baccalaureate services, and this year there will be no exception to that custom. C. S. T. C. has a real reason to feel proud of its glee club.

Mr. Percival has given this group a great deal of valuable instruction in all phases of classical music.

Harmonica Band

A new feature of the music classes for students of the Rural Department this year is the introduction of harmonica instruction. This has been added as the result of a widespread interest in harmonica music in rural schools. The instrument is easily procured; instruction is not difficult; and its possibilities in the field of music are many.

All the members of the rural music classes are prepared to give instruction to their pupils in harmonica music and to organize bands. The Department has its own harmonica band which has appeared in public performance on several occasions before organizations in the college and different groups in the city.

Girls' Quartette

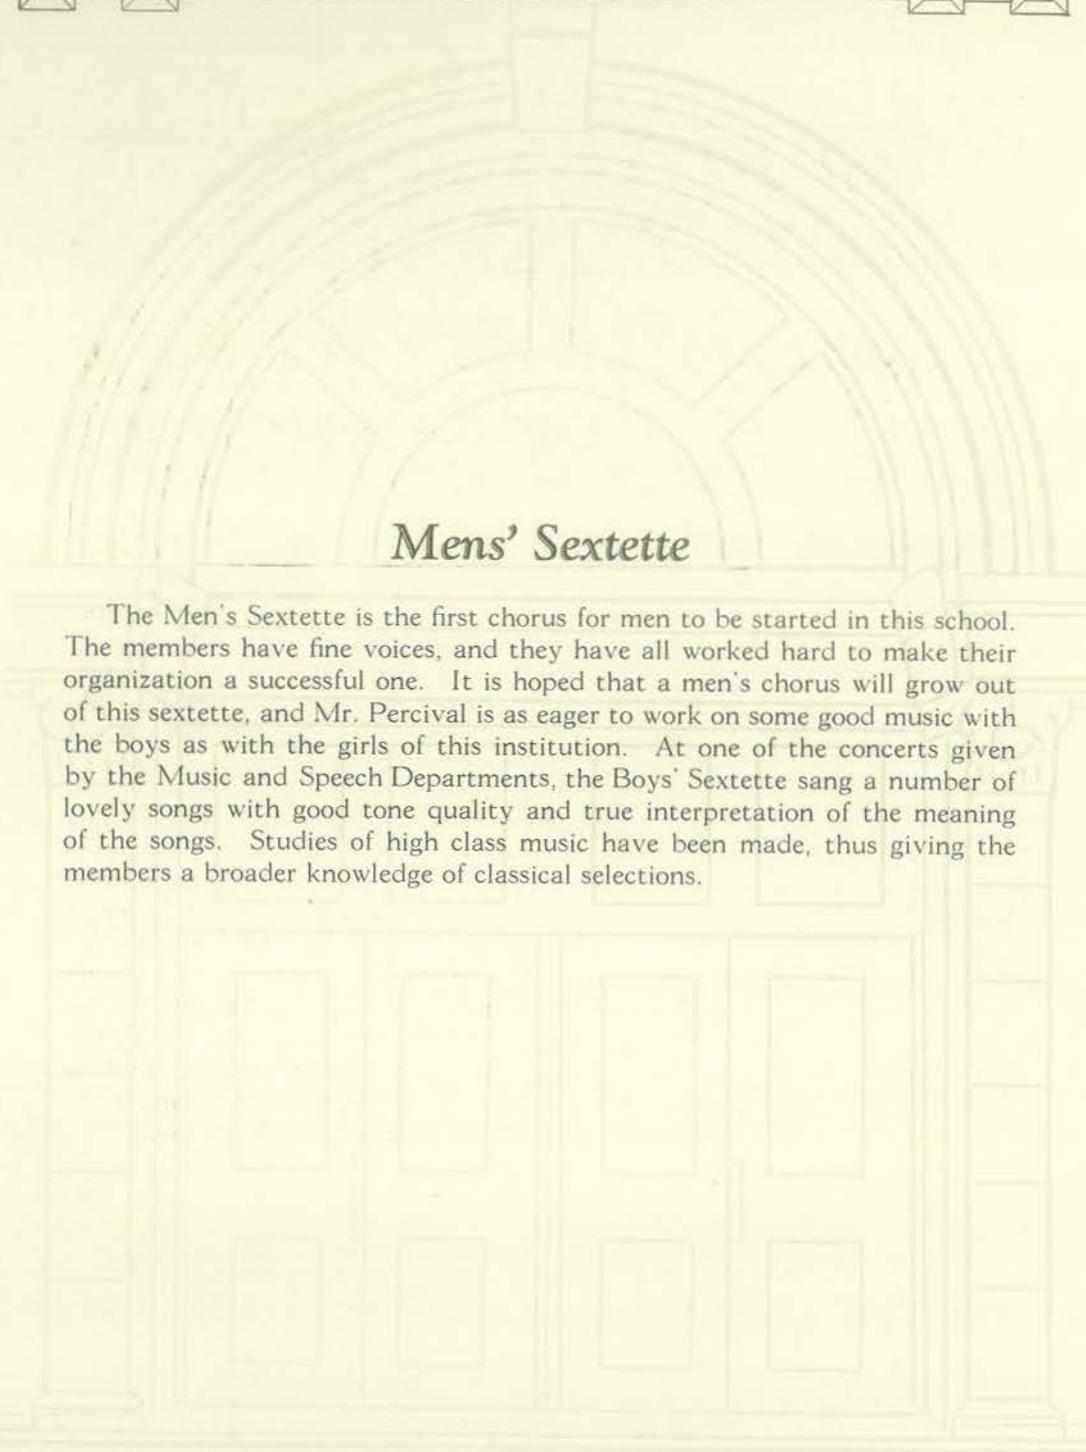

The Girls' Quartette is composed of four girls whose voices blend so well that they sing together with pleasing results. These four girls are, of course, members of the girls' glee club. They went to LaCrosse where they appeared in stunt work in the morning, quartette work in the afternoon, and solo work at night. The Girls' Quartette helped out in the concert work of the Music and Speech Departments. Mr. Percival is at the head of this group.

Orchestra

The orchestra of C. S. T. C. can surely be considered a credit to the college. Whenever music of high caliber is needed, the orchestra plays. The orchestra is an organization that meets weekly, and receives credit for the work of its members. It has always stood for the best in music. The members convene to study good music as well as to learn to play correctly. Besides the regular program of playing at class plays and other important events in school, the orchestra will add to the dignity of the commencement exercises as it has done in the preceding years. Under the able guidance of Mr. Percival the orchestra has come to be one of the most important organizations in the school.

Mens' Sextette

The Men's Sextette is the first chorus for men to be started in this school. The members have fine voices, and they have all worked hard to make their organization a successful one. It is hoped that a men's chorus will grow out of this sextette, and Mr. Percival is as eager to work on some good music with the boys as with the girls of this institution. At one of the concerts given by the Music and Speech Departments, the Boys' Sextette sang a number of lovely songs with good tone quality and true interpretation of the meaning of the songs. Studies of high class music have been made, thus giving the members a broader knowledge of classical selections.

The Student Press Association

The Press Association had its beginning some years ago and has been continuously active. It consists of three or more students that are chosen by the faculty member at the head of the student publications.

The duties of the Press Association, though not numerous, are indeed important, important from the standpoint of those who make it possible for students to attend the Teachers College and also from the standpoint of Alma Mater herself.

If any student distinguishes himself in any line of activity, the Press Association notifies the student's home town paper of the fact and thus keeps the folks back home well posted on the school's activities. Incidentally, this accomplishes that other important aim of the Press Association, that is, of making C. S. T. C. better known for its high ideals and standards and thereby inducing more and more students to come to this school.

Commencement 1928

The thirty-fourth commencement of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College was celebrated on Wednesday morning, June 14, 1928, at ten o'clock. About a quarter before ten, the graduates, headed by the faculty and by the regent, marched, as usual, from the west doorway on Normal Avenue around the campus to the east entrance on Main Street; it was a procession imposing both in length and appearance. The faculty and degree graduates were dressed in caps and gowns; the faculty wore also the hoods that betokened their degrees. The majority of the long line was composed of the young women and young men who gave the impression of a group that were looking their best for a special occasion.

As the procession entered the auditorium the college orchestra played the "Aida March" by Verdi; the assembled friends of the graduates rose; and all remained standing during the invocation by the Reverend Mr. Carl Reetz.

Then the following program was rendered:

Duet: Who Is Sylvia	MISSSES JULIA VAN HECKE AND ARLENE CARLSTEN	Schubert
	MR. ALEX PETERSEN, Accompanist
Presentation of Awards		DR. BALDWIN
Solo: On Wings of Song	MISS JULIA VAN HECKE	Mendelssohn
Distribution of Diplomas
Toast: Hail, Stevens Point		AUDIENCE
Benediction		REVEREND CARL A. REETZ
March: Recessional	COLLEGE ORCHESTRA	Weber

Our president, Dr. Robert Dodge Baldwin, addressed the audience in his usual effective and pleasing manner.

The entire program was like the preceding functions of commencement—one long to be cherished with the choicest and happiest memories.

The other events of commencement were:

The President's Reception, Nelson Hall	June 6
Baccalaureate Sermon	June 10
Senior Class Play: "The Poor Nut"	June 12
Class Day Exercises	June 13
Alumni Banquet, Hotel Wiacing	June 13

The summer school commencement was as follows:

PROGRAM OF THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF THE CENTRAL STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE AT STEVENS POINT, WISCONSIN JULY 27, 1928

Mardi Gras

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1929

The biggest night of frivolity drawing to a close the most exciting week of the school year, is this Mardi Gras you hear so much about.

The classes selected two candidates to represent them as king and queen in the popularity contest which started one week before the big night and the winners were to be crowned king and queen at the Bal Masque.

The arrival of the Court Procession was announced by the trumpeter, Frances Bacon, after which entered the flower girls, Ellen Mills and Lucille Scott, King Ed Vetter and his Queen, Dorothy Oleson, followed by attendants.

Following the coronation, the Grand March was led by the King and Queen. Prizes for the best dressed persons were awarded to Lois Richards, a dashing bell hop and to Pirate Bob Neale. Hazel Schroeder and Bill Marsh won prizes for the most comical costumes. A special prize was awarded to two colonial girls, Lucille Krumm and Eunice Riley.

The Union Vodvil which preceded the Ball Masque consisted of the two acts: An Eskimo Tragedy and Sam and Al.

The Junior Prom

The Junior Prom at Central State Teachers College was held on the sixth of April in the college gymnasium. The affair was of a semi-formal nature and was open to all students and faculty members.

More than fifty couples were present and enjoyed dancing in the old-fashioned garden. A blue sky, studded with silver stars, was overhead; apple blossoms, and vari-colored lights decorated the side walls and the orchestra space was surrounded by a garden fence covered with hollyhocks. A lattice fence extended around the gym with hollyhocks and cherry blossoms apparently growing up beside it. Punch was served from a quaint old-fashioned well. Entrance into the garden was gained by rustic gates. Floor lamps, easy chairs and davenport placed at intervals about the walls offered inviting resting places.

Ray Jacobs' orchestra, and Rasmussen's orchestra from Wausau, furnished the music for the evening.

The Prom was a booster for C. S. T. C. because it acted as a promoter to bigger and better parties at Central College.

Homecoming

Homecoming of 1928 was a riot of fun. Festivities were opened by a Mass meeting on Friday evening. The students paraded en masse through the main thoroughfares of the city and gathered the required enthusiasm. Upon the return to the North campus the regulation bonfire was lighted and in the light of the flames many "old grads" renewed their friendships.

Early the next morning hammers clicked and crepe paper creations emerged from behind building shelters to dazzle all onlookers. No one was forgotten; all organizations were represented. In awarding the prizes the judges selected an elaborate purple and gold boat for first. Professor Evans, a rival of Julian Eltinge, and C. G. Theis received their quota of honors. With horns tooting the Annual Homecoming Parade wended its way slowly about town, to end at last again at the Main campus.

At noon the Pep Club members entertained alumni. There was a constant influx of alumni and visitors. At 2:30 everyone was at the field prepared to lose their voices cheering for Central. With the arrival of the teams the crowd quieted, only to rise simultaneously at the kick-off. Platteville and Central battled on to a 38-0 finish in Central's favor.

In the evening the battle was fought again at the Football Banquet given at the Hotel Whiting in honor of the conquerors.

Last but not least was the Homecoming Dance at the Moose Temple. Gala decorations, laughing crowds and excellent music completed the very successful week-end.

Nelson Hall

1928-1929

As Nelson Hall's motto is always "Better Than Ever" we have to say that Nelson Hall for 1928-1929 is the best yet. "It can't be beat!"

We, the family of 1928-1929, have had the best head waitress, Evelyn Elliot; the best office girls, Winona Roohr, Helen Tisserand, and Ruby Libakken; and the best proctors: Ethel St. Clair, Mildred Disrud, Eunice Riley, Louise Meinke, Alice Hougen, Dorothy Cawley, Anne Jeselun, Agnes Henriksen, Ethel Maes, Estella Bock, Mildred Steinke, Lucille Hyland, and Lois Gherke.

This year the family is sponsoring the raising of money to pay for a player piano for the "Rec. Room." The old girls of the Hall have been asked to contribute three to five feet of pennies (plus); thus the piano will be made a memorial and a birthday gift to Nelson Hall for its twelfth birthday anniversary.

Nearly every week there is a pie a la mode sale; a dance, with doughnuts and coffee for refreshments; or an entertainment. Corridor ten staged a beautiful wedding most effectively. It must have had some influence because two of our girls left us to marry: Miss Pauline Du Dahn at Christmas time to marry Mr. Jouillerat, a manual training teacher in Columbia University; and Miss Jeanette Rice on February 9, 1929, to wed Mr. Leslie Bennett, an engineer of the State Highway Commission. Miss Rice was the bride in the mock wedding. Will mock weddings be popular hereafter?

Best yet, we are to have a Nelson Hall reunion and celebration at commencement time of all the girls who have lived in the Hall. What Nelson Hall family can beat that of 1928-1929?

The New Training School

The new Training School, excavation for which was begun November 2, 1928, occupies a position on the north campus facing Reserve Street. It is to be a three story building 205 feet in length. It is of a rectangular shape with a wing at either end, and a 63 foot by 74 foot gymnasium at the rear. The building has a concrete foundation, walls and footings, reinforced concrete floors of metal pan and concrete joist construction supported by exterior walls and interior reinforced concrete columns and girders. The exterior walls are load bearing clay tile, faced with variegated cream-colored mottled face brick, and trimmed with Bedford cut stone. The interior woodwork finish is to be mahogany stain. The walls will be finished in suitable blending colors.

The first floor will include practice rooms for the first six grades, the gymnasium and the auditorium.

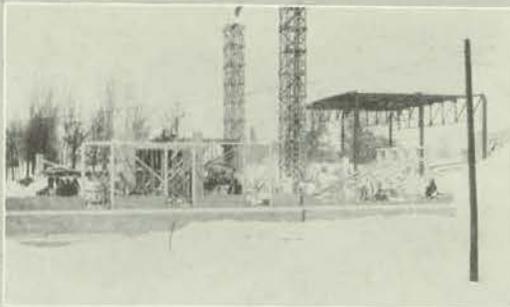

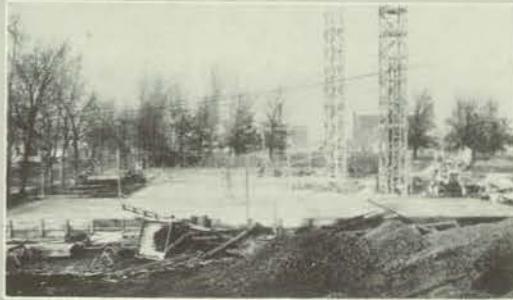

The second floor will be given over to the Junior and Senior High School practice rooms, science laboratories and a library.

The entire Training School is to be housed in the new building and it is expected that it will be completed, equipped and ready for occupancy when the 1929 fall term of school opens.

Can't Float Upstream

What is will power? Well, it is persistency of effort to surrender—dogged determine to carry on. These things decide human destiny.

It is always easy to follow the lines of least resistance. But one can't very well float UP STREAM. It takes effort. Many who have achieved greatness in life, financially and otherwise, developed WILL POWER early in life. You can do what you want to if you really WANT to.

The Best Paper is Made from Rags

If you want your letter to look its best, to withstand handling and the attacks of time, write it on a Rag Content Bond Paper.

The more rags, and the better rags, there are in a sheet of paper, the better the paper.

If you are interested to know why rags make better papers, we will be glad to mail a booklet explaining in more detail.

Prophecy of the Class of '29

Not long ago I sat thinking, thinking—wondering what would become of my future classmates. Thoughts raced wildly through my mind—fear, hope, wonder. What will their fate be? What will happen to them? I could stand it no longer so I ran out and up the street until I came to the plain but impressive sign of Madam Seeitals. I knocked, ran in, and stood still—awed.

Heavy purple velvet drapings parted slowly. A tall bronzed lady tiptoed toward me and whispered "Madam, what do you wish?"

I wrung my hands despairingly and asked, "Please, kind lady, tell me my classmates' fate. Oh, tell me is it good, what will happen to my friends?"

"Step in here, my friend," she spoke calmly, and walked slowly, slowly—I wanted to run, scream, hurry. Instead I followed slowly, slowly. More drapes parted, we entered a small room with nothing in it but a huge sparkling crystal ball and a deep terrifying silence. There was a deeper, ever deeper silence—then she smiled:

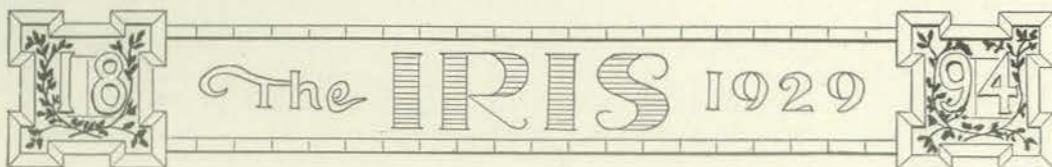

"I see"—a deep, throaty voice "I see, people, many people, laughing, laughing—my, how they enjoy life. It is in a theatre—they are laughing at—why the comedian of course. He is talking—wise-cracking—"

I could stand still no longer. I moved toward her and saw—why it was Allen McVey! I stepped back, and she finished her description.

Again all was silent. This time the mystic's brow appeared smooth and peaceful and—"Ah, we have a—preacher walking down the avenue. A second John Eliot handing cookies to the many children flocking about him. He turns into a walk." Silence—"Oh, he is consoling a poor widow. You may look now and see who your friend is." Again I looked and saw—why Bill Marsh, of course.

I stepped back and she continued talking—"The scene is now at Stevens Point and I see a girl with a white apron and head bandeau." I knew at once that it must be one of my Home Ec friends. "She is in a great hurry, running this way and that 'mid many people. The picture clears, you see." Yes, I saw—Eleanor Baker as head waitress of Mean's Cafeteria.

"Oh!" a hushed throaty "oh". Her brow wrinkled and her head bowed. She took a long breath and again sighed—"oh"—I looked over her shoulder, she did not see me, so intent was she in the picture portrayed. I saw Homer Morrissey in prison. Guards were marching back and forth, back and forth on the thick grey walls. But—Homer was not dressed like the rest, why? Why he had a long black robe on, a Bible in his hand, and as he passed the inmates he patted them on the head and spoke kindly to them. A great light illumined their eyes with hope—hope that his kind words had inspired. The mystic smiled at me—"You did see all?" she asked, "Yes," I whispered, "All."

"Wait a moment and you shall see more, now look and think about one friend only." I did this and immediately a tennis court appeared. People were crowding around and at last Alice Hougen stepped forth, shook hands with her opponent and started playing so speedily that I turned away in dismay, knowing only that she was upholding the United States title for world championship.

I looked again to see Margaret Sawyer traveling through the great shopping centers of the United States as a buyer for Elizabeth Collins' style shop. I saw the lights dim and a solo dancer appeared as a moth hovering near the flame. Who could it be taking the party so by storm? I watched the gay dancer and scarcely checked an impulse to clap when I remembered I was still in the mystic's tent and her eyes were upon me. The dancer turned and to my enjoyment I saw Loretta Wickser. No more Home Ec. aprons for you, Loretta, not with that talent.

The scenes were shifting rapidly while I watched; the only pauses were a clouding of the crystal and new pictures appearing. How "comfy" the next picture appeared. Bright eyed, rosy cheeked, gay little children who laughed and ran into a little grocery store. Oh-h-h it was Mr. Porter's grocery store, and where was Mildred? I saw her there talking to Mrs. Lintner; you know Betty. Betty was much enthused about her husband's latest triumph as cartoonist for the Stevens Point Journal.

More clouding and a different scene appeared. I saw Mr. and Mrs. William Albrecht as host and hostess of a large bridge party. Lucille conversed brilliantly to her guests and Bill stood rather ill at ease in the background. Some of the guests that arrived were Mr. and Mrs. Vic. Vroble; Lora and Lucille smiled happily at each other; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rosengren, Catherine sat near Lora; Mr. and Mrs. David Childs, Lorraine also appeared content with the lots cast; Pauline Buhlman appeared and the crowd all watched her grand entree, for this honor had been unexpected for she was an authoress of great renown; Dorothy Bentz and Grace Lapenske came but I did not know their suitors, either soldiers or band players for they wore distinguished looking uniforms.

It was getting dark and the mystic whispered—"But one more picture"—this appeared dim at first and then brighter, much brighter until I saw a broadcasting station and Frank Lasecke the announcer. The program followed: Lawrence Beaudin read his poems, very sentimentally; Jack Rezzatto sang, oh so emotionally; Mildred Foss gave a reading, ever so dramatically; Evelyn Eliot talked on the care of children touchingly; Lora Dick sang, very sweetly; Dorothy Cawley sang also very operatically; and Ben Weronke gave a talk on the technique of playing football, forcibly. The picture faded, the mystic bowed; I left—glad—glad that I had seen only happiness and ambitions realized—no sadness—God bless them.

In case of an auto accident should the man precede the woman thru the windshield?

It looks like rain.
What looks like rain?
Water.

Mr. Steiner: "What's the most important date in history?"
Bud Laabs: "1906."
Mr. Steiner: "Why?"
Bud Laabs: "I was born then."

The tightest man in the world must be the Scotchman who fell in front of the steam roller and turned sideways so it wouldn't take the crease out of his trousers.

One of the embarrassing moments: After having told the girl it's your own car, not knowing how to make the windshield wiper work.

Jack Rezatto: "Well, I finally got into the opera."
Margaret Richards: "You really did! And how?"
Jack: "Oh, I paid the usual two dollars."

Marion: "Where are you and Vic going tonight?"
Lora: "I guess we're going to the show, I heard him tell Ben that he had two tickets to the 'Pawn Shop.'

HEARD AT THE PIE SHOP

Albrecht: "Waiter, my bill should be thirteen dollars instead of fourteen!"
Sweet Young Thing: "Oh, Sir! Aren't you superstitious?"

DO YOU KNOW THIS 'UN?

About the Scotchman who died and left a million dollars to the mother of an unknown soldier.

Teacher: "Tommy, is trousers singular or plural?"
Tommy (after much thought): "Singular at the top and plural at the bottom."

HOW ABOUT IT, HOME ECS?
Methuselah ate what he found on his plate,
And never, as people do now,
Did he the amount of calories count,
He ate it because it was chow.
He wasn't disturbed, as at dinner he sat,
Destroying a roast or a pie,
To think it was lacking in granular fat
Or a couple of vitamins shy.
He cheerfully chewed every species of food,
Untroubled by worries or fears,
Lest his health might be hurt by some fancy dessert,
And he lived over nine hundred years.

Mildred Steinke: "My brother graduated with a hundred and three degrees."

Janet Urquhart: "Impossible."

Mildred: "Not at all. He worked himself up into a fever on commencement day."

Father: "When George Washington was your age he was a surveyor."

John Pragulski: "When he was your age he was president of the United States."

He: "You know there is something dovelike about you."

She: "No, really?"

He: "Yes, you're pigeon-toed."

Bert La Brot: "What is your name, little girl?"

Girl: "Annie."

Bert: "Annie what?"

Girl: "Anything."

To Thee, O Central

Dedicated to Gregory Charlesworth

Glad am I, I came to Central,
Bountiful in work and fun;
Where the glory of the morning
Lingers till the setting sun.

Wondrous school of teachers-knowledge,
Playground for the learning mind;
Here in peace and quiet, plenty
Solace for the soul, I find.

Rising suns enhance thy splendor,
As with lifted face you stand
Holding forth to those who thirst it,—
Knowledge from thy blessed hand.

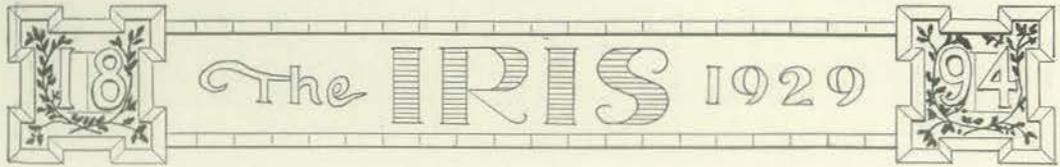

Setting suns are prone to leave thee,
Peace and joy are in the air.
I am overjoyed to know thee,
Maiden,—beautiful and fair.

O that I might speak the treasured
Thoughts that in my bosom rise,
As I linger here beside thee
In the dusk, 'neath twilight skies.

O that I might pay a tribute,—
Lasting—deep—profound—sincere—
Unto those with whom I studied,
Unto those who brought me cheer.

May the eye be bright, yet moistened
With the love that's in the heart;
May the mem'ries of Old Central
Linger there, and ne'er depart.

Aurora and Apollo

Dedicated to Miss May Roach

Have you ever seen Aurora
As she mounts the eastern skies?
Have you ever in your lifetime
Seen an early Spring sunrise?
If you have not, artless creature,
You have missed one joy of earth;
For it's that, O pilgrim stranger,
That can fill the heart with mirth.
Marvelous of wondrous marvels
Is the sight that one can see,
As the sunbeams play and frolic
When she mounts up from the sea.

First the east begins to whiten,
Then takes on a brighter hue
As the heralds of the morning
Dance and romp as fairies do;
All the maidens of Aurora
Scatter blossoms in her way,
Making thus the gorgeous beauties
That announce the birth of day.
Then the great Sun God, Apollo,
Stirred by beauty and by love,
Mounts the eastern step of heaven
To his golden throne above;
Flaming red at first his chariot,
As it rides so far away;—
Soon becoming golden yellow
As the morning fades to day.

My Dreams

Wonderful voyages wait, it seems,
For me in the picturesque Land of Dreams.

Dreaming:—I'm only a vagabond,
I'm wandering far o'er sea and land;
Wandering whither my fancy calls,
What though by the seashore or waterfalls.

Sometimes I visit the ffric isles,
Where the elephant tusks are amassed in piles,
Waiting for ships from another bay
To shoulder their cargo and slip away.

Sometimes I linger in sunny Spain
To help through the harvest of golden grain;—
Loving the hues of the Spanish skies
That I know are reflected in laughing eyes.

Often I tarry in friendly France,
Where wine and sweet maidens make song and dance;
Surely, I have me a sweetheart there:
A beautiful maiden,—yet debonair.

Sometimes I linger with strumming lute
At Venice, and cities around "The Boot"
Drifting along through the still lagoons,
Enhanced by the spell of Venetian moons.

Yearly I anchor at Liverpool
In stately old England, so damp and cool,
Eager to pack and be borne away
To wee, bonny Scotland and furzy brae.

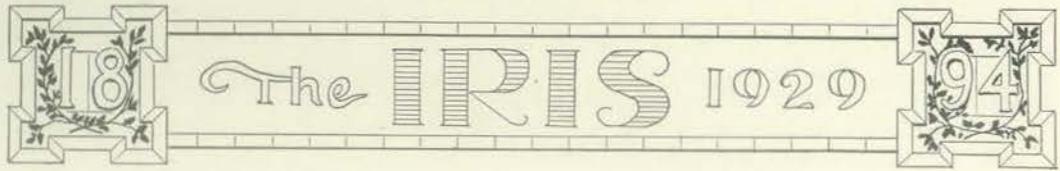

Watching my chance to be off—away—
I slip to dear Erin across the bay,
Hoping I'll find that my Irish Rose
Is waiting for me where the Blue Shannon flows.

Sometimes I land in the Eastern ports
To visit their shrines and enjoy their sports;
And always I plan to peruse the East
At seasons of plenty and Buddha feasts.

Gay are the harbors and streets I see
In Indialand and the Land of Chinee.
Wonderful beauties are thine, Japan,—
The orchards, the craters, the dainty fan.

Wandering far o'er the sea and land,
But always, 'tis true, I'm a vagabond.

The Emblem of Central

I am the culmination of desire
To catch a vision of supreme delight,
And from the treasured recess of the mind
Pattern the gorgeous beauty in its flight.

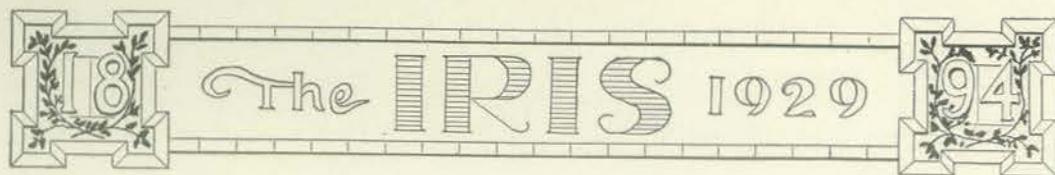

I am the moulded likeness of a dream,
Visioned when all the world slumbered in beauty.
All the sweet grace of the nymphs,
Clad in their shimmering gauzes,
Dancing by woodland pools bathed in the moonlight,—
All the soft tintings suffused
Over the heavens' pale azure,
Announcing the beautiful dawn,—
All the rich, lingering hues
Stroked on the heavens at dusk,
Painting a sunset unrivalled,—
These are the splendors, which, blended,
Speak of the beauty that dwells in men's souls.

Up from the throbbings of the heart,—
Down from the thinkings of the mind,—
Out of the longings of the soul,—
Burst the rich patterns of a year,
Gathered and bound in the pages I embrace.

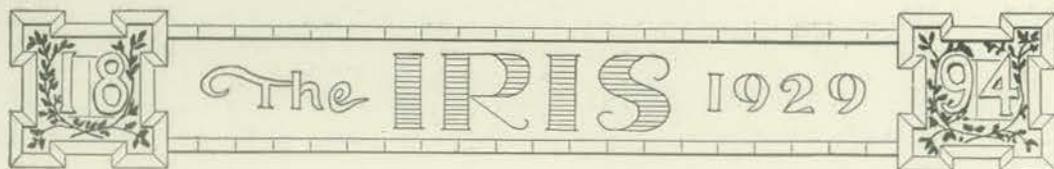

I am a work of art. Humor and wit abound.
Adding a spice to the treasures.
Grace, and proportioned lines,
Care in the written selections,
Choice of effect and design,
Characteristics of worthy ideals:—
These important factors presage
The annual symbol of Central.

I am the token of a year well spent.
My honored duty is this mighty task:
To keep the living of that year alive,—
A year of friendships, sacrifice, and toil;
A year to be remembered when the span
Of life is nearing to its close.

Ponder, my friends, upon this meditation.
Do days and weeks of toil, blended in every page,
Prove the great sacrifice that some have made,
That I, the token of one class,—one year,
Might live with you throughout the years to come?
