THE CLASS OF 1933

A Revue of the Year

CENTRAL STATE
TEACHERS COLLEGE
STEVEN'S POINT
t other class of Central State Teachers College has completed its major production and is ready to step out into the world to assume roles in the drama of life. We trust that the training received here will enable them to act creditably upon a larger stage and among a greater number of players.

To enable the graduates to retrace the scenes of their college life at Central State and to assist the people still in school to recall the events of the year, the Iris Staff of 1933 presents this revue of the year.
DEDICATION

To establish a closer relationship between our parents and the students of this institution is the wish of all Central State Teachers College graduates.

Therefore, we, the graduating students of this college gratefully dedicate this book, the Iris of 1933, to Our Parents. May it serve as an expression of appreciation for the many sacrifices which they have made in order that we might attend this school, and for the much-needed encouragement that they have so generously bestowed upon us.
Old Central Tower
"Shrine of Alma Mater"
I wish to take this opportunity to extend my appreciation to you, the students of the Central State Teachers College, for the spirit of co-operation you have manifested, and the excellent work you have performed during the last year. I know of no school where there is a better feeling between the faculty and the students and no school where the accomplishments, as a whole, have equaled those made by you during the past year. No success is possible for any institution except through the personnel of its members. You, the students of this college, hold the destiny of the school in your hands; through your actions and activities you will grow and increase in number and accomplishments, or fail to attain the desired end.

Later, in the practice of your chosen profession, you face a serious responsibility and a wonderful opportunity. There is nothing of greater value than the youth of America. You, as teachers, have the opportunity to build and mold the character of the coming generation. I know of no more important task; I wish you every possible success in this undertaking.
President

The school year represented by this Iris will long be remembered for the great financial debacle which it has witnessed. Four years ago when the seniors of this year were freshmen, the ominous clouds of depression were making their appearance over the commercial horizon. During these four years, these students have seen the great industrial America, stricken from its lofty pedestal, come down in social chaos. As these lines are being written, all of the banks of the nation are closed by order of the new President of the United States, and millions of our citizens are walking the streets in search of work. There are bread lines in every city, and men, women, and children are starving in a land abounding in plenty. The people are stunned. For the moment, the way looks dark and discouragement threatens us. But we are Americans, we know no defeat. We know that the storm will break, that the skies will clear, and that we shall go on to greater things, profiting by the lessons that we have learned in the great school of experience.

To the millions of youth now in school and college will come the duty and task of building a better and a greater America. The future of America lies in the hope that their education and their training have developed ideals and the power to enable them to build a new nation greater, in justice, in peace, in Godliness, and in righteousness, dedicated to the principle that all men shall have an equal right to share in the results of their labor and that the weak shall not suffer because of the greed of the strong.
Dean of Women

Since "all the world's a stage" and since we are preparing here in college to be better "actors," may we with high purpose and earnest endeavor prepare for our life-performance.

In no other kind of an institution—as in a teachers college—does the work of the alumni, as actors on the world stage, so "carry on." May we, therefore, prepare a noble, constructive, Christian act as our part in "Life's Drama."

Bertha Hussey
Dean of Men

The world is delegating its duties more and more to you young people in whose character and intellectual ability it has confidence. The amount of confidence reposed in you is never accidental. It is based upon what you have been and what you are. Your attitudes, your habits, and your conduct build this reliance which others have in you. May you build consciously and well.

ACT 2
Our college days are over. The four years of college life, to which we so eagerly looked forward, have passed all too rapidly. It is with mingled feelings of satisfaction and regret that we look back upon our associations at Central State Teachers College. Our achievements, as well as our failures, cannot be enumerated, but by means of them we have grown to be finer students, finer citizens.

Included in the sixty recipients of degrees of the Class of 1933 are men and women who have been exceptionally active in all phases of our school life. Debate, oratory, dramatics, school organizations, the Pointer, the Iris, our own special project—all give evidence of the endeavor of those enrolled in the Class of ’33. Central State has helped each of us immeasurably. We hope that we, too, have proved an essential part of the whole.

It is now that our book closes, and we must know our Alma Mater only by recall or by occasional visits. The contemplation of college days no longer gives opportunity for an elaborate play of the imagination, nor do those days stimulate the reactions of reality not far past. Each student goes his way, possibly diverging far from the paths of others, but trying to live his best. Our world in the present crisis needs true leaders. May such leaders develop from the co-workers of the Class of 1933!

The Class of 1934

President . . . . . Celestine Nuesse
Vice-President . . . . . Alice Sorenson
Secretary . . . . . Elmer Larson
Treasurer . . . . . Katherine Wiggins

The Class of 1934 with three-fourths of its college days behind it enters upon its last year at Central State Teachers College realizing to the fullest extent the value of days well spent. Members of our class have been particularly active in all forms of extra-curricular activities. This fact is evident not only from the great number of us on the rolls of the organizations, but also by the success of the 1933 Junior Prom.

The class members with their widely diversified personalities and interests have contributed whole-heartedly to the advancement of ideas. Their loyal co-operation and united efforts have been rewarded by the achievement of success in the numerous activities they have undertaken.

Two of the representatives of this group will, with the other members of the class, endeavor to hold up the standards of the Iris in 1934. We feel that these individuals have been selected with great care and that they will produce results comparable to those of past years.

Our career as juniors has been completed. To the coming juniors we extend our heartiest hopes for a successful year in uplifting the ideals of Alma Mater. We have confidence in their abilities and present them with the standards of the junior class.

Class of 1934
Class of 1935

We, the class of 1935, have dutifully tried to play our part in making our college everything that a good school ought to be. We are the natural surveyors of good-will, being active in all school events from the first day of school until its close.

The sophomores can rightfully boast of unparalleled participation in athletics—an even dozen football warriors, nearly half the basketball men, the outstanding boxers of the school, the prominent track men, and numerous hockey and tennis stars were members of the class of '35. The girls too, can point to an enviable record in athletics. In 1933 they won the Girls' Basketball Crown.

The class has been prominent in the social affairs of the school, with members assisting in each function of the year. We feel that we have set a goal for future classes to aim at and attempt to surpass. We are proud of our achievements and hope that we can continue on the high level upon which we have met all activities this year.

We are grateful to our class advisors, Mr. Schmeckle and Miss Carlsten, for their efforts in helping us to make the past school year successful.

Class of 1935

"We are to prove in life's examination our earnestness of purpose, loftiness of ideals, and our thoroughness of preparation." —EMERSON.
The class of 1936 entered Central State Teachers College over three hundred and fifty strong, the largest freshman class in the history of the school. The class was also versatile in activities and interests as well as excelling in scholarship and athletic ability.

In scholarship the freshman class has maintained a splendid record. In athletics the class ability was especially evident in basketball and football. Participation has extended in all the other fields of extra-curricular activities, such as forensics, dramatics, journalism, and music. One of our members represented our school at the state oratorical contest.

We hope in the three years ahead of us to even more nobly uphold the fine traditions of Central State Teachers College. Mr. Giovannini and Mr. Mott have done much to help us through our first successful year.

The Home Economics Club includes in its membership all students enrolled in the Home Economics course. Miss Bessie May Allen, Director of the Department, is deeply interested in the progress of her students and she guides the work of her group so as to develop them both professionally and socially.

The Home Economics Club carries on many interesting and worthwhile projects during the school year.

The club meetings are held twice each month, one a business meeting and the other a social meeting held in the evening.
The Forum is the departmental organization for all students enrolled in the course for training teachers for secondary schools. The members are all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Education.

The meetings of this organization are purely professional, providing personal direction for its members and advanced scholarship. The splendid spirit of cooperation, good fellowship, and enthusiasm is due to the leadership of Mr. E. T. Smith and his assistants, Miss Jones and Mr. Rightsell.
The Round Table includes in its membership all students who are enrolled in two, three, and four year courses in the Intermediate and Upper Grade Departments, and the four year course in the Junior High School Department. Degrees are granted to those completing the four year courses. Mr. Charles F. Watson, director of this department, is very helpful in encouraging the students under his leadership to develop along professional and social lines and through his efforts the club has assumed new proportions this year.

Students of the Round Table are leaders in many extra-curricular activities. Meetings of the Round Table are held during the regular ten o'clock period on the second Thursday of each month. Interesting programs are presented by the members; lectures of especial value are heard; and the business interests are taken care of.
Grammar Round Table

Several evening meetings are held during the year for social enjoyment. The all-school party given by the Grammar Department was one of the outstanding events of the school year. It was an all-college affair with a fine crowd of college students and faculty in attendance. An assessment of twenty-five cents per person was levied this year to pay for the homecoming float, social functions, Iris pictures, and spring picnic.

The members are congenial although varied in interests. Through their acquaintance and exchange of ideas, they have come to a greater realization of the worth of true individuality and personality. The officers this year deserve credit for their untiring efforts in making the Grammar Round Table a successful organization.
The Rural Life Club was started in 1915 and has been one of the active organizations of C. S. T. C. since that time. Its membership consists of students enrolled in all rural courses, including the four year course leading to a degree of Bachelor of Education. This year the total membership is one hundred seventy-seven, the largest in the history of the organization.

Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month. This year the different classes have been responsible for special programs. This friendly rivalry has produced some very interesting and entertaining programs. There have also been several programs of a more instructive type. A special feature of each meeting is community singing.

Hallowe'en presents an opportunity for the annual mixer, while St. Patrick’s Day always finds the club in the role of host to the student body at a dancing party.
Rural Life

The Rural Life Club presents a three-act drama each spring. The members of the cast are chosen from the Rural Department; the production is directed by Miss Hanna, who is most skillful. "Wind in the South," by Edward Staedt, former director of dramatics at the University of Minnesota, was presented this year.
Mr. O. W. Neale, director of the department, and his assistants, Miss Roach, Miss Hanna, and Miss La Vigne, are in a large measure responsible for the accomplishments of the department. Their kindly interest and helpful attitudes have done much to win the cooperation of all members of the club.
Primary Council

President . . . . . . . Norma Steinmetz
Vice-President . . . . . . Roberta Lindow
Secretary . . . . . . . Maybelle Peterson
Treasurer . . . . . . . Ruth Stange

The Primary Department offers both a two year, and a four year curriculum for students who are interested in children, and wish to become efficient Primary teachers. Miss Susan E. Colman is Director of the Department.

The Primary Council is the student organization of the department. Every girl enrolled in the Primary Department is automatically a member of the council, which meets the first Monday of each month. These meetings which are of educational, business and social nature are enjoyed by all the girls.

On October 14, 1932, the Department sponsored its first Annual Parents Day. This was the first Parents Day that was ever observed in C. S. T. C.
In 1929 the Zeta chapter of Sigma Zeta, a national honorary society, was organized at Central State Teachers College.

The purpose of this society is to encourage scientific work, and to develop an appreciation of scientific knowledge. Those students who have a major or a minor in science and who hold a high average in these studies are eligible for membership.

We believe that Sigma Zeta will be a great influence to students of Central State Teachers College interested in scientific work.
The Psi Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, National Honorary Fraternity for English students, was organized at Central State Teachers College on April 2, 1930. The purpose of the fraternity is to advance the study of outstanding literary masterpieces, to encourage worthwhile reading, to promote mastery of written expression, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among students specializing in English.

Twenty-five students and members of the faculty of our college were included on the Sigma Tau Delta roll during the past year. Monthly meetings, held at the homes of the faculty members, were characterized and unified by the study of modern literature. Drama, fiction, history, and poetry proved to be major interests. In addition to the study of accepted products from the pens of others, Psi Betans themselves presented evidences of outstanding literary achievement. Each meeting was an opportunity for "original" contributions.

Upon a criteria of scholastic excellence and literary merit, new members were elected to Psi Beta Chapter at the beginning of each semester. Appropriate informal and formal initiations were held in connection with banquets at the regular meetings in October and March. The annual joint banquet with the Margaret Ashmun Club, given in honor of the graduates, took place on May 31, 1933.
The Margaret Ashmun Club was organized in 1923 for the purpose of creating an interest in literature and speech among the students of Central State Teachers College. The club was named in honor of Miss Margaret Ashmun, a nationally known writer of novels, and an alumna of our school.

Each monthly meeting is of special interest to the members of the club. During the past year Mr. Knutzen was in charge of a program dealing with the subject of Modern Magazines. Miss Hanna presented an interesting view of Modern American Drama. Our annual Christmas meeting was in charge of, and directed by Miss Hussey. Mr. Burroughs, in his January program, supplied us with "A Reading Program for College Students." Miss Davis presented an interesting and varied program on Contemporary French Drama. Mr. Mott gave his "Psychology of Modern Day Literature." Miss Mason and her aides spoke to us of "Modern Essays." Our banquet was given on May 31.

The club, each year, sponsors a short story contest. Any student in college may enter by submitting a story of approximately two thousand words in length. The stories are judged by a committee of outstanding literary authorities. Three prizes are offered; the first is a donation from Miss Ashmun, the second and third outstanding literary productions. In addition, the winner automatically becomes a member of the Margaret Ashmun Club.
Harlequin Club

President  .  .  .  .  .  .  .  Celestine Nuesse
Vice-President  .  .  .  .  .  .  Robert Krembs
Secretary  .  .  .  .  .  .  .  Olga Wolfgram
Chairman Finance Committee  .  .  Carolyn Hanson
Head Coach  .  .  .  KAY POWELL VANBUSKIRK

The policy of this club is to provide extra-curricular dramatics for those who have shown ability in dramatics and public speaking classes. During the past year the Harlequin Club has proven its worth with the production "The Youngest," which was very ably coached by Kay Powell VanBuskirk.

Meetings are held the first and third Mondays of every month. Reviews of plays and programs are given when production of a three-act play is not underway. The club is made up of active, associate, and alumni members with Miss Davis, Mr. Burroughs, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Knutzen as advisors. It is the ambition of the club to some day become affiliated with a National Dramatic Fraternity.
Tau Gamma Beta

Faculty Advisor . . . . . MISS JESSIE JONES

Tau Gamma Beta sorority is now in its twenty-fourth year, perpetuating itself since 1909. It has grown in these many years to be a very active society.

Many social functions are sponsored during the year by the sorority. Each fall a tea is held for all the girls and faculty women of Central State Teachers College. There are several informal dancing parties given each year in addition to the Spring Formal.

The sorority was founded and has progressed upon the aim of sisterhood among its members, democracy upon the campus, and interest in scholarship and all school activities.

Mrs. Frank S. Hyer and Mrs. E. S. Kotal are the sorority patronesses while Miss Jessie Jones is faculty advisor.

The active members of Tau Gamma Beta are: Charalotte Atwell, Adeline Bellman, Jean Boyington, Alice Mae Dorsha, Ethel Florence, Viola Hotvedt, Barbara Joy, Catherine Krembs, Frances Korbol, Vera Kramar, Florence Knope, Olga Leonardson, Pearl Merrill, Elizabeth Neuberger, Bonita Newby, Maybelle Peterson, Ruth Reedal, Betty Rice, Lois Richards, Eunice Riley, Louella Sorenson, Gaywood Skinner, and Margaret Turrish.
One of the leading social organizations is Omega Mu Chi Sorority. Its aim is to promote a spirit of friendliness and cooperation among the girls.

The sorority year began with a tea given for all school girls and faculty women. Rushing began the first of the second semester and as a result eleven girls were initiated into the sorority.

Throughout the year the girls enjoyed various social functions including teas, dinners and dances, both formal and informal.

The members participate in all school activities and are well represented in all organizations.

Miss Eva See and Miss Florence Brown are the two faculty advisors and Mrs. Charles Cashin of Stevens Point is the sorority patroness. With their help and guidance the girls have enjoyed a very successful school year.

Kappa Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity was organized in 1931. Before that time the fraternity was under the name of Phi Lambda Phi. It has the distinction of being the only national social organization on the campus as well as being the older fraternity of the school.

Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity is represented in practically every extracurricular activity in the college, having men on the state championship team in basketball, the debate team, which also won the state title and other activities such as track, band and general forensic work.

Kappa Chapter received into its organization six pledges throughout the year of 1931 and 1933. They are: William Nason, Jr., Harvey Polzin, Neal Rothman, Arba Shorey, Morris Skinner, and Thomas Smith.

The active membership totals twenty-four. Coach Eddie Kotal and Fred J. Schmeckle are the advisers for the fraternity.

Second Semester

During the past three years Chi Delta Rho has been one of the outstanding social organizations of Central State Teachers College. Its aim is to acknowledge men students of promising ability and character who can cooperate and strive for the betterment of Central State Teachers College.

The fraternity takes great pride in the fact that its members have high scholastic averages and also are outstanding in football, band, hockey, boxing, tennis, and debate.

Members of the organization hold six class offices, two of which are presidencies; another was chosen as delegate to the national convention of Sigma Zeta, honorary science fraternity. The Hirzy Silver Trophy, presented at the end of each school year to the student prominent in athletics and scholastic work was won by one of our members in '32. Another honor was given the fraternity when it took first prize in the homecoming parade for the most original and attractive float.

Besides private and inter-fraternity and sorority dances the Chi Delta Rho Spring Formal held on April twenty-first at Whiting Hotel was one of the outstanding social functions of the school year.

Much credit for the success and development of this group of men is due to the advisors, Mr. Rightsell, Mr. Allez, and Mr. Knutzen.
Loyola

President . . . . . ROBERT KREMBS
Vice-President . . . . . CLETUS COLLINS
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . AGNES HAYES

The Loyola Club, with increased membership and renewed spiritual fervor, carried on its purposes for the welfare of Catholic students at Central State Teachers College, forming relationships that promoted loyalty and developed a more complete understanding of their faith.

Local and outside clergymen, laymen, and faculty members contributed to the programs which, primarily religious, were especially varied and interesting.

Social activities included a picnic at the close of the year.

Much credit for our successful year is due to the faculty advisors: Miss Roach, Miss Hanna, Miss LaVigne, and Mr. Giovannini.
Y. W. C. A.

President . . . . KATHERINE WIGGINS
Vice-President . . . . BLANCHE TYLER
Secretary . . . . JENNIE NEWSOME
Treasurer . . . . IDA LAHTI

The purpose of this organization is to unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

This year the members of the Y. W. C. A. were hostesses to representatives of this organization from sister colleges at a convention held May 5, 6, 7.

The members of the cabinet are: Inez Braun, Doris Erickson, Leona Hendricks, Florence Hubbard, Irene Miller, Margaret Mortenson, Alice Paulson, Vivian Enge, Alta Stauffer, Adeline Bellman, and Carol Keen.
Under the excellent leadership of Eva M. Seen, director of women's athletics, the school year of 1932 and 1933 gave to the women of C. S. T. C. an exceedingly wholesome and enjoyable program of sports and games, which by their opportunities for free development contributed to a larger and finer college life.
The "S" Club has been an outstanding organization of our school for the past two years. The purpose of this club is to further interest in athletics among the athletes themselves.

Coach Edward L. Kotal acts as the faculty advisor of this group. Only men who have earned at least one athletic "S" in major sports at Central State are eligible for membership. Others who have won a minor "S" such as managers and cheer leaders are recognized as associate members.

Thursday has been set aside as the official "S" day when all "S" Club members are to wear their honorary sweaters. We assure you old Central State witnesses a brilliant array of athletes in purple and gold. "S" Club initiations have proved to be fully as spectacular and exciting as any organization's in school. The following are the new members who have been initiated into the "S" Club this year: Donald Abel, Bruce Bender, LeRoy Bishop, Ralph Bader, Milton Anderson, Waldo Marsh, Leslie Omholt, Robert Tardiff, Ronald Murray, Myron Fritsch, Harold Reichert, and two managers, Ray Urbans and Albin Dumphy.
Bloc

This club, distinctive from any other group on the campus, was founded this year by nine men of the college. The organization is devoted to free study and discussion of current topics, government, ethics, and controversial problems of value and interest. The purpose of the organization is not to subdue differences of opinion, but rather to encourage and develop individual expression and thought on current questions. The "Bloc" is an activity entirely aside from the college and voluntary as far as the participants are concerned. Membership is maintained by the selection of students with records in forensics, scholastics, journalism or other activities that would indicate the type of individualism demanded by the organization. Such prominent Stevens Point business men as Carl Jacobs, James W. Dunegan, J. R. Pfiffner, and F. A. Hirzy have been guests of the club during the year. All of the bi-monthly meetings are held in private homes. The membership is limited to nine men.

The charter members of the organization are: Samuel Bluthe, Donald Crocker, Burton Hotvedt, John Wied, Prof. Norman E. Knutzen, Tom Smith, George Maurer, Celestine Nuesse, and Marlowe Boyle.

Iris

The combined efforts of the senior class, the Iris staff, and the faculty advisors are required to make the Iris a success.

The theme of the 1933 Iris, which is based on the quotation by Shakespeare, "All the world’s a stage and men and women merely players," is carried out with a dramatical setting. We have attempted to present a revue of the year which will bring memories of some of our happiest days.

Among the many individuals who helped in the construction of the Iris, Mr. Davidson is to be especially commended. All the pictures were taken by him in our Iris studio on third floor. The Iris staff is especially proud of the studio part of its equipment, since we are now able to take all our pictures through Mr. Davidson’s talent.

The faculty advisors, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Evans, have given us valuable suggestions and advice. The Pointer staff contributed much to the success of the Iris through publicity.

The Mardi Gras was both a financial and a social success. The Iris staff wishes to express its appreciations and thanks to all who took part and "put it across."

The 1934 Iris will be in charge of our 1933 associate editor and business manager, Celestine Nuesse and Edward Leuthold. We wish them the greatest success.

The editor and business manager express their appreciation to all who have given time and consideration to all matters concerning the 1933 Iris.

Pointer

No other organization in college has a greater responsibility than the Pointer staff. The Pointer is the official newspaper of C. S. T. C. and is distributed each Thursday morning.

Members of this group must be active throughout the entire school year. Week in and week out the college news must be scooped up. Few students realize the amount of work involved in publishing a single edition. The faculty advisor selects the editor; the editor picks his own staff.

Although the "midnight oil" was burned long after midnight many a Monday night as the staff assembled the news, the good old Pointer "hideout" on the third floor of the college building is a truly popular place. Practically every college in the state exchanges its issues with the local publication. Every day students drop into the staff office to chat with the gang or to look over other collegiate editions.

The Pointer is one of the few teachers' colleges papers in the state that devotes an entire page to sports each week. It maintained a society column throughout the year. It originated an Inquiring Reporter column this year along with several other new features. It has a uniform make-up. Efficiency in the circulation department was increased by distributing the copies before the 8 o'clock class each Thursday instead of after the morning assembly as in past years.

Edgar D. Doudna, secretary to the board of normal school regents, complimented the Pointer for confining its articles to collegiate news. Doudna said, "Too many school papers tackle state and national matters and as a result neglect student news."

During the past year the Pointer circulation jumped to 1100 copies. In spite of the present hard times, advertising this year hit a high peak. These statistics prove that Stevens Point merchants have confidence in the college paper.
Oratory

Jack Burroughs, of Stevens Point, was chosen to represent Central State Teachers College in oratory this year by winning the local contest in which eight students presented their orations. The contest was judged by Dr. Weaver, head of the speech department at the University of Wisconsin.

His oration was named the "Spirit of Youth." He won third place at the State Teachers College contest held this year at Whitewater.

Celestine Nuesse represented Central State Teachers College in extemporaneous speaking. He was given the topic of "The Banking Situation," at Whitewater, and was awarded second place on the merits of his speech.

Debate

The question, "Resolved, that the United States should agree to the cancellation of the inter-allied war debts" became the rallying cry for the Central State debators, which led them to the state championship this year. Twenty students joined the squad at the beginning of the season, which number was soon cut to six. Due to the new system being tried this year, each team was made up of two members prepared to debate both sides of the question. After a non-decision series with Eau Claire, Mr. Burroughs and two teams set out for Madison to engage in a practice tourney with several other colleges. Donald Mills and Celestine Nuesse made up one team, while Burton Hotvedt and Tom Smith compromised the other, with Clarence Styza as alternate.

Several other practice debates before high schools and service clubs in this vicinity served to put the men on their mettle for the final test before the state tournament. At the St. Thomas contest held at St. Paul representatives from the mid-west were competing. Messers. Mills and Nuesse are to be congratulated upon staying in the tournament until the quarter-finals.

Upon their return from St. Paul, preparations were immediately made for the state debate tournament which was held here this year. The contest, a "Round Robin" affair, is a new feature in State Teachers' College debating which, because of this year's success has been made a regular means of conducting the contest. Each of seven State Teachers' Colleges entered two teams. All teams debated five times before any were eliminated. At the end of each succeeding round after the eliminations, the teams that lost were dropped from further competition.

The team composed of Donald Mills and Celestine Nuesse went through the contest suffering but one defeat, beating a powerful LaCrosse team, and scoring a win over Platteville for the state championship.

Tom Smith and Burton Hotvedt shared somewhat in the glory, winning three and losing three debates, being eliminated by River Falls in the quarter finals. Considering both teams, Stevens Point's record was best, winning nine and losing four debates in the course of the contest.

Next year's prospects are indeed bright, for again the combination of Mills and Nuesse will represent Stevens Point. However, Tom Smith, Burton Hotvedt, and Clarence Styza have spoken their last for Central State.

Music

A great deal of credit is due Mr. P. J. Michelsen for the splendid record the musical organizations of Central State Teachers College have made this year. It was through his persistent effort that the fine concerts given by the band, orchestra, and Mixed Chorus were made possible. The blending of his pleasing and winning personality, plus leadership, has done much toward gaining him many friends in musical organizations, the student body, and amongst the townspeople, since his appearance in Central State Teachers College two years ago.

As a result of his splendid record in musical achievements Mr. Michelsen was asked to join the American National Bandmaster’s Association in 1932, a national honorary musical organization. Only outstanding symphonic orchestra and band directors in the United States are members of this group. The honor which he has brought to the college for his honorary membership in this organization has made him a subject of great admiration. Mr. Michelsen is also a member of the National Music Supervisors Association and the Wisconsin State Band and Orchestra Association. Winning the State Band Tournament has given him many opportunities to judge the Illinois State Band and Orchestra Tournaments. His criticisms in music supervision are always constructively given and worthy of consideration. His ability to organize and judge bands and orchestras has resulted from many years of extensive study in Norway and other European countries.

An excellent example of his ability as a composer is exemplified in the fine march entitled “College Spirit” which he has written. He has also composed numerous chorus numbers to facilitate orchestra accompaniment.

Those who have watched the progress of the Central State Teachers College band can only marvel and offer unlimited praise for the achievements of this organization during the past two years. Although there have been small groups of musicians in the past who furnished music at various school functions, it was not until 1931 that there was an organization worthy of being styled a "band." The membership this year increased almost fifty per cent over that of the previous year and its growth in importance as a vital school body has been outstanding and deserving of commendation.

This remarkable progress is the result of the tireless work and effort of the director, Mr. P. J. Michelsen, who came to Stevens Point in 1931 from Richland Center, where he gained renown for his consistency in organizing championship bands. However, Mr. Michelsen is leaving his former accomplishments to the past, and is seeking new worlds to conquer. It is noteworthy to add that Mr. Michelsen is much sought after as a judge in both state and national contests.

Besides an increase in the personnel of the band, many new instruments were procured to augment an already well-balanced organization. Among those purchased this year were a bassoon, alto and bass clarinets, English horn, bass and tenor saxophone, Silver Tone cornets, and a complete set of drummer's traps. The repertoire this year included such compositions as "Morning, Noon, and Night," "Marche Militaire Francaise," "Barber of Seville," "Hunting Scene," and many others.
Orchestra

The orchestra of Central State Teachers College has made great strides this year toward the creation of a symphonic music group. From the organization last year with a personnel of fifteen members, it has developed into one with twenty-four members. The increase in personnel, the persistence of the members and their consequent skill, and the interested and excellent leadership of the conductor, Professor Michelsen, have all combined to make this group essential to student life in our Teachers College.

This body has served in a variety of ways. The great number of plays produced during the year were made more enjoyable by the preceding overtures and the between-act numbers. The orchestra, with the aid of the chorus, presented many varied and entertaining assembly programs. A concert was given for the Purple and Gold Radio Hour. A concert tour of the surrounding towns was made in the spring and the season was successfully closed by the commencement music.

The modern dance craze has done much to create a popular dance orchestra which has assumed the name of the "Collegians." The personnel of this orchestra is made up of college musicians, under the supervision of Mr. Michelsen. The "Collegians" made its first appearance last year under the leadership of Ben Mannis and has since played for numerous private and school dancing parties and other social entertainments.
Mixed Chorus

The music department of Central State Teachers College would not be complete without a group of vocalists. Such a body was organized under the direction of Mr. P. J. Michelsen early last fall. This year twenty-five of the most talented men and women of Central State comprise the Mixed Chorus.

This body of singers has brought the attention of many to focus upon the type of work that can be done through patient and untiring efforts. Willing co-operation of its members has made possible the production of many varied and pleasing programs during the year. The Mixed Chorus and the orchestra have combined on several occasions for a grand presentation of choral and orchestral melodies.

During its concerts and first annual tour of neighboring cities, accompanied by the orchestra, Robert Emery, youthful tenor baritone, was employed as soloist. Robert Krembs played the piano accompaniment.

Officers of this fine musical organization are:

- President: Robert Emery
- Vice-President: Gilbert Busch
- Secretary-Treasurer: Vera Kramar
- Publicity Manager: Robert McDonald
ACT 5
Central State Teachers College was very fortunate to secure such an able athletic director as Edward L. Kotal. "Eddie" came to us after the resignation of Coach Stockdale in 1930 and has been the leader who ushered in a new era of athletic history for this school. He has won all our hearts. His ability as an excellent coach was manifested in the championship basketball team which he produced this year.

The Athletic Committee—the power behind every athletic move—is composed of Mr. F. J. Schmeeckle, chairman; Mr. R. M. Rightsell, Mr. H. R. Steiner, and Mr. C. F. Watson. This group of faculty members governs the athletic program of the school from September to June.
What could a team do without managers? Bill Herrick and Harris Shafton were the two managers who were the proverbial doctors for the teams. Ray Urbans and Al Dumphey were the assistants. Their ability to patch injuries and their willingness to cooperate went far in giving the team spirit.

Cheerleader, Myron Fritch, was responsible for strong support from the sidelines in all of the games of the season.

THE PURPLE AND THE GOLD

Other schools of valor boast
Of victories galore,
Of laurels never lost,
Of triumphs by the score;
Let them tell you of their prowess
Of warriors strong and bold,
But their colors ever lower to the Purple and the Gold.
Football

With sixty-two men reporting, Coach "Eddie" Kotal opened the football season on September 11, by holding his first practice. Eighteen veterans of last year's squad were back, and the new material looked very promising.

Enthusiasm ran high, and Coach Kotal worked his lads every afternoon for the big homecoming game with Eau Claire. "Mike" Michaleske and Pat Nash of the Green Bay "Packers" were down to aid in the coaching of the gridders. The boys responded to the treatment by taking the game from Coach Zorn's men to the tune of 16 to 6, and Point fans had visions of a championship.

Then came gloomy days for the Point football team. Ben Garber, star tackle, was declared ineligible by Whitewater and Eau Claire. The Point maintained that Garber was eligible, but the conference authorities ruled otherwise, and the games that Garber played in, the Whitewater and Eau Claire games, were declared forfeited. So it was a disheartened and weakened team that traveled to Milwaukee to meet the conference champs of last year. The result was inevitable, Milwaukee winning, 20 to 7.

Coach Kotal worked to restore team morale, but the prospect of a game with that old rival, Oshkosh, probably did more good than his talking. A maddened Point team swept on the field November 5 to drub their opponents, 11 to 0.

This last game meant the end of conference competition for Ed Baker, Oscar Christenson, Harry Hanson, and the captain of the team, "Bucky" Miller.

Prospects are bright for next year's team, with a veteran aggregation returning. The Pointers have set one record they will try to maintain—that of having never being defeated on their own Schmeeckle Field.

Nearly fifty men heeded Coach Kotal’s call for basketball volunteers immediately after football season closed, and prospects were bright for a successful year with all of last season’s veterans back except Ed Baker, and much promising new material.

No one gave the Point a chance for victory against “Doc” Meanwell’s university team, especially after two hard games, but Kotal’s cagers did the impossible and defeated Wisconsin, 28 to 24, before five thousand wild-eyed fans. It was the climax of a sensational season.

Acclaimed as the greatest team ever to represent the school, the players hung up their suits and looked back on a record of eighteen victories to no defeats. In their scoring the team had averaged a point-a-minute.

Captain Art Thompson is the only man lost to the team, but it is a loss that will be felt. He was the keyman of every play.

Women's Athletics

This year's program of sports presented to the girls by the Women's Athletic Association gave a great deal of variety in activities. There was everything from the very active, spirited, speedy hockey, volleyball, basketball, and baseball games to the milder less energetic fun of tumbling, tap dancing, archery, tennis, dart baseball, and ping pong. For those not daunted by weather horseback riding, hiking, and skating were a constant joy.

After much practice to develop agility and coordination organized tournaments were played off in each sport, with a party or picnic at the close of each sport season to wind up the fun.

The climax of the year's activities was a Play Day on May 13, 1933, sponsored by W. A. A. Each of twelve of the neighboring high schools was represented. Play was for the fun of it, not for honors.

The projects of the entire year were made successful and delightful by the interest and keen spirit of those peppy girls who entered them.

W. A. A. Play Day

All phases of women’s athletics were exhibited on the new Schmeeckle athletic field when high school girls from thirteen central Wisconsin prep schools met to participate in the annual "Play Day" events. The rally is an annual affair sponsored by the Women’s Athletic Association.
Other Buildings On Our Campus

The Training School, erected in 1929 at a cost of $220,500 adds much to the appearance of the campus. Many people have been unaware of the important services which Principal Alfred J. Herrick and his staff of supervising teachers are rendering both to the community and to the college. It is here that one hundred fifty senior college students are receiving practical experience in the teaching field.

The Orthman Demonstration School is a one teacher school of eight grades. It is under the able direction of Miss Bessie LaVigne, who received her professional training at the Stevens Point Normal and at the University of Minnesota. Each student enrolled in the One Year Rural Course receives practical teaching experience in this school.

In the John Francis Sims Cottages the senior home-makers practice the science and culinary arts of domesticity as acquired during their four years' work. Each apartment is divided into five well furnished rooms which give the girls opportunities to perform all the duties of housekeeping. Every Home Ec goes the way of lowly family laundress to that of gracious hostess.

Nelson Hall—that institution where the "home spirit" makes the new girl forget that she is lonely; where through the "get acquainted" parties and the friendly atmosphere made possible by Miss Hussey and Miss Rowe, our new friends soon become firmly established in our large family circle.

Band Directors Class

Mr. Peter J. Michelsen has organized a Band Directors Course. The enrollment in this class is made up of student band members. They study the problems of organizing and directing school bands.

Several assembly programs were put on by the college band with members of the class directing separate selections. Incidentally, it might be well to add that, even though these were the band directors’ shows, the band rendered its assistance by allowing itself to be directed. Although we have seen many band directors in action, it was interesting to note the various techniques required for different types of musical selections. Here’s to the future band directors of Wisconsin.

Plenty of entertainment was in store when the annual college Mardi Gras was ushered in with a jitney dance in the old gym at 4 o'clock Tuesday, February 28. A big show in the auditorium at 8 and a costume dance in the new gym at 9 featured the night frolic. The royal couple, Bernice Edick and William Scribner, elected by popular vote, were crowned Queen and King at the costume dance to the tune of Harold Stevens and his popular dance orchestra.
C. S. T. C. Weekly Newspaper

Each Thursday morning after the regular assembly period there is much rejoicing for it is then that The Pointer makes its appearance. This fine school paper has maintained a circulation of one thousand copies a week and has averaged from six to ten pages an issue.

It has been more than a calendar of events during the past year. On several occasions The Pointer carried detailed accounts of important occurrences which terminated but the evening before. Its appearance the following morning "scooped" the daily newspaper. The Pointer has attempted to pay full tribute to every feature meriting recognition for achievement. Every club, activity, department, and organization has had a fair representation in the publication. In each issue, separate from the news articles, sports, editorials, society news, and "Say It Isn't So" columns are featured. Of special interest has been the Fox Theatre Free Tickets column.

Chicago Trip

When the college excursion pulled out of the local Soo Line station on the "early morn" of Saturday, April 29, about one hundred students and their friends were snuggled inside the private cars. They arrived in Chicago at 8:30 o'clock. After a breakfast the tourists started on their sight-seeing trip. This included a special tour around the "high spots" of Chicago in the new World's Fair buses, visits to the Shedd Aquarium, Field Museum, and World's Fair buildings.

After having been taken through the World's Fair buildings, which represent millions of dollars of investment, the tourists were taken for a ride to the loop where, until train time, they were free to do bargaining with Chicago merchants or dance at the College Inn or Aragon Ballroom.

The Merry Month of May

1. Meeting of the Rural Life Club at which Edgar C. Doudna, secretary of the Board of Normal Regents, delivered his much-discussed lecture, "A Poet Passed This Way."

2. Social organizations met.

3. Members of Sigma Tau Delta discuss "Modern Poetry" and elect officers for the coming year.

4. Y. W. C. A. Northern State Convention at Stevens Point. Dr. Peabody, a professor at Ripon College, related some of his experiences in the Orient. Miss Susan Chang, a foreign student from one of our universities, was the speaker at the banquet held at Nelson Hall on Saturday evening.

10. Mr. Mott was the speaker at the meeting of Margaret Ashmun. His subject was "Psychology of Modern Day Literature."

12. Omega Mu Chi sorority spring formal dancing party was held at Hotel Wausau. Jack Cameron and his Appleton band furnished music for dancing.

13. Third Annual Play Day sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Representatives from thirteen high schools engaged in "play for fun."

16. "Wind in the South," an American comedy in three acts, was staged under the auspices of the Rural Life Club. A tea was given by the girls in the Primary Department.

17. Members of Sigma Zeta enjoyed an outing, visiting the Nekoosa Nursery and picnicking in a nearby park.

20. "Gala Event of the Year," the 1933 Junior Prom. An "under sea" setting transformed the spacious basketball court into a typical "deep sea" hide-out. King Nuesse and Queen Goggins led the grand march to the music of Joe Gumin and his orchestra.

22. Organization heads and advisors met with Mr. Rogers to draw up next year's social calendar. The dates of the college social events for next year will be printed in the "Student Handbook" which will be distributed free to all who enroll next September.

23. W. A. A. met to install officers for the coming school year. After the business meeting a treasure hunt was held.

24. Social organizations met. The Chorus and orchestra traveled to Marshfield to present a concert at the Marshfield Methodist Church.

25. Harvey Polzin, '34, of Marion, was selected as next year's editor of The Pointer. George Maurer, '34, of this city, who was editor of the college paper this year, was awarded the business manager's job for next year.

The Golden Plover, familiar to everyone who has lived in Stevens Point or its vicinity, is the trademark symbol of Whiting-Plover Paper Company—manufacturers of high quality bond, writing and ledger papers. In future years, choose a paper bearing this symbol—your guarantee of honest value, long life, and perfect writing and printing qualities.

"Cling to That Which Endures"

"Be not affected by the temporary shifts of fortune's winds. Be certain that your undertakings are based upon the solid rock of proven worth. In a world of change, cling to that which endures."

This advice, we are told, was given about 2100 years ago by a prudent Roman father to his son. It was good advice then; it is equally good today. It is appropriate advice for either the individual or the institution that hopes to attain lasting success and security. Through half a century of shifting economic winds, this bank has stood firm and unshaken because it was solidly established in the first place and has always held fast to time-tested, conservative banking principles—it's a good bank for YOU to tie up to, as many thousands of Portage County people know from experience.

A Yearbook Service
that inspires a staff
to creative effort

A SCHOOL annual is at its best when student interest is keyed to a high pitch by the fascinating development of niceties that will make the book distinctive. This is the key idea back of Badger Yearbook Service. Close contacts and personal assistance offer students an insight into the fundamentals of school annual building. The work is accordingly given impetus through a better understanding of the purpose and aim in every move. Thus, a staff knows at all times what it desires to accomplish. When this is achieved, the task becomes a pleasure.

The success of the Badger plan is evidenced each year in the high ratings received by an unusually large percentage of books produced by us, and by the fact that many schools insist on Badger quality year after year.

[If you are a faculty adviser, or a student interested in annuals, write for full details on the Badger Plan]
