The IRIS Office is cluttered with files of dusty pictures — stereotyped, outdated, funny. We giggle when we look at them and talk of throwing old junk away — but no one ever will. We laugh at old mushy annuals, yet in '55 Homer Plumb screams the students into a stampede for Eau Claire — the Sig Eps spend weeks with a whale at the Armory — Frisch and Goldsmith launch the CRITIQUE . . . and the auditorium goes wild when May Roach is crowned. If this is not the tradition of the Purple and the Gold carried on with new vigor, then the whole theme of this IRIS is farcical syrup!

The Tower
In the shadow of the Tower--

Our college is completing its 61st year. My first contact with this school was when it was only fifteen years old. Then it was known as Stevens Point Normal, SPN. The IRIS and the POINTER were already established publications. We had two active men's debating groups, Forum and Athenaeum, whose annual debate was a big school event, as was the Junior debate with Oshkosh. The theatrical highlight was the Senior Class Play, held in the Opera House — now the Fox Theater.

In athletics we had football, basketball, and track. The 1908 football team was the Champion of the State Normal Schools, although there were no conferences as we know them today.

These were fringe activities. The Normal School itself, like the State College today, was the faculty and the student body. We have more buildings, more faculty, more students now; but the intangible quality, the Esprit de Corps, is much the same.

A fabulous woman
... and she is by nature rather talkative.” Yes, this is May Roach ... but she also is so much more than just this. No one can put into copy what her fifty years of teaching have meant — to May, or to her many associates, students, or friends.

A quaint office ... determination hard to resist ... quick Irish wit ... strong convictions. In forty-two years "Ma" Roach has been a pioneer ... a leader ... a tradition.

A Pontifical medal ... a small child’s quiet smile ... an honorary crown — these are all tributes saying “Thank you, Miss Roach, for these fifty fabulous years.” Remember, when you drive that Chevrolet out of Point next spring, there will always be a parking spot ... come zooming back to visit ... home ... Three months... they flew by so fast... too long almost. We're back now... for new and old this is school... home... funny to have both in the same place... wonder who my friends will be... sure will seem strange without Lou... great to see the guys — even though we do broil out on the scrimmage field while everyone else takes that last vacation fling... ouch, I'm sore... hard at first, so many new faces on the squad... some of them look so tense... like I did four years ago... gee, only nine months — one year — left of home... school... together!

Who carried out old goods to lug in new? A janitor. Who patiently worked out the sewer line situation? Janitors. Who supplied tools for float-building or repairs, unreturned in thanks or fact? Janitors. Who allowed us to linger in the IRIS office late at night to "finish up?" No one but a janitor. And, Mr. Davis, where to seek information without you... and our janitors?

Strange . . .
The same —
The crazy go-win-for-us spirit.
The tournament the crowd plays with the weiner bun, coffee, confetti . . .
unchanged.
The heroic chests of football in the slow sweep of the sun.
The brasses of cold and marches, excitement and wind . . .
unchanged.
The quips and laughter,
the shuffle of voices, the din . . .
the same.

OF QUEENS

The fairst of fair is among us,
Her picture's enshrined in the hall.
She is lovely, enchanting, mysterious,
Say the posters around us this fall.

She has posture, charm, and vitality,
Faithful followers shout to the sky.
That ain't all ... she's got personality!
Yes, indeed! rebounds the reply.

"Will'st thou vote for our queen?" asks an agent.
A choice of this sort tis not hard.
Bony fingers reach for my wallet . . .
For to punch my activity card.

"I'm sorry, my friend," I must answer,
For I'm sure it can plainly be seen,
This decision demands careful forethought . . .
This Central State Homecoming Queen.

I have pondered ... considered each aspect,
And I drink to experience supreme . . .
Every lady attending this college . . .
Is to me ... a Homecoming Queen.

November --
These are the lonely days . . .
Walls, bare of their ivy vests, alone, drab . . .
Elms, gray and stark, reach towards the sky with almost naked arms . . .
One lone dove coos softly into the silent air . . .

These are the waiting days . . .
September's rush forgotten in October's falling leaves and football . . .
Homecoming a purple and gold ribbon in the wastebasket . . .
And now, the twilight of November . . .
Snow at last . . . the sun smiles briefly, and the blessed covering is gone . . .
Somber skies, expectant earth . . .

Will December ever come?

Wind, wind, howl—blow.
The white that falls is snow—snow,
The mercury drops to a "pleasant" low
Hope my car starts in the morning.

My room in this house is cold-cold.
The storm windows are cracked and old—old
So go to bed, myself I have told,
Hope my car starts in the morning.

February--
Burton R. Pierce
(C S C Faculty 1923-1956)
Sudden passing of a guiding light — the realization of big shoes left to fill ... admiration for his constant strides forward
... remembrance
of good advice,
a firm hand­ shake, smile . . .
knowledge of a life well lived.

Semester number eight. Here finally is the one this venerable senior has been anticipating with mixed emotions since ‘wayback in the dark ages of 1952.

And now it’s just another semester. Just one more obstacle between me and that mysterious existence my instructors darkly refer to as the “outside world.”

Perhaps deep down inside there’s more than just a little relief that now this isn’t the last semester, that I still can prolong those decisions that confront every graduate. It’s like having the dentist appointment moved up a week. Many questions remain to be answered before that sense of readiness is achieved — if it ever truly is.

So now this semester becomes number seven again — or seven and a half. What does it hold in store? It promises new classes, new acquaintances, new headaches, new deadlines, new demands. It promises the rebirth of old bull sessions, of many foot miles down the halls, and those much publicized and very real thirteenth hour crammings for assignments that have a tendency to be delegated to secondary importance. It’s trying to keep up while trying to keep ahead.

It’s another opportunity to be aware of the missing faces of those who didn’t make the grade, another opportunity to note the perceptible loss of the personal enthusiasm that marked you and your fellow seniors’ early years at CSC; it’s another 18 weeks, another 90 class days.

March--
In all things, a time of preparation — and of contrasts ... parties and pledging and late study hours ... windy days of slush and thaw followed fiercely by a blizzard ... dark clouds — dark moods ... a feeling of impending grief ...

Muddy footprints leading everywhere — to classes, to "her" house, to the Eat Shop, and to church ... children exalting in the awakening of earth ... a need for one special person.

Everyone practicing — for a play, a concert, a skit, a recital, a dance, and perhaps, a proposal.

Bulletin boards and radio programs shouting "It's Spring!" as we, shivering, pull coats tighter against cold ... a rise of new ideas ... a sudden lag of energy ... glistening, dripping icicles ... returning birds.

Bells clanging ... bells chiming ... the stark shadow of a cross ... bowed heads, waiting ...

May--
Yes, May is here and there they go. Who? Why, our suitcase students whose ranks increase as the temperature rises. But let us take a look at the students who remain here in Point. What do they find to do on weekends?

First, let’s take the night life. There are parties to attend of various natures to suit everyone. For the scholars, they might enjoy a night under the stars with Mr. Rightsell and his telescope, or better still, a quiet evening at Knutzen’s cottage reading poetry or just having a good old “bull session” as the moon rises over the lake.

As for the others, the parties might be of a little different nature. You may take your girl to Iverson Park and better the scholars by studying the stars and also reciting poetry. “Ah, what a life!”

If none of the above interest you, how about dancing and listening to some classical music (well, classics at least) at Joe’s, Rudy’s, or the Palm Gardens?

In the daytime there are softball games, like the Siasefi playing the Phi Sigs for a ½ barrel of Orange Crush, tennis, golf, swimming in the icy Plover River, getting sunburned at Iverson Park and maybe, well maybe, just a little school work.

Yes, this college life is fun — especially if you stick around long enough to find out.

The Footpath of Peace
To be glad of life, because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars, to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admirations rather than your disgust, to covet nothing that is your neighbor’s except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ; and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God’s out-of-doors; these are little guide-posts on the footpath to peace.

—Henry Van Dyke

A favorite of his to sum up his philosophy of life — a philosophy he lives ... two grown sons inspire his “I’m a millionaire in sons” ... helps show his sincere personality — one that will be missed in the future ... he indeed has inspired many in his years here ... goodbye, Mr. Nixon ... and best of luck!

New faces with young sons and daughters ... just beginning to live their philosophies here at CSC ... beginning to imprint their personalities in the classrooms and buildings ... on the students ... welcome — we hope you’ll like it here ... for many, many years.
The '56 IRIS ... a need to create ... a way to capture Central State through the lens of a camera ... a campus without Penguin groups or the glamor of a studio ... just as you saw it day by day ... the humor of life ... the little things graduates remember ... recalling for tomorrow a yesterday that will seem like today.

Behind this bold venture, the bulk of one man ... a Leica slung around his neck ... gruff ... sensitive ... big enough to lean on when we lost the courage to experiment with the untried ... generous ... enthusiastic.

Yes, the '56 IRIS ... a tribute to real prof ... a real friend ... M Specht.

The central point to meet a friend and plan a get-together or discuss school work... Westenberger’s hires college students... helps CSC grow.
"Hello Young Lovers Wherever You Are" could very well be the themesong of Otterlee's Jewelry Store . . . all admire cherishable, lasting gifts.

As many CSC married couples, Al Curtis and his wife enjoy the planning and buying for a bouncing baby — "the crib must be a Lullabye."

A look into the future . . . we daydream now, but soon . . . who can tell? This freshman, like so many of the coeds, adds to her hope chest with exciting items from Ben's.

The Wisconsin River . . . symbol of Central State in spring . . . heritage of lumbering kings . . . pride of Stevens Point because of industries like the Whiting-Plover Paper Company.
Paste-ups, negatives, silver prints . . . many hours of work before the rumble of the presses announce the completion of the 1956 Iris. The editor and photography staff take a last minute check of Wally's handiwork before the presses roll. Well done! . . . as everything is at Worzalla Publishing Company.

Louis Koehn, a perfectionist with clothes sense, insists his shirts be carefully and smoothly done . . . when returned from Welsby's, great to put on.

2 a.m. at Nelson Hall . . . a corsage of roses from Sorenson's Floral Shop waits to be pressed into a bulging scrapbook . . . the perfect souvenir of an exotic China Night.
The May Roach Scholarship Fund is just one of many projects that's backed by Hardware Mutuals... this organization is often the "man behind the scenes" in the promotion of the activities... programs... sports... and people here at Central State. A big company... a bigger heart.

Homecoming is merely the beginning of the events recorded in a school year. Taylor's Drug Store can supply these photo needs that are bound to arise. Busy... cooperative...

"66" gas from the Delzell Oil Co. prepares May Roach for a fine zooming start on one of her many trips. Students also get ready... home... trips...
Nothing is quite like the pop corn at the Spechts'. The electric popper from Boston's is the useful and enjoyable gift from all the boys at Delzell Hall.

The whole Trytten family makes an expedition when they go to Bill's Shoe Store to be outfitted. Their styles please anyone . . . their prices, too.

Frantic treasurers must keep the books balanced when the bills pour in after all the banquets and parties which make up the gay agenda of every campus group. The Sig Eps use the checks which are honored by every store . . . checks from the Citizen's National Bank.
Starting the morning with a Krembs kitchen set is a joy to the newly-weds... it brightens the moments before heading for classes... colorful...

Kathy Holicky has time out between classes to powder her nose with a blend especially compounded for her by one of the friendly clerks at Campbell's.

Ben and Burga celebrate their first month's anniversary with a dinner and "toast" at the Hot Fish Shop... perfect with blue lights, organ music.

A peek at "Miss B." in the office of the library... a dream of efficiency engineered by Emmons Stationery and Office Supply Co.
During winter and wet weather all the girls at 913 Clark ("Dizzy Dozen" abode) scramble for sturdy, warm boots... really appreciating the Shippy Shoe Store.

Those brand new ones and daughters all need the very best. The Randletts' little girl has her needs all satisfied at Hannon's Drug Store...

Xmas Cards, Inc., from Mr. Harrer's psych class is just one of the many campus groups who go to the Journal Printing Company for a job expertly done.

Phillip's Studio makes those special portraits for those special times really outstanding... a gift... graduation... contests... credentials.
Lucky Bob McLendon joins the hundreds of CSC students who flock to Waupaca for a summer of fun and relaxation... a time to forget finals and deadlines by going all out... frogmen or fishermen, the place to shop is at The Sport Shop.

A busy Central State lad hurries on to another of his errands pleased with the quick service of the First National Bank. The convenient, free checking service they render the organizations on campus really aids all of the busy treasurers of these groups, too... personalized checks look so exciting.

Our Homecoming Queen and her court found it thrilling to ride in the parade wearing those gorgeous furs from Neighbor's... mmm!
Spring slipped in on padded feet and with a gentle humor played a game of peak-a-boo among the bitter icicles of our winter-weary memories, until, trembling, the tension flowed away and there was left only the hazy-rippled image of two friends and a tower to be packed carefully away in suitcases labeled: “Home for the summer vacation.”
